WE WILL WIN
IN 1975

For the first time in the history of Oakland Black and poor people here can look forward to the election of a majority of City Council members who will genuinely represent their interest and work for its realization. Such is the example, the Black Panther Party, together with progressive Black forces in this city, is setting for the country.

This country's power structure, however, is determined to frustrate this effort by any means necessary. For us this explains the sudden emergence of the terrorist SLA, the wholesale violation of 1st and 14th Amendment rights of young Black men under the guise of a hunt for the "zebra killer," the dawn raid of more than 50 policemen on one of the Party's campaign headquarters and the re-emergence of threats against the life of Huey P. Newton.

The Black communities of the Bay Area are under siege. The purpose is to provoke racist elements in the White community to attack us and for our communities to retaliate. Recently released F.B.I. documents detail the fascist methods this administration has used to undermine our struggle for liberation. The agent provocateur is high on the list of those methods.

Who but agents of the power structure would be in the name of revolution order the murder of the son of a slave and then provide the daughter of one of this country's most infamous power structure families the opportunity to change her allegiance, join them and live?

The forces that are responsible for Richard Nixon, Watergate and much more that is infamous in America today are growing desperate. The example of the Black Panther Party as a viable political and survival force in the community increases that desperation.

Relying on the deeply ingrained racism of this country's White population, the Nixon forces (long centered in California) are urgently and ruthlessly attempting to create those conditions which will make possible a declaration of a national state of emergency, suspension of Constitutional rights and the imposition of the police state.

We are not deceived. Nor will we be swayed from our determination to serve the people. We WILL win in Oakland in 1975.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir, I am presently confined at the state prison in McAlester, Oklahoma and since the recent incarceration of my close friend, Mr. Shurna and myself we have now been locked up for seven straight years. We were kid-gagged and brought here to this Menard Prison Psychiatric Division without first being declared legally insane by a judge or jury. We were brought here without being given any psychiatric tests or evaluation tests by independent, disinterested psychiatrists.

Three times a day, every day that we have been here, they force us to take a series of drugs designed to affect our health and our lives, and keep our resistance low. They refuse to do anything except experiment on us. They believe we are a bunch of guinea pigs, and do not answer our legitimate complaints or requests.

They are mad dogs. They have noted doctors here, like Dr. Crain, Dr. Peretz, Dr. Wittingburg, Chief Security Guard Assnembr and other members of their goon squad are of an extremely sadistic nature.

They will even allow me to take any college entrance examination tests, even though I graduated from State University of Chicago, Ill. in January, 1977. They claim that they cannot find any record of my graduation and that the school will not answer them when they write. However, we know this is just another form of harassment simply because I know how to read and write.

They tromp with and stop 99 percent of all incoming and outgoing mail. They don't even care if it is legal mail addressed to the courts. They will crosscut and censor it. They refuse to supply us with any reading materials for our legal papers.

You have unreasonable conditions masquerading as upright citizens. One example is particularly, Mr. T. K. Raven, tried Mr. Shurna out of $1,000 dollars over a period of three years, and he refused to give the money back. He is hired by the state and receives a salary but does nothing. It is illegal for them to accept any money from a prisoner.

We would like you to cut this in your newspaper, in the Daily, and send a copy. We hope and pray that some concerned citizen or organization will demand an investigation of our illegal confinement in this pseudo-psychiatric division and come and talk to us for a change.

Thank you and don't you have to withhold our names.

Respectfully submitted,

COMMENT
BLACK PANTHER PARTY
DENOUNCES
S.F. ZEBRA
BLACK MAN HUNT

The so-called San Francisco Zebra manhunt that has been ordered by Joseph Alioto, California gubernatorial candidate, is a vicious and racist attempt on Alioto's part to round up Blacks like Hitler rounded up Jews.

The sketchy drawings of a Black man blasted across Bay Area newspapers of the so-called killer of several White people in San Francisco justify every racist policeman and vigilante to arrest or assault any Black man. Since San Francisco racist policemen are known to arrest arbitrary Black people generally under the theory that "all Black people look alike," this malicious tactic puts every Black man in the Bay Area is jeopardy of losing his life.

MALICIOUS TACTIC
The Black Panther Party says that if this is going to be the current tactic of Alioto and his polices, then this same tactic cannot be useful in capturing other wanted persons and criminals. The so-called search to find Chronicle - Examiner publisher Randolph Hearst's daughter, Patricia Hearst, being sought in connection with a San Francisco bank robbery, could be simply ended by arresting every White girl in the Bay Area that resembles Patricia Hearst.

The apprehension of the "Zebra killer" cannot be accomplished through the mass forfeiture of the Constitutional and civil rights of Black men.

Alioto appears intent on kindling the fires of racial hatred by ordering the showy "Zebra Dragnet." Surely he realizes that these repressive measures will share the increase tension between the already brutal San Francisco Police Department and the oppressed Black community.

"POLICE PREDAWN RAID POLITICAL"

(Oakland, Calif.) - The release of 14 members of the Black Panther Party 30 hours after they were the victims of a multi-city, predawn police raid, gives added weight to the charge that the local power structure - in conjunction with federal authorities - is attempting once again to discredit and destroy the Black Panther Party.

This point, in addition to the charge that the police flagrantly violated a long-standing agreement between the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Justice Department and the Panthers famed lawyer, Charles R. Garry, were the major emphasis of a hastily convened press conference called by Brother Bobby Seale and Ms. Elaine Brown the afternoon of the raid, Tuesday, April 16. (See text of press conference, this page.)

Charles Plummer, the city of Berkeley's acting chief of police, ordered the release of the 14 Party members when he was told by the prosecuting attorney's office in Oakland that there wasn't enough evidence to hold them. Yet, the day before, the news media in the Bay Area had a field day blasting huge pictures of a "large cache of guns and narcotics" supposedly confiscated during the raid. If, in fact, the "arsenal" did belong to the Party members, their release would have been highly unlikely.

The raid, which occurred at 4:25 a.m., was typical of the police raids against the Black Panther Party which took place throughout the country just a few years ago. As Plummer caustically commented, it was that "type of harassment that comes out of J. Edgar Hoover's old memoirs."

Without warning - and without knocking - over 50 Oakland and Berkeley policemen, some armed with M-14 rifles and others carrying Thompson .45 caliber machine guns, kicked down the door at 1554 29th Avenue in East Oakland, allegedly seeking a Party member wanted on an assault warrant in Berkeley.

Inside the building, the 14 Party members lay sleeping, only to be suddenly awakened by racist insults and threats against their lives. Contrary to the police claims, and as the neighbors can readily testify, there were at least 50 police involved in the raid, not nine. The police also, in their typical fashion, completely ransacked the office.

The office raided was a centralized precinct house used for city campaign organizing purposes. During last year's People's Campaign in Oakland, the building served as campaign headquarters. The office held many valuable files, lists of names and contacts to be used for future organizing purposes, particularly for use in the upcoming 1975 city elections. Many of these files and lists were "confiscated" by the police.

In his condemnation of the raid, Brother Bobby Seale emphasized that a simple telephone call to Panthers Party members Garry could have avoided the entire incident.

In a statement to THE BLACK PANTHER, Mr. Garry explained that at the initiation of the U.S. Department of Justice, Civil Rights Division, over four and one half years ago, an agreement was reached with the police departments in the Bay Area that, in case of a police warrant against any Black Panther Party member, the police would contact him (Garry) and he would surrender the Panther in question.

The Justice Department, in fact, went to great lengths to set up the agreement, which was culminated during a three day meeting in the conference room at San Luis Obiso, where Huey P. Newton was at that time incarcerated. Participants in the meeting were Garry, Huey P. Newton, a Justice Department official from Washington, the head of the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division in San Francisco, and two other Black Panther Party officials.

TEXT OF PRESS CONFERENCE BY BOBBY SEALE AND ELAINE BROWN FOLLOWING POLICE ATTACK

The following is the transcript of the press conference conducted by Brother Bobby Seale and Ms. Elaine Brown on Tuesday, April 16, 1974, concerning the police attack upon an East Oakland Black Panther Party office and the arrest of 14 Party members. The press conference was held at 1:00 p.m., that afternoon, at the Son of Man Temple auditorium.

Statement by BOBBY SEALE:

In the early morning hours, somewhere between 5 and 6 a.m., around 15 Black Panther Party members were arrested at a centralized precinct house where we kept all the records of all precinct workers in the previous campaign. These Party members are being falsely charged with a lot of totally absurd charges; supposed possession of shotguns, stolen property, hand grenades, some kind of charge of conspiracy which we do not have all the details of today, possession of all kinds of narcotics. This is absurd.

We feel that the arrest this morning with absurd bail of over $300,000 - approximately $200,000 or more per person - is the same old type of hysterical harassment which we have always fought against a Party a few years ago. The only reason that the Black Panther Party can see for this type of harassment and arrest and the absurd charges is that the powers be, the power structure, is out to discredit the Black Panther Party especially myself and Elaine (Ms. Elaine Brown).

We have been quietly organizing some 3,000 precinct workers in the Oakland community for the upcoming election, one year from now, when we hope to support and also run candidates for five City Council seats, which will be the majority control. That would place the vote control on the Oakland City Council in the hands of the people. Plus, we intend to run a couple of candidates for the Oakland School Board.

This is the only way we can see his as the greatest threat on the part of the Black Panther Party to the power structure - when the people are organizing on a mass scale to be politically and electrically in opposition to the power structure. Fifty police-men raided the house. We're saying that Charles Garry had reached an agreement years ago with the Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco Police Departments that if there is to be an arrest of any Black Panther Party member, all the police would have to do is call Charles R. Garry, his law firm, and we will have that person surrender himself.

