The Fight Begins

As we go to press with this issue the debate of the States of Kansas and in the rest of the nation is about to begin. We are told by the leaders of the Free Speech League and other organizations that the people are not going to have their rights taken away from them without a fight. We are told that the people are going to have their rights taken away from them by the Organization for the Socialization of the Country.

FOR THE RIGHTS OF THE SITUATION

The Appeal to Reason is determined to tell the story of the struggle for the rights of the people in Kansas as it goes on. We are determined to fight for the people and their rights. We are determined to fight for the rights of the people in Kansas as they go on.

We have been told that the people are not going to have their rights taken away from them by the Organization for the Socialization of the Country. We are determined to fight for the people and their rights. We are determined to fight for the rights of the people in Kansas as they go on.

Still Forging Ahead

The Tall Revolution

The political revolution that has swept the land has left its mark on the economic scene. The men of influence and the masses are now demanding a change in the system. The existing order is crumbling, and new institutions are being born. The spirit of the people is rising, and the old feudalism of privilege is fading away. The new order will be one of cooperation and equality. No longer will the few control the affairs of the many. The people will be the masters, and their will will be law.

The New Men

The new men are not the old aristocracy of privilege. They are the common people, the workers, the farmers, and the laborers. They are the ones who have been exploited and oppressed by the old order. They are the ones who will build the new society. They are the ones who will live in the land of the free and the home of the brave.

The New Economy

The new economy will be one of cooperation and equality. The old system of private ownership and speculation will be replaced by a system of public ownership and equitable distribution. The means of production will be owned by the people, and the products of labor will be distributed to all, according to the needs of each. The new economy will be based on the principles of justice, democracy, and freedom.

The New Society

The new society will be one of cooperation and equality. The old system of competition and aggression will be replaced by a system of cooperation and harmony. The people will work together for the common good, and the fruits of their labor will be shared by all. The new society will be based on the principles of justice, democracy, and freedom.

The New Order

The new order will be one of cooperation and equality. The old system of privilege and oppression will be replaced by a system of justice and freedom. The people will be free to live as they choose, and their rights will be protected by the law. The new order will be based on the principles of justice, democracy, and freedom.
Taft and Roosevelt Tell the Truth About Each Other
Perkins Says of Both

When Mr. Taft ran for president in 1908, I supported him in every way that I could. You complain constantly and bitterly because I am not supporting Mr. Roosevelt. But let me assure you that I am connected with the Harvestor company and the steel corporation. Senator Crane of Massachusetts is very much interested in the Harvestor campaign, and yet no criticism is heard of this, notwithstanding the fact that he is very prominently connected with one of the largest of the important paper enterprises.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Taft was a member of my cabinet when this identical case was fully before me. I frankly state that in private I proved the action taken; and, indeed, as a matter of fact, my memory is that he himself made the exposure. We are trying to find the relation of the Harvestor trust to the investigation in the trust by the bureau of corporations.

Taft Says of Roosevelt

"Condemn me if you will, but condemn me by other witnesses than Theodore Roosevelt."

"I am a man of straw long enough; every man who has blood in his veins is not unworthy of my criticism."

"As a matter of fact, Mr. Taft was a member of my cabinet when this identical case was fully before me. I frankly state that in private I proved the action taken; and, indeed, as a matter of fact, my memory is that he himself made the exposure. What the Appeal Thinks of the Big Republican Split

Why should George W. Perkins contribute $15,000 to help keep the Republican primaries in New York City? It is because Mr. Perkins is an ardent believer in the initiative and referendum. Is it because his ardent soul is set on the recall of judicial judges? Is it because he is willing to make any financial sacrifice in order that the nation may achieve its most desirable end? Mr. Perkins is the only statesman who is wise enough and patriotic enough to be president.

The trusts have no better friend and the people no more treacherous enemy than Theodore Roosevelt. As for President Taft, every man with an ounce of brains who knew that his campaign was financed, as Perkins himself now admits, by Wall street and big interests, can see that his case was hopeless at the supreme bench and that he was judged by the judicial bar. Richard E. Hooker, the editor of the railroad and other corporations he had so ably served, this in itself is sufficient to show that they had no chance.

There are the candidates of the great capitalist party, and the presidential of the United States, these are the most eminent statesmen, the greatest patriots the republic under capitalist misrule has ever known. If you who read these lines are still the bitter enemies of such and such and such, why not get your heads together and make a humble appeal?"
