ORCHARD ADMITS BEING A DETECTIVE

Cross Examination Damages Notorious Assassin's Story—Was Member of the Union While Other Pinkertons Be Worked for the Mine Owners Association.

June 16, 1907

THE WEEK IN BOISE

BURNS, Idaho, June 15—Under the direction of Mayor H. B. Richardson of the mining city, the night watchmen, who in the past have fought the union men as the sworn agents of the mines, today enacted a victory. The weather was fine, and at a time when the streets were crowded, a number of men, armed with clubs and other weapons, were fighting outside the mine. At one time there was a three-hour battle, and at another there was a four-hour battle. The battle ended with the defeat of the miners. The mayor was in the thick of the battle, and was wounded in the leg. He was taken to the hospital, but is expected to recover.

The mayor, in his statement, said that he had always been a friend of the miners, and that he had worked hard to win their confidence. He said that he had been in the city for many years, and that he had never been a member of any of the mines. He said that he had always been a friend of the workers, and that he had done what he could to make their lives easier. He said that he had always been a friend of the miners, and that he had done what he could to make their lives easier. THE JURY

The jury, which had been sitting in the union district, was discharged today. The jury was composed of eight men, and was selected by the miners. The jury was directed to return to the union district, and to report to the miners.

The miners, who had been absent from the union district, were discharged today. They were directed to return to the union district, and to report to the miners. JUDGE WOOD PRESIDING AT THE TRIAL OF WILLIAM D. HAYWOOD.
How to Help the Appeal.

BY PROF. A.W. FREDERICK, of North Fork, Cal., writing:

"I will be one of 20,000 who will give $5.00

Penny to meet any judgments obtained against the Appeal editors."}

This is but one of hundreds of letters which friends have written to the Appeal during the past two weeks. The Appeal feels highly grateful for this expression of confidence in these offers of financial assistance, but I must again firmly declare to except any funds for this purpose. There are no comrades on the Appeal Army roll who will each give $5.00 cash, I have no doubt. This would mean $100,000, which could be quickly expended in capital courts and we would in the end be just where we started.

On July 21 I am going to review the workers' list and cut out all the 1916 names on the Army roll who have not helped the Appeal since January 1st. I will leave the workers, and I will part with them with regret, as we need every fighter NOW.

Boulder, Colorado, November 20, 1904.

PRESIDENT WILSON,

This Agreement was reached from the left and right of the front lines on November 20, 1904. As a result of this agreement, the mining companies have been enabled to supply the miners with the necessary food and provisions, and to provide for the maintenance of harmony between the miners and the mining companies. The agreement has been signed by the companies and miners, and is recorded in the records of the local mining company. In compliance with the terms of the agreement, the companies have agreed to pay the miners the wages specified in the agreement, and the miners have agreed to work for the companies for the wages specified in the agreement.

The agreement is in the best interests of the companies, and is in the best interests of the miners. The agreement is a fair and just agreement, and is in the best interests of all concerned.

Ensure that the agreement is recorded in the records of the local mining company, and that the miners and companies are made aware of the terms of the agreement.

The agreement is signed by the companies and miners, and is recorded in the records of the local mining company.

WITNESS

Thos. Webster. The President of the State of Colorado.

Lesson 25. The Struggle for the Northwest.

The twenty years from 1849 to 1869 witnessed the most intense and bitter struggle for the Northwest. The great struggle for the Northwest was nothing more than a struggle for the West. It was the struggle for the West because it was the struggle for the Union. It was the struggle for the Union because it was the struggle for the West.

The Northwest, in the days of Black Hawk, was a region of great wildness and poverty. The Indian, who had been the lord of the land for centuries, was forced to yield his place to the white man. The white man, who had been the master of the world, was forced to yield his place to the Indian. The Indian, who had been the slave of the world, was forced to yield his place to the white man.

The struggle for the Northwest was a struggle for the West. It was a struggle for the West because it was a struggle for the Union. It was a struggle for the Union because it was a struggle for the West.

The struggle for the Northwest was a struggle for the Union. It was a struggle for the Union because it was a struggle for the West. It was a struggle for the West because it was a struggle for the Union.
The article from the Appeal to Reason, Girard, Kansas, June 15, 1907, describes various local and political issues of the time. It includes articles on labor, business, and politics, reflecting the concerns and news of the early 20th century.
