The Work to be Done

The Appeal has two tasks before it and it is going to see that the work is done. The machine is dead and ready to release him if he is held, as Burns suggested, as some sort of a general strike in which he calls out all of his men in the district. If the evidence is valid in examining the Appeal is going to see that it is. If the evidence is not valid in examining the Appeal is going to see that the work is done. In the case of the Shao's movement in Los Angeles and find out what he secured there it was for Blood to go from place to place and work up the case without anything to guide him.

Shao's Father's Story

The family of George H. Shao, Jnr., of the 49th District Board of Education, was killed in a fire in their home at 2400 W. 25th St., Los Angeles, Thursday, August 31. The bodies of the family members were found in the garret of the residence. The Shao family had been the victims of a fire which had started in the kitchen. They were instantly killed by the flames as they attempted to escape through the rear entrance. The fire was caused by a short circuit in the wiring of the residence.

What the Fight Means

There is a parallel between the battle for the votes of those who are outside the organization and the battle for the votes of those who are inside the organization. The battle for the votes of those who are outside the organization is the battle for the votes of those who are inside the organization. The battle for the votes of those who are outside the organization is the battle for the votes of those who are inside the organization.
Story of the California Fight

By FRANK E. WOLF, Head of Industrial Bureau of the Socialist Party

California has long been dominated by the interest of the fishing industry, and the workers have always been subjected to working conditions far below the minimum standards set by the law. The situation has become so bad that the workers have decided to take action to improve their conditions. The strike was launched with the support of the Socialist Party, and has been met with resistance from the employers.

Principal Points at Issue

That the employers have failed to meet the workers' demands is evident from the following points:

1. The employers have failed to meet the workers' demands for better working conditions.
2. The employers have failed to meet the workers' demands for better wages.
3. The employers have failed to meet the workers' demands for better hours of work.

What Can be Done

In November of this year, the workers of California will vote on a constitutional amendment which will grant them the right to organize and to strike. The amendment is supported by the Socialist Party, and is expected to receive a majority of votes.

The amendment will give the workers the right to organize and to strike, and will also provide for the establishment of a minimum wage and working conditions. The amendment is expected to be ratified by the workers, and will provide a strong basis for future collective bargaining agreements.

WHAT HAS CONGRESS DONE

by Roger J. Seder

The special session of Congress seems to have put everything on the back burner. It was adjourned after doing that which is the smallest part of its work. It has been said that Congress is supposed to be the legislative branch of the government, but it is more like the legislative branch of the government. The Senate is the upper house, and the House of Representatives is the lower house. Congress meets for the purpose of making laws for the United States, but it seems like they are more interested in other matters.

Socialists at Work

In the course of its work, Congress has made many changes in the laws of the United States. The most important of these changes is the one that involves the railroads. The railroads have been controlled by the government since 1906, and they have been making great progress in recent years.

The Labor Line-Up

A labor line-up was held in the city of Girard, Kansas, last week. The local union of the American Federation of Labor met in the city hall to discuss the strikes in the coal mines of West Virginia. The meeting was well attended, and many resolutions were adopted. The local union has decided to support the strikers in their fight for better wages and working conditions.

A Talk With McNamara

A talk with McNamara

by Alexander Irving

I arrived in Los Angeles Saturday morning, July 15. I was warmly welcomed by the labor delegation from the East. I was taken to the Hotel Wilshire, where I was met by a large group of labor leaders.

No Such Sign

My stay was uneventful, except for a visit to the Los Angeles Times. When I arrived there, I was told that there was a strike going on. I was not interested in the strike, but I wanted to see what the labor leaders were up to.

Shall McNamara Die?

The question of whether McNamara should live or die was discussed by the labor leaders. They were divided in their opinions, but most of them believed that McNamara should live. The labor leaders were also interested in the coming election.

Clearly Innocent

J. J. McNamara was cleared of all charges. The evidence against him was weak, and the jury found him not guilty.

"Fight or Perish"

The sentence of McNamara on June 26 was the result of a trial that lasted for six weeks. The trial was held in the Superior Court of Los Angeles, and McNamara was found guilty of the charge of murder.

Getting Possession

How will a Socialist government acquire existing property? This is a question that has been debated for many years. The Socialists believe that the government should own all property, and that it should be used for the benefit of the people. The government should not be allowed to operate in the private interest.

The Closing Ratio

As the year 1911 draws to a close, it is interesting to note the closing ratio of the various stocks. The ratio of the Standard Oil Company is 10 to 1, and the ratio of the International Harvester Company is 5 to 1. These ratios indicate that the stocks are doing well, and that the future is bright for the stockholders.

"Firing Practice"

A firing practice was held last week at the city of Great Bond. The practice was conducted by the local chapter of the American Legion. The practice was well attended, and many shots were fired.
