"Rotting to its Fall" By Eugene V. Debs

But the indictment of the grafters in high places more conspicuously than jackals, by the Appeal to Reason, has already been heard in the Court of The People, the only court of last resort, which is said to have stampeded 6,000 men from the pool of the wretched into the pool of the wretched.

Never did the Appeal have a greater moral obligation to stand its ground than now and never was it better prepared to fight for its life.

The inducements of capitalism are the testimonials of its dole to the Appeal to Reason.

It is true that we have no billion-dollar trust to back us, but we have the truth with us and the Appeal Army behind us, the army invincible that has never yet lowered its colors and never will until capitalism has been wipped from the earth.

What has been published in the Appeal columns, revolting as it undeniably is in its revelations of moral depravity and political treachery, is, and Prosecutor Bone and his pale know and if the truth be under capitalism we are prepared for all its penalties.

These gentlemen of official title pretend to perform from a sense of public duty.

What a travesty upon law and what a mockery of justice to indict men under the law for exposing outrages and charge men with crime for seeking to put an end to crime.

We have no apology but only condemnation for our comrades under indictment. They have been decorated with the insignia of truth and justice by the criminals and the courts

We ask no quarter from these official vassals of the ruling robbers. Let them do their worst and when they are through they will find that every dastardly act of persecution on their part has reacted upon themselves and that the more they try to extirpate it the more it will spread.

Comrades of the Appeal Army and Friends of Truth and Justice, these indictments are intended, especially, for all that the grand jury at Port Kent is in the fullest sense of the term, and that all of us stand charged in the indictment with being opposed to capitalism.

Let us defiantly and with our colors and all go to the penitentiary if need be before we take back one single word.

The Appeal to Reason has beaten them to its first in indicting the official criminals under capitalism and now has the good fortune to undergo the suffering and the ridicule that the lying indicters are suffering.

Socialists Not Questioned

In an address at Albany, Ohio, Judge Fitzgerald, the recent appointee of President Taft, said the following:

"Socialists and anarchists are not excluded by the law of the United States. It is possible to be a Socialist and yet be a good citizen.

"Socialism does not mean that one is not a citizen. The socialists of this country have been among the foremost citizens in the land.

"We all agree in this nation that a Socialist is a citizen, and that he is entitled to all the rights and privileges of a citizen. The law does not exclude any man from the enjoyment of the rights and privileges of citizenship, and the Socialist is entitled to be a citizen and to enjoy all the rights and privileges of citizenship.

"The Socialist is entitled to be a citizen and to enjoy all the rights and privileges of citizenship, and the law does not exclude any man from the enjoyment of the rights and privileges of citizenship, and the Socialist is entitled to be a citizen and to enjoy all the rights and privileges of citizenship.

"We all agree in this nation that a Socialist is a citizen, and that he is entitled to all the rights and privileges of a citizen. The law does not exclude any man from the enjoyment of the rights and privileges of citizenship, and the Socialist is entitled to be a citizen and to enjoy all the rights and privileges of citizenship."
Southern Pacific Steel

The Southern Pacific railroad, it is said, has been able to advertise its superiority in a way that is likely to make its competitors feel a little competitive edge. The company has advertised its new steam locomotives, which are said to be the most powerful and efficient in the country. The locomotives are designed to travel up to 120 miles per hour, and are equipped with the latest in steam technology, including automatic control systems and advanced cooling systems.

Time to Solve Mystery Story

The mystery story is finally solved. The clues led to the discovery of the culprit, who was found hiding in the attic of the old mansion. The culprit, a famous author, had been writing a book about the case, hoping to solve it before anyone else. The author was found to be guilty of the crime, and was arrested by the police.

The Legal Department

The legal department of the company has been working hard to resolve a number of cases. One of the most recent cases has been the defense of a group of workers who were fired for union activities. The company was found to be in violation of labor laws, and was ordered to reinstate the workers and pay them back wages.

Court Sustains the Appeal

The court has sustained the appeal of the workers who were fired for union activities. The court ruled that the company had violated labor laws, and ordered the company to reinstate the workers and pay them back wages. The company is now appealing the decision, but it is likely that the court's decision will stand.

Read Carefully

The editor of the newspaper has written a column urging readers to read the articles carefully. The editor notes that some of the articles contain information that is difficult to understand, and that readers should take the time to read them carefully. The editor also notes that the articles contain information that is important for understanding the issues at hand.

The Legal Department

The legal department of the company has been working hard to resolve a number of cases. One of the most recent cases has been the defense of a group of workers who were fired for union activities. The company was found to be in violation of labor laws, and was ordered to reinstate the workers and pay them back wages. The company is now appealing the decision, but it is likely that the court's decision will stand.

Court Sustains the Appeal

The court has sustained the appeal of the workers who were fired for union activities. The court ruled that the company had violated labor laws, and ordered the company to reinstate the workers and pay them back wages. The company is now appealing the decision, but it is likely that the court's decision will stand.