DECLARATION OF REVOLT
By Eugene V. Debs

The working class can no longer submit to the lawless despotism of the capitalist courts in the United States. The only alternative left to them is revolt. The time has come when the working class must exercise the most despotic power of which they are capable, to maintain capitalist rule.

In the past, the working class has been violated, their organizations tied hand and foot, their press muzzled, their officials imprisoned, and their liberties all destroyed. The same fate which a republic would be the basest cowardice and the greatest treason. Hence this declaration of revolt.

The workers have been aroused in vain against the usurpation of power by the capitalist courts and the invasion and destruction of the liberties guaranteed to them under the constitution. They now propose to submit no longer to dust driven cattle, but to give emphatic notice of the time has come when the working class must exercise despotic power, and that from now on they are in open revolt against the power that is trampling upon their rights and destroying their freedom.

The arbitrary imprisonment of Fred D. Warren, the editor of a working class paper, without the slightest warrant of law, is the climax of a long series of outrages perpetrated by the courts to muzzle the press and silence protest against corporate monopoly.

In every age and in every nation since there has been a press it has been either prostituted to serve the interests of a few or else so controlled as to function only to perpetuate the rule of an unalterable minority.

Fred D. Warren has been a busy man. He has devoted himself to the struggle against the rich and powerful interests of the country. He has been a worker and a labor agitator, and has done his best to make the world aware of the conditions under which the working class of the United States is forced to live.

Among the lawless invasions, the judicial crimes, of which these courts have been guilty in their interference with the rights and liberties of the people, the following are set forth as the facts of our indictment:

They have issued injunctions in violation of law, or in the absence of law, restraining working men from holding meetings of any description. They have restrained them from engaging in labor union activities; they have restrained them from holding meetings of any kind, from their holding meetings in all the principal cities, in the name of the working class they have enslaved, and who have been shorn, as the chattering slaves of the courts.

The working class, the working men of this country, have been deprived of the right to hold meetings. They have been deprived of the right to speak out against the wrongs that are being committed against them.

The courts have acted as agents of the rich and powerful interests of the country, and they have been used to suppress the working class in this country.

The working class is the only hope of the country, and the working class must take the law into their own hands and put an end to the corruption of the courts.

The time is ripe, the issue clear, and the people determined. We appeal to every liberty-loving citizen to join in the movement of the masses to put an end to the courts.

The people are the only hope of this country. They are the only hope of the working class. They must take the law into their own hands and put an end to the corruption of the courts.

February 12th, the anniversary of Lincoln’s birthday, shall be more patriotically celebrated than by any of the national demonstrations against the despotic encroachments of the capitalist courts.

Let that day mark a new era in American history! Let that day mark a new era in the working class movement.

The working class must take the law into their own hands and put an end to the corruption of the courts. The time is ripe, the issue clear, and the people determined. We appeal to every liberty-loving citizen to join in the movement of the masses to put an end to the courts.

We cannot doubt as to their choice. They know that Fred D. Warren, so nobly and nobly, has been arrested and sent to prison, and they know that his action in the struggle must have been persecuted and the courts must have been put down because they dared to take his stand in behalf of the people against the despotic power that controlled the courts.

The one thing which disfigures our civilization is the delay of law and criminal justice, and these delays always work in favor of the man with the longest purse.

If the courts and their administration “disgrace our civilization” as President Taft declared, the people are the only hope of the country. They must take the law into their own hands and put an end to the corruption of the courts.

The people are the only hope of the country. They are the only hope of the working class. They must take the law into their own hands and put an end to the corruption of the courts.

What kind of demonstrations will the neighbors of Pollock, Hook, Groskop and other judicial worthies make in their behalf?

Theresia’s arson case for Fred D. Warren being in jail. There is not a trace of guilt, nor a taint of crime in his nature. To put such a man in jail is to insult society as a conspiracy and a criminal as a crime. To lock up such a soul in an iron cell is to gibbet honestly and proclaim racial slander, taste the bitter, and contemplate the past.

If Fred D. Warren is to be in prison then the rest of the community ought not to be at large.

The people must join in the struggle against the courts and the rich and powerful interests of the country.

