The Two Classes.

The Worker.

Who does the producing, and with what toil, sweat, and blood, the great product is made? And who, then, is the owner of the product made?

Whoever is the owner of the product, you can bet that he, and not the worker, is the one that makes the big profit.

The Idler.

The big profits are the reward of the idle, and the worker is the one that does all the productive work. And the profits are made for the idle, and not for the worker.

The worker is the one that does all the productive work, and the idler is the one that gets all the big profit.

About the Oil Field.

We have to depend on oil as a source of energy for at least another 25 years, and that is why we are all going to live in peace and prosperity.

And the oil will be produced by the workers, and not by the idle.

Oil will be produced by the workers, and not by the idle.

The Idle Rich.

The rich are the ones that get all the big profit, and not the workers. And the workers are the ones that do all the productive work.

About the Workers' Rights.

The workers' rights are being violated, and not the idle.

The workers are being treated inhumanely, and not the idle.

The worker is the one that does all the productive work, and the idler is the one that gets all the big profit.
