AFRICAN LIBERATION EVERY DAY

African Liberation Day was proclaimed with the birth of the Organization of African Unity in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, on May 25, 1963. On that historic occasion, the then 32 independent African nations declared their determination to work for the total and complete liberation of Africa from European, White racist rule.

In harmony with that declaration, peoples of African descent outside continental Africa, and particularly in the U.S.A., join with the African peoples in celebrating May 25, and in rededicating themselves to the struggle for African liberation.

Black Americans have a special responsibility in this struggle. We are in the belly of the monster that is U.S. Imperialism. It is busy plotting, financing, equipping and encouraging neo-colonialism in Africa. We are most strategically placed to frustrate U.S. power elite plans for the re-enslavement of the African peoples.

At the head of the rank-and-file movements in the factories across this country, Black workers can spearhead the exposure of the trade union bureaucracies in partnership with industrial interests, engaged in the ruthless exploitation of the wealth and labor of Africa.

Black legislators on all levels can expose legislative proposals that shore up neo-colonialism and White racist rule in Africa and spearhead the development of popular movements to defeat such moves.

Black students, in high schools and colleges, can spearhead country-wide campus movements for the inclusion and expansion of relevant African studies that accurately reflect the African people's history and culture and destroy racist concepts that still fill our institutions of learning.

And, each of us, in our communities and on our jobs, in ever increasing and uncompromising determination, can confront the racist, exploitive and repressive forms of oppression, so frustrating and preoccupying the U.S. power elite monster as to make increasingly more difficult its ability to carry out its goals in Africa.

In these ways we can make every African Liberation Day and bring its realization ever nearer.

Letters to the Editor

Revolutionary Greetings:

My Dearest Comrade,

I send my Revolutionary greetings to all my Comrades there. All people in the struggle are my Revolutionary Brothers and Sisters. I am a revolutionary servant of the people and for the people. My life is not my own, my body is not my own, it's to serve the people. I give my life to the people and the vanguard servants of the people; the one and only Black Panther Party.

I am revolutionarily minded and ready to do my part in the struggle against this imperialist, capitalist system. I am trying to arm myself mentally while doing time here in the Attica Concentration camp. I would appreciate having my name added to your free subscription list, knowing that I can't pay for anything, I would also like to get any material you have or can get. Send them to me because you, the Comrades here, have no books at all.

I live Liberation, eat Liberation, sleep Liberation, dream Liberation. I am Liberation. I love all my fellow Comrades. Well, I'll close now. But I'll leave you with this: There are millions of poor and oppressed people throughout the world. We have to keep the struggle in our hearts. The Revolution is now. The Struggle for Liberation is universal. It's for you and me. The Panel Truck is coming and Brother, it's coming fast, fast, fast.

Love for the Struggle
Happiness for the Liberation
All Power to the Revolutionary War

AFRICAN LIBERATION DAY

"The hour of history which has brought us to this assembly is a revolutionary hour... Our people call for unity..."

So spoke Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, the late president of Ghana, at the convening of the Summit Conference of Independent African States in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, in May, 1963. History's glow did, indeed, shine on that great assembly of 32 African Heads of State and Government; the dawning of the revolutionary hour had arrived. After centuries of colonialism, the masses of peoples on the majestic continent of Africa stepped forth from the shadows of foreign rule and spoke out in a single voice, in their own interests and in their own name.

May 25, 1963, marks more than the formal signing of the Charter of the Organization of African and Malagasy States. In the words of Frantz Fanon, it signified:

"...the transformation of spectators, crushed by their own insensitiveness, into privileged actors, with the grandiose glare of history's floodlights upon them..."

On May 25, 1963, the Organization of African Unity was born—the goal of the total liberation of the continent of Africa and of peoples of African descent throughout the world was proclaimed and the first African Liberation Day was celebrated.

BLACK POLITICAL PROGRESS FORECAST

(Atlanta, Ga.) - Political victories by Black candidates in the May, 1974, primary and general elections in five southern states is indicative of rapid progress for southern Black communities, states John Lewis, head of the nonpartisan Voter Education Project, Inc. (VEP) of Atlanta.

Surveying the positive results of primary elections in Alabama, North Carolina, Tennessee and Texas, and the general elections in Virginia, VEP has concluded that Black candidates will win major positions in state governments this year despite low turnout by Black and White voters in the South.

Lewis stated, "Several factors may have contributed to the low voter turnout in the five states where elections were held, but the lack of financial resources in the Black community to mount and sustain successful citizenship education efforts continues to be a problem. Additional Black candidates might have sought public office in Tennessee, for instance, had there been a high filing fee requirement."

"We have been successful in registering millions of Black voters over the past decade, but there has to be a similar push—a similar commitment—to follow through to educate and stimulate voters to vote after they have registered," continued Lewis.

"The VEP hopes to have some resources during the remainder of 1974 and the remainder of the year to repeat the successes in the South.

"Blacks in the South can make historic political strides this year," predicted Lewis. "Our May elections point up some of the potential, but there are other reasons for hope. Blacks may be elected for the first time to the county commission in Fulton County (Atlanta), Georgia. An additional ten or twelve Blacks may be added to the Georgia House of Representatives because of the redistricting. The South Carolina house may see its Black..."

OAKLAND MAYOR REJECTS TYRONE GUYTON PLEA

(Oakland, Calif.) - In a blatant slap in the face of this city’s Black and poor communities, Mayor John Reading, using an arbitrary decision by City Attorney David Selby, has rejected a request by Mrs. Mattie Shepherd to address the Oakland City Council regarding the murder of her son, 14-year-old Tyrone Guyton.

News of the Mayor’s decision came only one day before the Tuesday, May 21, Council meeting she had requested in writing to address.

Highlighting the racist, heartless nature of Reading’s decision is that only two days before, on Saturday, May 19, 3,000 people, predominantly Black West Oakland residents, rallied in Bobby Hutton Memorial Park to demand the prosecution of the three White Emeryville policemen who cold-bloodedly murdered young Tyrone last November 1. In addition, over 15,000 persons from throughout Alameda County and the Bay Area have signed petitions with this same demand. In a telephone conversation with the Secretary for the Committee for Justice for Tyrone Guyton, the City Attorney admitted having told Reading that, in his judgement, it would be “improper” for Mrs. Shepherd to address the City Council.

In explanation, Selby put forward the ludicrous reasons that: (1) the City Council had no information about the Tyrone Guyton case; and, (2) if the policemen were ever indicted, having Mrs. Shepherd address the Council might create unfavorable pretrial publicity.

When questioned if it were not part of the City Council’s responsibilities to obtain the needed information concerning the legality of his futuristic assumptions, Selby stated that he had merely given Reading his opinions on Reading’s request. It is the Mayor who makes the final decisions concerning the City Council agenda.

Neither the Mayor’s office nor the City Attorney’s office will send Mrs. Shepherd or the Committee for Justice a written explanation of their reasons for not allowing her to speak, although they have been repeatedly asked to provide one.

SHOT IN BACK

Tyrone Guyton was shot and killed by the pursuing plainclothes policemen on suspicion he was driving a stolen car. At the Saturday, May 18 rally, the large crowd was shocked and outraged when it was disclosed that young Tyrone was shot twice in the back after having tripped and while sprawled on the ground; not in the act of running as had previously been thought. In addition, the recently fired Emeryville chief of police has admitted to a KRON-TV reporter that it was over two hours after Tyrone was murdered that the car he was driving was discovered to have been stolen.

When told of the Mayor’s decision, Mrs. Shepherd responded bitterly. “Is it proper for Dale Phillips, William Matthews and Thomas McKervey (the three Emeryville policemen to murder my son?” she said angrily. “Is it proper for Lowell Jensen to refuse to prosecute? Is it proper that I can get justice?”

She continued “Tyrone was a good boy and I don’t care what the Mayor or Lowell Jensen have to say, the case is not closed! We’ll be back.”

FALLEN COMRADE

JOHN SAVAGE

ASSASSINATED:

MAY 23, 1969

John Savage, 24, was a member of the San Diego Branch of the Black Panther Party. It was there that he chose to dedicate his life to the liberation of his people. In the aftermath of the Ron Karenga-led US organization’s assassination of Alprentice “Bunchy” Carter and John Huggins in January, 1969, relations between that group and the Black Panther Party grew increasingly tense, particularly in the city of San Diego.

On Friday, May 23, 1969, John Savage and another Party member were walking toward the office when they passed an US organization member named “Tamboz.” As they walked by, Tamboz swung around, jammed a .38 automatic into the back of John Savage’s neck and pulled the trigger. John Savage died instantly...the spirit of John Savage will live forever.

