AN ECONOMIC CRUSADE.

Prof. Mason, the Apostle of Economic Freedom, on Present Conditions.

In Madison Hall, Chicago, Ill., January 28th, Prof. Mason presented the platform upon which he would build his crusade, and outlined the keynote of the movement. He is in the thick of a world conflict which is practically bankruptcy, and the他 secondo, the modern world is practically without a central bank, and the price of food and the day it is very clear that the bill of dollar is now a national bankruptcy.

"The world is collapsing," he said, "and the bill of dollar is now a national bankruptcy. The country is in the hands of speculators and racketeers, and the day it is very clear that the bill of dollar is now a national bankruptcy. The country is in the hands of speculators and racketeers, and the day will come when this country will be bought by the world, and the people will be ruled by the speculators and racketeers."

The Real Cause of War.

According to many political economists, the cause of war is the desire for power and the desire for wealth. When nations are in competition for economic advantage, they are likely to resort to violence to protect their interests.

In an article in the Review of Political Economy, it is stated that the motive of power is a powerful one, and that it is a source of conflict between nations.

The question of the distribution of power is one of the most urgent problems of our time, and it is a matter of concern to all nations.

The acquisition of new territory is also a source of conflict between nations.

In a recent report published in the public press, it is stated that the acquisition of new territory is a major cause of conflict between nations.

In sum, the cause of war is the desire for power and the desire for wealth, and it is a matter of concern to all nations.

Why I am a Socialist.

By DR. L. B. Bovee.

I am an earnest advocate of the fundamental principles of the Socialist movement, the basic ideas which underlie it, and the enunciation of these principles; the principle of freedom, the principle of justice, and the principle of cooperation.

I have been a Socialist ever since I was a boy, and I have been a Socialist all my life. I was born in a Socialist home, and I have always been a Socialist. I have always been a Socialist. I have always been a Socialist.

I have been a Socialist ever since I was a boy, and I have been a Socialist all my life. I was born in a Socialist home, and I have always been a Socialist. I have always been a Socialist. I have always been a Socialist.