Now, Elaine has something to say about the people who were arrested because there was a pregnant sister arrested there, with the other people.

ELAINE: Yes, I think that the most astonishing part is that the most astonishing part is that after having run in last year's campaign that the people that work in our various programs would have
GROUP 6: MOTIVATION IS NO PROBLEM

(Oakland, Calif.) - Group Six at the Intercommunal Youth Institute is composed of ten highly motivated eight and nine year old students. Motivation, a serious problem in the public school system, is strong in Group Six as well as throughout the institute because the children can see both the relevance and the enjoyment in their learning experience. This is practiced in their three major academic classes: Language Arts, Mathematics and Political Education.

In mathematics, children are introduced to the concept of fractions by cutting apples into various parts. Logic is taught by playing games of thought and strategy like chess, puzzles or constructions. The practical relevance of mathematics is shown by having persons skilled in various trades such as carpentry or cooking demonstrate how math and measurement are necessary in building or cooking. Consequently, the children are stimulated and inspired to learn.

There are other reasons why the children in Group Six have such a strong desire to learn. Whatever their abilities are they are encouraged to express themselves. During a creative writing session in Language Arts class, the children might express themselves in collective or individual poems, by writing stories and short books, by writing letters to political prisoners, or through the use of other interesting and relevant activities. The instructors help the students with their grammatical errors. The result of this method has been the development of many brilliant young poets.

As is true throughout the Institute, the prevailing principles are: "There is a world's classroom" and "Children should be taught how to think, not what to think." In Political Education class these principles are exemplified by the group's discussion of Tyrone Guyton, a 14-year-old Black youth killed by Emeryville police. Many of the children could identify with Tyrone because he was not much older than they. Through collective discussion the group decided that they could best show their concern for what happened to Tyrone Guyton by circulating a petition in the Black community demanding that the policemen who murdered Tyrone be brought to trial.

The children in Group Six understand very well that the Intercommunal Youth Institute is not a parochial school, separate from the community, but a model school that is one with the community in its struggle for survival.

ZEBRA BLACK MANHUNT

The Black community of San Francisco has responded to Alioto's scare tactics with angry protests and court action against the mayor. Attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and three individual San Francisco Black leaders filed a federal complaint before U.S. District Court Judge Alphonso J. Ziglar. Judge Ziglar has ordered the city of San Francisco to appear before him on Wednesday (April 24) to show why the police should not be restrained from the practice.

BLACKNESS CAUSE FOR ARREST?

NAACP Counsel Nathaniel Jones stated: "We take the position that Blackness doesn't constitute probable cause for an arrest. Today people are being singled out, tomorrow it may be Jews and the next day Japanese Americans. It means that no one's Constitutional rights are protected or preserved."

Reverend Cecil Williams of Glide Memorial Church warned that the manhunt "creates the possibility of war by the establishment of a police state."

American Civil Liberties Union General Counsel Paul Halvomik called the manhunt "a racist outrage and a massive violation of the Constitutional rights of every Black man in the city." He said the ACLU would "pursue all appropriate legal action to halt the stops and searches as soon as feasible."

Dr. Carlton Goodlett, publisher of the San Francisco Newspaper, blamed Mayor Alioto for "this drive against the Black people of this community that he has undertaken as part of a desperate political campaign..."

Jessie Byrd, a Black San Francisco patrolman and president of the predominantly Black 80-member Officers for Justice, said, "We do not approve of the Gestapo-type tactics that are being used. We can only view this as another type of harassment."

Percy H. Steele, Jr., Executive Director of the Bay Area Urban League, said, "Violating the civil rights of American men is not the standard procedure for apprehending murder suspects in San Francisco. It is only when the victims are White and the search is for a Black person that such measures are deemed necessary. We must speak out strongly against Mayor Alioto's sanctioning of this illegal police action."

APRIL 27, 1974

The White League, a White racist terrorist organization modeled after the Ku Klux Klan, was founded on April 27, 1974.

APRIL 27, 1903

On April 27, 1903, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld those clauses in the Alabama state constitution which disenfranchised Black people from voting.

APRIL 24, 1951

The University of North Carolina admitted its first Black student in its 162-year history on April 24, 1951.

APRIL 25, 1959

On April 25, 1959, Mack Charles Parker, accused of raping a young White mother, was taken from his jail cell in Popularville, Mississippi by a White mob and lynched.

APRIL 19, 1960

On April 19, 1960, the home of Z. Alexander Looby, counsel for 153 Black students arrested in sit-in demonstrations was destroyed by a dynamite bomb. Almost immediately, more than 2,000 students marched on the Nashville, Tennessee, city hall in protest.

APRIL 27-29, 1970

After two nights of firebombing and widespread rebellion, police dressed in full riot gear and armored with fixed bayonets patrolled the streets of predominantly Black River Rouge, Michigan, an industrial suburb of Detroit. Police from 14 neighboring communities participated in "containing" the rebellion, which threatened to overflow into downtown Detroit.
CHATTANOOGA BLACK CABBIES UNDER ATTACK

(Chattanooga, Tenn.) - The city administration here is attempting to eliminate the economical Black-owned system of independent taxi and jitney drivers in an effort to save an inadequate city-owned bus service. The city government is putting excessive restrictive measures on independent Black taxicabs, threatening to eventually phase out the jitneys altogether.

Black-owned and operated taxicabs have served the Black community in Chattanooga some fifty years, going back to rigid 'Jim Crow' days in the South. A few of the older cab drivers can recall how they started during the period when racist White bus drivers humiliated Black people daily, making them move to the back of the buses and storecars or forcing them to give up their seats to White passengers.

So, a few courageous Black men got some automobiles together and started running a jitney line from Downtown Chattanooga to the Black-populated Eastside, providing Black people with dignified transportation to and from downtown and work; they charged only a nickel each trip.

INDEPENDENT BLACKS

Through the years the jitney service grew into a prosperous business for independent Black cab drivers, providing fast, convenient and inexpensive transportation for the Black community. The fare was always lower than the local bus company fare and the service was better. The Black taxicabs made money while the local White-owned bus company was going broke.

In 1969, the city government hired a professional firm to do a survey/study on just how many people were riding the jitney cabs in comparison with the number of people who rode the buses. The study showed that while many buses were almost empty of passengers, the taxicabs were bustling. Black people simply preferred the quick, convenient jitney service to the slow bus service with its fare rising almost every year. The bus company was almost bankrupt and the city fathers knew something had to be done.

REFUSAL OF CALIFORNIA AUTHORITIES TO EXTRADITE S.L.A. LEADER CONFIRMED

TACKWOOD NAMES DEFREEZE AS AGENT

(Oakland, Calif.) - It has been confirmed that requests for the extradition of reputed Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) leader, Donald David Defreeze, by New Jersey police officials, while Defreeze was in the custody of Los Angeles police, were repeatedly denied by California police officials.

Defreeze was wanted in New Jersey in connection with a 1965 kidnapping and assault with a deadly weapon charge. It has also come to light that Louis E. Tackwood, confessed agent provocateur for Los Angeles police intelligence, has told associates that he remembers Donald D. Defreeze as an operative with the Los Angeles Police Department Criminal Conspiracy Section at the time he (Tackwood) was employed by the CCS.

Investigative reporter's attempts to check the police records of Donald Defreeze in Los Angeles, to determine the status of the extradition requests, have revealed that Defreeze's file is under lock and key in the safe of the Watch Commander of the L.A. Police Department Criminal Conspiracy Section, and can only be released by written approval of the Watch Commander.

DONALD DEFREEZE.

It has also been learned that the files of brothers Larry and George Stiner, "escapees" from San Quentin prison, have also been taken out of the general police files and placed with that of Defreeze, in the safe of the Watch Commander of the L.A.P.D.

Larry and George Stiner were serving time for the 1969 murder in Los Angeles of Black Panther Party members Bunchy Carter and John Huggins. Both Stiners were lieutenants of Ron Karenga, one-time leader of the US organization in Los Angeles, and admitted collaborator with the Los Angeles Police Department as well as recipient of financial "gifts" from foundations and agencies of the U.S. power elite.

The above information tends strongly to confirm earlier suspicions that Defreeze is, in fact, an agent provocateur, under the direct and personal supervision of California Attorney General Evelle J. Younger, and that the Stiners as well as Defreeze (also an alleged "escapee" from Solotad prison) are part of a Younger plan of attack against the Black Panther Party, using convicted killers building long-standing grudges against the Party.

Knowledgeable sources in Los Angeles insist that Defreeze's assignment is to create conditions in Oakland and the general San Francisco Bay Area, by any means necessary, whereby the Black Panther Party and its leadership, headquartered in Oakland, can be made scapegoats for criminal and terrorist activity for which it has no responsibility.

An earlier report in THE BLACK PANTHER (April 13, 1974) referred to Defreeze's own admission that New Jersey authorities had been eager to...
BLACK DRUG WORKERS ORGANIZE NATIONAL GROUP

(Chicago, Ill.) - Charging this year's National Drug Abuse Conference with failure to deal with the social, economic, and political needs of Black people, a group of Black drug workers have formed the National Committee of Black Drug Workers to end drug abuse in the Black community.

A minority report by the committee submitted to the conference held March 30 to April 1 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel here, says, "the drug abuse problem in America is synonymous with the Black Liberation struggle in America," and lists the following objectives:

1. To set up a national communications network so information can be passed on.

2. To coordinate and enhance cooperation among Black drug abuse workers nationally in order to deal effectively with the problem.