ALL POWER TO THE PEOPLE
POLITICAL EDUCATION CLASS STUDIES AFRICAN LIBERATION MOVEMENTS

In our continuing series on the many aspects of instruction at the Intercommunal Youth Institute in East Oakland, the BLACK PANTHER presents this week an article on the Political Education classes at the Institute, written by Amar Casey, Instructor of Political Education at the Institute.

Oakland, Calif.) "Gold, diamonds, coffee, sugar and salt"; students in the political education class at the Intercommunal Youth Institute recited, "No wonder the Portuguese want to keep Angola and the other countries; so they can keep all the riches!"

The subject that day was the African liberation movements: the struggle for the liberation of Mozambique (FRELIMO); the People's Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA); and, the Zimbabwe African National Union (ZANU).

This was the culmination of a series of studies in Political Education on the continent of Africa. In conjunction with this series the students had visited museums and seen several examples of African art and culture.

The students are also shown films on African history. They study maps of Africa to enhance their understanding of African geography and topography, the study of place and location). They study African coins, try on African clothes and learn African dances.

However, intercommunal world studies is only a part of the several areas of study in political education at the intercommunal Youth Institute. Toussaint L'Ouverture, Malcolm X, W.E.B. Du Bois, Frederick Douglass, Nat Turner, Mahatma Gandhi, King, Huey P. Newton, Mao Tse-Tung, Cesar Chavez are just a few of the many historical and contemporary figures the students study.

Class discussions, skits, drawings and readings are some of the methods used in the study of the African liberation movements. The discussions are integrated in this way the children advance both their reading ability and their political consciousness.

The eight, nine, ten, and eleven year-olds are able to relate conceptually to the political system by role-playing. Each group was divided into a variety of groups: Black and white, black and white, black and white, black and white, black and white. The students were asked to give an example of a political system by role-playing. The students were asked to give an example of a political system by role-playing. After some thought, a young girl asked: "The chalk in my hand will eventually be used up (negative) as I continue writing on the blackboard, but this is positive because I learn from the things written on the board."

Capitalism and monopolies are consistently examined in political education classes. The games "Monopoly," "Billionaire," and "Anti-Monopoly" are used to introduce some of the basic concepts of economic organization. The students visit factories, stores, and other places where ideas discussed in class may be seen in practice.

June 1, 1843

The fabled Sojourner Truth, the first Black woman to take the platform as an antislavery lecturer, left New York and became her work as an abolitionist on June 1, 1843. From that date until her death, she walked the land, preaching, teaching, and lecturing for the freedom of her people.

May 30, 1854

As the dark shadow of the upcoming Civil War passed over America, reactionary Southern congressmen, in a bitter fight in Congress, won passage of the Kansas-Nebraska Act on May 30, 1854, repealing the Missouri Compromise and opening the Northern territory to slavery.

May 31, 1870

On May 31, 1870, the U.S. Congress passed the first of the so-called Enforcement Acts (also called Ku Klux Klan Acts), putting federal elections in the hands of federal rather than state officials. The legislation, intended to guarantee the civil and political rights of freedmen, was ineffective.

May 31, 1955

Following by a year their famous Brown vs. Topeka decision, the U.S. Supreme Court ordered nationwide school desegregation, "with all deliberate speed," on May 31, 1955.
PHILLY PRETRIAL DETAINES WIN RIGHT TO VOTE

(Philadelphia, Pa.) - Procedures have been adopted to enable Philadelphia pretrial detainees to vote in all federal, state and local elections. The consent decree, issued on April 17, 1974, in U.S. District Court here, includes a document entitled, "Procedural for Registration and Voting by Pretrial Detainees in Philadelphia County Jails.

The document sets forth specific procedures to be utilized by the Philadelphia County Board of Elections. The procedures include the posting of notices describing the voting procedure in both the English and Spanish languages, as well as notices stating the date voter registrars will be at each prison.

The registrar will give each pretrial detainee a request for an application for an absentee ballot and the application and the absentee ballot will be provided.

Postage required by any pretrial detainee who cannot afford the cost to mail his ballot, application or registration request, will be paid out of the inmate welfare fund.

Counsel and representatives of political parties may be present at the prisons on registration and voting days for consultation and supervision.

The election team will make provisions for qualified voters who are absent from prison due to court appearances to participate in the election.

Meanwhile, THE BLACK PANTHER has received several documents from the Unconvicted Residents Rights Council, a group of pretrial detainees at the Philadelphia Detention Center.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO REVIEW WANSLEY CASE

(Norfolk, Va.) - The U.S. Supreme Court recently refused to review the conviction of Thomas C. Wansley, a 58-year-old Black man who was reincarcerated late last year to serve a life sentence on a framed-up rape charge.

The court decision closes all legal avenues for Wansley's freedom until he becomes eligible for parole in three and a half years.

Wansley's appeal was based on evidence showing that he had not been able to receive a fair trial because of the adverse publicity in the area press and the prejudice against his case by the White people of Lynchburg, Virginia, during his trial. It was on this basis that a federal judge overturned Wansley's original conviction and ordered him released early in 1973. But, an appeal by the state of Virginia to a higher court resulted in his reincarceration last November.

Wansley is now serving a life sentence at Virginia State Farm, Northside. He was sentenced to death more than eleven years ago, when he was seventeen years old, for the alleged rape of a 56-year-old White woman.

During his ten years in prison, Wansley has been active in the struggle for improved prison conditions and humane treatment. The November, 1973, court decision that returned him to prison produced a new flood of protest throughout the state. Several marches and rallies were organized by the Prisoners Solidarity Committee of Richmond, Lynchburg, Norfolk and other Virginia cities.

Delegations of community leaders from Virginia and across the country presented petitions with more than 16,000 signatures to former Governor Linwood Holton asking him to pardon and free Wansley in the last days of his term in office. Holton rejected the request days before he left office.
FIVE OF HOUSTON 12 RE-INDICTED FOR ATTEMPTED MURDER

(Houston, Texas) - Less than 48 hours after felony charges had been dismissed against five members of the Houston 12 here last week, they were re-indicted on the original charges of "attempted murder of a police officer."

On May 20, in an almost unprecedented move, Judge Andrew Jefferson of the 204th District Court dismissed grand jury indictments against the five on grounds of prejudiced selection of the grand jury. The ruling followed weeks of pretrial testimony during which attorneys and witnesses for the Houston 12, eight of whom are Chicanos, proved that most Harris County grand juries are composed of affluent, white businessmen and professionals and that less than 3% of grand jury members are Chicanos.

RE-INDICTED

However, two days later, on May 22, the five were re-indicted by another, rubber stamp, Harris County grand jury, including one Chicano, for the same alleged offense.

The case of the Houston 12 stems from a picket line in October called by Houston Youth Against War & Fascism to protest U.S.-Israeli aggression in the Middle East. As the protest was drawing to a close, the Houston police viciously attacked with clubs, blackjacks and drawn guns. In addition to the felony charges against the five, charges of "aggravated assault" were levied against all 12.

In an angry statement issued by the Houston 12 Defense Committee, the Harris County grand jury system is exposed: "...We are not surprised by this swift retaliation by [District Attorney] Carrol Vance and the behind-the-scenes businessmen for whom he works. Our corrupt leaders have much to protect: such things as their racist grand jury system which we exposed earlier this week; their brutal police department; and, their scheme to grab the oil in the Middle East through another disastrous war."

The Houston 12 Defense Committee has announced plans to continue in its campaign for the dropping of all charges against the 12. "Re-indictment does not surprise us," said Alex Rodriguez, one of the five. "The fact that the D.A. found a grand jury with one Chicano does not mean it is at all representative of the community."

This is just a gross form of tokenism and doesn't even conform with Judge Jefferson's ruling. Our defense is not based on faith in the court system. It is only national support that is daily gaining momentum that will free the Houston 12."

SIGMAS' PLAN FOR BLACK

SURVIVAL

[New York, N.Y.]: Concerned at the "rapid deterioration of minority rights under this present suspect Watergate administration," Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc., has called for the creation of a united front for the "survival of the black race.

The call is significant because it can mean the direct participation of college and university-based Black Greek letter organizations (fraternities and sororities) in the Black liberation struggle.

The call, issued at the 1974 Pan-Hellenic Conference (a national meeting of Greek letter organizations) in New Orleans, Louisiana, on March 30, included a proposal for a workshop to be held in August to formalize a national program for Black survival.

The plan proposed by the Sigmas consists of refining eight areas of concern for the survival of minorities. They are: (1) elementary and secondary educational opportunities; (2) higher educational opportunities; (3) employment opportunities; (4) welfare; (5) business opportunities; (6) housing; (7) drugs; and (8) political involvement.

The program, passed at the 56th National Convention of Phi Beta Sigma, is necessary because Sigma men were more than overly concerned at the rapid deterioration of minority rights begun during the first four years of the Nixon administration and further continued under this present suspect Watergate administration, a Sigma release reads.

