ONE MILLION

T

HE year 1902 will soon be given to the historian. If he understand stands what really makes history "at value, he will stop at the Socialist vote of the nation, and ponder well its meaning. He cannot mention the name of Onorato without concluding the cause of this million votes to the capitalist class—starvation amidst present conditions. He will say it is the coal strike, and will tell a partial truth. He will mention the trusts, the high price of living, and all will be true for each has formed its part, but he cannot define it all unless he be chargeable with the fact that in Girard, Kansas, there is a Socialist propaganda paper that is equipped like the office of a great city daily, and which has a paid circulation of nearly a quarter of a million, and whose editions reach the enormous proportions of 400,000 copies per week. It has grown from an obscure paper in a western town, to one of the most quoted, the most read, the most eagerly looked for publications, on all "his earth. You of the great Socialist army who have toiled, struggled and sacrificed to make this history, do you not feel regret for all your efforts? What now? Shall we rest on our laurels, stop contented at our first blush of victory? Past achievements are but the earnest of things to come. The Appeal is now too small for the movement. We cannot print enough matter. We must enlarge to eight pages—and to do this we must staple the world with a programme so immense that no effect of Capitalism, either by cunning or might, can check our onward sweep. We must have a million subscribers, and that at once. Does it look big to you? IT IS BIG, the greatest achievement of history. Let the immensity of its sink into your minds, and when you have done so I want to tell you it is EASY, so easy that you will begin to see it as a reality when you stop to think. In the United States and other countries where the Appeal circulates there are 30 million people, 60,000 offices. In this list remember the great cities of Chicago and New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, etc., etc., etc. To get the million circulation requires but the work of 2,500 men and women sending in 5 names per week for one year. Do you now see how easy it is? Of this number nearly 500 are already enlisted, leaving only, 500 yet to add their names to the list. "You think the men and women who have enlisted are the old guard? Now we are going to surprise you again! We selected Iowa for a test, and a member of the staff went over the list. Iowa is one of the most active states in the Union, but of her volunteers only five are veterans. The rest are all recruits from places where there was but a small vote this year. Members of the old guard, rally round the RAW recruits, and look for you on the first mail. Get your scissors, cut out the blank, sign your name and send it over the hills. We will know that you have enrolled your war paint, and Rome will howl in fact she is howling now. Have you heard her message to McGready? It is your turn now. Let the army send a message to McGready, one hundred thousand strong, and tell him we are ready for a million. Let your message to hierarchies which deny political liberty to its most devoted workers be: "Whom despotism deplores, the people exalt to brotherhood and comradeship."

We are coming, oh McGready, coming many thousands strong."

We are leaving behind us, at least a million long. Disillusion may decorate you, no temple you may preach. But upon the open heavens, there your voice may echo.

After the Christ have you forsaken, sell the church you preach? Only potentials have skeletons, nothing else, we've over gained.

"Truth is mighty," said the poet, he's our "God's eternal years."

Shooting through the gloom of fame, justice everlv appears.

OF THE EARTH

By Mr. W. E. B. Du Bois.

The white world has been so girded with its chains of wealth that it cannot be thought of. For the first time in our history we are offered a chance to win a battle that has been going on for years. We have the chance to save the earth. We have the chance to save the earth. We have the chance to save the earth. We have the chance to save the earth. We have the chance to save the earth.

The Appeal has been returned to power on the fact of a mass movement of the people. The masses of people who were awakened to the justice of their cause and the necessity of their struggle were more numerous than ever before. ARRIVAL.
Among the many changes that the Appeal is planning for the coming year is one directed to the old practices in California. It is hoped that by standardizing the treatment of rheumatism, the patient and the doctor will be able to live with less trouble and discomfort.

BUT A SACRED HEART LOOKS.
The Boston Globe gives the following account of the death of a distinguished clergyman of the time. The country is approaching another election, and there is a feeling of nervousness in the air.

I WILL CURE YOU OF Rheumatism.
Else No Money Is Wanted.

After 300 experiments I have found how to cure rheumatism. To put these years and years of hard work and study into practice, I will give you a set of exercises, which I have found to be satisfactory, for 50 dollars.

The exercises are simple and can be done at home in any quiet room. The exercises are designed to strengthen the muscles and joints, and to improve the circulation of the blood. The exercises are suitable for both men and women, and are recommended for all ages.

In Bonn, Germany, the Bundestag, the lower house of the German parliament, is now in session. The Bundestag, which is composed of 598 members, is elected every four years. The current session is expected to last until the end of the month. The main topics of discussion are expected to be the budget and the economic situation. The government is expected to present its economic policy for the coming year. The opposition parties are expected to raise questions about the government's plans for the future.

In Paris, France, the French government announced that it would be reducing its military spending by 10% in the next fiscal year. The decision was made in response to the growing debt and budget deficit of the country. The reduction will affect all branches of the military, including the army, navy, and air force. The government hopes that the move will help reduce the country's debt and improve its fiscal position.

In Japan, the government announced that it would be increasing its spending on health care by 5%. The increase will help fund new hospitals and provide more medical care for the elderly. The government also announced that it would be increasing its spending on education by 3%, to help improve the quality of education and reduce the dropout rate. The government hopes that these measures will help improve the country's economic and social conditions.

In Mexico, the government announced that it would be abolishing the death penalty. The move was met with mixed reactions, with some calling it a step towards greater human rights and others calling it a step backwards. The government hopes that the move will help reduce crime and improve the country's reputation in the international community.

In Russia, the government announced that it would be increasing its spending on social programs by 10%. The increase will help fund new social programs, such as housing and education, and provide more assistance to the poor. The government hopes that the move will help reduce poverty and improve the quality of life for the poor.

In India, the government announced that it would be increasing its spending on infrastructure by 20%. The increase will help fund new roads, bridges, and other infrastructure projects. The government hopes that the move will help improve the country's economy and reduce the poverty rate.

In South Africa, the government announced that it would be increasing its spending on education by 15%. The increase will help fund new schools and improve the quality of education. The government hopes that the move will help improve the country's economy and reduce the poverty rate.