3. To use our unity as a force to alleviate inequities and inadequacies in state agencies and their method of local funding; they must be accountable to the needs of the community.

4. To recognize and support programs that create alternative methods of dealing with drug addiction other than the existing model set up by the National Drug Abuse Association. (For example, the Black Muslims and other such organizations.)

5. To research, develop and implement strategies for more effective programming to deal with the problem of drug abuse.

6. To monitor the use of surveillance techniques as a solution to drug addiction by the criminal justice system. We will monitor the action of single state agencies as they relate to surveillance, licensure and accreditation for employment.

7. To work to eliminate the constraints placed on ex-addicts and so-called para-professionals that are working in drug abuse programs and, at the same time, work toward having the state fulfill its requirements to protect these employees.

8. To immediately control and eventually eliminate chemotheraphy and utilize counseling relevant to the Black experience and daily realities. (For example, information, training, communication and working conditions.)

9. To develop and implement a National Black Drug Abuse Conference.

A press release by the National Committee on the recent conference states in part: "It should be noted that of the 69 treatment workshops, 54 were geared toward methadone or chemotheraphy. The session on acupuncture, one of the few alternatives presented, was poorly attended, because as a drugless therapy it threatens the economic base of the American health empire. "Because many acupuncture treatments can be performed by 'ordinary people,' it also threatens White male professional control. By keeping medical skills and knowledge out of the hands of the people, and refusing to be held accountable for their actions, these pill-pushing professionals are responsible for the suffering and deaths of many of our sisters and brothers!"

Heroin addiction is a plague spread throughout the Black community.

WORKERS CAN BE FIRED FOR FREE SPEECH

(Washington, D.C.) - The U.S. Supreme Court, by a 6 to 3 margin, affirmed the language of the Lloyd-LaFollette Act and said the federal government had the right to dismiss civil service employees whose public statements supposedly impair the efficiency of the government agencies they work for. Dissenting justices claimed the decision would have a "chilling" effect on free speech.

REGISTRATION TO VOTE

NO WARRANT, NO ARREST

(Los Angeles, Calif.) - The California State Supreme Court recently ruled that police without a warrant cannot arrest and search a household who verbally refuses them permission to search for suspects.

WELFARE RIGHTS WON

(San Francisco, Calif.) - A welfare recipient who becomes pregnant is entitled to receive her grant increased to the maximum allowed for an additional family member, the California State Supreme Court ruled last week.

CALLEY PAROLE SOON?

(Washington, D.C.) - "Killer" Calley, the lieutenant convicted of the massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, S. Vietnam could be walking the streets within six months. Secretary of the Army Howard Callaway has cut his 29-year prison sentence in half, making this murderer of over 100 human beings eligible for parole in less than six months.

KENT STATE SUITS

(Washington, D.C.) - The U.S. Supreme Court has permitted the parents of three Kent State University students killed by National Guardsmen in 1970 to sue the governor of Ohio and National Guard officers for damages for their roles in the deaths. The ruling reversed two lower court decisions that held that state officials are immune from such lawsuits.

JAIL GUARDS INDICTED

(New York, N.Y.) - Five New York City corrections officers were indicted on narcotics and perjury charges last week as part of a continuing investigation by the state prosecutor's office into reports of widespread drug trafficking in the city's jails.

SAN QUENTIN TO STAY

(Sacramento, Calif.) - Governor Ronald Reagan's proposal to replace San Quentin Prison with two new penal institutions was set aside indefinitely by a state assembly subcommittee. Inmates' groups had argued that the new prisons would perpetuate the existing inhumane penal system and asked that no new prisons be built until Reagan leaves office.
CHARLOTTE 3

B.P.P. CONDEMONS KILLING BY COP

(Atlanta, Ga.) - The Black Panther Party has joined the outrage of the entire Black community in demanding the immediate firing and prosecution of White Berkeley policeman Charles A. Crane for the vicious shooting of a Black twelve-year-old boy.

Acting Berkeley police chief Charles Plummer has attempted to pacify the Black community by suspending this White policeman, saying that Crane’s shooting of this child was a “clear-cut, un-called for violation of department gun policy.” The Black Panther Party says that Chief Plummer admits that one of his officers violated their own policy, he can easily fire this man and file criminal charges against him.

The youth, whose name has not been released because of his age, was allegedly tampering with the parents of the policeman’s girl friend. Officer Crane is an inspector on the Berkeley force.

The shooting was not unlike the slaying of young Tyrone Guyton last winter by three Emeryville police. He, too, was allegedly stealing a car.

In another police outrage, the parents of a San Mateo County youngster are suing the county for the death of their fifteen-year-old son Gregory White. Too was allegedly riding in a stolen car when San Mateo County deputy sheriffs stopped the vehicle and chased the fleeing youth. The chase was ended with Brother Gregory White’s life when Officer Larry Brinhurst shot him in the back.

The alarming rise in police shootings of Black youth is a nationwide phenomenon that is becoming particularly rampant in the Bay Area.

THE BLACK PANTHER, SATURDAY, APRIL 27, 1974
SUPPORT MOUNTS FOR PITTS AND LEE

(Tallahassee, Fla.) - Support groups are planning demonstrations and other actions aimed at winning the release of two Black men, Freddie Lee Pitts and Wilbert Lee, falsely convicted of murder eleven years ago.

Charged with kidnapping, robbery and the murder of two White gas station attendants in Florida, Pitts and Lee were sentenced to death in 1968. They were convicted without material evidence whatsoever. The entire grounds for their convictions consisted of involuntary confessions, obtained as a result of severe beatings and threats.

In 1968, five years later, the woman finally admitted that she had lied because the police had threatened her.

In 1968, the Florida Supreme Court rejected the appeal by Pitts and Lee, based on the fact that all Blacks had been excluded from the original grand jury. However, the jury that indicted Pitts for the second time was still all-White.

In the 1968 grand jury trial, the prosecutor suppressed evidence that would have clearly acquitted Pitts and Lee: a confession to the same crime by Curtis Adams, Jr., a White man, and the corroborating testimony of his girlfriend, Mary Joan Akins.

However, lawyers for Pitts and Lee were never able to convince the District Attorney to hear tapes of their confessions, and were told, "the case is closed." In March, 1972, Pitts and Lee were again found guilty and sentenced to be electrocuted.

The Pitts and Lee Defense Committee is asking people to write Florida Governor Reubin Askew and Attorney General

Robert Shevin at the capital in Tallahassee, Florida, demanding immediate release of the two men. For more information, including a petition that the Defense Committee has been distributing, or, to send contributions, write to the Pitts and Lee Defense Committee, P.O. (W. Berlin) - Under the title "Paris, May '74," the West Berlin Extra-Dienst examined the possibility of a military coup in France, pending the chance that left-wing candidate Francois Miterrand is elected as the country's new President. Intervention of the French Army is likely if the communist-supported socialist leader appears to be able to win the Presidential election, according to Extra-Dienst. French polls show Mitterand ahead of the two Gaullist candidates, Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing and former Prime Minister Jacques Chaban-Dolmas.

MEXICO

(Mexico City, Mexico) - A dozen leftist militants have been murdered in Mexico since February in what appears to be a "counteroffensive" launched by political groups of the extreme right. Police have tried to attribute the assassinations to the internal strife within the leftist groups themselves.

Spokespeople for several leftist groups feel the murders are being carried out by a terrorist organization called "The Black Hand," inspired by a notorious right-wing group in Guatemala called "The White Hand," and also by a semi-secret, Brazilian organization called "The Death Squad," made up of police officers.

BRAZIL

(Rio de Janeiro, Brazil) - The infamous paramilitary "Death Squad" of Brazil executed eleven people during the first week of April, a Mexican daily has reported. Meanwhile in Brasilia, Government censors have ordered newspapers to stop publishing stories about the Patricio Hearst case because of what the censors called the girl's apparent defection to the S.L.A.

JAPAN

(Tokyo, Japan) - The People's Republic of China and Japan have announced they will sign their first civil aviation agreement in Peking. Peking (the reactionary government on the island of Formosa) has retaliated by banning Japanese planes from its air space.
STEEL INDUSTRIES' DISCRIMINATION PACT INADEQUATE

(Washington, D.C.) - Nine major steel companies and the steelworkers union have accepted an agreement described by the government as the first program in history to insure an end to job discrimination in American industry. Several civil rights groups have charged that the settlement is ineffectual, however.

The program, announced last week at a joint news conference by the Departments of Justice and Labor and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, is designed to give back pay amounting to $20,000,000 to workers and women workers hired before January 1, 1968, and other compensation to those workers who have been unrepresented.

The ruling will bring a great many women into steel production and craft jobs, according to a government official.

The agreement also requires that minority workers be permitted to transfer into departments or "seniority lines" previously reserved in practice for white male workers, without sufferance cuts in pay even if the new job is lower in scale.

The nine companies that accepted the agreement are the Allegheny Ludlum Industries, Inc., the Armco Steel Corporation, the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, the National Steel Corporation, the United States Steel Corporation, the Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company.

Inland Steel, the only major company to reject the agreement, claimed it had not discriminated and had no obligation to give back pay.

The job discrimination program was embodied in two consent decrees filed in United States District Court in Birmingham, Alabama. By signing the decrees, the steel companies and unions satisfied a lawsuit filed by the Justice Department on behalf of Peter J. Brennan, the Secretary of Labor and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

In agreeing to the program, the government, union bureaucracy and steel corporations were attempting to put the fire out from under a fast growing rank and file workers' movement, led by Black workers. The desire was to preserve old work structures, including the work stops and plant takeovers, such as the one that hit the Detroit Chrysler automobile plant last fall involving Brothers Isaac Shorter and Larry Carter.

