Appeal to Reason.
UNDER THE REIGN OF A PUBLIC CO-OPERATION.

From Zola’s new book, " soldat," by G. W. B. Ashley.

It is the custom of the editors of the "Reign of A Public Co-operation," to make a point of the fact that in their territory there has been no strike, no labor trouble, no labor conflict, and that the work has gone on peacefully and smoothly. It is this fact which makes the "Reign of A Public Co-operation" a living and vital period.

It is the fact that there has been no labor trouble that has made it possible for the "Reign of A Public Co-operation" to exist. It is the fact that there has been no labor trouble that has made it possible for the "Reign of A Public Co-operation" to exist.

The "Reign of A Public Co-operation" is a period of peace and tranquility. It is the period when the work goes on peacefully and smoothly.

No Cause (?) for Striking.

DUNGEY FORGOT TO FLAG THE "HUNDRED"

Dunlavey McTigue, of Albany, Wsh., sends us the following:
In reference to the West Point class of 1892, which I am glad to see covered by your column, the "hundred" to which you refer are not "hundreds," but the number of students in the class, i.e., 100. Dunlavey McTigue.

Dunlavey met his hundred on the morning of graduation day, and the hundred was a good one, I believe. Dunlavey McTigue.
