Magon, Persecuted Patriot and Refugee

Operation Successful

By John Thompson

TREASONOUS ACTS have been committed by Carrillo Magon, the Mexican anarchist, in this country. He is now incommunicado in an American prison. His crime is that of being an anarchist. The government, without any regard to the law, has seized him, imprisoned him, and kept him there without even the form of trial which is in accordance with the law of nations.

The United States government has, in this case, committed a crime against the law of nations. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war.

The United States government has, in this case, committed a crime against the law of nations. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war.

The United States government has, in this case, committed a crime against the law of nations. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war.

The United States government has, in this case, committed a crime against the law of nations. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war.

The United States government has, in this case, committed a crime against the law of nations. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. It has violated the rights of a man who, according to the law of nations, was entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war.
Weekly, 50 Cents per Year.

Appeal to Reason, Girard, Kansas.

August 6, 1910

Clubs of four or more (40 cents) 25 Cents.

Emerson said somewhere: "Good heavens, do you suppose I ever looked at my work in the light of a future life? I often think of the present, and the next day, and the next, and the next, and the next."

The question is: "What will happen to the world in the next 50 years?"

But the question is not a difficult one to answer. It depends upon our actions now. If we continue to destroy the earth, it will be destroyed in 50 years. If we continue to pollute the air, it will be polluted in 50 years. If we continue to drain the oceans, they will be drained in 50 years.

But the question is: "What can we do to prevent these things from happening?"

The answer is: "We can do a lot. We can plant trees, we can conserve water, we can reduce our use of fossil fuels, we can reduce our pollution, we can reduce our waste, we can reduce our consumption.

But the question is: "How can we do all these things?"

The answer is: "We can do them by working together, by voting for policies that support these actions, by educating others about these issues, by making personal changes in our own lives, by supporting businesses that are environmentally friendly, by supporting politicians who are environmentally friendly, by supporting organizations that are environmentally friendly.

But the question is: "What will happen if we don't do anything?"

The answer is: "The earth will continue to deteriorate, the air will continue to be polluted, the oceans will continue to be drained, the future will be more difficult for us and for our children and grandchildren.

But the question is: "What will happen if we do do the right thing?"

The answer is: "The earth will continue to improve, the air will continue to be clean, the oceans will continue to be full of life, the future will be easier for us and for our children and grandchildren.

But the question is: "How can we do this?"

The answer is: "We can do this by working together, by voting for policies that support these actions, by educating others about these issues, by making personal changes in our own lives, by supporting businesses that are environmentally friendly, by supporting politicians who are environmentally friendly, by supporting organizations that are environmentally friendly.

But the question is: "What will happen if we don't do anything?"

The answer is: "The earth will continue to deteriorate, the air will continue to be polluted, the oceans will continue to be drained, the future will be more difficult for us and for our children and grandchildren.

But the question is: "What will happen if we do do the right thing?"

The answer is: "The earth will continue to improve, the air will continue to be clean, the oceans will continue to be full of life, the future will be easier for us and for our children and grandchildren.

But the question is: "How can we do this?"

The answer is: "We can do this by working together, by voting for policies that support these actions, by educating others about these issues, by making personal changes in our own lives, by supporting businesses that are environmentally friendly, by supporting politicians who are environmentally friendly, by supporting organizations that are environmentally friendly.
A Militia.

There’s a war coming. It’s better to arm our people now, lest we be taken unawares.

New Bill for Federal Railroad Control.

A bill to provide for the federal control of the railroads has been introduced into the House. It is a measure of great importance, and one that should be given immediate consideration.

The bill provides for the establishment of a federal railroad commission, which shall have power to regulate the rates and services of all railroads in the United States. It is a step forward in the right direction, and one that will be of great benefit to the people.

The Appeal to Reason.

Girard, Kansas, August 6, 1910.

The Appeal to Reason, a progressive newspaper, has been accused of being too radical. However, its editor, Dr. E. F. G. Fairchild, maintains that its purpose is to bring about social and economic reforms, and that it is not intended to be a vehicle for political propaganda.

The Appeal's editorials have been instrumental in bringing about changes in public opinion on various issues, including labor, education, and women's rights. The newspaper has also been active in promoting peace and international understanding.

The Appeal's work is not easy, but it is necessary if we are to make progress towards a more just and equitable society.

The Appeal to Reason is an important voice in our time, and its editor, Dr. E. F. G. Fairchild, has shown great courage and dedication in his efforts to bring about change.

American Socialist News.

The American Socialist Party is a political party that seeks to overthrow the capitalist system and establish a socialist society. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party was founded in 1901, and it has had a significant influence on the development of socialism in the United States. It has played an important role in the labor movement, and it has been a key player in the struggle for workers' rights.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The Appeal to Reason, a progressive newspaper, has been accused of being too radical. However, its editor, Dr. E. F. G. Fairchild, maintains that its purpose is to bring about social and economic reforms, and that it is not intended to be a vehicle for political propaganda.

The Appeal's editorials have been instrumental in bringing about changes in public opinion on various issues, including labor, education, and women's rights. The newspaper has also been active in promoting peace and international understanding.

The Appeal's work is not easy, but it is necessary if we are to make progress towards a more just and equitable society.

The Appeal to Reason is an important voice in our time, and its editor, Dr. E. F. G. Fairchild, has shown great courage and dedication in his efforts to bring about change.

The American Socialist Party is a political party that seeks to overthrow the capitalist system and establish a socialist society. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party was founded in 1901, and it has had a significant influence on the development of socialism in the United States. It has played an important role in the labor movement, and it has been a key player in the struggle for workers' rights.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a political party that seeks to overthrow the capitalist system and establish a socialist society. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party was founded in 1901, and it has had a significant influence on the development of socialism in the United States. It has played an important role in the labor movement, and it has been a key player in the struggle for workers' rights.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a political party that seeks to overthrow the capitalist system and establish a socialist society. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party was founded in 1901, and it has had a significant influence on the development of socialism in the United States. It has played an important role in the labor movement, and it has been a key player in the struggle for workers' rights.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a political party that seeks to overthrow the capitalist system and establish a socialist society. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party was founded in 1901, and it has had a significant influence on the development of socialism in the United States. It has played an important role in the labor movement, and it has been a key player in the struggle for workers' rights.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a political party that seeks to overthrow the capitalist system and establish a socialist society. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party was founded in 1901, and it has had a significant influence on the development of socialism in the United States. It has played an important role in the labor movement, and it has been a key player in the struggle for workers' rights.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.

The American Socialist Party is a party of the people, and it seeks to give the people a voice in the government. It is a party of the working class, and it seeks to give the working class a voice in the government.