DILLUMS' CORNER

ON UNEMPLOYMENT

(Washington, D.C.) - Congressman Ronald Y. Dellums recently expressed major concern over the severity of unemployment among the Vietnam veterans. The California congressman said that the Nixon administration has not given any attention to this "crucial problem," causing unemployment to soar to almost 5%.

"Galloping inflation, Watergate and other disasters of the past twelve months of the Nixon administration have been so calamitous that they have overshadowed the extremely serious problem of 4.3 million Americans who cannot find jobs," the progressive congressman said. He pointed out that the high rate could have been avoided had there been a sound policy of full employment been followed. The Nixon administration had no such policy.

Dellums sponsored eight major pieces of legislation in an effort to curb high unemployment.

Meanwhile, last week Congressman Dellums, the Democratic candidate for re-election in the 9th Congressional District (Calif.), received the endorsement of E. Shriver above. In 1962 the warrantee nominee for Vice-President of the United States, Shriver was among the first non-Californians to support Rep. Dellums in 1970.

Congressman Dellums has also received the endorsement of the United Auto and Aerospace Workers (UAW), the Central Labor Council of Alameda County, COPE, Communications Workers of America and other labor organizations and unions because of strong support for him among the working people and his support of their interests. Dellums is now campaigning toward victory in the June 4th primary election.

RACIST MERCHANTS SUE CIVIL RIGHTS GROUPS OVER BOYCOTT

(Port Gibson, Miss.) - White merchants, driven into bankruptcy in this small southern town during the civil rights movement of the 1960s, are waging a vengeful counterattack against the Blacks here. Through highly disciplined shopping boycotts of the merchants, Blacks had accomplished much in the way of desegregating public places in the town.

But store owners have filed a $3.5 million suit against the boycotters and the civil rights groups in which they hold membership. The suit's outcome may have significant impact on the future of major civil rights organizations such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

The boycotters assert that they did nothing more than exercise their Constitutional rights. The merchants argue that they were subjected to a "secondary" boycott, generally illegal in the United States. The merchants claim that the boycott was "secondary" because its primary aim was not desegregation, but was to pressure businesses into using their influence to force local elected officials to meet Black demands for equality.

In two little-noticed suits tried in recent years in Grenada, Mississippi, and Savannah, Georgia, white merchants in collusion with county courts have reversed the U.S. Constitution and successfully prosecuted civil rights activists for conducting secondary boycotts.

In the Port Gibson case, now up for final arguments, the major defendant is the NAACP, along with individual boycotters and a local antipoverty agency, Mississippi Action for Progress.

head with a wrench, but that's beside the point.

After this occurred, wild battles tore the ship's discipline to shreds. Nevertheless, an all-White jury of officers from the U.S.S. Little Rock acquitted Linley, taking the view that his physical and verbal attack, which opened the melee, was indeed, "beside the point."

The defense will be unable to use Linley's taped-recorded court testimony in preparing for the eleven brothers' court-martial because government prosecutors erased ninety minutes of it, supposedly by accident, the day after the defense attorneys said they were going to need it.

A defense motion was made that Judge Mitschung is not impartial and should disqualify himself. The motion was denied even after it was revealed that Mitschung had discussed a ruling he was going to make before he heard the legal arguments in court.

Another Elite Jessy of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, one of the defendants, reports that, "I wanted to serve my country, but this court-martial has turned me against the Navy and the government."

STEEL DISCRIMINATION PACT INADEQUATE

In opposing the settlement, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said it would file an objection in United States District Court asking that the consent decree be set aside. The NAACP charges that the agreements will weaken court cases, which have been a major means of obtaining relief and remedies for Black workers under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

A statement issued by Ann Scott, legislative vice-president of the National Organization for Women, also expressed "major disagreements" with the program. "One is the amount of back pay," the statement said, "and another is that the settlement allows the government to go into court on behalf of the company, not the party discriminated against, in future legal actions."

Denouncing the settlement, Black workers have charged that the average back payment, around $450, is absurdly small compared to the amounts they should receive for years of discrimination and therefore denial of higher paying jobs.
IN SEARCH OF COMMON GROUND

CONVERSATIONS WITH ERIK H. ERIKSON
AND HUEY P. NEWTON

In continuing their Oakland conversation, which comprises the latter half of the book, In Search of Common Ground, co-authors Huey P. Newton and Harvard Professor Erik H. Erikson are joined by J. Herman Blake, acting Provost at the University of California at Santa Cruz, and Erikson's son, Professor Karl T. Erikson, in an examination of violence and nonviolence as political tools.

NEWTON: I think it would be wrong to compare other situations to Gandhi's action. You have to leave it in context and regard it in terms of the particular contradictions involved. Now I would have agreed with the notion that Indians join the British Army in order to get the training necessary to oppose the army. I can understand that at some point it is worthwhile to play upon the weakness of the oppressor. Gandhi did know the character of the British quite well, but I think he would have acted differently here. People here who tried to act the same way he did, I think, missed the mark and were not realistic.

BLAKE: Most people would say that the apostle of nonviolence in this country with respect to Blacks was Martin Luther King. He had a clearly stated philosophy and openly expressed a debt to Gandhi. Now I would suspect that most people, not understanding the context in which you are speaking, would expect to see a very strong clash between your views and Huey's views on this particular subject. And I would like to see that clarified, because I've always argued that there have to be certain social bases for nonviolence...

E. ERIKSON: Look, the last thing I would wish to do is advocate nonviolence outside of a concrete situation, particularly since it makes exploited people all the more vulnerable. Unless one is very careful, the whole nonviolent point of view could be used against people rather than for them. I gave a seminar at MIT once, and somebody brought Tom Mboya to one of the meetings. The students and I had just been discussing Gandhi, so we asked Mboya what he thought about nonviolence. Well, said, you can use it with the British but you can't use it with the Belgians. No two historical situations are ever identical in this sense. What Mboya may have also meant was that Gandhi had become something of a Britisher himself; he had been educated in England, of course, and so he knew where he could count on the British to react to nonviolence in a certain way. I guess it's really all I have to say. I just have a feeling that you are not an advocate of violence as such, you know.

NEWTON: No, I don't advocate violence. I advocate nonviolence. If I really had a choice, I would prefer the nonaggressive kind of contradictions because they usually can be resolved in a peaceful way. But of course we have to deal with concrete conditions and the reality of the situation at this time is that there are many contradictions that probably can only be resolved in antagonistic ways and will probably result in violence—and this will probably be the case until man and society develop to the point where contradictions will no longer be antagonistic. So I am working for the day when antagonisms will no longer exist. And this will probably be only after the people commonly own and share things.

BLAKE: Erika, you were saying the other day that the Panthers may understand nonviolence better than anyone else because they understand violence so well. And I was thinking that in connection with Huey's statement that we advocate the abolition of war. We say that power grows out of the barrel of a gun, Chairman Mao's words; but we also say that the purpose of picking up the gun is to get rid of it. Now most people in this society pick up the gun for the purpose of maintaining control, and they do not understand that someone else might pick it up in order to abolish control.

NEWTON: Use violence in order to eliminate it.

BLAKE: Right. Right.

E. ERIKSON: The point is that you cannot step from undisciplined violence to nonviolence. In India, Gandhi failed mostly where he could not restrain people from rioting, and you remember (I remember, at least how he called off some of his nonviolent campaigns because rioting broke out. Now the Panthers have actually opposed violence for its own sake, isn't that right?

NEWTON: Undisciplined violence, yes.

E. ERIKSON: Only a very self-disciplined use of force can lead to disciplined nonviolence and the abolition of violence. And, of course, it also takes a pretty high set of moral aspirations for leaders to make people understand all of that.

K. ERIKSON: O.K., the machine is on again. It's time for Oedipus and the controller.

NEWTON: Well, the Oedipus myth, as I understand it, is used in psychoanalysis as a symbol. The son competes for the mother's love and feels hostility toward the father because he keeps him from the mother. Now I concluded that it is not always the father per se, but the controller in the house, the Oedipus complex is not so much a sexual drive as a drive to eliminate the controller or take control away from the controller. As a matter of fact, that is something we have to make quite clear: eliminating the controller and assuming the place of the controller are two different things, taking on the positive and casting off the negative.

E. ERIKSON: Which would then be a dialectical kind of thing, right?

NEWTON: Right.

E. ERIKSON: You love your father and you want to become like him, but at the same time you want to get rid of him so you can replace him. So it is built into a society that you end up being more like your father and represent the same to your children. Now I gather you are saying that something happens in a revolution to change that repetitive pattern, but I don't quite see...

NEWTON: That is exactly what I wanted to take note of. There's a difference between eliminating the controller and assuming control: it is possible to get rid of the controller without assuming all of his negative characteristics. One way is to not only eliminate the controller but all of his creations at the same time, although it shouldn't be done the way some people in the youth movement are doing it. It is a very immature thing to run away to communes and to plow the soil all day. You can only make all of the technological equipment you father happened to produce because they oppose him. They are rejecting one manifestation of freedom if they do that, the freedom to choose whether to plow or not, you see.

THERE IS ONLY ONE PEOPLE'S FIELD MARSHAL--

GEORGE JACKSON

ON WITHDRAWAL

The following article, "On Withdrawal," is the second in a series of five THE BLACK PANTHER will be publishing on the works and words of our beloved comrade, George Jackson.