In presenting the plan to the Pan-Hellenic Conference, Gilbert Francis, Director of the Civil Rights Department of the State of New Jersey and National Director of Social Actions for Phi Beta Sigma, said: "Sigma men look with alarm at the impounding of federal funds which were used for human advancement by the Nixon administration.

They are satisfied by the phasing out of those federal projects which had enhanced the livelihood and lifestyle of the minorities of this country. And Sigma men are appalled at the seemingly planned steady removal of Blacks from high federal

BLACK FOUNDRY WORKERS FIGHT UNION, RACISM AND SEXISM

(Birmingham, Ala.): Efforts of workers at the Stove and Range iron foundry here, who are predominantly Black women, to organize a militant rank-and-file struggle are being undermined by union bureaucracy, racism and sexism.

The Committee for a Better Contract is a small group of mostly young Black women who came together in a loosely knit organization in order to try to build support in the Stove and Range plant here for a better contract. They attended numerous union meetings to push for discussion on the old contract and the need for higher wages and improved benefits in the new contract.

The Committee successfully built support for a strike, which, according to one of the workers, "keeps the union president moving in the right direction." However, the union, the United Steel Workers (AFL-CIO), proved to be the workers' biggest enemy, by selling out the strike.

The major demands of the workers were a $2 across-the-board wage increase over a three year period, voluntary overtime, the ending of "merit" increases and a comprehensive pregnancy clause. The union, which sought to avoid a strike, influenced some of the workers to press for irrelevant demands that didn't speak to the actual needs of the workers.

NIGHT SHIFT

Believing that the night shift was the weak link in the chain, in terms of support for the strike, the union decided to have the night shift vote first. The union assumed that if the night shift voted against the strike, the other workers would be convinced that they should stay on the job. However, the union's scheme backfired because the night shift voted to go on strike. The final vote was 94-92 to go on strike.

During the strike the union consistently told the workers one thing, and company officials another. Explained one worker, "When the negotiating committee met, the international rep would say, 'We're going to stick to all our demands.' But when they met with the company, he'd say, 'We don't want this or that.'"

"In union meetings he would read out only what the company gave us, not what we told them down. He did this even though we did a petition asking him to read it all. Also, he wouldn't let people speak if he didn't like them," the worker said.

Further treachery of the union included visiting a local radio station and asking the manager not to publicize the strike. Publicity in the campaign of these Black women was crucial if they were to win relief from their backbreaking, almost slave labor jobs in the iron foundry, including handling molten iron.

COMPENSATION FOR POULTRY WORKERS MAY SET PRECEDENT

(Forest, Miss.): More than 1,100 poultry workers in four poultry plants in Scott County, Mississippi, who were owed $1 million in back wages due to lack of work may be compensated by the federal government for their wage loss. Although government subsidies for industries that have lost money are common, this will be the first time that workers are paid for wages lost through no fault of their own.

Millions of broiler chickens were destroyed by order of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency when it was found that they contained harmful levels of dieldrin, a deadly pesticide. As a result, local chicken farmers complained that their multi-million dollar industry was facing major financial difficulties.

At first the poultrymen attempted to persuade the government to lower its standards so that the poisonous chickens could be found acceptable. Proposals were even made that the contain...

Palestine, the guerrilla group which claimed responsibility for the action in Madinat, Lebanon, Muawajdah said that at this stage it must agree to the following:

1. Complete withdrawal from the territories occupied by Israel during the 1967 Middle East War.

2. The Palestinian people's right to "self-determination in the Gaza Strip and on the West Bank of the Jordan River" and the creation of a Palestinian state in that territory.

3. The carrying out of all United Nations resolutions that concern the Palestinian people, beginning in 1947.

RIGTHS

"If these rights are recognized," Muawajdah said, "then the Palestinian resistance will be able to discuss them with all parties and in all international conferences, including Geneva."

The reference to Geneva suggests that acceptance of the above demands would be the condition upon which the Palestinian liberation movement could agree to participate in a conference sponsored by the United Nations and the Soviet Union, involving Israel, Egypt, Syria and Jordan, on the Middle East conflict.

The pronouncements of Muawajdah on the creation of a Palestinian state is understood to represent an agreement reached by the top guerrilla leaders in secret meetings two weeks ago. This common position is scheduled to be presented at a meeting in Cairo on June 1 for ratification by the Palestinian National Council, a broadly based assembly of 150 representatives from all Palestinian communities.

The position outlined by Muawajdah is in complete agreement with the principled position presented in the Black Panthers' Position Paper on the Middle East Conflict.

Emphasizing that the issue in the Middle East is not territory, but an issue of human rights, the Black Panther Party Position Paper declared:

Map above shows how Israel has expanded her borders into surrounding Arab territories during succeeding conflicts.

"Though we insist that the ultimate survival of Jews and all Palestinians, as a national people, depends on the revolutionary overthrow of world imperialism and capitalism, we call upon Jews and Arabs in the Middle East to recognize the national rights of their neighbors: upon the government of Israel to recognize the claims of the Palestinian people for independence and international status, as originally provided by the United Nations, and of the Arab states and the Palestinian liberation movement to recognize the existence of the State of Israel as the national sovereignty of the Jewish people.

"We believe," asserts the Position Paper, "that Jews and all Palestinians through the Middle East, the masses of Palestinian people, must themselves resolve the conflict and stop the senseless warfare, waged in their names and not by their interests."

"We believe that the real issues are internal to each territory: the fact of the existence of the State of Israel will make no real hardship to the Arab peoples, if the Jews and their 400,000 Arab comrades living in Israel will throw off their mutual yoke of oppression, and build a people's government serving the human interests of all."

"In like fashion, the peoples of the Arab nations need only turn their attention and energies away from the so-called Holy War over what is now called Israel to their own oil-rich countries, and throw off the yoke of their oppressive regimes, claiming for themselves the wealth beneath their own national soils."

PEOPLE'S PERSPECTIVE

PSYCHIATRIST'S ROLE

(Detroit, Mich.) - Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, speaking at the annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association here recently, proposed that instead of changing people's brains to conform to society, psychiatrists should work to change society. "The problem is not what's in our heads but what's inside the heads of our oppressors," he said.

N.Y. COP FOUNDED DEAD

(New York, N.Y.) - Detective David J. Caddy, who was scheduled to make his initial appearance before a federal grand jury investigating new aspects of police narcotics graft last week, has been found dead. It is believed he has taken his own life.

S.U. MURDERS PROBED

(Baton Rouge, La.) - A federal grand jury visited Southern University last week to look at the site of the confrontation that led to the murder of two Black students in 1972. The panel is investigating to determine if there were civil rights violations in the deaths of Andrew Smith and Leonard Brown, who were shot to death by sheriff's deputies allegedly trying to clear protesters out of the administration building of the predominantly Black school.

FEW JOBS FOR BLACKS

(Washington, D.C.) - Twenty-six and nine tenths per cent of all businesses with 15 or more employees in 1973 had no Black employees, according to a study published recently by Andrew F. Brimmer, a former Federal Reserve Board official. The report also stated that more than half of all security and commodities brokers did not employ a single Black person last year.

HOUSEHOLD WORKERS

(Princeton, N.J.) - Domestic household workers here have organized a civil rights group aimed at combating their poor working conditions and improving their wages and benefits. Josephine Hubert, chairperson of the National Committee on Household Employment, addressed a group of Princeton domestic workers recently. Her appearance was sponsored by the Princeton Joint Commission on Civil Rights. After the meeting, the workers formed a chapter of the Joint Commission.

COLLEGE SEeks Freedom for Rape Frame-Up Victim

(Rantville, Alabama) - Brother Mack Humphrey may get a new trial in his rape case after following his convictions by all-White juries. However, it is doubtful that the Huntsville Police Department will ever allow him to live in peace again.

The students and administration of Alabama Agricultural and Mechanical University where Brother Humphrey was a student have been spearheading the drive to free him. He is serving a 10-year sentence in Atmore prison. Concerned students at other nearby colleges have also taken up the banner, demanding a new trial to overturn the convictions by juries that were all-White and all-male.

Brother Humphrey was a full-time day student at Alabama A & M and a full-time night laborer in Huntsville at the time of his arrest on June 8, 1972. On that date, he was walking home when three police officers in hot pursuit of an alleged attempted rapist detained him in connection with the crime.

He told them that another man had run past him just a few minutes before and that perhaps he was involved. Nevertheless, they did not investigate any further and charged Brother Humphrey with the ridiculous crime of attempting to rape a policewoman on the patio of the police station.

After Humphrey won bail and was released his problems only worsened. Huntsville police spokesmen have admitted the police kept him under constant surveillance. This attention often led to unprovoked brutality and harassment directed upon Brother Humphrey by racist Huntsville policemen. This harassment has been so serious as to include several additional arrests and convictions on trumped-up charges and denial of Brother Dave's basic Constitutional rights.

