To All Negroes,
Justice McKenna Upholds the Miners' Union

From the Oakland, Calif., Democrat, January 18, 1907

THE case has been disposed of in the Supreme Court of the United States, and the outcome is that the decision is upheld in favor of the miners. The miners had been organized for the purpose of securing better wages and conditions of work, and the court has ruled that the miners have the right to organize and strike for these purposes.

The court has also ruled that the employers cannot prevent the miners from forming a union and strikes for better wages and conditions of work. The miners have been able to secure better wages and conditions of work as a result of the decision of the court. The miners have also been able to unionize and strike for better wages and conditions of work as a result of the decision of the court.
