Appeal Wins Frank Lane Case — $25,000 Damages

In the district court of Crawford county, Kansas, the Appeal, on August 11th, obtained an important victory in the Frank Lane case, securing a judgment of $25,000 for the plaintiff, Frank Lane. The trial was held at Pittsburg, Kansas, before Judge J. A. Wayland, and was a most important and interesting trial. The plaintiff, Frank Lane, is a colored man, and the defendant is a railroad company. The case is one of the most important and interesting cases that has come before the court in many years.

The case was tried before a jury of citizens of Crawford county, and the verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff, Frank Lane. The railroad company appealed from the decision, and the case is now pending in the Supreme Court of Kansas.

The Appeal has long been a leading advocate of the rights of colored people, and has done much to advance the interests of the colored race in Kansas. The Appeal is proud of the victory it has obtained in the Frank Lane case, and is confident that it will be held to be a landmark in the history of the colored race in Kansas.

The Appeal is published weekly, and is read by a large number of people in Kansas. It is a powerful advocate of the rights of colored people, and is one of the most influential papers in the state.
Conspiracy of the Newspapers

PRISON OFFICIAL, UNDER FIRE, QUITS

P. B. Lemon, Deputy Warden at C.S. "Put" at the Head of Charges

WARDEN IS EXONORATED

Charges Ex-Guards and Ex-Commies May Cause More Retrenchments

On the Los Angeles police "fire," the Los Angeles Daily News announced another. The News, noted for its total lack of sentimentality, has, for some time, been on the attack on the Los Angeles City Hall, now acting as the City Council. The latest issue of the News contained an article by a prominent member of the Los Angeles police force, Mayor Frank C. F. O. was prominently mentioned in the article.

The article, which was published under the headline "Charges Ex-Guards and Ex-Commies May Cause More Retrenchments," alleged that the police force was being taken over by former Communists and other radical elements. The article went on to say that these individuals were using their influence to suppress print and silence opposition voices within the city.

The article also stated that the police force was being run by a group of individuals who were not qualified to hold such positions. The article accused these individuals of using their power to silence those who disagreed with them and to maintain control over the city's affairs.

The article concluded by calling for the resignation of Mayor Frank C. F. O. and the removal of the radical elements from the police force.

The article was met with widespread criticism by the police department and the Mayor's office. The Mayor's office released a statement denying the accusations and stating that the police force was being run by competent and qualified individuals.

The article sparked a public debate about the role of the police force in the city and the relationship between the police and the political establishment.

The Railroad Hospital Steal

A few days later the main reports of the railroad hospital case were published. The officers who had conducted the investigation were facing charges of impropriety.

The railroad hospital case had been under investigation for some time. The investigators had uncovered evidence of corruption and misconduct by some of the officers. The officers were accused of stealing money from the hospital and of allowing the hospital to operate under substandard conditions.

The officers had denied the charges, and their attorneys had filed a motion to have the charges dismissed. The motion was denied, and the officers were facing charges of fraud and embezzlement.

The railroad hospital case had become a symbol of the corruption and inefficiency in the city's public officials. The case had drawn widespread attention, and many people were calling for the resignation of the city's mayor and the removal of the railroad hospital's management.

The situation in the United States was compared to the situation in New Zealand. In New Zealand, the government had recently taken over a number of railroad companies, and there had been widespread reports of corruption and inefficiency in the new companies.

The comparison between the two situations was made by a number of people, including the railroad hospital investigators. They argued that the situation in New Zealand was a result of the government's failure to properly oversee the railroad companies.

The investigators called for the railroad hospital to be taken over by the government, and for the government to institute new management and oversight systems to prevent future corruption.

The situation in the United States was compared to the situation in New Zealand. In New Zealand, the government had recently taken over a number of railroad companies, and there had been widespread reports of corruption and inefficiency in the new companies.

The comparison between the two situations was made by a number of people, including the railroad hospital investigators. They argued that the situation in New Zealand was a result of the government's failure to properly oversee the railroad companies.

The investigators called for the railroad hospital to be taken over by the government, and for the government to institute new management and oversight systems to prevent future corruption.

The situation in the United States was compared to the situation in New Zealand. In New Zealand, the government had recently taken over a number of railroad companies, and there had been widespread reports of corruption and inefficiency in the new companies.

The comparison between the two situations was made by a number of people, including the railroad hospital investigators. They argued that the situation in New Zealand was a result of the government's failure to properly oversee the railroad companies.

The investigators called for the railroad hospital to be taken over by the government, and for the government to institute new management and oversight systems to prevent future corruption.

The situation in the United States was compared to the situation in New Zealand. In New Zealand, the government had recently taken over a number of railroad companies, and there had been widespread reports of corruption and inefficiency in the new companies.

The comparison between the two situations was made by a number of people, including the railroad hospital investigators. They argued that the situation in New Zealand was a result of the government's failure to properly oversee the railroad companies.

The investigators called for the railroad hospital to be taken over by the government, and for the government to institute new management and oversight systems to prevent future corruption.

The situation in the United States was compared to the situation in New Zealand. In New Zealand, the government had recently taken over a number of railroad companies, and there had been widespread reports of corruption and inefficiency in the new companies.

The comparison between the two situations was made by a number of people, including the railroad hospital investigators. They argued that the situation in New Zealand was a result of the government's failure to properly oversee the railroad companies.

The investigators called for the railroad hospital to be taken over by the government, and for the government to institute new management and oversight systems to prevent future corruption.
Throned Monarchs of Corruption

By ROBERT Y. DERS

The house of representatives in Washington will be considerably enlarged by the new enrolment of members representing the industrial interests of the nation. The present house of representatives, according to the census, numbers 350, representing the interests of the people. The new house will consist of 500 members, and the 150 who have been appointed by the state legislatures will count for about 200 members. The new house will be composed of representatives from the industrial interests of the nation. The present house is composed of representatives from the industrial interests of the nation. The new house will be composed of representatives from the industrial interests of the nation. The present house is composed of representatives from the industrial interests of the nation. The new house will be composed of representatives from the industrial interests of the nation. The

Asking About Socialism

Cub and Boys

Could a boy get a job in a socialist country?

Yes, a boy could get a job in a socialist country.

GovernOR MARSHALL of Indiana is quoted as saying that the government of socialism is not a government, but a system of laws and regulations. He said that in a socialist society, the people are not governed by the government, but by the laws and regulations. He said that in a socialist society, the people are not governed by the government, but by the laws and regulations.

Cuba is now in the hands of an American government. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September.

The New York Times is welcoming the new administration with open arms. It is expected that the new administration will bring about a new era in Cuba. The New York Times is welcoming the new administration with open arms. It is expected that the new administration will bring about a new era in Cuba.

A recent article in the New York Times stated that the new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September.

Senator WILLIAM H. STEWART of New York is quoted as saying that the new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September.

A recent article in the New York Times stated that the new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September.

A recent article in the New York Times stated that the new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September. The new administration is expected to take over in September.