When arrested for drunken driving in December, 1972, he was not allowed to take an alcohol test. On February 12, 1973, he was threatened, beaten and curtailed. When he was picked up on February 28, 1973, he was refused access to an attorney and physically forced to confess to two more rapes and a burglary. On March 9, 1973, he was being arrested again when officers came to his mother's home only to find him being bailed out.

U.S. TROOP STRENGTH ABROAD

(Washington, D.C.) - The U.S. House of Representatives last week voted to reduce the 1974 troop level to 200,000 men in Vietnam, as opposed to the 360,000 approved by the Senate. This reduction in American forces abroad would, however, be achieved only if Congress could agree on the funding of the military's $1.7 billion reduction. The Nixon administration had recently ordered the withdrawal of troops from South Vietnam as a condition for the cease-fire talks.

injured birds be shipped to India or Africa. Finally, the chicken men realized that their best hope of recovering the losses was to push for the passage of a federal bill repaying them for the dead fowl.

Racist Mississippi Senator James O. Eastland, Representative David Bowen and the Senate Agriculture Committee act about the task of drawing up a bill to compensate the Mississippi poultry industry. No menure was made of making payments to the poultry workers.

BLACK WORKERS

The mostly Black workers saw the results of the poison chicken crisis not only in their bank accounts but in the food on their dinner tables and in the clothing on their backs. One thousand and one hundred workers in four poultry plants in Scott County, Mississippi, were affected by the nine-week layoff.

The Mississippi Poultry Workers Union (MPWU) went several representatives to the state capi tal. From there the union spokesmen went to Washington, D.C., and met with members of the Senate Agriculture Committee and others.

As a result of the two trips the poultry workers won widespread support from labor unions, welfare rights organizers, the Mississippi River Delta Ministry, the Southern Conference Educational Fund and several liberal congressmen as well as the Congressional Black Caucus. It was clear that the compensatory bill would lack support and might not pass if no aid to the unemployed poultry workers was provided for. So, the bill was rewritten to include full workers' compensation.

If the compensation bill passes it will set a precedent, not only for these workers, but for all workers: the government should guarantee wages lost by workers if the loss is through no fault of their own.

5 U.S. MARINES MUST GO

(Hong Kong) — All five U.S. Marines in the People's Republic of China are being ousted for carousing. The Marines, who arrived in Peking last year to guard the new U.S. liaison office there, will be leaving in the next two or three weeks at the request of the Chinese authorities. The Chinese objected to, among other things, a clubhouse the Marines opened, which had become extremely noisy and had been selling liquor without a license. They will be replaced by civilian security guards.

There Are Not Two Sexes, But Many

Andrea Dworkin contends that we are a "multisexual" species and that community forms, laws and even the sexual act itself must manifest and incorporate this radical new notion of sexual being.

IN SEARCH OF COMMON GROUND
CONVERSATIONS WITH ERIK H. ERIKSON
AND HUEY P. NEWTON

In Search of Common Ground is a book of the transcripts of conversations between Huey P. Newton, chief theoretician of the Black Panther Party, and Professor Erik H. Erikson, famed psychoanalyst and Harvard professor. Last week, Brother Huey and Professor Erikson discussed American identity and the emerging counteridentity of the new man and woman in the United States. This week, Brother Huey discusses his early life and his present role and the development of his ideas, and how he came to discover the advanced philosophical concept of revolutionary intercommunism.

E. ERIKSON: O.K. I didn’t invent identity crisis either—although come to think of it, some of my friends seemed to think that I did invent it, and out of my conflicts too. I had to try to show them that if this were so, at least my own conflicts were in the right place at the right time, historically speaking.

NEWTON: A scientist, if he is also an activist, will necessarily go about changing things in a different way than a laborer, let’s say, or someone else who does not have any particular discipline, you see. So I went into activism with a scientific method, and...

E. ERIKSON: But why? That’s the point. There must have been something in your background, in your choices of parents, in the place where you grew up, which made that independent. If you consider only how many of your brothers just accepted what they were taught, or accepted being excluded from what was being taught, while you always insisted on your right to study and your right to teach. There’s always a personal quality to a man which cannot be reduced to explanations. That’s obvious. But you must have some idea what...

NEWTON: Well, I don’t know why important it is. I seldom discuss my own personal life except as it relates to the movement.

E. ERIKSON: I seldom do either. I think I only talk about myself in relation to the identity concept, as you will see when you read that paper. I think one has the right—maybe even the duty—to restrict oneself to that: otherwise everything becomes a kind of self-indulgence.

NEWTON: I think one of the things that would naturally make me somewhat freer to take an objective approach to situations rather than just follow what has been traditional is the fact that I am the seventh sibling in my family. I am the youngest and my family is very tightly knit; my father and mother have been married almost fifty years now, I guess. I was protected, you know, taken care of and in a situation like that one is usually a little rugged. In order to assert myself, I would act somewhat aggressive.

E. ERIKSON: But don’t you think that as the youngest you were also very important to all of them and that they made you feel important? I would assume that this was so, in spite of the fact that the youngest always feels oppressed because the others are so big.

NEWTON: Well, I felt loved by everyone in the family. Not necessarily important, but loved.

E. ERIKSON: Was it clear from the outset—obviously it became clear later—that you were going to be the last child also? How old was your mother when you were born?

NEWTON: Well she was fourteen when she was married. She must have been around twenty-nine when I was born. Maybe thirty or thirty-two.

E. ERIKSON: And how about that move west to Oakland? Oakland seems important to me somehow, but I can’t figure out why.

NEWTON: You know, I didn’t leave Oakland until after I got out of prison except for two trips to Los Angeles. I didn’t leave for the whole twenty-five years. I came here when I was one or two years old.

E. ERIKSON: Do you think Oakland has something to do with all of this? Oakland and the west?

NEWTON: As a social scientist I would say that wherever we are there is a definite influence on us, and what we have to do is find out the difference between one area and another.

E. ERIKSON: Well, you probably know what I’m driving at. I have been impressed, as I said more than once, that there seems to be a strong western influence in the Black Panther image.

BLAKE: I was just thinking about the time the idea of intercommunism came into the picture. I remember coming over to your place, Huey, and you started talking about intercommunism; and I was very surprised, honestly that I have rarely seen you as excited as you were then.

You told us it was a vision; but if you look at it in terms of...

TOWARD THE UNITED FRONT

Involves a conscious reaching for the relevant, the extensive, and especially, in our case, the reconcilable.

Throughout the centralizing authoritarian process of American history, the ruling classes have found it necessary to discourage and punish any genuine opposition to hierarchy. But there have always been individuals and groups who rejected the ideal of two unequal societies, existing one on top of the other. The men who placed themselves above the rest of society through guile, fortuitous outcome of circumstance and sheer brutality have developed two principal institutions to deal with any and all serious disobedience—the prison and institutionalized racism.

There are more prisons of all categories in the United States than in all other countries of the world combined. At all times there are two-thirds of a million people or more confined to these prisons. Hundreds are destined to be legally executed, thousands more quasi-legally. Other thousands will never again have any freedom of movement barring a revolutionary change in all the institutions that combine to make up the order of things.

One-third of a million people may not seem like a great number compared to the total population of two hundred million. However, compared with the one million who are responsible for all the affairs of men within the extended state, it is striking contrast. What I want to explore now are a few of the subtle elements that I have observed to be standing in the path of a much needed united front (nonsectarian) to effectively reverse this legitimized rip-off.

Prisons were not institutionalized on such a massive scale by the people. Most people realize that crime is simply the result of a grossly disproportionate distribution of wealth and privilege, a reflection of the present state of property relations. There are no wealthy men on death row, and so few in the general prison population that we can discount them altogether. Imprisonment is an aspect of class struggle from the outset. It is the creation of a closed society which attempts to isolate those individuals who disregard the structures of a hierarchical establishment as well as those who attempt to challenge it on a mass basis.

Throughout its history, the United States has used its prisons to suppress any organized efforts to challenge its legitimacy—from its attempts to break up the early Working Men’s Benevolent Association to the banning of the Communist Party during what I regard as the fascist takeover of this country, to the attempts to destroy the Black Panther Party.

The hypocrisy of American fascism forces it to conceal its attack on political offenders by the legal fiction of conspiracy laws and highly sophisticated frame-ups. The masses must be taught to understand the true function of prisons. Why do they exist in such numbers? What is the real underlying economic motive of crime and the official definition of types of offenders or victims? The people must learn that when one "offers" the totalitarian state it is patently not an offense against the people of that state, but an assault upon the privilege of the privileged few.

