How the Rockefeller's Own and Control America

BY HENRY H. KLEIN

J ohn D. ROCKEFELLER'S income from Standard Oil is estimated at $10,000,000 a year. His share of cash dividends is dated exceeding $200,000. On the basis of his share of the corporate profits, his income is conservatively estimated at over $1,000,000 per year. He has made more money in 50 years than has been made by any other individual. And he owns enough of other securities of public service corporations to make him the most formidable factor in the business life of America.

A larger portion of the violations of the Sherman Act and the孚reign Trade Practices Act have been committed under his influence than by all other individual corporations and state, federal, and local governments taken together. He is without doubt the largest landlord in the United States. He alone owns more than the total amount of land owned by the state of New York, including its islands and its counties. He is the largest employer in the United States. He alone employs more people than any other organization, public or private, in the United States.

J ohn D. Rockefeller, the man who has been called the greatest American of all time, has been the greatest American of all time. He is the greatest American of all time. He is the greatest American of all time. He is the greatest American of all time.

There is no more telling evidence of the power of Standard Oil than the fact that it is the largest consumer of raw materials in the United States. The amount of raw materials used by Standard Oil is equivalent to the entire annual production of the United States. Terrorist Tactics Are Used by Gunmen

By JOHN KENNETH CURTIS

On its way to the capital of a small wagon train, a small group of armed men ambushed the ox team near a crossroads. The attackers were members of a secret society known as the "Gunmen," whose main aim is to establish a society of equality and justice.

In order to carry out their mission, the Gunmen use various tactics, including ambushes, sabotage, and infiltration of local authorities. The society is divided into different factions, each with its own set of rules and codes.

The Gunmen's leaders are known to be extremely secretive and to keep their true identities hidden. They are rumored to be involved in illegal activities such as drug trafficking and arms smuggling.

In recent years, the Gunmen have become more aggressive, targeting not only the local authorities but also foreign nationals who they believe are threats to their society.

The Gunmen's actions have caused much disruption and fear in the area, and local authorities are struggling to find a way to stop them.

In conclusion, the Gunmen are a powerful and dangerous organization that poses a serious threat to the stability of the region. It is important that the authorities take decisive action to halt their activities and bring them to justice.
Free Speech Battle Is on at Tarrytown

By ABRAHAM S. SACKS

TO the west of the tepee in which the free speech had arisen in John Brown's time, a movement of the same description was being made by the trustees to obtain the services of their former teacher. This was the one that had been called "the old man's" and which had been held in high esteem by the people of the town. It was a movement that had been brought about by the influence of John D. Rockefeller, who had been the principal supporter of the town. His idea was to set up a school for the instruction of the children, and to give a free place to the children of the town.

The trustees were very anxious to have the old man's services, and had made a special effort to secure them. They had written to the old man, telling him of their desire to have him, and of the high esteem in which his services were held. The old man had been very much moved by these letters, and had at once agreed to come and take charge of the school.

The trustees were very pleased with the old man's acceptance of their offer, and were now making arrangements to have the school opened as soon as possible. They had already secured the necessary funds, and were now planning to select the best teachers and to hire the best buildings for the purpose.

The old man's arrival in Tarrytown was looked forward to with great excitement. The people were very much interested in the school, and were eager to see it opened. They were also very anxious to have the old man's services, and were hoping that he would be able to give them the best instruction possible.

Mrs. Gerald, who was the wife of the old man, had also been very much moved by the trustees' letters, and had at once agreed to come and take charge of the school. She was a very capable teacher, and was looked upon by the people as one of the best in the town.

JUNIOR DUBS CAN LIVE ON OLD MAN'S DATE

A Junior dubb or two

After awhile the world is going to quit looking for good men, and begin looking for those things that make good men.

They may have discovered a new corn, but when they find it they will realize that it is worth something.

The human animal is the only animal that can tell what he wants, and he generally does it himself.

The old man in the story of the blindfolded man who was told to pick the right horse out of the stable was a very foolish man.

President Wilson can now point with pride to the fact that he has produced under the beneficent rule of capitalism.

Making the present business depression a national one, the government has done more for the people, more for the country, than any other government in the world.

Let us rejoice. America is the world's best country. It is the land of freedom, the land of equality, the land of opportunity.