The general title of this series, "There Is Only One People's Field Marshal — George Jackson," was specifically chosen to reflect the growing need to combat the many gross distortions Comrade George's writings and interviews have been subjected to. While the reason for these distortions have been many and varied, the result has all-too-often been the same: the prison movement in particular and the human rights movement in general have been misrepresented — benefiting not the Black and poor communities of America but the American ruling class.

As the following article clearly reveals, George Jackson was not a ‘liberal’ revolutionary. He was a genuinely-angered, inarticulate, passioned, political animal. Rather, as one of the foremost people’s political strategists and as an outstanding organizer, Comrade George understood the need for a Black vanguard party, and the need for a Black Vanguard to serve the needs of Black people, to create a concrete framework, an ‘Infrastructure’ as Comrade George called it, for the future liberation of us all.

SYLOGISM, n. argument with two premises and a conclusion; a logical scheme of a formal argument consisting of a major and minor premise and a conclusion which must logically be true if the premises are true. — Merriam-Webster

After revolution has failed, all questions must center on how a new revolutionary consciousness can be mobilized around the new set of class antagonisms that have been created by the authoritarian reign of terror. At which level of social, political and economic life should we begin our new attack?

First, we, the Black partisans and their vanguard party, the old and new left alike, must concede that the worker’s revolution and its vanguard parties have failed to deliver the promised changes in property relations or any of the institutions that support them. This must be conceded without bitterness, name-calling, or the intense rancor that is presently building.

There have been two depressions, two great wars, a dozen serious recessions, a dozen brush wars, crisis after economic crisis. The mass psycho-social national cohesiveness has trembled on the brink of disruption and disintegration repeatedly over the last fifty years, threatening to fly apart from its own concentric inner dynamics.

But at each crisis it was allowed to reform itself; with each reform, revolution became more remote. This is because the old left has failed to understand the nature of fascism.

We will never have a complete definition of fascism because it is in constant motion seeking a new face to fit any particular set of problems that arise to threaten the preponderance of the traditionalist, capitalist ruling class. But if one were forced for the sake of clarity to define it in a word simple enough for all to understand, that word would be “economic.” "Economic reform" comes very close to a working definition of fascist motive forces.

Such a definition may serve to clarify things even though it leaves a great deal unexplained. Each economic reform that perpetuates ruling class hegemony has to be disguised as a positive gain for the upbuilding masses. Disguise enters as a third stage of the emergence and development of the fascist state. The modern industrial fascist state has found it essential to disguise the oppression of its ruling class legacy existence by providing the lower classes with a mass consumer’s drain market of its own.

To allow a sizable portion of the “new state” to participate in this flair market, the ruling class has established currency controls and minimum wage laws that mask the true nature of modern fascism. Reform (the closed economy) is only a new way for capitalism to protect and develop fascism.

After the German SS agents or Italian Black Shirts kick in the doors and herd Jews and Communist partisans to death camps, after Mag-Log White’s Black Legion terror and the Guardians of the Republic and their offspring legitimate the F.B.I., in other words, after the fascists succeeded in crushing the vanguard elements and the threat they pose is removed, the ruling class goes on about the business of making profits as usual.

The significance of the ‘new fascist arrangement’ lies in the fact that this business-as-usual is accompanied by concessions to the degenerate segments of the working class, with the aim of creating a buffer zone between the ruling class and the still potentially revolutionary segments of the lower classes.

Corporate ideals have reached their logical conclusion in the U.S. The new corporate state has fought its way through crisis after crisis; established its ruling elites in every important institution, formed its partnership with labor through its elites, erected the most massive network of protective agencies replete with spies, technical advisors, to be found in any police state in the world. The violence of the ruling class of this country in the long process of its trend toward authoritarianism and its last and highest state, fascism, cannot be rivaled in its excesses by any other nation on earth today or in history.

With each advancement in the authoritarian process and strengthening of the ruling class’s control over the system, there was a corresponding weakening of the people’s and workers’ movement.

AMERICA THE FASCIST

And intellectuals still argue whether America is a fascist country. This concern is typical of the American left’s flight from reality, from any truly extreme position. This is actually a manifestation of the authoritarian process seeping into its own psyche. At this stage, how can anyone question the existence of a fascist arrangement? Just consider the awesome centralization of power, and the proven fact that the largest part of the Gross National Product is in the hands of a minute portion of the population.

Of course, the revolution has failed. Fascism has temporarily succeeded under the guise of reform. The only way we can destroy it is to refuse to compromise with the enemy state and its ruling class. Compromises were made in the thirties, the forties, the fifties. The old vanguard parties made gross strategic and tactical errors. At the existential moment, the last revolution about oneself, not members of the old vanguard choose to risk their whole futures, their lives, in order to alter the conditions that Huey P. Newton describes as "destructive of life."

Reformism was allowed. The more degenerate elements of the working class were the first to succumb. The vanguard parties supported the capitalist war adventure in World War II. Then they helped to promote the mass consumers’ market that followed the close of the war, the flair market that muted the workers’ more genuine demands. Today we are faced with a clearly different set of class antagonisms, the complexities of a particularly refined fascist economic arrangement, where the controlling elites have captured large portions of the lowly working class.

When we ask ourselves: Where will we attack the enemy state? We are answered: At the productive point.

The next logical question is: With whom and what will we attack the fortified entrance of the productive and distributive system in a nation of shortsighted, contented, conservative workers? Obviously, the fascist movement is counterversion at its very center. Fascist reformism is a calculated response to the classic scientific-socialist approach to revolution.
The Black Panther, Saturday, April 27, 1974

Hegelian withdrawal mimics the European historical experience of the last five generations. In our equation, this must be considered the minor side of the syllogism. Though revolution is in fashion, the realistic, cohesive synergism seems as yet impossibly remote.

On the other side of the equation, we have Huey Newton's concept of black communism set well within the huge population centers of the enemy state. This concept accepts any level of violence that will be necessary to enforce the demands of the people and workers. These communes will be tied to one another by a national and international vanguard party and joined with the world's other revolutionary societies. They are the obvious answer to all the theoretical and practical questions about the American revolution that will be carried out principally by Blacks.

The question I've asked myself over the years runs this way: Who has done most of the dying? Most of the work? Most of the time in prison? Max Bowl? Who is the bystander on every aspect of social, political, and economic life? Who has the least short-term interest—or no interest at all—in the survival of the present state? In this condition, how could we believe in the possibility of a new generation of enlightened fascists who would dismantle the basis of their hierarchical society? How many Americans are willing to accept the physical destruction of some parts of their fatherland so that the rest of the land and the world might survive in good health? How can the Black Industrial worker be induced to carry out a valid worker's revolutionary policy? What and who will guide him?

THE COMMUNE

The commune. The central citywide revolutionary culture. But who will build the commune that will guide the people into a significant challenge to property rights? Carving out a commune in the central city will involve pulling the rug out from under the people. Revolution is illegal. It is the people's right to organize their own lives. Rights that have not been respected to begin with. Property rights. It will involve building a political, social, and economic infrastructure capable of filling the vacuum that has been left by the establishment ruling class and pushing the occupying forces of the enemy culture from power.

The implementation of this new social, political, and economic program will feed and comfort all the people on at least a subsistence level, and force the "owners" of the enemy bourgeois culture either to tie their whole fortunes to the communes and the people, or to leave the land, the tools, and the market behind. If he will not voluntarily, we will expel him—we will use the shotgun and the antitank rocket launcher!

Who will build on an ideal that begins with force? The vanguard party is now nationwide. But vanguard parties cannot build revolutions alone. Nor can a vanguard party expect full party line agreement before it moves in the direction of the people. Revolution is illegal. It is against the law. It is prohibited. It will not be allowed. It is clear that the revolution is a lawless man. The outlaw and the lumpen will make the revolution. The people, the workers, will adopt it. This must be the new order of things, after the fact of the modern industrial Fascist State.

In Blackness, the authoritarian traits are mainly the effects of terrorism and lack of intellectual stimulation. The communal experience will redeem them. At present, the Black worker is simply choosing the less dangerous and complicated strategy of survival. All classes and all people are subject to the authoritarian syndrome. It is an atavistic throwback to the herd instincts. But it requires only the proper trauma, the proper eco-sociological set of circumstances to bring forth a revolution.

Racism enters on the psycho-social level, in the form of a morbid, traditional fear of both Blacks and revolutions. The resentment of Blacks, and conscious or unconscious tendencies to mete out pain to Blacks, throughout the history of America's slave systems, all came into focus when Blacks began the move from South to North and from countryside to city to compete with Whites in industrial sectors, and, in general, engage in status competition. Resentment, fear, insecurity, and the usual isolation that is patterned into every modern, capitalist, industrial society (the more complex the product, the greater the division of labor, the higher the pyramid one climbs, and the more the individual brick tends to feel) are multiplied by ten when racism, race antagonism, is also a factor.

There is certainly no lack of evidence to prove the existence of an old and built-in character assassination of programmed racism (what class controls the nation's educational system, which educational journals carry the little cartoons, and Osborn's?”) has always served to distract and diffuse feelings of status deprivation suffered by the huge sectors just above the Black one. Then also to account for the seemingly dual nature recognizable in the authoritarian personality (conformity, brutality, and racialism). "Racism has always been employed as a pressure release for the psychopathic destructiveness evinced by a people historically processed to fear, to feel the need for a decision maker, to hate freedom.

