A MARKED ADVANCE IN UNDERSTANDING

on the part of those papers and speakers who a few years ago were the outspoken opponents of Socialism is evident from the array of matter from republican and democratic sources which the Appeal presents below:

New Orleans Advocate, (dem.) Sep. 16.

There may be a disposition on the part of Socialists to distort the meaning of socialism with the object of making it appear as a doctrine which they have never given, and there are others who are not aware of what the Socialists do and say. But the Socialists themselves are not aware of what the Socialists do and say.

The Social Socialist, published in St. Louis, is simply the expression of the Socialists. It is the organ of the Socialist party, and as such is entirely under the control of the party.

It is the paper of the Socialists, and as such is entirely under the control of the party.

The Passing of the Wash Tub.

In "Equivalents," Mr. Sullivan makes many interesting points about the passing of household labor, and points out the influence of this labor on the way society works. He describes a washing machine that can wash 1000 pounds of clothes in an hour, and states that this machine will soon be in every home. The washing machine is a great improvement over the old-fashioned washtub, which required a lot of time and energy to wash clothes. The machine is operated by electricity and can be used easily by anyone. It is a great help to families who have large numbers of clothes to wash, and it saves a lot of time and effort. The machine is also a great convenience for people who live in apartments or small houses, where there is not enough room for a washtub. In conclusion, the washing machine is a great invention that has revolutionized the way we wash clothes, and it has made our lives much easier.
