The Eternal Conflict.

The Appeal to Reason, Girard, Kansas.

WEEKLY, 25 CENTS PER YEAR.

The following is a statement made before the Senate of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, by Mr. Charles N. Pillsbury, in which he accomplished his heart's desire by proposing the amendment of the twelfth amendment of the constitution, which would have been to make the method of enacting laws the same as the method of enacting constitutions. The amendment was introduced by a motion seconded by Mr. Pillsbury, and was adopted by the Senate, but was rejected by the House.

The clergy and the laity, with the whole community, were in favor of the amendment, and the existing system of government was widely amendment by means of the twelfth amendment. The amendment would have been to make the method of enacting laws the same as the method of enacting constitutions.

The amendment was introduced by a motion seconded by Mr. Pillsbury, and was adopted by the Senate, but was rejected by the House.

The clergy and the laity, with the whole community, were in favor of the amendment, and the existing system of government was widely amendment by means of the twelfth amendment. The amendment would have been to make the method of enacting laws the same as the method of enacting constitutions.

The clergy and the laity, with the whole community, were in favor of the amendment, and the existing system of government was widely amendment by means of the twelfth amendment. The amendment would have been to make the method of enacting laws the same as the method of enacting constitutions.