On December 30, Mr. Noah A. Waddell wrote to the editor, Mr. J. A. Wayland, and asked that he be paid for his subscriptions. The editor responded on January 4, 1912, stating that the subscriptions had not yet been paid for, and that he would be paid on January 10. The editor also noted that the subscriptions had been updated and that he would be paid for the new subscriptions.

The editorial began with a discussion of the postal laws and the restrictions placed on the mail. The editor noted that the postal laws had been violated and that the mail had been restricted to certain individuals.

The editorial went on to discuss the need for a direct legislation bill to be passed. The editor argued that the current system of mail was ineffective and that a direct legislation bill would improve the mail system.

The editorial ended with a call to action, urging readers to support the direct legislation bill and to write to their representatives in Congress.

Can Man be a Christian

A man is to be a Christian, that he is a child of God.

“Can Man be a Christian?” is a question that has been asked by many people throughout history. The answer to this question is a matter of personal belief and faith. For some, being a Christian means living a life that is guided by the teachings of Jesus Christ and following the principles of the Christian faith. For others, it may mean living a life that is guided by the principles of other religions or belief systems. Ultimately, the question of whether a person can be a Christian is one that each individual must answer for themselves, based on their own personal beliefs and experiences.
Appeal Army

Locals of the Socialist Party in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, and other cities, have organized a grand campaign to spread Socialist propaganda throughout the country. The Appeal Army is composed of men and women who are actively engaged in the work of spreading the Socialist message. They are making speeches, giving lectures, and distributing literature in order to build up public opinion in favor of Socialism.

The Appeal Army is headed by W. H. O'Connor, who is known as "the Appeal Army leader." He has a reputation for being a bold and able orator. He is a man of strong convictions and is not afraid to stand up for what he believes in. He is always ready to take on new challenges and to face difficulties head on.

The Appeal Army is not only working in the cities, but also in the countryside. They are visiting farms and ranches and talking to farmers about the problems they face. They are also visiting small towns and villages, where they are able to reach a wider audience.

The Appeal Army is working closely with other Socialist organizations, such as the Social Democratic Party and the International Socialist Organization. They are all working towards the same goal, which is to build up public opinion in favor of Socialism.

The Appeal Army is not only working in the United States, but also in other countries. They are planning to extend their work to other parts of the world, where they believe there is a need for Socialist propaganda.

The Appeal Army is a powerful force in the fight for Socialism. They are working hard to spread the message and to build up public opinion in favor of Socialism. They are a force to be reckoned with, and they will continue to work hard until the day Socialism becomes the dominant force in the world.