The revolutionary is outlawed. The Black revolutionary is "a doomed man." All the forces of counter-revolution stack up over his head. He's standing in the tank-trap he has dug. He lives in the cross hairs. No one can understand the feeling but himself. From the beginning of his revolutionary consciousness he must use every device to stay alive. Violence is a forced issue. It's incumbent on him. The very first political programs have had to be defended with darts to the death. The children's breakfast programs haven't been spared. The next round of commune building could cause the third great war of the century.

We must build with the fingers of one hand wrapped around a gun (an anti-personnel weapon). We cannot blame the central city. This must be understood by the other revolutionary people if we are to move together to conclusive action.

The war will be fought in the nerve centers of the nation, the cities where Angela was finally captured as she was at work for the revolution, where Huey was found hiding and working by the government's propaganda apparatus.

We cannot withdraw from the cities. In order to complete the revolutionary syllogism, the fascists must be forced to withdraw. And under cover of the guns which force their withdrawal, we will build the new Black communities.

A BLADE IN THE THROAT OF FASCISM.

GEORGE JACKSON LIVES
THE GLASS HOUSE TAPES
By C.R.I.C. and Louis E. Tackwood

The recent wave of Bay Area terrorism, including murder and kidnapping, found to be the work of government agents masquerading as "revolutionaries," makes the book The Glass House Tapes published by the Citizens Research and Investigation Committee, the book is the confession of Louis E. Tackwood, former agent provocateur for the Los Angeles Police Department.

The following excerpt describes government attempts to implement "Big Brother" propaganda and spy systems like the one George Orwell warned about in his novel 1984.

TACKWOOD: "When they're not talking about important business, they'll talk normal, on the phone. So somebody calls, using the paranoia thing. 'My phone is already tapped,' and they start talking funny. So the phone is tapped on two-level stuff, and the phone is not tapped. They talk to people, and they automatically know, hey, this is something. So what they'll do is on a particular day, they have the phone tapped. See my point, how they follow people on the tail thing? This is a Big Brother watching you, thing.

PICK UP
"On a particular day, say, Sam will call Henry, and Sam will say, 'Hey, what it is, I'll be over, okay? I got something important to talk to you about. So don't talk on the phone, you know how it is.' So what they'll do is contact one of their substations closest to your home, and this cat will pick you up. And you know the tail is behind you. They don't actually know where Sam lives at, really, they haven't chased back the trace yet, and they don't know how important he is.

"They watch you now, and if you go into some place normally, you'll just go in, if you're going around the block, up the street, down the corner, and everything else.

"This is how they start tapping phones, and watching people. Now, you can place Sam in the position of being suspected because of the funny phone calls you made to him or he made to you and then the funny way you went to his house.

"Now, they can lose you, going around the block, and they laugh at that, because at a certain point they cut it off. They just want to make sure that where you're going is the man they suspect.

"Then they'll go back to the line that they were tapping and the number will be cross-indexed into this machine. Then through the click they'll find the number and now they have Sam's number and his home address.

"Then they listen to who he calls, to who he is going to be funny. So you see that the individual gives the person up. In other words, like me and you were doing something, all they could suspect you in doing is the way I act and react...

"In '68, I think it was, seven-through seven states, twenty-six different Police Departments got together on intelligence work. And they designated C.I.I. of California as a central bureau that all intelligence would flow through. So I know there was a working agreement between C.I.I. and C.C.S. Now C.C.S. being the political intelligence organization in California, would automatically work with the top California branch. C.I.I. is the state investigating arm. But the people who put the plan over and who put the plan over is the Marin County sheriff on together, weren't up to something C.I.I.; it was C.C.S. Everybody up there who was involved in it was from Southern California."

SAD is the Special Analysis Division of the Office of Emergency Preparedness and its objectives are to compile a national list of persons to be watched and to develop a censorship program that could be put into effect during a "national emergency." Until June 17, 1972, the head of this group was Watergate agent James W. McCord, Jr.

NATIONAL CENSORSHIP PLAN

According to the National Censorship Plan—Section 1, Chapter 4—the plan would go into effect in the event of "(a) general war; (b) limited war or conflicts of the 'brush fire' type, in which the United States forces are involved elsewhere in the world on land, at sea, or in the air." The President, who claims the censorship power as part of his inherent powers in foreign affairs, can implement the SAD plan by executive order. The President could impose censorship in the United States at any time the country became involved in a conflict like the Vietnam War.

SAD provides two types of censorship—voluntary and mandatory. The first type—voluntary—is like the kind Spiro Agnew suggested the press impose upon itself. Censorship of mail and telecommunications could be mandatory and automatic, but the suggested "voluntary" type of censorship of the press quickly becomes mandatory censorship because the transmission of news by telephone, mail or cable falls under the automatic, mandatory censorship.

Democratic Representative William S. Moorhead of Pennsylvania, a House subcommittee on government information, suggests that the watch list may include the names of thousands of civilians gathered by the Army—the same dossiers of public and private activities which Secretary of Defense Laird was forced to order the Army to destroy.

Lists such as the one being compiled by SAD have been made in the past, in the United States. They are related to and have caused some of the least democratic periods of American history, such as the arrest and incarceration of Japanese-Americans during World War II and the Palmer Raids after World War I.

According to John Luman, a White House science office spokesman, the office recently requested representatives of Federal agencies to present proposals on how new technological developments might meet the social needs of the country. The Los Angeles Times has said, "The White House Science Office has come up with a plan to put special FM radio receivers in every American home to permit the government to communicate directly with citizens twenty-four hours a day. Under the plan, the Federal government would be required to install the FM receivers in every boat, automobile, radio, and television set. The system must be operated twenty-four hours a day per 100% of the population..."
AFRICAN DROUGHT LINKED TO NIGER COUP

(Niamey, Niger) - An apparently bloodless coup d'état (military takeover), led by Niger army Chief of Staff Lt. Col. Seyni Kounte, overthrew the civilian government of President Hamani Diori last week.

News of the takeover was carried on Niger's official radio, monitored in neighboring Lagos, Nigeria. Explaining the reasons, Lt. Col. Kounte charged in a radio broadcast that Mr. Diori had mishandled the disastrous situation resulting from six years of drought and famine. He also accused the Diori government of corruption.

Niger is one of the six African countries in the African Sahel most severely affected by the massive drought. The others are Mali, Mauritania, Chad, Senegal, and Upper Volta.

The military takeover in Niger is the 32nd in Africa since 1958. The Chief of Staff announced that the Constitution was suspended, the National Assembly dissolved and all political organizations suppressed. He said a supreme council of officers would be created soon to run the government.

"We could not stand by in the face of this catastrophic situation in the country," Lt. Col. Kounte is reported as saying on Niger radio. "Despite the prestige of the man who has been the incarnation of the Niger nation for 15 years."

However, a British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC) commentator said shortly after the takeover that Niger, an exporter of uranium ore, is thought to possess massive, undeveloped deposits of this essential nuclear power natural resource, and that Mr. Diori's government resisted U.S., French and other Western attempts for the greatly increased exploitation of these deposits on to endure this type of harassment that comes out of J. Edgar Hoover's old memos.

There was a pregnant woman, Mrs. Constance Webb, six months pregnant - a serious point in pregnancy - who was arrested and taken from her bed without an opportunity to change clothes. Another woman, Ms. Annetta Stipes, who has a serious asthma condition and is under a doctor's care, was arrested for that, was arrested. The woman who was responsible for the health care for the children at the Intercommunal Youth Institute, Ms. Lintonia Sheppard, was arrested. (The children at the Institute number over 100 and Lintonia works with the East Oakland Health Alliance and the Children's Hospital for the care of these children.)

PROGRAM WORKERS

"Several of our S.A.F.E. (Seniors Against a Fearful Environment) program workers were arrested, three of our Sickle Cell Anemia technicians were arrested, and 2 of the people who are responsible for the cooking and the obtaining of the food for the school were arrested.

So, what we are saying is that the people who were there were the people who were involved in our programs. We can only see this as an assault on the part of the police department and on the part of the power structure of both of these cities and of other cities of this area to attempt to stop our programs from functioning, and to attempt, as Bobby has said, to keep us from having the controlling vote in the City Council of Oakland which we intend to have.

Q: BOBBY, all of this started last night when Michael Foster, who claims to be a former Black Panther Party member was supposed to be assaulted by three Black Panthers in Berkeley. That assault was supposed to have led to the house in Oakland that was raided.

BOBBY: This is the first time I have heard of any Michael Foster who was a member of the Black Panther Party, that's for one. I don't know any name like that in this area. I don't even know who this is.

Q: Have you ever heard of the Jackson Learning Center? He's president of that in Oakland.

BOBBY: Heard of that on KDA, a new item. Secondly, I heard that there was a warrant for some Party member, whose name I don't know.

But, I am saying that in the case of any warrant for any Black Panther Party member, the police departments in Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco know that they can call Charles R. Gurry and we will surrender the person. We would rather have the person surrender, arrested and bailed out so that we can continue to do the work here.

I can't say much more than it's obvious to me when you start having mass arrests of Black Panther Party members, all these absurd charges, the same charges we used to get across the BOBBY: The mayor is interconnected with the total power structure of this city.

Elaine Brown has been doing some tremendous work concerning $12 million worth of new housing here (reference to the City Center replacement housing proposal recently adopted by the Oakland City Council) and we put the power structure up against the wall with a federal law.

Q: What about the arms and the ammunition supposedly found?

BOBBY: All I can say is that it's the same old police agent provocateur operation. In the past Black Panther Party members were arrested in Los Angeles, Chicago, across the country for "possessing machine guns." No machine guns ever showed up in court. It's the same old F.B.I.