Could anything be more ridiculous than the language of blatant political indictment: "The People of the State...vs. Angela Davis and Russell Magee" or "The People of the State...vs. Bobby Seale and Ericka Huggins." What people? Clearly the hierarchy, the armed minority.

We must educate the people in the real causes of economic crimes. They must be made to realize that even crimes of passion are the psycho-social effects of an economic order that was decedent a hundred years ago. All crime can be traced to objective socio-economic conditions—socially productive or counterproductive activity. In all cases, it is determined by the economic system, the method of economic organization. "The People of the State...vs. John Doe" is as tenous as the clearly political frame-ups. It is like stating "The People vs. The People." Man against himself. Official definitions of crime are simply attempts by the establishment to suppress the forces of progress.

Prisons must be reached and made to understand that they are victims of social injustice. This is my task working from within (while I’m here, my persuasion is that the war goes on no matter where one may find himself on bourgeois-dominated soil). The sheer numbers of the prisoner class make the question of their existence make them a mighty reservoir of revolutionary potential. Working along and from within a steel-enclosed society, there is... very little that people like myself can do to awaken the restrained potential revolutionary outside the walls. That is part of the task of the "Prison Movement." The "Prison Movement" the August 7th movement and all similar efforts educate the people in the illegitimacy of establishment power and hint at the ultimate goal of revolutionary consciousness at every level of struggle. The goal is always the same: the creation of an infrastructure capable of fielding a people's army. Each of us should understand that revolution is aggressive. The manipulators of the system cannot or will not meet our legitimate demands. Eventually this will move us all into a violent encounter with the system. These are the terminal years of capitalism, and as we move into more and more basic challenges to its rule, history clearly forewarns us that when the prestige of power fails a violent episode precedes its transformation.

We can attempt to limit the scope and range of violence in revolution by mobilizing as many partisans as possible at every level of socio-economic life. But given the hold that the ruling class has on this country, and its history of violence, nothing could be more certain than civil disorders, perhaps even civil war. I don't dread either. There are no good aspects of monopoly capital, so no reservations need be recognized in its destruction. Monopoly capital is the enemy. It crushes the life force of all of us. It must be completely destroyed, as quickly as possible, utterly, totally, ruthlessly, relentlessly destroyed.

With this as a common major goal, it would seem that anti-establishment forces would find little difficulty in developing common initiatives and methods consistent with the goals of mass potency. Regrettably, this has not been the case. Only the prison movement has shown any promise of cutting across the ideological, racial and cultural barricades that have blocked the natural coalition of left-wing forces at all times in the past.

So this movement must be used to provide an example for the partisans engaged at other levels of struggle. The issues involved and the dialectic which flows from an understanding of the clear objective existence of overt oppression could be the springboard for our entry into the tide of increasing world-wide socialist consciousness.

In order to create a united left, whose aim is the defense of political prisoners and prisoners in general, we must renounce the idea that all participants must be of one mind, and should work at the problem from a single party line or with a single party line or with a single method. The reverse of this is actually desirable. From all according to ability.

Each partisan, outside the vanguard elements, should work at radicalizing in the area of their natural environment, the places where they pursue their normal lives when not attending the rallies and demonstrations. The vanguard elements (organized party workers of all ideological persuasions) should go among the people concentrated at the rallying point with consciousness-raising strategy, promoting commitment and providing concrete, clearly defined activity. The vanguard elements must search out people who can and will contribute to the building of the commune, the infrastructure, infrastructure, with pen and clipboard in hand. For those who aren't ready to take that step, a "packet" of pamphlets should be provided for their education.

All of this, of course, means that we are moving, and on a mass level: Not all in our separate directions—but firmly under the disciplined and principled leadership of the Vanguard Black Panther Communist Party: One simply cannot act without a head. Democratic centralism is the only way to deal effectively with the American ordeal. The central committee of the people's vanguard party must make its presence felt throughout the various levels of the overall movement.

With the example of unity in the prison movement, we can begin to break the old behavioral patterns that have repeatedly allowed bourgeois capitalism, its imperialism and fascism, to triumph over the last several decades. We tap a massive potential reservoir of partisans for cadre work. We make it possible to begin to address one of the most complex psycho-social by-products that economic man with his private enterprise has manufactured—Racism. We have saved this most critical barrier to our needs of unity for last. Racism is a matter of ingrained traditional attitudes conditioned through institutions. For some, it is as natural a reflex as breathing. The psycho-social effects of segregated environments compounded by bitter-class repression have served in the past to render the progressive movement almost totally impotent. The main obstacle to a united left in this country is White racism. There are three categories of White racists: the overt, self-satisfied racist who doesn't attempt to hide his antipathy; the self-interdicting racist who harbors and nurtures racism in spite of his best efforts; and the unconscious racist, who has no idea at all that he is a racist.

I deny the existence of Black racism outright, by fiat I deny it. Too much Black blood has flowed between the chasm that separates the races. It's fundamentally unfair to expect the Black man to differentiate at a glance between the various kinds of White racism. What the apologists for the term Black racism is either a healthy defense reflex on the part of the sincere Black partisan who is attempting to deal with the realistic problems of survival and elevation, or the racism of the government stooge organs.

As Black partisans, we must recognize and allow for the existence of all three types of racists. We must understand their presence as an effect of the system. It is the system that must be crushed, for it continues to manufacture new and deeper contradictions of both class and race. Once it is destroyed, we may be able to address the problems of racism at an even more basic level. But we must also continue to allow for the way we are in the process of destroying the system.

The self-interdicting racist, no matter what his acquired conviction or ideology, will seldom be able to contribute with his actions in any really concrete way. His role in revolution, barring a change of basic character, will be minimal. Throughout the apologetic term Black racism character of a man can be changed at all is still a question. But...we have in the immediacy of the "Issues in Question" the perfect opportunity to test the validity of materialist philosophy again, because we don't have to guess, we have the means of proof.

The need for unitarian conduct goes much deeper. In the lives of Angela Davis, Ericka, Maren, Lea Siete, Tijerina, White draft-resisters, and now the indomitable and faithful James Carr. We have fundamental strategy to be proved—tested and proved. The activity surrounding the protection and liberation of people who fight for us is an important aspect of the struggle. But it is important only if it provides new initiatives that redirect and advance the revolution under new progressive methods.

There must be a collective reeducation of the old-guard—the factory and union agitator—with the campus activist who can counter the ill-effects of fascism at its training site, and the lumpenproletariat intellectuals who possess revolutionary scientific-socialist attitudes to deal with the masses of street people already living outside the system. They must work toward developing the unity of the pamphlet and the silenced pistol. Black, brown and white are all victims together.

At the end of this massive collective struggle, we will uncover our new man, the unpredictable culmination of the revolutionary process. He will be better equipped to wage the real struggle, the permanent struggle after the revolution—the one for new relationships between men.
THE BLACK PANTHER PARTY
PLATFORM
MARCH 29, 1972 PROGRAM
WHAT WE WANT, WHAT WE BELIEVE

1. WE WANT FREEDOM. WE WANT POWER TO DETERMINE THE DESTINY OF OUR BLACK AND OPPRESSED COMMUNITIES.
We believe that Black and oppressed people will not be free until we are able to determine our destinies in our own communities ourselves, by fully controlling all the institutions which exist in our communities.

2. WE WANT FULL EMPLOYMENT FOR OUR PEOPLE.
We believe that the federal government is responsible and obligated to give every person employment or a guaranteed income. We believe that if the American business community and the technology and means of production should be taken from the community so that the people of the community can organize and employ all of its people and give a high standard of living.

3. WE WANT AN END TO THE ROBBERY BY THE CAPITALIST OF OUR BLACK AND OPPRESSED COMMUNITIES.
We believe that this racist government has robbed us and now we are demanding the overdue debt of forty acres and two mules. Forty acres and two mules were promised 100 years ago as restitution for slavery and mass murder of Black people. We will accept the payment in currency which will be distributed to our many communities. The American racist has taken part in the slaughter of over fifty million Black people. Therefore, we feel this is a modest demand that we make.

4. WE WANT DECENT HOUSING, FIT FOR THE SHELTER OF HUMAN BEINGS.
We believe that if the landlords will not give decent housing to our Black and oppressed communities, then the housing and the land should be made into cooperatives so that the people in our communities, with government aid, can build and make decent housing for the people.

5. WE WANT EDUCATION FOR OUR PEOPLE THAT EXPOSES THE TRUE NATURE OF THIS DECADENT AMERICAN SOCIETY. WE WANT EDUCATION THAT TEACHES US OUR TRUE HISTORY AND OUR ROLE IN THE PRESENT-DAY SOCIETY.
We believe in an educational system that will give to our people a knowledge of self. If you do not have knowledge of yourself and your position in the society and the world, then you will have little chance to know anything else.