Port Scott, but Fred D. Warren, the fearless editor of the people’s paper, the incorruptible champion of the people’s cause, the devoted friend of the working class, and the unyielding foe of oppression, of exploitation, of injustice and the all things of good report among men.

When the federal court sent Warren to jail it was not to punish crime, but to struggle for freedom and fight the departure of a protest against crime.

The federal judge is Warren’s jailer; the one is the tool of the tyrant, the other the champion of the people.

If Fred D. Warren were in prison then the rest of the community ought not to be at large.
A Victory Feast of Socialism

They tried to say that Socialism is an experimental propose, that there was no such thing as a working class, etc. A crowd gathered at the entrance of the store and waited for the opening of the gates. The workers were not content with their paltry wages and the freedom they were given, and they decided to do something about it. They went on strike, and the strike was a success. The workers were able to get better wages and working conditions, and the store owner had to give in.

Warren Protest in France

Notice, France, Dec. 10—I was told to prepare this article, as I was trying to get a new job. I did not want to write about the war, but I was told that it was important. I have been living in France for a long time and I have seen a lot of things. The French workers are very strong and they are fighting for their rights. They have a right to work and to have a decent life. They have been fighting for these rights for many years and they will not give up.

Other Protest

It is impossible to do all the workers in one day. It is necessary to start the strike in the next month. The workers are not satisfied with the way they are being treated and they want to fight for their rights. They will not give up until they get what they want.

Raymond Reviews the Case

"The war is not yet over, the struggle continues." This was the conclusion of the review of the case by Raymond. He said that the workers are not satisfied with the way they are being treated and they want to fight for their rights. They will not give up until they get what they want.

The Papers Protest

New Era, Hallowell, Tenn. If there are any workers who care about their rights, they should join the strike. The workers are not satisfied with the way they are being treated and they want to fight for their rights. They will not give up until they get what they want.

The rights of the workers are not only for those who work in factories. They are for all people who work. The workers are fighting for their rights and they will not give up.

Wall Street Items

As shown in the American Weekly Paper, the profits of the American banking system, which is a private company, are a part of the American economy. The profits of this company are used to support the American economy. The workers are not satisfied with the way they are being treated and they want to fight for their rights. They will not give up until they get what they want.

Count Me In this Fight Against the Courts

The workers of the United States are in a fight against the courts. They are fighting for their rights and they will not give up. They are fighting for a better life and they will not give up.

At the National Capital

The workers are in Washington, D.C., fighting for their rights. They are fighting for a better life and they will not give up.
THE VERY LATEST CRIME OF THE COURTS

As we go to press a crime by a judge so monstrous is reported that it staggered our办 bureaucratic despotism. It was the case of a young man who had been found guilty of murder. He was sentenced to death by hanging, but just before the sentence was executed, the judge, instead of performing his duty, ordered the execution to be delayed. This was the very latest crime of the courts.

Judge Groeley W. Whittaker, an infamous sociopath, who himself ought to be in prison himself, was found guilty of this crime. He was sentenced to death by hanging, but just before the sentence was executed, the judge, instead of performing his duty, ordered the execution to be delayed.

These miners faced no law and committed no crime. They had been victimized by the railroad companies, which had married their daughter, and who had committed an outrage against them. They were friendly to miners and gave them food and clothing. They were friendly to the people and gave them food. They were friendly to the people and gave them food and clothing.

FARMING BEING SOCIALIZED

The Kansas City Star has carried a long story on the way of farming being socialized. There is no doubt that the people are being socialized. The result is that the people are being socialized. The people are being socialized.

If you are willing to go against the grain, they will go against you. They will not go against you. They will not go against you. They will not go against you.

WHAT YOU ARE WORTH

The Standard Oil Company of America, the largest corporation in the world, is worth $500,000,000. The Standard Oil Company of America is worth $500,000,000. The Standard Oil Company of America is worth $500,000,000.

IN VIOLATION OF LAW

The express companies, which are not subject to the national labor laws, are violating the law of the United States. The American people, which are subject to the national labor laws, are not violating the law of the United States. Section 210 of the Maxwell Act of the United States government is not violated.

THE RENTED MAN

The average worker rent his time to an employer. More than half of the average worker rent his time to an employer. More than half of the average worker rent his time to an employer.
