'Gene Debs to Answer Roosevelt.

Comrade Debs returned to Girard last Wednesday and is at his desk busily at work on his reply to Roosevelt's pronunciamento against Socialism. Roosevelt's speech was a mass of misrepresentation, but it was given wide publicity to the effect, and as his words pass current with many millions of people, it is up to us to tell them what Socialism is. This Debs will do in an early issue of the Appeal, and there will be no point overlooked.

What Socialism Will Secure.

Employment for all who wish it, at wages determined by the amount of work put out, and enough leisure for the individual to adequately enjoy the fruits of his work. What he has and is entitled to, cannot be taken from him without his consent. In the end, every man, woman, and child will own the tools and implements of his trade. Employment will not be by contract, but an inherent right. The socialist society will have the means to provide for the needs of the individual as far as it can. It will not be necessary to buy or sell, but to exchange.

Republican Votes for Socialism.

A few weeks ago we received a letter from a man who had voted for the Republican ticket at the last election, but who was now voting for the Socialist ticket.

"DEBS, or DEBS?"

"I voted for Debs last year, but I thought I would give the Republican ticket a chance this year. But I am now voting for Debs again. I think he is the only man who understands the problems of the country."

Some startling figures.

In 1900, there were 120,000,000 people in the United States, of whom 30,000,000 were employed in factories. In 1910, there were 90,000,000 people, of whom 100,000,000 were employed in factories. In 1920, there were 120,000,000 people, of whom 120,000,000 were employed in factories.

QUESTION BOX

By William C. Rose

An age once

As a rule this has been true. But in recent years, with the development of new and more powerful methods of production, the worker has been forced to work longer hours and for lower wages than ever before. The result has been increasing discontent among the workers and a growing desire for some form of union organization to protect their interests.

In the United States, this has led to the formation of trade unions, which are voluntary associations of workers for the purpose of improving their working conditions and protecting their economic interests. These unions have become increasingly powerful and have been able to negotiate collective bargaining agreements with employers that have raised wages and improved working conditions.

Socialist Fables

The American Crisis

The great American crisis was the depression of 1929, which began in October of that year. The crisis was caused by a combination of economic factors, including overproduction and overcredit, and it was exacerbated by the collapse of the stock market.

The crisis had a profound effect on the American economy, causing widespread unemployment and a decline in real income. The crisis also led to the rise of the populist movement, which called for a return to the basics of American democracy.

The crisis had a lasting impact on American society, leading to the rise of a new social and political movement that sought to address the problems of inequality and poverty.

THE CRISIS

The Longest Winter

The great depression of the 1930s was one of the most severe economic downturns in American history. The crisis began in 1929 and lasted until 1939, with a peak unemployment rate of 25% in 1933.

The crisis was caused by a combination of economic factors, including overproduction and overcredit, and it was exacerbated by the collapse of the stock market.

Our Mergans to the Front.

Harry B. Morgan, speaking on the platform before the labor caucuses at the New York convention, said that Congress cannot afford to pass a bill which will allow the corporations to transfer their capital outside of the country. They are further opposed to the idea of allowing profits to be taxed extravagantly.

"Make Two Socialists"

RETURNING PROSPERITY

The paper which appears before you is the result of a long and careful study of the situation. We believe that the country is in grave danger, and that unless action is taken to avert it, we shall be faced with a serious economic crisis.

Party Notes.

The August 15th elections in Kansas will be very important. The Republican party appears to have a strong advantage, but the Democratic party is not to be disregarded.

The Nucleus Brigade.

The Socialists are making a strong effort to influence the election. They believe that the country needs a radical change and that the time has come for a new beginning.

Army Notes.

The 1st Infantry, under the command of Colonel John C. Brown, is now on the alert. The regiment is well equipped and ready for immediate action.

The Nucleus Brigade.

The Socialist party is gaining support in many parts of the country. They believe that the government must be reformed and that the people must have a voice in the making of laws.

HOW IT GROWS!

Toward Democracy.

William Allen White, who was a very popular editor and a leading statesman, has written an article on this subject. It is a very interesting and thought-provoking article, and I believe it will be of great value to the readers of this paper.

Compulsory Capitalism.

There is no more general issue in politics today than the question of compulsory capitalism. It is a question that has been discussed for many years, and there is a general agreement that it is a vital issue. However, there are many who are opposed to compulsory capitalism, and they argue that it is a threat to individual freedom and liberty.

LITTLE STEPS FOR HISTORY.

Last year the United States took a great step forward in the development of democracy. The people of the United States voted to elect a president, and the president-elect, Mr. Wilson, was sworn in as the president of the United States. This was a very significant step forward in the development of democracy, and it is a step that we should all be proud of.

George A. Paton, M.P.

The death of the Honorable and true friend of the people, Mr. Paton, is a great loss to the nation. He was a great statesman, and his contributions to the development of democracy will be long remembered.

Taft Slanders the Memory of Phelan.

It will be remembered that William Howard Taft, the President of the United States, was a strong supporter of the National Socialist Party. He was a man of great dignity and honor, and he was a man who was always willing to stand up for what he believed in.

But I am sorry to say that Taft was a man of great hypocrisy. He was a man who was willing to say one thing and do another. He was a man who was willing to support the National Socialist Party, but who was not willing to stand up for the principles of that party.

The National Socialist Platform and Declaration of Principles is a document that was adopted by the National Socialist Party in 1928. It is a document that sets out the principles and goals of the National Socialist Party, and it is a document that is very important to the development of democracy.
