How the World Was Bonded and Bankrupted

A t one time the workers of the world were tied to the land. The period covered by this method of exploitation was called feudalism. Previously they were tied by ownership of the bodies of the workers, which is known as chattel slavery. They are now tied to the machinery through private and corporate ownership of the tools with which they must do their work, and this form of exploitation is called industrial capitalism.

The form of exploitation is the most perfect the world has ever known. It reaches every person who lives. It is bound, approved by every nation in existence, and applied not only to the living, but also to all who shall be in the ages to be, world without end. The extent of the bond is greater than almost any human power.

Here is the story of the invention of the idea of bonds. It is a story of romance. We have also the public indecorum in England, Germany, France, and the United States, that stagers belief. But the battleships, created in order to create this debt for the money lenders, also stand for the collection of the interest. You have to pay the interest to be paid, but becomes a perpetual bond that calls for.

This invention of Pitt and Rothschild is not the only way to take the money out of the people. It is also the idea of lending the people nationally by action of the authorities. The authorities of the United States, under the guise of war, have been borrowing money, and the entire banking interests of the world have been placed under tribute. Another form of exploitation has been invented, which involves a few millionaires who exploit others through profits and interests. This scheme is known as international or inter-bank-age.

The above form of exploitation is the most perfect the world has ever known. It reaches every person who lives. It is bound, approved by every nation in existence, and applied not only to the living, but also to all who shall be in the ages to be, world without end.

Here is the story of the invention of the idea of debts. It sounds like a romance.

Great Britain's Bonded Debts

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Description</th>
<th>National debt</th>
<th>France's Bonded</th>
<th>Germany's Bonded Debts</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>National debt</td>
<td>£126,900,000</td>
<td>£11,289,000,000</td>
<td>£24,000,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total</td>
<td>£126,900,000</td>
<td>£11,289,000,000</td>
<td>£24,000,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Morgan Enlarges the Firms

Morgan and his associates have purchased and absorbed New York and Philadelphia firms, in order to make his banking concerns more complete. The great Wall Street house is now a bond and trust company, and is the largest banking house in the world.
Labor Union and Socialist Local Infested With Corporation Spies

BY JOHN KENNER LEWIS.

A recent Correspondent in Appeal to Reason, Grand Rapids, Michigan, made the following statement:

"Last week I attended a meeting of the local labor union and was horrified to find that a number of the members were working for the corporation. The corporation is trying to infiltrate our union and corrupt our members. They are offering them money and promises of promotion if they will work for them."
SAY, YOU AMBITIOUS BOY!

If you could see the letters I am getting from the boys in the last selling of the eighth edition of the Appeal, and learn of your friend, you would wish I was a rich man. I am merely a small boy, and wish to get into politics, but I have a large supply of paper, and am willing to pay the cost of printing. I want to sell the Appeal in your town, and if you will pay me $1.00 a copy, I will sell you 50 copies for $4.50. I have been selling the papers in your own city, and am ready to go to work at once. I have a large number of friends in the town, and will be able to get you a good supply of paper. I have a large number of friends ready to help me, and will be able to sell you a large number of copies. I am willing to work hard, and will do my best to succeed. Please let me know if you are interested in the Appeal, and I will be glad to help you.
How Wall Street Captured White House

It is not a pleasant thing to declare that the president of the United States of America has surrendered to big business, but this is the plain reading of the following statement of his two signatures.

"In the name of the people of the United States of America, I hereby authorize the Secretary of Commerce to make such public statement and to issue such orders and regulations as may be necessary to effectuate the provisions of this act." The act was signed yesterday by the president, who was accompanied by his secretary, William J. Donovan, and the chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Hiram W. Johnson.

The act is known as the "Morgan-Morgan-Osborn" act, named after the two leading bankers who are responsible for its passage. It is a direct result of the investigations made by the New York Times and the Wall Street Journal into the activities of these two men and their associates.

For months, the newspapers have been publishing articles alleging that Morgan and Osborn, two of the most powerful men in Wall Street, are engaged in a conspiracy to manipulate the stock market and to favor certain businesses and individuals.

The act provides for the appointment of a special commission to investigate these charges. The commission will be composed of three members, one of whom will be appointed by the president, one by the Senate, and one by the House of Representatives.

The act also provides for the imposition of heavy fines and penalties on those who violate its provisions. In addition, it gives the Securities and Exchange Commission the power to issue cease-and-desist orders, to require reports, and to take other action to enforce the law.

The act has been hailed as a victory for the public, and it is expected to bring about a considerable amount of reform in the stock market. It is hoped that the new commission will be able to uncover the truth behind these charges and to bring to justice those responsible for the illegal practices.

The only news from the cigar bell states is that the crop is in bad shape. The weather has been cool and damp, which has caused the leaves to become small and thin. As a result, the crop is expected to yield only a fraction of what was expected.

The big problem, however, is not the weather but the market. The price of the cigar bell has dropped to all-time lows, and farmers are finding it difficult to find a buyer for their crop. Some farmers have already sold their crop, but at very low prices.

The situation is particularly serious in the south, where the crop is expected to yield even less than in the north. In some areas, the farmers have already begun to destroy their crop in order to prevent further losses.

The government has taken some steps to help the farmers, but they have been too little and too late. The Department of Agriculture has announced that it will purchase a small amount of the crop, but this is not enough to offset the losses.

The situation is also bad for the cigar bell growers in the north, who have been hit by the same cool and damp weather. The crop is expected to be small and thin, and the price is expected to be low.

The local farmers are trying to find a way to salvage their crop, but they are finding it difficult. Some are hoping to sell their crop to the government, but they are not sure if it will be purchased.

The situation is also difficult for the cigar bell manufacturers, who are finding it hard to get enough leaves to make their products. The price of the cigar bell has dropped to all-time lows, and they are finding it difficult to buy enough leaves to make their products.

The cigar bell crop is expected to yield only a fraction of what was expected, and the price is expected to be low. This is a serious problem for the farmers, and it is a serious problem for the industry.

The government has taken some steps to help the farmers, but they have been too little and too late. The Department of Agriculture has announced that it will purchase a small amount of the crop, but this is not enough to offset the losses.

The situation is also bad for the cigar bell growers in the north, who have been hit by the same cool and damp weather. The crop is expected to be small and thin, and the price is expected to be low.

The local farmers are trying to find a way to salvage their crop, but they are finding it difficult. Some are hoping to sell their crop to the government, but they are not sure if it will be purchased.

The situation is also difficult for the cigar bell manufacturers, who are finding it hard to get enough leaves to make their products. The price of the cigar bell has dropped to all-time lows, and they are finding it difficult to buy enough leaves to make their products.

The cigar bell crop is expected to yield only a fraction of what was expected, and the price is expected to be low. This is a serious problem for the farmers, and it is a serious problem for the industry.

The government has taken some steps to help the farmers, but they have been too little and too late. The Department of Agriculture has announced that it will purchase a small amount of the crop, but this is not enough to offset the losses.

The situation is also bad for the cigar bell growers in the north, who have been hit by the same cool and damp weather. The crop is expected to be small and thin, and the price is expected to be low.

The local farmers are trying to find a way to salvage their crop, but they are finding it difficult. Some are hoping to sell their crop to the government, but they are not sure if it will be purchased.

The situation is also difficult for the cigar bell manufacturers, who are finding it hard to get enough leaves to make their products. The price of the cigar bell has dropped to all-time lows, and they are finding it difficult to buy enough leaves to make their products.

The cigar bell crop is expected to yield only a fraction of what was expected, and the price is expected to be low. This is a serious problem for the farmers, and it is a serious problem for the industry.