A BUSY WEEK

The campaign of '88 has opened. If you could ride up 100 feet in a balloon and look down upon the busy men and women busy fighting in different parts of the United States, you would see them as if in a picture. They are at work on the railways, in the banks, and the factories, and on the farms. The Republicans and Democrats are volunteering in huge numbers to support their candidates. The elections are not far away, and the people are eagerly waiting for their leaders.

THE MISSION OF THE APPEAL

From: Mr. Smith

Subject: The Mission of the Appeal

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my thoughts on the mission of the Appeal to Reason. As a member of the editorial team, I believe that our publication serves a vital role in society. Our goal is to educate and inform our readers about the issues of our time, and to promote a greater understanding of the world around us.

The Appeal to Reason was established to foster a spirit of critical thinking and to encourage our readers to question the assumptions that underlie their beliefs. We believe that by providing a platform for diverse voices, we can contribute to a more informed and engaged citizenry.

In today's fast-paced world, it is easy to become overwhelmed by the sheer volume of information available to us. As a publication, we strive to filter out the noise and focus on the issues that truly matter. We do this by selecting stories that are well-researched, thought-provoking, and of broad interest.

We also work to ensure that our articles are accessible to all readers, regardless of their background or level of expertise. Our writers are encouraged to explain complex ideas in a clear and engaging manner, making our content appealing to a wide audience.

As we move forward, we remain committed to our mission. We believe that the Appeal to Reason has a unique role to play in today's society. We look forward to continuing our work and engaging with our readers in the years to come.

Sincerely,

Mr. Smith

Editor, Appeal to Reason

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 8.—The govern-mortgage payments were made on 13 acres of this property in a subsequent year. Interest and principal on the mortgage were then taken in land, which is now assessed at 1.30.

The method of operation is as follows: The land is surveyed and the lots are sold by public auction.

The land being sold is usually located in sections of densely populated cities where the demand for land is great. The price paid for the lot is usually based on the expected value of the property after it has been developed.

The proceeds from the sale of the lots are used to service the mortgage on the property and to pay for the management and operation of the company.

Special Correspondence to

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 9.—The militia is to be withdrawn.

The military is now being withdrawn from the area under the jurisdiction of the Topeka militia district.

The withdrawal of the military is a result of the improved conditions in the area and the general reduction in the need for military forces.

The Topeka militia district covers an area of about 1,000 square miles and includes a population of about 100,000.

The militia is composed of volunteers who are not professionally trained. Their primary function is to assist the police in maintaining law and order.

The militia is not considered a major military force and its role is primarily defensive.

Behind the Coal Strike in Colorado.

By Charlotte Yarlp.

The strike in the southern coal fields of Colorado began on Oct. 3, when the miners went on strike and demanded an increase in wages.

The employers offered a 6% increase, but the miners rejected it and continued their strike.

The strike has led to the shutdown of many coal mines and has caused significant disruption in the local economy.

The strike is expected to last for several weeks, until a settlement is reached.

The strikers are demanding higher wages, better working conditions, and an end to the use of poisonous chemicals in the mines.

The employers are resisting the demands and are trying to re-laborate the miners.

The strike has drawn the attention of the national labor movement, and various labor organizations have expressed their superiority and support for the strikers.

The strike is likely to have nutritional challenges, as the miners are living on basic rations.

The miners are determined to fight for their rights and are expecting to win the strike.

The strike is also expected to cause significant disruption in the local community, as the miners are a major part of the local economy.

The strike is a major test of the strength of the labor movement in Colorado and will have widespread implications for the coal industry.

HOMEMADE PHILOSOPHY

I come to see that the workingman who reads the papers and thinks, can't fail to see the evil in the world. The buildings, and the crowds in the factory, are all useless. We are not the slaves of the machines, but the machines own us.
