The Men Who Are Making It Possible to Circulate TWO MILLION Copies of the Great Debs Issue.

Is YOUR NAME WRITTEN THERE?

When the Appeal announced that it would print Comrade Debs’ reply to Cleveland, I expected that the Appeal Army would rally to the call; but I was hardly prepared for the tremendous onslaught on the ammunition wagons which the boys are making. It has just begun, judging from the letters which are being received at the office announcing that arrangements are being made to open the opening days of September the week in which the Socialist tocsin is to be rang round the globe. In some places the Comrades are at great public meetings, or distribution of literature, on Thursday, September 14th, the date on which Comrade Debs opens his campaign in Indianapolis.

At other points, where Labor Day demonstrations have already been arranged, that will be the day on which the effort will be concentrated.

Comrade Debs will speak at Newport, Kentucky, September 8th, and the local Comrades have arranged for the distribution of 5,000 copies of No. 456, ‘Gene Debs, the editor-in-chief of that issue, and I promise the Appeal Army that it will certainly be the most effective issue ever printed. You know Debs, and you know that if there is a man in all the world who thoroughly typifies the proletarian movement it is his. His power of thrilling and interesting his readers is truly remarkable. That comes because he is sincere. His capitalities have to admit that with sincerity and honesty and truth on his side there is no question what the result will be.

But remember: Our Comrades may expend all his tremendous energy in preparing for publication the words that win victory—they will avail little unless YOU carry them to the toil-weary workers of the country.

The Appeal is preparing for an issue of two million, Comrade Debs has asked the Army to set the mark at that figure and open the campaign with a rush.

If you have not already done so, hand your order for your bundle—make it as large as you can—of No. 456, and join the following Comrades in the work of distributing. This is the final issue to, as far as I can learn, August 14th—so you see another announcement of the Debs edition is made, and is the most remarkable response ever to any special edition of the Appeal. These names together with those of all others for whom orders for No. 456 are received up to, and including, Sept. 15th, will be placed in a neat, typewritten booklet and sent to Comrade Debs as a souvenir of the memorable campaign of 1904, showing the loyal Comrades who helped him sway Cleveland and the whole bread of capitalist knucklers.

Alabama:
J. M. C. — $2.00

Arkansas:
J. H. M. — $1.00

California:
J. C. G. — $1.00

Colorado:
J. P. V. — $1.00

Florida:
J. W. L. — $1.00

Georgia:
J. H. W. — $1.00

Indiana:
J. M. D. — $1.00

Illinois:
J. H. L. — $1.00

Iowa:
J. H. W. — $1.00

Kentucky:
J. H. M. — $1.00

Louisiana:
J. H. L. — $1.00

Maryland:
J. H. V. — $1.00

Massachusetts:
J. H. W. — $1.00

Mississippi:
J. H. L. — $1.00

Missouri:
J. H. V. — $1.00

Montana:
J. H. M. — $1.00

Nebraska:
J. H. L. — $1.00

New Jersey:
J. H. M. — $1.00

New York:
J. H. L. — $1.00

Ohio:
J. H. M. — $1.00

Oregon:
J. H. L. — $1.00

Pennsylvania:
J. H. M. — $1.00

Rhode Island:
J. H. L. — $1.00

South Carolina:
J. H. M. — $1.00

South Dakota:
J. H. L. — $1.00

Tennessee:
J. H. M. — $1.00

Texas:
J. H. L. — $1.00

Utah:
J. H. M. — $1.00

Virginia:
J. H. L. — $1.00

Washington:
J. H. M. — $1.00

West Virginia:
J. H. L. — $1.00

Wisconsin:
J. H. M. — $1.00

Wyoming:
J. H. L. — $1.00

“Unisonism and Socialism” by EUGENE V. DEBS

The Most Remarkable Booklet of the Present Campaign.

The BOOK was needed and ‘Our Gene’ produced it. An edition of ten thousand, in large type and on good paper, is just in hand and every copy should be placed with the workers not later than Labor Day. The Appeal makes a price on the books at which the expenses of a Labor Day meeting can be cleared.

Do not give the books away: sell them for ten cents. People appreciate what they pay for, and you can make each a proposition of returning the book and getting his money if after reading it, he is not pleased.

In lots of one hundred the books cost you only four cents and they retail readily at ten cents. One comrade sold thirteen hundred copies in only seven days. Comrade Debs will be wanted at every gathering on Labor Day, but it is physically impossible; however, through this booklet he can be present in the spirit if not in the body, and every book sold will help him financially in the great work of the campaign.

A few of many recommendations are here given:

"One more impression of the Appeal will be the first of its kind of 'Our Gene' to American Socialists and Labor Literature."

"The best contribution of the Appeal to American Socialists and Labor Literature."

"Not a more important or characteristic piece of propaganda for the America and the Appeal has had the honor to publish."