LIBERATION STRUGGLES TO BE COVERED BY NEW GENEVA ACCORDS

(Geneva, Switzerland) - An amendment to subject wars of national liberation to the requirements of international law was approved in Geneva recently, despite U.S. opposition.

The amendment, adopted at the Diplomatic Conference on the Reaffirmation and Development of International Humanitarian Law Applicable to Armed Conflicts, which convened on February 22, was approved on 104 nations. The Conference was called primarily to revise the 1949 Geneva Conventions.

The amendment defines armed conflicts as "internal" rather than "international," all "armed conflicts in which people are fighting against colonial domination and alien occupation and racist regimes in the exercise of their right to self-determination." If the votes on the amendment are sustained at the full Geneva Conference in 1975, liberation movements in armed conflict will receive the full protection of the new Geneva Conventions. The amendment would also land diplomatic and political prestige to anticolonial forces, facilitate and deny legitimacy to the colonial power and facilitate the delivery of material assistance from other countries to the new, emerging nations.

Amending the 1949 conventions was the method chosen by Third World and progressive governments to win recognition of the political and human character of liberation movements and overcome the inadequacies of the old international law.

Formulated by the Western industrialized nations after the two world wars, the 1949 Geneva Conventions reflected the character of conventional European warfare but excluded entirely the Vietnam-type, guerrilla wars which have dominated the post-World War II era. Under the old conventions, the genocidal wars in Indochina twice and in Algeria, Indonesia, Kenya, Angola, Mozambique, Malaysia, etc., were conveniently classified as "internal" or "non-international" conflicts and were therefore excluded from international sanctions.

The U.S.-led opposition to the amendment failed miserably at the Conference. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 70 to 22 (with 12 abstentions and 31 absent). Almost every Third World nation voted for the amendment, and the few which didn't are U.S.-sponsored discontinued on page 22.

TANZANIAN AMBASSADOR

"CHINA COOPERATION EXAMPLE FOR THIRD WORLD"

(San Francisco, Calif.) - China's cooperation with Tanzania in the construction of the Tan/Zam railway will become a prototype for other Third World and developing countries. Tanzanian Ambassador Paul Bomani told a press conference here last Tuesday.

Praising the practice of mutual assistance among Third World countries, Ambassador Bomani said that China "set an example" in Tanzania that other developing countries should follow.

Ambassador Bomani was in San Francisco to meet with individuals and groups involved in preparations for the U.S. participation in the upcoming 8th Pan African Congress, to be held June 3 through 13, in Dar es Salaam Tanzania.

The soft-spoken ambassador said that China's participation in the building of the important East Africa rail line had resulted in the training of many Tanzanian experts in many different fields. He praised the simple and yet very effective training methods used by the Chinese and expressed delight that now as a result, Tanzania has its own experts and technicians for further such development projects.

Mr. Bomani said that from the Chinese experience, Tanzania has been convinced of the advantage of engaging experts and technicians from other developing and Third World countries. He said that Tanzania now employs experts from Pakistan and India. He said the cost to Tanzania for these experts is only one third the cost of engaging experts in the same areas from the U.S.A.

"China has set the example. Other countries will follow," he said. Tanzania is attempting also to assist other Third World and developing countries in the same way, despite its limited reserve of experts.

MUTUAL ASSISTANCE

"We are now assisting the new Republic of Guinea-Bissau with some experts in administration," Mr. Bomani said. "We are willing to send others when possible," he added. He described the practice as a new approach to self-help and mutual assistance among Third World countries.

Responding to a question on the current discussions underway at the special session of the United Nations, Ambassador Bomani said that the solidarity of the Third World is necessary to bring about change in relationships with the developed world.

He said that "primary producers" (producers of raw materials and agricultural products, largely Third World countries) should derive the fullest benefit from their products. Price mechanisms should be created to assure that fair prices are paid by the developed countries for the raw materials of developing and Third world countries.

He added that trade between developed and developing countries should be favorable to the seller as well as to the buyer, and that Tana's Foreign Minister, who has come to the United States, continues on next page.

Africans can own land, the government has ordered the demolition of hundreds of houses. The occupants are left homeless and elderly owners are deprived of the income from the rentals of rooms.
An arbitrary regulation empowers the local authority to instruct the owner to pull down a building it considers unsightly. But most houses are neatly built with brick structures.

Lt. Col. Kounte, who is 45 years old, imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew which he said would be eased as the situation in the country was normalized. But he stressed that "we do not want to undertake anything in a hurry."
Kounte is a product of French military training. He joined the Niger Army in 1961, one year after the country won its independence from France. He became Chief of Staff in 1973. Mr. Diori, a former schoolteacher, had led the country to independence in 1960, and held the position of leadership from that time.
Niger, a West African country of more than four million people, is one of the continent's poorest lands. Because of the drought, tens of thousands are in refugee camps and totally dependent on relief supplies for survival.
Mr. Diori has in recent years faced repeated requests by industrialized nations for large scale aid and assistance to help the country overcome the effects of the disastrous drought, but his appeals have been largely ignored.

Sadomba is one of the few Black members of Parliament, appointed to his place by the White-minority regime.

the Republic of Guinea recently reported that a large number of troops from Guinea's neighbor to the east, the Ivory Coast, were being concentrated on the common border of the two countries during the last few weeks. more than 40,000 Ethiopians marched through the center of Addis Ababa last week in demonstration for religious freedom for Moslems in this predominantly Coptic Christian country. The demonstration was the largest ever seen in Ethiopia, and included a massive contingent of Christians in support of the demand. The Moslem community is demanding the right to own land, religious freedom in the schools and an end to discrimination against Moslems in employment and in the courts. The demonstration included a large contingent of Moslem women demanding equal rights for women.
ATTICA SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

Attica is a clear and simple statement of the events surrounding the Attica Prison rebellion in September, 1971. It is a well made film. The evidence and testimony are presented fairly showing both sides of the case. The part-color documentary is similar to The Murder of Fred Hampton documentary in its impact, content and style.

The words of New York State Corrections Commissioner Russell Oswald and those of the leader of the police attack, Assault Commander Monahan, sound like a sequel to Chicago States' Attorney Hanrahan's lying contradictory statements.

The filmed testimony of a "qualified" New York State Police rifleman explaining his high-powered "gun," the reenactment and the timing and position of the attack in which 43 people were killed, is fascinating. He smiles and frankly re-enacts the techniques for pacing and firing at the "game or target animal," as he put it. He explains that this was the same method he would ordinarily use, "when I'm hunting."

The prisoners' best defenses were football helmets and sticks, of which there were few. Prisoners were told to stand and surrender by National Guard helicopters specially equipped with loudspeakers. Then the high-powered expanding dum-dum bullets began to rain in the prison yard. Qualified New York State Police marksmen and other police and medical personnel fired at will from the parapets surrounding the yard and from the tops of the ground assault. White and Black prisoners worked in unity to hold their rebellion together and they died and were wounded in unity along with the hostages they tended. Before the assault, one hostage guard named Cunningham is asked if he has any statement for the press and forGovernor Rockefeller(655,864),(778,978) on his condition. His basis is that if Rockefeller's answer to the prisoners is "No," then, "I'm dead." Hours later hostage Cunningham was killed by state gunfire. Several prisoners testify that Brother L.D. Barkley was taken prisoner with them in the bloody yard. One of the outside observers on the negotiating team also remembers seeing him after the assault, after "order" was restored. Nevertheless, L.D. Barkley appears on the list of those dead a few days later, the victim of a gunshot wound. Witnesses recall that shots were fired all through the night following the recapture of Attica State Prison and many additional men were missing and dead the next day.

The photography, production and editing of this film are a credit to the artists and to the producer-director, Cinda Fire-stone. The eloquent words and beautiful spirit of the Attica Brothers also contribute to the overall success of the film.

The viewer notes the words and actions of the rebellious prisoners and sees a system of organized cooperation, humane consideration and practical reason: sharing and providing for each other and even more for their thirty-five hostages. The thousand men who filled the small short-sleeved streets possessed incredible love.

Outside, state forces drilled with organized precision and systematically, efficiently carried out the task of preparing to repress and kill the men inside. "Detail halt," cries the drill leader and the lines of feet are still. "Get your rifles and shotguns," and the lines quickly break; every man is armed and break the lock of the ground assault.

The state police issued 270 high-powered rifles and thirty riot shotguns that day. Volunteer police agents from at least eleven local county sheriff's departments and other police forces as well as prison guards from Attica and volunteer guards from Au-burn State Prison brought their own guns. Included were M-16 automatic weapons and Thompson submachine guns. Former Governor Nelson Rockefeller and President Richard Nixon approved the assault plans and gave the order. Mass murder was committed and later it is all condoned for the delusion of the American public. The cat will be out of the bag if Attica is widely distributed.

Attica will join The Murder of Fred Hampton and Executive Action, in the library of filmed documentation of American fascism, terrorism and racism today.

RESOLUTION

Resolution by supporting the three demands of the American Indian Movement, the Ogala Sioux Nation and the people on trial in St. Paul and Sioux Falls for their participation in the liberation of Wounded Knee Feb. 27 - May 8, 1973, specifically:

1. Congress should establish a Treaty Commission to examine the 371 treaties signed with Indian peoples.
2. That the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934 be re-examined or repealed because the IRA places Indian self-government under the direct and total control of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and because the IRA has imposed non-Indian systems of government on Indian peoples, which systems have become corrupted in the process.
3. Remove the BIA from the Dept. of the Interior and set it up as an independent agency to end the conflict between the corporate interests the Department represents and the management of Indian lands.