6. WE WANT COMPLETELY FREE HEALTH CARE FOR ALL BLACK AND OPPRESSED PEOPLE.
We believe that the government must provide, free of charge, for the people, health facilities which will not only treat our illness, most of which have come about as a result of our oppression, but which will also develop preventative medical programs to guarantee our future survival. We believe that mass health education and research programs must be developed to give all Black and oppressed people access to advanced scientific and medical information, so we may provide ourselves with proper medical attention and care.

7. WE WANT AN IMMEDIATE END TO POLICE BRUTALITY AND MURDER OF BLACK PEOPLE; OTHER PEOPLE OF COLOR, ALL OPPRESSED PEOPLE INSIDE THE UNITED STATES.
We believe that the racist and fascist government of the United States uses its domestic enforcement agencies to carry out its program of oppression against Black people, other people of color and poor people inside the United States. We believe it is our right, therefore, to defend ourselves against such armed forces, and that all Black and oppressed people should be armed for self-defense of our homes and communities against these fascist police forces.

8. WE WANT AN IMMEDIATE END TO ALL WARS OF AGGRESSION.
We believe that the various conflicts which exist around the world stem directly from the aggressive desires of the U.S. ruling circle and government to force its domination upon the oppressed people of the world. We believe that if the U.S. government or its lackeys do not cease these aggressive wars that it is the right of the people to defend themselves by any means necessary against their aggressors.

9. WE WANT FREEDOM FOR ALL BLACK AND POOR OPPRESSED PEOPLE NOW HELD IN U.S. FEDERAL, STATE, COUNTY, CITY AND MILITARY PRISONS AND JAILS. WE WANT TRIALS BY A JURY OF PEERS FOR ALL PERSONS CHARGED WITH SO-CALLED CRIMES UNDER THE LAWS OF THIS COUNTRY.
We believe that the many Black and poor oppressed people now held in U.S. prisons and jails have not received fair and impartial trials under a racist and fascist judicial system and should be free from incarceration. We believe in the ultimate elimination of all wretched, inhuman penal institutions, because the masses of men and women imprisoned inside the United States by or the U.S. military are the victims of oppressive conditions which are the real cause of their imprisonment. We believe that when persons are brought to trial that they must be guaranteed, by the United States, juries of their peers, attorneys of their choice and freedom from imprisonment while awaiting trials.

10. WE WANT LAND, BREAD, HOUSING, EDUCATION, CLOTHING, JUSTICE AND PEOPLES' COMMUNITY CONTROL OF MODERN TECHNOLOGY.
When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the cause which impels them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such a way as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed.

When a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security.
GUINEA-BISSAU LEADERS: "SPINOLA A FASCIST"

The present and prior leaders of the liberation movement in Guinea-Bissau have stated that recent Portuguese coup leader, General Antonio de Spinola is no less a fascist than deposed dictator Marcello Caetano and that the only difference between the two lies in Spinola's realization of the impossibility of a Portuguese military victory in Guinea-Bissau.

In a March 28, 1974, interview in Revolution Africaine, Aristides Pereira, current General-Secretary of the African Party for the Liberation of Guinea-Bissau and the Cape Verde Islands (PAIGC), said that although Spinola realizes the impossibility of a military victory, "any alternative Spinola chooses could not further our cause, but only serve the interest of the Portuguese.'"

Spinola led his coup on a proposed formula for "peace" in Portugal's African colonies, consisting of the creation of a federation in which Mozambique, Angola and Guinea-Bissau would have "equal status with metropolitan Portugal."

Understanding the futility of seeking a military victory, Spinola, while he was governor of Guinea-Bissau, attempted to implement his own "nonmilitary" solution to the Portuguese dilemma in Guinea-Bissau: the assassination in January, 1973, of PAIGC founder and leader Amilcar Cabral.

An interview with Brother Cabral published in Tricontinental in January, 1973, just before his death, reveals the fascism of General de Spinola. Said Cabral, "Spinola was trained in Nazi military schools during the Hitlerian period in Germany."

TALKS OPEN BETWEEN PORTUGAL AND P.A.I.G.C.

FREEDOM FIGHTERS MAINTAIN DEMAND FOR TOTAL INDEPENDENCE

(London, England) - Talks opened last week here between official representatives of the African Party for the Independence of Guinea-Bissau and the Cape Verde Islands (PAIGC) and a delegation representing the new regime in Portugal.

Officially, the talks aim at an agreement on a cease-fire in the 11-year-old war of independence waged by the PAIGC against Portuguese colonialism. However, the PAIGC has officially declared that any contact with the Portuguese government must be on the basis of the total and complete independence of Guinea-Bissau.

Only days after the coup in Portugal that overthrew the fascist regime of Marcello Caetano and placed General Antonio de Spinola in command, the PAIGC issued a statement from Conacry, Republic of Guinea, declaring: "We will continue our struggle for the complete and total independence of the Republic of Guinea-Bissau." In secret contacts between representatives of Spinola and of the PAIGC last week, agreement was reached to hold the talks that began here last week on the ceasefire.

Such an agreement must mean that the Spinola government representatives have accepted, at least in principle, the immediate independence of Guinea-Bissau and recognition of the Republic of Guinea-Bissau.

The Republic of Guinea-Bissau was proclaimed last September by representatives of regions covering some four-fifths of the territory of Guinea-Bissau. Eighty-five countries of the world have recognized the Republic of Guinea-Bissau, and several recently exchanged diplomatic representation with the newest African independent country.

Guinea-Bissau is the smallest (14,000 square miles) of the three African territories claimed by Portugal, which includes Angola and Mozambique. Guinea-Bissau is inhabited by only 600,000 Blacks and some 20,000 Whites. The Whites live in the coastal town of Bissau, still occupied by Portuguese troops and administered by the dwindling Portuguese administration.

Guinea-Bissau is also the poorest of the Portuguese possessions in Africa, containing little in the way of natural resources in sustaining itself on its agricultural production, oil and hides. Consequently, the granting of independence to Guinea-Bissau by Portugal will represent little or no loss to the Portuguese empire, but is probably going to be made to appear a great and generous act by the new regime in order to deflect and delay the granting of complete independence to the giants, Mozambique and Angola.

Mozambique has some 8,300,000 inhabitants and covers an area of 302,458 square miles. In addition to producing a great variety of agricultural products, Mozambique has major deposits of gold, coal, graphite, mica and timber.

6,000,000 PEOPLE

Angola has some six million people and covers an area of 481,560 square miles. Its agricultural products include coffee, cotton, corn, rice, sisal, sugar cane and palm oils. Its mineral deposits include large reserves of diamonds, iron ore and graphite. In addition, manufacturing is carried out in Angola of tobacco, textiles, food processing and fish meal.

The liberation movements of both Mozambique and Angola have demanded immediate, total and complete independence and have pledged to continue their wars of liberation until victory.

ROSENBERG CASE REOPENED

(New York, N.Y.) - A committee to reopen the Rosenberg case, composed of persons who charge that Ethel and Julius Rosenberg were unjustly convicted and executed for Soviet espionage in 1951, is being formed in New York. The committee has branches in Washington, D.C., Los Angeles and Ann Arbor, Michigan, said its organizer, Mrs. Margery Rosenberg.
ZAMBIA'S KAUNDA DISCUSSES RECENT TRIP TO CHINA

Zambia's growing ties with the East are indicative of a bright future for this progressive country in East Africa. In the following interview, reprinted from Africa magazine, Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda described some of the implications and results of his recent trip to the People's Republic of China and a number of other Asian countries. Part one of the interview follows.

AFRICA: Your Excellency, you have just come back from China and we have been following in the press how you were received by the Chinese leaders and your meeting with Chairman Mao. Would you like to say something about this?

KAUNDA: Well, really, this was a fantastic reception. It shows clearly how deeply the Chinese leaders and people feel about Zambia and the role you people in this country are playing in the revolutionary movement in the whole of Africa. I think this is the reason why the Chinese feel so warm towards Zambians. And also, of course, in terms of our own policies at home. I think the Chinese appreciate what we are trying to do within the country, especially for the masses of our peasants and workers alike. I would say this is what moves them.

AFRICA: If we now come to the trip itself, how do you think the trip is going to benefit Zambia?

KAUNDA: Well, there is no doubt at all, this trip is going to benefit the country. To begin with, there is the question of the loan, interest-free, that the Chinese government has given to the Zambian government and people. This is $50 million (US). It is not a small amount of money. We don't start repaying this loan until after ten years, and even after that, if we are not ready, our Chinese friends are still willing to extend the time when we should start repaying it.

This is a very favorable loan, indeed. Man shall not live by bread alone, applies here as well. One is not appreciating the loans that the Chinese government and people are giving to Zambia and other countries only, but one also very much appreciates the depth of understanding and support of our cause in Africa, which is the cause of the masses on the continent.

