MISSOURI EDITION

Appelo to Reason

Girard, Kansas, U. S. A., October 11, 1922.

This is Number 359.
25 Cents A Year.

OWNERSHIP OF THE EARTH

Published Every Saturday.
By all the men not by part of the people.

NATIONAL SOCIALIST PLATFORM

The National Socialist Party is opposed to}

NATIONALISM.

NATIONALISM is the hereditary system of races and...
Social Illusions—The "Equality" Illusion.

The historical documents of the American Revolution were created by educated men. They were inspired by the ideals of the Enlightenment, a period that demanded personal liberties, justice, and the elimination of corrupting authority. But as time passed, the ideals of those documents were never fully realized. It is easy to forget that they were intended to be a declaration of human rights, not just a list of grievances.

When they first assumed their new-found rights, the people of America were still subject to the control of the British crown. The transition from being a colony of the British Empire to an independent nation was a difficult one. Despite the ideals of the Declaration of Independence, many Americans continued to struggle for their rights. The struggle for equality continued long after the revolution, with the ongoing fight for civil rights.

The Ballot or the Bullet?

The ballot or the bullet? This question is as relevant today as it was in the 1930s. The struggle for democracy and civil rights continues, and the fight for equality is still ongoing. But the choices of the past are not always clear, and the path to equality is often fraught with challenges.

The Slaves Must Revolt?

There is a danger in the idea of a Slaves' Revolt. It can be tempting to see the past as a time of oppression and reversal, but it is important to remember that the past is full of complexity and nuance. The idea of a Slaves' Revolt could be seen as a way to simplify and矮化 the history of slavery and its impact.

The Solution to the Problem of Slavery?

The solution to the problem of slavery is a complex one. It requires a deep understanding of the history of slavery and its impact on society. The idea of a Slaves' Revolt could be seen as a way to simplify and矮化 the history of slavery and its impact.

The Ballot or the Bullet?

The ballot or the bullet? This question is as relevant today as it was in the 1930s. The struggle for democracy and civil rights continues, and the fight for equality is still ongoing. But the choices of the past are not always clear, and the path to equality is often fraught with challenges.

The Solution to the Problem of Slavery?

The solution to the problem of slavery is a complex one. It requires a deep understanding of the history of slavery and its impact on society. The idea of a Slaves' Revolt could be seen as a way to simplify and矮化 the history of slavery and its impact.

The Ballot or the Bullet?

The ballot or the bullet? This question is as relevant today as it was in the 1930s. The struggle for democracy and civil rights continues, and the fight for equality is still ongoing. But the choices of the past are not always clear, and the path to equality is often fraught with challenges.

The Solution to the Problem of Slavery?

The solution to the problem of slavery is a complex one. It requires a deep understanding of the history of slavery and its impact on society. The idea of a Slaves' Revolt could be seen as a way to simplify and矮化 the history of slavery and its impact.

The Ballot or the Bullet?

The ballot or the bullet? This question is as relevant today as it was in the 1930s. The struggle for democracy and civil rights continues, and the fight for equality is still ongoing. But the choices of the past are not always clear, and the path to equality is often fraught with challenges.

The Solution to the Problem of Slavery?

The solution to the problem of slavery is a complex one. It requires a deep understanding of the history of slavery and its impact on society. The idea of a Slaves' Revolt could be seen as a way to simplify and矮化 the history of slavery and its impact.

The Ballot or the Bullet?

The ballot or the bullet? This question is as relevant today as it was in the 1930s. The struggle for democracy and civil rights continues, and the fight for equality is still ongoing. But the choices of the past are not always clear, and the path to equality is often fraught with challenges.

The Solution to the Problem of Slavery?

The solution to the problem of slavery is a complex one. It requires a deep understanding of the history of slavery and its impact on society. The idea of a Slaves' Revolt could be seen as a way to simplify and矮化 the history of slavery and its impact.

The Ballot or the Bullet?

