It is Good to Make All Socialists Our Friends, But Better to Make All Our Friends Socialists.

Appeal to Reason.

No. 346

25 Cents a Year.

UN 1 LABOR EDITION.

On August 16, the Appeal will have a special Labor Edition. It is the intention to make this Labor Edition an annual feature of the Appeal, and to give it at least once each year to the workers and their friends in celebration of the anniversary of the Labor Movement.

OMENS.

No clearer in the transgressors' affairs in Chicago there is a real revolution taking place. At last the first signs of the approach of the workers are visible. The workers have begun to strike, and the workers' newspapers are beginning to appear. But the workers are not content with this. They want a revolution, and they want it now.

The workers have been waiting for a long time for this revolution to come. They have been patient, and they have waited. But now they are ready, and they are going to make their revolution known. They will not be satisfied until they have their rights, and they will not be satisfied until they have their fair share of the wealth of the country.

We live in a republic subject to a system of government by what is called the modern "free" enterprise system. This system is said to be the most modern and free, and the most democratic. It is the system that is most widely practiced throughout the world, and it is the system that we are all supposed to live by. It is a system that allows us to have freedom of choice, freedom of expression, and freedom of thought. It is a system that allows us to have the opportunity to succeed, and to have the opportunity to fail. It is a system that allows us to have the opportunity to be the best we can be, and to have the opportunity to be the worst we can be.

The system is based on the idea that everyone is equal, and that everyone has the opportunity to succeed. It is a system that is based on the idea that everyone is responsible for their own actions, and that everyone is responsible for their own failures. It is a system that is based on the idea that everyone is responsible for their own success, and that everyone is responsible for their own failures.

MEN AND MONKEYS

BY OLD REESWAX.

A HUNDRED monkey men one day,
Said: "Let's go down to town.
That they might see some others there,
And see some things they have never seen before.
"Well," they said, "and have an invitation to go.
"And so I chanced to pass that way.
The home of the wild beasts.
And there I saw a monkey there.
"I found him living in the town,
And made up my mind then and there.
That I would go down to town.
And see some things that I had never seen before.
"I heard him say, 'My friend, you see no more
Than what's in the eyes of the monkeys.'"