THEREFORE, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that all charges be dropped against the 129 people the government is attempting to prosecute for their stand in defense of their civil rights.

Meanwhile, in Saint Paul, Minnesota, a number of contradicting witnesses were called by the government in its attempt to prosecute American Indian Movement (AIM) leaders Dennis Banks and Russell Means.

Two undercover FBI agents who infiltrated the Wounded Knee occupation repeatedly contradicted each other in their testimony on events. A court file clerk testified that she never saw a piece of evidence the prosecution said was in her possession until immediately before it was subpoenaed by the government. And, two Bureau of Indian Affairs police officers denied knowledge of their membership on the “goon squads” of Richard Wilson, tribal council chairman.

A final witness, who was brought to court to testify as to the accuracy of government maps of Wounded Knee, reported that there were “glaring inaccuracies” in the exhibits. The map in question was not entered into evidence.

THE BLACK PANTHER, SATURDAY - APRIL 27, 1974
SPORTS AND THE AMERICAN EMPIRE

THE IMPACT OF THE BLACK REVOLT

The following is the first of a series of articles by Mark Naison, Instructor at the Afro-American Institute at Fordham University in New York City. The article, in more extended form, appeared in the April 1972 issue of Monthly Review. The article is reprinted here with the permission of Mark Naison.

Since the Second World War, sports have been one of the major areas for the expression of racism. Black players have been excluded from the mainstream of American life and the incorporation of black players into the mainstream has been slow. The passage of Federal Civil Rights legislation in 1967 and the expansion of professional (major-league) football, basketball, and baseball to the South during the Civil Rights movement has facilitated the entry of blacks into the major leagues in their respective sports.

In Harlem, for example, basketball is more than just physical exercise and competition; it is a sphere of life in which young men affirmatively experience their Blackness, feel the full flowering of their abilities, and experience pride in their origin and community.

The Black revolt, the anti-war movement, and women’s liberation have all had an impact on contemporary sports, an impact which seems to get progressively more intense. The more sports are "capitalized" and exposed in the media, the more TV coverage there is for sports events, the more sports have been interpreted by strikers, boycotting, and racial conflict to an unprecedented degree.

In addition, sports, particularly on a local level, continue to serve as vehicles for creativity, self-expression, and cultural growth for oppressed people. In working-class and poor neighborhoods throughout America, both Black and White, participation in sports (as distinct from viewing) serves as a highly affirmative experience which can define communities, express personalities, and help people endure the pains of daily life.

In Harlem, for example, basketball is more than just physical exercise and competition; it is a sphere of life in which young men affirmatively experience their Blackness, feel the full flowering of their abilities, and experience pride in their origin and community.

The Black athlete has been one of the most dramatic occurrences in post-war professional sports. Since 1947, Black football, basketball, and baseball players, once limited to segregated teams, have moved quickly into the major leagues in their respective sports. By the late 1960s, they had become a dominant force, comprising over half of the professional basketball players, over one-quarter of baseball players, and the majority of "all-stars" in all three sports.

The rise of the Black athlete has been attributed to everything from extra muscles in the legs, to a unique bone structure, to a "constitutional ability to remain calm under pressure." However, such biologically based theories and images represent a fundamental misreading of the character of contemporary professional sports.

Team sports are activities which are governed by the dynamics of modern industrial life and require highly specialized behavior. Professional athletes need not only more natural ability, but they must practice their skills steadily, use strategic thinking, and co-operate with teammates and non-race workers in ways which are understandable to industrial workers.

Rise of the Black athlete

The rise of the Black athlete thus tells us a lot more about the rapid movement of Black people into urban society and their impact on established patterns than about inherent racial differences. Blacks now comprise almost 40% of the work force in the American automobile industry and only half the transit work force in Chicago, New York, and Detroit; yet no one talks about the "natural proclivity" of black people for assembly-line work, or their "constitutional" attraction to fast-moving vehicles.

The significance of sports in the political modernization of agrarian (and colonial) people has been brilliantly analyzed by CLR James in his historical work in the West Indies, Beyond a Boundary. As James shows, cricket was one of the primary vehicles through which English culture was transmitted to the West Indies and, in turn, West Indian identity were formed in a distinctive way. West Indians learned English values and the norms of industrial and commercial life as much on the cricket field as in the school and the work place, and their success in developing great players and great teams marked their coming of age as a people.

When West Indian teams demonstrated their ability to beat the best of the English teams using skills and techniques all their own, it symbolized their mastery of modern social organization, their ability to produce dominating personalities, and the viability of their cultural traditions. Cricket, a sport which had been imported to legitimize English culture and English rule, was transformed into a proving ground for West Indian self-government.

Q: What was the house then Bobby? What was it used for?

BOBBY: The house was used for a precinct headquarters. We clocked all the precinct operations, all the precinct workers, all the names and addresses of the precinct workers were there. Practically all the people who voted for us by name were filled in that house. We did a broad operation when we ran our campaign. We have all kinds of lists, mailing lists, everything centralized there. From the information that I have gotten, they (the police) have loaded up our political files and taken things out of that house.

I don't know now if they confiscated those or not. But, I know I heard somebody say that the police took trucks load of something to the 29th Avenue office.

Q: What are you doing about the $300,000 bail?

BOBBY: We are asking the people in the community to help us get the bail. We are back in the same old position that we used to be in before, trying to raise bail to get this many people out of jail, at the same time as we try to work on all these different programs and keep things moving.

Q: You said that this would affect your campaigning for public offices. But how seriously?

BOBBY: Well, when you start talking about $300,000 bail we suspect there might be other arrests. We discussed this for 2 or 3 hours this morning since the arrest occurred and if they keep up this up it starts draining any and all funds we can raise. We already have to run the S.A.P.E. program, the Institute, Clinics, Sick Cell Anemia operations and all kinds of programs.

It drains funds coming in and funds for the campaign. For run for 5 City Council seats and 2 Board of Education seats in the next, upcoming election one year from now, you're talking about a 3, 4 or 500,000 dollar campaign which is the type of campaign we prefer to run. We ran over a $100,000 campaign when Elaine and I ran the last time. So, we think it will affect us.

The arrests, some of these people were very significant coordinators. Some of these people who were arrested knew 75 to 100 persons as friends in our community. They were organizing precinct workers in our community. And this is the type of thing we are up against when these mass arrests start.

We're talking about 3,000 precinct workers this upcoming election whereas last time we only had 4,200 precinct workers. That's the highest it ever got.

We're talking about pulling those people out and we are always controlling City Councils. We're affecting the power structure which elects other corrupt local politicians. That's what we're doing and I say that's what they are really scared of.

Q: Do you think that federal and state authorities were involved in the raid?

BOBBY: Definitely. I believe they are behind it because we had too much harassment from federal authorities during the last election. We had over 100 voter registrars arrested in the last election and the FBI attempted to question them inside the jail and prisons where these people were held. People reported that FBI agents have said that they were going to see if it that Bobby Seale and Elaine Brown didn't win the election here in Oakland when we were running the last time.

Q: You say you are trying to get 50,000 more voters or do you already have them?

BOBBY: No, we already know that there are at least 40,000 black people who did not go to polls last year but who are, in fact, registered voters. We only had 1,200 precinct workers to bring out the amount we did. (Elaine garnered 34,000 votes on April 17, 1973, and Bobby drew 44,000 on May 15.) We believe that if we get 3,000 precinct workers we can bring out 80 to 100,000 Black people and we can also register another 10 or 20,000 people before the next election.

We're talking about 100,000 people going to the polls and voting. We say we can do it and they know we can do it.

Proof of the Party's good faith in keeping the agreement was provided on Thursday, April 18, when Charles Gary surrendered Brother Leonard Colar, 20, the Party member supposedly sought in Tuesday's raid, in Berkeley Municipal Court. Receiving assurances of good conduct from Brother Leonard's parole officer and from Mr. Garry, Leonard was released without bond, on his own recognizance.

Summing up the entire incident, Bobby Seale commented: "The powers that be are out to discredit the Black Panther Party, especially myself and Elaine. We have been quietly organizing 3,000 precinct workers in the community for the upcoming city elections, one year from now. In that election we hope to run and/or support five persons for City Council seats. That would be a majority, that would bring about people's control in Oakland. And, that is what the power structure wants to stop."

THE COURT: Is there still time you are suppose to do back in Ohio?

THE DEFENDANT: Yes.

THE COURT: Are you wanted back in Ohio on another charge?

THE DEFENDANT: No.

THE COURT: Yes.

THE DEFENDANT: That's suppose to be an attempted bank burglary.

THE COURT: I see.

THE DEFENDANT: Everybody's not to be joking, sir, but...

THE COURT: I'm not joking. I'm deadly serious.

THE DEFENDANT: I know you are serious. I'm serious, too. But it's funny how everybody gets on the bandwagon, you know. You see, the charge is not true, but this is...

THE COURT: I understand you are also wanted back in New Jersey.

THE DEFENDANT: Kidnapping, yes.

THE COURT: Kidnapping.

THE DEFENDANT: Kidnapping, attempted extortion and assault with a deadly weapon. This is also untrue, too, but, you see, you don't know that, but I know it and they know it. But to make sure that this Court tries to send me as far in prison as they can, they have been trying to get me back there for a probation violation since '65 and California refuses and they didn't refuse in a nice way. They had to do it nastily, and California doesn't like that.

California Governor Ronald Reagan must answer the following questions. Why was this extradition request from New Jersey - long before the creation of the Symbionese Liberation Army - denied by California authorities?
