The Red Card Division.

It is said that the Socialistic campaign never ends. This is true. The Appeal has been laying the lines for the congressional campaign of 1930 and for the Great Presidential Contests for 1932. It is not a trail blazer, and when I tell you that the fight of the next few years will be along the lines laid down by this paper in its issues for the last few weeks, I expect you to believe me. The Appeal’s position has been under attack time after time. Twelve years ago the Appeal was almost alone in the United States in its fight for Socialism. Today, it is officially admitted by the Republicans in their national convention resolutions in his Indianapolis speech. The issue is “Socialism or Individualism.” History shows us that there has been no other issue which the working class has been willing to risk its lives in order to perpetuate its reign. Capitalistic individualism is adopting the same tactics as in the past. The Appeal by its revelations has proven to you, the believer in Socialism, that an alliance had been effected between Wall St. Washington and Rome. It is no longer a guerilla warfare. The fight is in the open. I therefore want to ask you to keep your orders for subscriptions, books and extra papers to the Red Card Division, who come in after this date on a Red Card. The old yellow cards must be used for twelve years will be destroyed and only names of those preserved who have their work in the Red Card Division.

Shall the Children Starve?

The press reports that the 10th avenue in New York will be in a mass of overcrowded individuals on Oct. 20th. The plan is to hold a meeting in the Sixteenth Ave. Mission Church, 10th Ave. and E. 17th St., for the purpose of discussing the situation of the children in New York, who are suffering from hunger, and are expected to be there in the morning. The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the church, to which all persons interested in the welfare of the children are invited to attend.

A Nation’s Employees.

Just as surely as the nation is becoming a nation of employees, the nation is becoming a nation of employees. It is not the fault of our great captains of industry that we have these problems. It is the fault of the government that it has not yet found the solution to this problem. The government has tried many solutions, but none have been successful. It is time that the government took action to solve this problem. The government must find a way to ensure that all workers are treated fairly and equally. The government must ensure that all workers receive a fair wage and have access to adequate healthcare. The government must ensure that all workers have a voice in the decisions that affect their lives. It is time that the government took action to solve this problem.

In the past few weeks the Appeal has been growing by leaps and bounds, and is it not time that we began to see the growth that has taken place in our circulation and distribution? From a political point of view it is a good indication of the growing popularity of the Appeal and the appeal to its circulation and distribution is one of these leaps and bounds that we may expect to see in the future. We are sure that the Appeal will grow in circulation and distribution and that it will be a source of pride to us all.

The campaign is under way at the election. This campaign may be divided into three periods: the primary, the general, and the election. The primary campaign is through the Democratic and Republican parties, and it is through the Democratic and Republican parties that the campaign is conducted. The general campaign is through the Independents and the Free-Soil party, and it is through the Independents and the Free-Soil party that the campaign is conducted. The election is through the third parties and is conducted by them.

We are sure that the Appeal will grow in circulation and distribution and that it will be a source of pride to us all.