"Not a better piece of propaganda for the American Labor movement since the Appeal was founded.

"A master work and a great contribution to evoluntary literature and Socialist literature.

"A master work and probably the most important piece of propaganda ever published by the Appeal."
Dear Sir:

You have suffered many a bitter attack for your political opinions and activities. Your relations to the recent St. Louis convention and to the Democratic party have been the subject of attack. This open letter to you and your followers is not an attack. It is an earnest and regretful writing for a glorious inconsistency in your political career.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been a champion of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the defender of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been the defender of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the champion of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been the defender of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the champion of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been the defender of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the champion of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been the defender of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the champion of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been the defender of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the champion of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been the defender of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the champion of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been the defender of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the champion of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been the defender of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the champion of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.

Mr. Bryan, you have been before the nation as the champion of the plain people. You have been the leader of the insurgent forces against the oligopoly of money in the economic life of the country. You have been the defender of the underprivileged against the privileges of the rich. You have been the champion of the underdogs against the oligarchs of the plutocracy. You have been the champion of the poor against the rich. You have been the champion of the plainsman against the oligarchy of the big city.
The little boy who heads the above prosecution is Master John Nicholas Brown. He is worth in his own name $10,000,000. The proceeds of which you see following him to make up of the personal attendant necessary to look after his welfare. He is a son of the millions, a boy that feeds on a $100,000,000 a year. All of these wants are supplied in a simple and inexpensive manner. All of these things, including the support of his servants and their dependents, are supplied out of the income from the ten millions of dollars—for not a single one of which Brown ever rendered in exchange any service to society. Now, there is no reason why Master Brown should not have everything necessary for his welfare, comfort and education. But good, sound sense does enter a protest against the lavishness of which society loads him up with the things for which he has utterly no use, and which he can only afford to bear the cost. When you count the cost—the lives of men and women and little children sacrificed on the altar of Baby Brown's luxurious existence—it is time to seriously consider the matter. At the bottom of this page is a string of children, every one of whom has the same right to a happy, healthy existence as Master Brown. In fact, strictly speaking, they have a GREATER RIGHT. The fathers and mothers of the lower group of children PRODUCE THE WEALTH which Baby Brown wastes on himself. By reason of the ownership of the production machinery of the nation, Brown's fate becomes that of the setting of hungry, ill-clad children you see below. These children, like Baby Brown, are on the road to an existence which can possibly do Society no good. They are permitted to grow up in ignorance and hunger—both of which conditions produce crime. Now, I want to ask you as a laborer, as a father, as a mother, if you think an arrangement which gives to one little boy many times the things he can use, and denies millions of children the things and advantages which they need to make them useful members of society, is just? I do not, and I want to register my vote right here and now to put in the balance of my time working to change this condition of things. Not that I want to take one advantage from Baby Brown which he is entitled to, but I object to the wastefulness of the present system, and, by the eternal, I propose, in conjunction with the millions of members of the Socialist party, TO ABOLISH FOREVER SUCH UN- EQUAL CONDITIONS. Yes, it may take a revolution to accomplish this, but that does not deter me. I am in this fight for the protection and future welfare of the millions of hungry, starving babies. Where do you stand?
HEAR IT BOOMING DOWN THE LINE.

That 2,000,000 Votes is on the Way—Capitalism Itself Forcing the Issue.

From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Michael Dukakis, president of the Chicago Labor Committee, said today that he is running for the Congress of the Workingmen of the World, a Socialist party.

"I know," he added, "that the workingman of the world will not be content to be left out of the reckoning."

President Dukakis said today:

"The Socialist party is the greatest educational party in American history. It is the party of the workingman, and the workers are the backbone of the party."

The Socialists are the workers. They are the backbone of the party and they are raising the standard of living. High wages, full employment, and the right to form unions will be the main issues. The Socialists have shown that the workingman of the world is the backbone of the party.

Mr. Dukakis is a member of the Chicago Social Democratic Union, a sister organization of the Socialist party, and is a member of the Chicago Social Democratic Union's executive committee.

Mr. Dukakis said today:

"The workers are the backbone of the party. They are the backbone of the Socialist party and they are the backbone of the workingman of the world."

Socialism is the backbone of the workingman of the world and it is the backbone of the Socialist party.

In conclusion, Mr. Dukakis said:

"The workers are the backbone of the Socialist party. They are the backbone of the workingman of the world and they are the backbone of the Socialist party."

A LITTLE BOOST FOR SOCIALISM.

Socialist leaders have long urged the workers to organize and form unions. This has been done in many parts of the world. The Socialists have shown that the workingman of the world is the backbone of the Socialist party.

The Socialists are the backbone of the workingman of the world. They are the backbone of the Socialist party and they are the backbone of the workingman of the world.