SHALL WARREN BE RAILROADED?

WARREN'S CRIME.

Now, what was the specific charge against Warren? What was it to which he was convicted on June 23rd? With putting the mails to a use they were not intended to be used, and to obstruct the mail service by carrying on a scheme of:frame:1

fractionation of a fraudulent character, Warren was convicted on a grand jury's indictment. He had been charged with the sale of a certain kind of lottery tickets, which was a crime both against the post office and the state of Kentucky. He was found guilty of this crime, and was sentenced to hard labor for a term of years.

The facts are these: Warren was a man of means, and had for some time been involved in a plot to defraud the government of money. He had been caught in the act, and had been arrested and committed to prison. He was tried by a jury, and found guilty of the crime charged.

The United States government had been defrauded of a large sum of money, and the government was determined to have the man who had committed the crime. Warren was brought to trial, and was found guilty of the crime charged.

Warren's defence was that he was not guilty of the crime charged. He said that he had been tricked into doing the thing. He said that he had been made a dupe of, and that he had done the thing without knowing what he was doing.

The jury disagreed with Warren, and found him guilty of the crime charged. He was sentenced to hard labor for a term of years.

For the appeal only.

The appeal was decided against Warren, and he was sentenced to hard labor for a term of years.

The case is now before the Supreme Court of the United States, and the court is to decide whether Warren is guilty of the crime charged.

The case is of great importance, and the court is to decide whether Warren is guilty of the crime charged.

THE UNIVERSITY.

The University of Colorado is at present in a state of flux. The student body is gradually decreasing, and the faculty is increasing. This is due to the fact that the University is no longer a center of higher education, but is now a part of the general system of public education. The University is, however, still an important institution, and it is to be hoped that it will continue to be so.