Further, one learns from the Chinese people their system of bringing up everybody through their people's own efforts. In other words, through the spirit of self-reliance on the part of each and every Chinese, Chinese leaders are bringing up the masses of the people in terms of standards of living.

I think this is a very important lesson for all of us on this continent of Africa. Therefore, from that side alone, the fact that the exploitation of man by man is absent in China, or at least the fight against it, as you know, has progressed so much, is a very, very good lesson for us on the African continent. This is how I see it.

AFRICA: Your Excellency, what is left for China you have a high-powered delegation of 52 besides yourself. When you returned some of them remained behind. What was the purpose of those who remained and what has been the outcome of their stay?

KAUNDA: Well, of those who remained behind some are back already and others have not as yet returned. They were in different groups. Mrs. Kaunda led the group of mothers from the women's wing of our movement at Freedom House. What they did was to look at the women's organizations as well as the youth organizations. This they have done.

They have reported to me already as well as to the Central Committee, and now they are preparing written reports of their experiences. The others that remained behind were those led by the Honorable Minister of Rural Development, Comrade Paul Lusaka, and the other one by the Honorable Minister of Commerce, Comrade Rajah Kunda.

They had two different functions. The one led by Comrade Lusaka was obviously looking at the rural reconstruction program and the other one was dealing with trade matters.

Zambia's President KENNETH KAUNDA being received by Chinese Prime Minister CHOU EN LAI, on his recent visit to China. During the visit the Chinese government pledged a $50 million loan to Kaunda's government. China has been a generous source of financial and political aid to this developing African nation.

There was still another group from our Party Headquarters led by Comrade Dr. Mmboelho. Dr. Mmboelho is our research man. They were looking at the Party organization as such. And what the Chinese is, I think important for all to remember that we Zambians have always said and we are ready to learn from anyone who has something to offer, provided what we are learning is based on our philosophy of humanism, and I believe there is a lot to learn from other people. There is a lot that we have in common with the Chinese people in so far as the fighting against the exploitation of man by man is concerned.

The Chinese people have already been asking what are perhaps inconvenient questions, whether when the delegations come back there will be specific programs of implementing what the various groups have learned so far. For our part, the government and agencies can have something specific to do as a follow-up.

KAUNDA: Under our developed democratic system it is both important and understandable that you comrades in the press should be realistic about this. But on the other hand we want to be as thorough as possible. Whatever we learn from other people we want first of all to digest and only after that do we come out and make use of it—make it our own. In that we are efficient. Now I am afraid it takes a bit of time.

AFRICA: Your Excellency, if we may now come to the question of the Chinese themselves. One hears much comment from certain quarters, including some of the press, about China being too friendly with the Chinese and maybe China becoming a replica of China. To what extent have

ZANZIBAR

Africa's first color television service is now on the air in Zanzibar. This island republic, unified with Tanzania, decided that since it was beginning in television, it would skip over monochrome (black and white) television and go directly into color, avoiding what would have become a necessary changeover in time if black and white television had originally been installed. "Zanzibar TV concentrates on education and social study programming. The government bought TV sets in bulk and is now selling them to the public on a nonprofit-making basis through interest-free loans.

SOUTH AFRICA

The Tanzanian Daily News reports that the government of South Africa may censor domestic press reports about South African military operations in neighboring countries. Deputy Justice Minister James Kruger said in an interview that if newspapers carried reports which the government believes should have been better left unpublished, the government would have to act.

SOUTH AFRICA

The South African Students Organization (SASO) has taken a decision to establish a Black Workers Council (BWC) to fill the gap brought about by the creation of a united trade union. The creation of the council is designed to give the Black workers the possibility of speaking in a united voice in respect to those matters they regard as essential to their survival and salvation.

TAN/ZAM RAILWAY

The Tanzania/Zambia railway, built with Chinese financial assistance and export and labor cooperation, will be completed by September, two years ahead of schedule. Timothy Kankassa, Zambian Minister of State for Power, Transport and Works, predicted recently.

CONGRESS ASKED TO END U.S. SUGAR QUOTA TO S. AFRICA

(New York, N.Y.) - The American Committee on Africa (ACOA) has called on Congress to defeat the House of Representatives Sugar Act Extension Bill of 1974. This bill, according to an ACOA report, "allocates a guaranteed and preferred U.S. market to South Africa, the only nation in the world which legally sanctions and strongly enforces racial discrimination and persecution..."

The ACOA report declares that the bill violates Section 1912 of Title 22 of the U.S. Code, which states: "Congress...declares that any distinction made by foreign nations between American citizens because of race, color, or religion in the granting of, or the exercise of, personal or other rights available to American citizens is repugnant to our principles."

South Africa has been receiving a guaranteed sugar quota from the U.S. since 1962 and is asking for both an extension and increase of its quota—50,000 tons in 1973 and not less than 70,000 requested for 1974.

Sugar is South Africa's second largest industry and involves more than 130,000 people in the growing and refining of sugar cane. About 98 percent of the 131,970 agricultural workers are Chinese or Indian. Figures provided by the South African Sugar Association show that the average cash wage for field workers in 1974 was 80.64 a day.

FACT-SHEET

An ACOA fact sheet, entitled "U.S. Quota for South Africa's Sugar—A Bittersweet Connection," states that countries which are granted quotas under the U.S. Sugar Act are supposed to meet a set of criteria, three of which apply to South Africa. These three criteria are:

1. "Friendly government to government relations, including non-discrimination against U.S. citizens in the quota country and indemnification [compensation for loss] for property owned by U.S. citizens in cases of expropriation."

South Africa clearly violates this just criteria. Visas have been repeatedly denied to Congressmen Charles Diggs, Black legislator from Michigan, and until recently, Black tennis star Arthur Ashe. Black American visitors do not enjoy free movement within the country.

2. "Need in the country for a premium priced market in the U.S. including export stage and need for economic development."

The U.S. market's actual share in the total export of South African sugar is only a little more than seven percent. The value of this trade is less than one tenth of the foreign exchange earned from the sale of sugar overseas. CONTINUED ON PAGE 22
Assassinated leader of the P.A.G.C., AMILCAR CABRAL, leading a squad of Guinean revolutionaries. Portugal's General de Spinola was responsible for the assassination of Cabral, as well as countless other atrocities against the people of Guinea-Bissau.

"SPINOLA A FASCIST"

Even in Portugal, Spinola was the prime mover behind the National Republican Guard, probably the most savage instrument of fascist repression that Salazar (Portuguese dictator from 1926 to 1966) invented for use against the workers, and especially the peasants.

"Spinola is responsible for the death of many Portuguese workers — both in the cities and in nonurban areas. Later he became chief of the motorized cavalry, a post in which he proved to be a champion for colonialism, committing crimes in northern Angola where his tanks destroyed hundreds of villages."

"After General Salazar failed to wipe out our renowned army, the PAIGC forces, the military government of Guinea-Bissau was offered to Spinola, who promised to finish us off within six months. He then spoke of two years, and when four years had gone by, Spinola declared that the battle was over. Meanwhile, we had attacked all of the cities in the country, finally reaching the capital, Bissau, and its airport. Our ambushes had become more and more destructive whenever Portuguese vehicles were still circulating..."

"There is not a single military leader in Portugal who wants Spinola's job... This explains why a second term as governor of Guinea-Bissau was given to Spinola, who now plans to physically wipe out the leaders of our party, and in particular myself, and to sabotage the party from the inside..."

"Spinola is part of a group of extreme right-wing Portuguese officers, racist and fascist officers, with designs on the leadership of Portugal..."

the Chinese influenced the thinking of the Zambian government and the programs of the Zambian people?

KAUNDA: I am not surprised at all. People are saying that Zambia was going to be a replica of China. Some people will continue to think that way, especially those who do not understand what Zambia is or what Zambia is trying to do.

Now, first of all, the Chinese leaders and people, I believe, have respect for Zambia because of her independence of mind. The Chinese are very independent themselves, and they do not like to imitate their ideas on others. In other words, as I said the other night when I arrived here, the Chinese people are sincerely fulfilling what should really be fulfilled by Christians, the people who profess the Christian message — the Christian Gospel.

SOUTH VIETNAM

(Paris, France) - The economic depression crippling the Saigon-controlled areas of South Vietnam has reached critical proportions, according to Patrick De Beer, correspondent for the French daily Le Monde. De Beer said that there are reports of widespread starvation and malnutrition, especially in the central highlands, and unemployment and inflation — which officially say caused 65 per cent increase in prices last year — have driven desperate people to robbery and suicide.

ARGENTINA

(Buenos Aires, Argentina) - Thousands of people attended the funeral on May 13 of the nation's leading radical priest, Carlos Mujica, who was murdered two weeks earlier by machinergs of the Montoneros, the Peronist Youth, and other left organizations denounced the murder of Mujica as the work of right-wing terrorists who have killed several other prominent leftist leaders in the past few months.

