"GOD DAMN! EM! GIVE 'EM HELL!"

The strain language is termed to Pierpont Morgan and it is said to have been caused by his worry about the gold outflow and the depression which was in on one of his many interviews. The sentiment is also prevalent in New York, where it is most in evidence, but the whole country echoes it. The banker views the matter as if he were in the presence of a moral and economic crisis which may end in the bankruptcy of the nation.

"F.D.R. is not going on a trip to Europe and his government is doing nothing to help the U.S. economy."

The depressed condition of the banking system is one of the gravest problems facing the nation. The banks are holding large amounts of cash, which they are not willing to lend, and the money is not circulating freely. The public is becoming skeptical of the government's ability to solve the problem, and there is a growing feeling that the situation is out of control.

"CHANGE OF TACTICS NEEDED"

The situation in the banking system is a serious one, but it is not without hope. There are some signs that the government is beginning to take action. The Treasury Department has announced that it will make more loans to banks, and it is said that the Federal Reserve will increase its discount rate.

The government is also considering the possibility of nationalizing the banks. This would give the government direct control over the banking system and would enable it to take effective steps to stabilize the economy. It is hoped that these measures will bring about a change in the banking system and that the country will be able to emerge from the depression.

Petty Grift at Leavenworth

BY GEO. P. BOOTH

What is a picturesque scene? What is the value of the article by poison pen in this issue? What is known as a poison pen? For years, the poison pen has been a favorite trick of the shameless and dishonest. It is the name given to a person who writes false and malicious attacks upon others, and who does it for the purpose of injuring them.

The poison pen has been used by newspaper editors, politicians, and others, to spread false and malicious statements about their enemies. It is not unknown to use the poison pen to spread false stories about the friends of an enemy, and to injure them in every possible way.

The poison pen has been known to be used to spread false and malicious stories about the Government, and to injure its employees. It has been used to spread false and malicious stories about the churches, and to injure their members.

The poison pen has been used to spread false and malicious stories about the schools, and to injure their teachers. It has been used to spread false and malicious stories about the charities, and to injure their workers.

March of the Movement

RE: ROBERT W. DENNY

They held the monthly meeting in which they were attended by one hundred members of the junior chamber of commerce and one hundred and twenty-five of the club of men who are interested in the progress of the city and the state. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple, and the program consisted of the delivery of a paper by the speaker, the chairman of the committee on education, and the reading of a report by the city engineer.

The meeting was well attended, and the speakers were well received. The chairman of the committee on education spoke on the importance of education and the necessity of providing adequate funds for the support of the schools. He stated that the city was in a state of financial straits, and that the schools were suffering as a result. He urged the city council to provide adequate funds for the support of the schools, and to take steps to improve the educational facilities of the city.

The speaker on education then spoke, and he made a strong plea for the improvement of the educational facilities of the city. He stated that the city was in a state of financial straits, and that the schools were suffering as a result. He urged the city council to provide adequate funds for the support of the schools, and to take steps to improve the educational facilities of the city.

The city engineer then read a report on the condition of the city's water supply. He stated that the supply was inadequate and that the city was in a state of financial straits, and that the water supply was suffering as a result. He urged the city council to take steps to improve the water supply of the city, and to provide adequate funds for the support of the water department.

The meeting adjourned after a brief discussion of other matters.

The next meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple on the first Tuesday of each month.

Post Apotheosis

The post apophasis ceremony was held in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple, and the program consisted of the delivery of a paper by the chief conductor, the reading of a report by the city engineer, and the reading of a report by the city clerk.

The chief conductor delivered a paper on the history of the post apophasis ceremony, and he stated that the ceremony was established in the city in 1870. He stated that the ceremony had been held every year since then, and that it was an important event in the life of the city.

The city engineer then read a report on the condition of the city's water supply. He stated that the supply was inadequate and that the city was in a state of financial straits, and that the water supply was suffering as a result. He urged the city council to take steps to improve the water supply of the city, and to provide adequate funds for the support of the water department.

The city clerk then read a report on the condition of the city's finances. He stated that the city was in a state of financial straits, and that the city was not able to meet its obligations. He urged the city council to take steps to improve the financial condition of the city, and to provide adequate funds for the support of the city.

The meeting adjourned after a brief discussion of other matters.

The next meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple on the first Tuesday of each month.

Fraudulent Railroads

Fraudulent railroads are a serious problem in the state. They are responsible for the loss of millions of dollars each year, and they harm the public by providing poor service and charging exorbitant rates.

The problem of fraudulent railroads is complex, and it requires the cooperation of the government and the railroads to solve. The government must provide adequate regulations and enforcement to prevent fraudulent railroads from operating.

The railroads must also be held accountable for their actions. They must be required to provide honest service and fair rates, and they must be subject to penalties if they fail to comply with the regulations.