The ballot or the bullet? This question is as relevant today as it was in the 1930s. The struggle for democracy and civil rights continues, and the fight for equality is still ongoing. But the choices of the past are not always clear, and the path to equality is often fraught with challenges.

The Solution to the Problem of Slavery?

The solution to the problem of slavery is a complex one. It requires a deep understanding of the history of slavery and its impact on society. The idea of a Slaves' Revolt could be seen as a way to simplify and矮化 the history of slavery and its impact.

The Ballot or the Bullet?

The ballot or the bullet? This question is as relevant today as it was in the 1930s. The struggle for democracy and civil rights continues, and the fight for equality is still ongoing. But the choices of the past are not always clear, and the path to equality is often fraught with challenges.

The Solution to the Problem of Slavery?

The solution to the problem of slavery is a complex one. It requires a deep understanding of the history of slavery and its impact on society. The idea of a Slaves' Revolt could be seen as a way to simplify and矮化 the history of slavery and its impact.
Clips.

The New York World.

Mitchell Answers Bauer.

President Mitchell answered the statement made by Mr. Bauer by saying that the United Mine Workers would not be able to make any further progress unless the coal companies would accept the demands of the workers and accept the arbitration of the government. He said that the strike would continue until the demands were met.

U. S. Under Socialism.

UNDER SOCIALISM there will be no black market. The labor of all men will be equally divided.

Stoneling Socialism.

How do you think a business man who is a socialist would organize his business?

UNDER SOCIALISM there would be no wages. All people would work for themselves.

UNDER SOCIALISM every individual can exchange for wholesome products and pay in the form of rent.

UNDER SOCIALISM it will be to the interests of every individual to work hard and produce more.

UNDER SOCIALISM the dealers would have to buy in bulk and sell in a fair way.

UNDER SOCIALISM there will be no black market. The labor of all men will be equally divided.

The New York World.

Intention of the Harvester Trust.

The recent action of the Harvester Trust in purchasing a large number of shares of stock in the United States Steel Corporation is an indication of their intention to control the steel industry. The Trust has already bought a large amount of stock in the corporation, and it is probable that they will continue to increase their holdings.

Personal to Subscribers.

We wish to thank our subscribers for their kind remarks and wishes for our health. We are glad to hear that our work is appreciated and that our readers enjoy the papers. We will continue to do our best to publish interesting and informative articles.

Columbus King.

Columbus King.

OF\n
""
Across the Imaginary Line.

The size of Nebraska, 135,000 square miles, is 23 times as great as that of New York, or more than half the area of the State of Ohio. Nebraska is the most populous State in the Union, with a population of 1,258,000, and has a higher percentage of people of German descent than any other State. Nebraska has a longer coastline on the Great Lakes than all the States combined, and its cities are the most westwardly in the Union. Its capital, Lincoln, is the most northerly capital in the Union, being located at the latitude of 41° 11' N.}

and that the man be armed by the president of the State of Nebraska by a squire of whom he shall be appointed, to serve for the term of two years, and who shall be subject to the orders of any justice of the peace for the county in which he resides.

The organ of the Mexican revolution that has done most to spread the idea of a free Mexico is the newspaper Le Droite, which is published in Mexico City.

The national congress of Mexico is held in the city of Mexico, on the banks of the Río Grijalva, and is composed of the president, his cabinet, and the congressmen appointed for the term of four years. The congressmen are elected by the people, and their duties include the enactment of laws and the supervision of the executive branch of the government.

The circulation of the New York Times is estimated to be over 100,000 copies daily. The newspaper is published in five languages, and has a large influence in world affairs.

In Canada, the chief of the police is a French-Canadian, and the language of the newspaper Le Droite is French.

The State of Nebraska is divided into 96 counties, each of which is governed by a board of supervisors, consisting of three members, one elected from each district. The county seats are located at the county line, and are usually the largest town in the county.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.

The State of Nebraska is divided into two political divisions, the Northern and the Southern sections. The Northern section is composed of the counties located in the northern part of the State, and is mostly agricultural. The Southern section is composed of the counties located in the southern part of the State, and is mostly industrial.