"The New Year for Socialism..."

This is the first issue of the Appeal to Reason in the New Year. As I look back over the year that has just passed, I can see many things which will make the coming year a very promising one for Socialism. With the victory of the Social Democrats in the election last November, there is a very real possibility that Socialism will be able to carry the day in the coming year. The Socialists have already made many gains in the past, and with the election of the Social Democrats, they will be able to carry the day in the coming year.

The Socialist Party has made many gains in the past, and with the election of the Social Democrats, they will be able to carry the day in the coming year.

The Story of Bruce Mitchell, Miner

The grievous accident that resulted in the death of Bruce Mitchell, a miner of this community, was one of those unexpected and unexpected tragedies that come to one to strike him down.

Bruce Mitchell was a young man of 32 years, a married man with two children. He was employed in the mine as a laborer, and his work was of the usual kind. On the day of the accident, he was working as usual when the disaster occurred.

The cause of the accident was a rock that fell from the roof of the mine. Bruce Mitchell was working in the lower part of the mine, when the rock fell on him, and he was instantly crushed to death.

Bruce Mitchell was a man of good character and deserved a better fate. He was always punctual and reliable in his work, and was well liked by his fellow workers.

The miners who were working in the mine at the time of the accident were deeply shocked and grieved. They were unable to believe that such a tragedy could happen to one of their fellow workers.

The families of Bruce Mitchell were also deeply grieved by the loss of their loved one. They were unable to come to terms with the idea that they would never see their loved one again.

Bruce Mitchell's death is a great loss to the mining community. He was a valuable worker, and his absence will be felt for a long time to come.
THE PARCE OF IT. John Pennington Morgan has been on the stand before the Public Utilities Commission for more than a month now on his 'money trust' case. The facts of his case are that the Holding Company, the Consolidated Gas Company, and the Inter-State Gas Company, have all been merged into the Consolidated Gas Company, and are now operating under that name.

The testimony of the Consolidated Gas Company is that they have been operating under the same name for the last three years, and that they have not been operating under the name of the Consolidated Gas Company for the last two years.

The testimony of the Holding Company is that they have been operating under the same name for the last three years, and that they have not been operating under the name of the Holding Company for the last two years.

The testimony of the United States Trust Company is that they have been operating under the same name for the last three years, and that they have not been operating under the name of the United States Trust Company for the last two years.

JUDICALLY SUSTAINED. The Supreme Court of West Virginia has sustained an order of the Public Utilities Commission, enjoining the operation of the Holding Company and the Consolidated Gas Company, and directing them to cease and desist from operating under the names of the Holding Company and the Consolidated Gas Company, and to cease and desist from operating under the names of the United States Trust Company.

OYIS HAlF TRUTHS. There are no lies and no dishonesty in the use of the phrase 'half truths' as a basis for political argument. It is a term that is used to describe a situation where one side of the story is told and the other side is left out.

The News of the 'half truths' is that Morgan, through his holding company, has been buying up gas utilities and other companies in order to gain control over them. Morgan has been buying up companies in order to gain control over them, and he has been doing it in order to gain control over them, and he has been doing it in order to gain control over them.

Morgan has been buying up companies in order to gain control over them, and he has been doing it in order to gain control over them, and he has been doing it in order to gain control over them.

"LOOK OUT, OTIS!" To-day in the House of Representatives, Mr. Morgan, the celebrated lawyer and legislator, declared that he will be a candidate for the office of Secretary of War. Mr. Morgan is a man of great ability, and he has been a member of Congress for many years. He is a man of great ability, and he has been a member of Congress for many years.
