The depression is on and unemployment is on the increase daily. The whole laboring class is suffering. There is no doubt about it. There is no doubt that the depression has spread through the country and that the workers everywhere are suffering. The wages of the workers have fallen, and the cost of living has increased. The depression is not only in the cities but it is also in the country. The farmer is suffering, the merchant is suffering, and the worker is suffering. The depression has affected every part of the country.

The President's message is a call for the immediate relief of the unemployed. He has asked Congress to pass a bill providing for the relief of the unemployed. The bill would provide for the creation of public works and for the employment of the unemployed.

The bill has been introduced in both the House and the Senate, and it is expected to pass. The President has said that the bill is necessary to prevent the depression from becoming worse. He has said that the bill is necessary to save the country from a great disaster.

The bill is expected to pass, and it will be a great step forward. It will provide work for the unemployed and it will help to keep the country from falling into a great depression. The bill is a step in the right direction, and it will be a great help to the country.

The President has said that the bill is necessary to prevent the depression from becoming worse. He has said that the bill is necessary to save the country from a great disaster. The bill is expected to pass, and it will be a great step forward. It will provide work for the unemployed and it will help to keep the country from falling into a great depression. The bill is a step in the right direction, and it will be a great help to the country.