(OFFICIAL TO THE CHICAGO RECORD-Herald.)
Omaha, Oct. 21.—Market statistics taken on Oct. 21 show that within a year the packing houses raised the price of pork per barrel from 1 to 1.25 dollars per barrel and getting relatively better prices for their bacon. The result was that the market turned against the farmers and the farmer instead of the city was the victim. The cause was that the United States government, through the Department of Agriculture, has been selling pork for years at less than the cost of production. The result is that the farmer is unable to get a fair price for his product.

Pungent Paragraphs.

What is the world and the use of a man? When the dawn of his senses and the sense of his own importance have brought him to the stage of a man, then is the time for him to turn his attention to the world and to the use of a man.
