Picketing of John D. Rockefeller’s Oyster Bar in New York by Socialists

BY MAURICE WOODWORTH

Washington, April 23

A motion picture showing the struggle of the oyster picketers in New York City was shown at the National Labor Union meeting here yesterday by the socialist candidate for the vice presidency, Julius W. Farber.

The film, which was made by the socialist-controlled motion picture company, the Motion Picture League, depicts the struggle of the oyster picketers in New York City, who have been on strike for two months.

The picketers, who are employed by the Oyster Bar in New York, have been on strike since February 15, demanding better wages and working conditions. The management refused to accede to their demands, and the strike continued.

The motion picture, which was shown to a large audience, demonstrates the plight of the oyster picketers and the残酷ities of the management.

The film shows the workers living in squalor and working long hours for low wages. It also shows the management using dogs and other animals to attack the workers.

The picketers have been supported by their families and friends, and they have received much sympathy from the public.

The socialist candidate, who is a member of the American Labor Party, is running for the vice presidency on a platform of social reform.

The following is a summary of the film:

The film begins with a scene of the workers living in shacks near the Oyster Bar. They are shown working long hours for low wages, and their children are shown attending dirty schools.

The management, which is shown to be corrupt and ruthless, is shown using dogs and other animals to attack the workers. The film also shows the workers being denied food and water.

The picketers, who are shown to be determined and brave, are shown staging a demonstration outside the Oyster Bar. The police are shown trying to break up the demonstration, but the workers are successful.

The film ends with a scene of the workers winning their strike. They are shown celebrating their victory, and their children are shown attending better schools.

The socialist candidate, who is shown in the film, is running on a platform of social reform. He is calling for the abolition of the present system, which he says is based on exploitation and inequality.

He is also calling for the establishment of a workers’ government, which he says would be devoted to the welfare of the workers and the poor.

The socialist candidate is running in the hope that he can bring about a revolution in the United States, which he says is necessary to save the country from the exploitation and inequality that he says is the hallmark of the present system.

History of a Modern Crime—Two Victims of Human Vultures

BY JOHN KENNETH TUCKER

The two victims of human vultures—George and Ethel Ford—were the classic victims of a modern crime. The Ford family was the victim of a dastardly and brutal slaying, carried out by a gang of vultures who had been hired to carry out a lynching.

The victims were George and Ethel Ford, who were living in the town of Girard, Kansas. The Ford family had been living in Girard for many years, and had become known for their generosity and kindness.

The Ford family had been targeted by a group of vultures who were planning to carry out a lynching. The vultures had been hired by a local gang of hoodlums, who had been planning to carry out a lynching.

The lynching was carried out in the early hours of the morning, when the Ford family was sleeping. The vultures entered the house and killed the Fords, then fled the scene.
