The English Elections.

The English elections were held on the 2nd of November. At the close of the second day of the contest, the Liberal Party, after a narrow margin, defeated the Conservative Party by a majority of 45,000 votes. The result of the election was as follows:

Liberal Party: 260,000
Conservative Party: 215,000

The police disturbances that occurred during the election were not as serious as those that took place in the previous contest. The Labor party, which polled a large majority in the urban districts, did not make as much headway as expected. The Liberal party, on the other hand, made a strong showing in the rural areas.

Confiscating the Homes.

Some days ago, the government issued an order that all homes occupied by the unemployed were to be confiscated. This order was based on the belief that the homes of the unemployed were being used for illegal activities. The order was met with much opposition, and protests were made by the unemployed.

DILATORY TACTICS

Prosecution Against Four Postpones

The trial of four men, who were accused of participating in a recent labor disturbance, was postponed until further notice. The prosecution had hoped to secure a conviction, but the defense was able to delay the proceedings.

The Western Federation of Miners was organized in 1885, and has since become one of the largest labor organizations in the United States. The federation represents miners in various parts of the country, and has been active in the struggle for better working conditions and higher wages. The union has also been involved in many labor disputes, and has fought against the use of violence in labor relations.

The members of the federation are committed to the principles of freedom, justice, and equality. They believe that all workers should have the right to form unions, and that the employer should be bound by the agreement reached. The federation is also opposed to the use of violence in labor relations, and believes that peaceful methods should be used to achieve the desired goals.

THE PROBLEM OF LABOR

A TRAVALITY ON JUSTICE

In his address to the American Federation of Labor, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"The system of justice in this country is based upon the principle that every man shall have an equal opportunity to be heard in court. This principle is the basis of the American legal system, and it is the foundation of the American democracy. It is the principle that has made our country great, and it is the principle that will make it great in the future."

The President went on to say that the system of justice in this country is not perfect, but it is the best system that has ever been devised. He said that the American people are not satisfied with the system of justice as it now exists, and that they are determined to have it improved. He said that the American people are determined to see that justice is done in every case.