PUERTO RICO

(Santo Domingo, Puerto Rico) - Puerto Rico's Governor Rafael Hernandez Colon is pressing the Nixon administration for "needed revisions" in the Caribbean island's Commonwealth status, but Congress reportedly is not very receptive to the idea. In testimony last month before the President's Advisory Committee on Puerto Rico, the governor proposed that all federal legislation should automatically exclude Puerto Ricans unless it is specifically written into the bill. At present, it works the other way.

DUKE ELLINGTON: JAZZ IMMORTAL

DIED: MAY 24, 1974

Duke Ellington, the Black master of American jazz and contemporary music, has passed on, leaving behind a dazzling legacy which will resound forever throughout American music and in the minds of jazz lovers around the world.

The Duke gave a special elegance to Black jazz, a world renowned sophistication through his brilliant synthesizing of jazz, the essence of classical composition and that unequalled musical quality which is, as The Duke himself said, "beyond category." Reigning as the undisputed master of jazz composition for more than two generations, Duke Ellington orchestrated Black jazz into an unrivaled sound, which he and his orchestra of hand-picked jazz greats demonstrated from the ghetto-based Cotton Club of Harlem to the most prestigious stage of Carnegie Hall. The Duke lives on with us in musical immortality.

those moments of reflection and emotion with an irresistible blues/gospel beat.

What Time magazine’s Richard Schickel calls “tissues-of-stereotypes” of Diahann Carroll and a “single-line stereotype” of James Earl Jones, in a viciously racist review of Claudine (Time, May 20, 1974), are in fact, the elements of this film which give it its guts, its strength.

Mr. Schickel’s annoyance with Claudine arises out of his resentment at the portrayal of poor Black people on welfare, “cheating,” laughing, giving parties, and making love on what he feels himself into believing is his money.

A brilliant touch was the heartbreaking admission of the youngest son of Claudine that he wanted to be invisible when he grew up, a devastating expression of the effects of growing up Black on Black children in America.

On the other hand, the act of the eldest son of Claudine, the organized and dedicated militant, of having himself sterilized, is a particularly inadvisable association of militancy with willful self (Black) destruction. It suggests acceptance by the 18-year-old of the racist stereotype of the Black stud who cannot control his desire to lay with a woman. Roop had earlier and forcibly in conversation with Claudine and the social worker from the welfare department, destroyed this stereotype.

So drastic and unreal a repetition of the castration symbolism was unnecessary.

It appears that this episode was included to compensate for Claudine’s six children and her 16-year-old daughter’s accidental pregnancy. But the act violates the deep and abiding love, affection and desire for children characteristic of Black life.

Claudine is the first effort of Third World Cinema, a group that describes itself as “a minority owned and operated company with the dual purpose of making feature films that combine broad commercial appeal with pertinence to minority groups, and training minority group members for jobs in the communications industries.”

On the whole it is a successful first effort. Go see Claudine. You’ll enjoy it, but you’ll also see, and maybe more correctly, feel its flaws. Perhaps some of these flaws were inevitable in a first such effort. A powerful humanity thongs just below the surface of Claudine.

"THE BLACK SUPERSTAR--VICTIM OR EXPLOITER?"

PART ONE

The following article, "The Black Superstar--Victim or Exploiter?" written by Brother Paul Hock, a professor in the sociology of sports at Dawson College in Canada and a frequent contributor to our sports page, asks a timely and thought-provoking question. The political arena in which Black athletes perform is highly complex. As employees of the White establishment, which controls professional sports, Black athletes, however skilled and revered they may be, are ultimately victimized by the same forces which oppress all Black and poor people in this country.

Yet, as Brother Hock points out, the few Black athletes that make it big, the Black superstars, have a decided tendency to forget and neglect the Black communities from whence they came, subtly contributing to the exploitation of our communities by those in control.

Paul Hock states that Black superstars like Milt Chamberlain, Willie Mays (left) and Hank Aaron (right) have often allowed their inflated salaries to be used as a carrot to lure the Black community down the trail to nowhere, under the mistaken notion that the big salaries earned by a few Black superstars means that, in America, any Black has a fair chance of making it.

Brionne and Jimmy Jones are a fair shot at that position. A Black player's strike led by superstars like Willie Mays and Ken Aaron might long ago have obtained several Black managers in baseball. Bigtime basketball is even more vulnerable to the unified collective actions of Black player caucuses. And yet so far it hasn't happened. One reason is that the Black player has only officially arrived in professional sport only in the last ten or twenty years, and is only now beginning to feel has collective strength. On the other hand, an important stumbling block to the development of a collective Black identity in sports has been the highly reactionary, rip-off-oriented values of professional sports itself.

The emphasis on each individual player competing against every other player to strike it rich, and the rip-off mentality this kind of competition spawns, has certainly not added to the cause of Black unity in sports. Then, too, the dichotomy between players and fans has tended to cut the Black player off from the Black community, and has even contributed to a division where, it may be argued, that the Black player is often ripping off the Black community.

WHITE OWNERS

There is no doubt that one reason why White sports owners were willing to welcome the Black athlete into professional sports (and pay some of them high salaries) was the possibility of attracting, and ripping off, an increasing number of Black fans attracted to the games by their own Black heroes. Unfortunately, as the Black community was encouraged to cheer those (few) of their kids who were allowed to 'make it' in professional sports (as employees of White owners), the Black community was all too-often successfully diverted from the more pressing concerns of economic equality and the Black liberation struggle. Black superstars became the gladiators of the Black community, often dishing out a modern form of bread and circuses for the Black and White community.

Furthermore, Black superstars like Milt Chamberlain and Willie Mays and Ken Aaron have often allowed their inflated salaries to be used as a carrot to lead the Black community down the trail to nowhere, under the mistaken notion that the big salaries earned by a few Black superstars means that, in America, any Black has a fair chance of making it.

Letters to the Editor

Greeting Comrades,

Greetings from the 'Real Babylon.' Well, Brothers and Sisters, I've stopped off into one of the highest degrees of incorporation known to man. I had no idea that this type of confinement existed in this country.

There is one great drawback for us, the Black inmates of this southern plantation prison system, and that is we're unable to get any type of reading material that will elevate our political consciousness. Due to court order (Federal) we are allowed to receive newspapers, etc.

I must comment on a letter to the paper in the March 16th issue of the BLACK PANTHER. Brother Oscar Moses stated in part that: "...the Black Panther Party paper is...helping to intensify our struggle behind these walls..."...Bro. Ocas is in lock-up at Mt. Meigs, and from my personal view and from meeting a couple of Brothers in the system, it seems that the real Black Brothers here in Alabama that are involved are the Brothers in lock-up...

(Lock-up here is the Adjustment Center at Sun Quinn in 4a and 4b.)

As for the majority of Brothers here at Holmes, the TV is all they want to do, not to mention the homosexual thing and the gay gene. One guard to another late at night during count finds two socalled men in the same bed. "Don't bother them, that's the best way to control them. Baby, yes, this is reality..."

As for the Blacks (Negroes) here have a compromise with the diabolical dogs. The guards let this parasite grow and these Negroes continue to watch TV and sleep together. As for the Brothers in lock-up, my love goes out to them. I hope they continue to struggle and educate the Cadres in lock-up. As for the Negroes in the Alabama prison system, it's going to be one of the hardest fought struggles in the world. It is not only the struggle for the better, but the peace guards want to make sure that our minds are kept in a muzzled state of being.

In this respect, the question is, what will overcome the opponents? Who will win out? We must become a better defensive body, more patient in educating the masses. We must be able to clearly clave the correct path to the oppressed. These Negroes are setting themselves deeper into this compromising, this oppression that has fallen upon the Blackman here in the depths of North America.

Please give my love to the Brothers and Sisters in the Party. I am sure they will continue to struggle until the day of the Armageddon.

All Power to the People
Sherman (Stanley Haff)
Mt. Meigs, Ala.

Dear Brothers & Sisters: Greetings!

I am writing this letter to inform you that I have been transferred from Springfield (the U.S. Medical Center) back to Leavenworth, and I would love to continue receiving your newspaper, Black Power.

Also, I would like to say when I was transferred, I was sent to Winnetka at Springfield and it's a darn shame the way they treated the dogs-

Shouting "Brothers in Bondage!"

Because of my failure to participate in the STAMP, the doctors (especially Albert Shanker) recommended that I be sent back here to the hole for a period of observation before being allowed into the general population. But attorneys Robert M. Austin and Artho C. Saunders of the National Prisoner Project in Washington, D.C., filed a petition in Judge Oliver's court in Kansas City, Kansas.

The judge ordered me released into the general population for a 30-day period, to determine if I could be put in a normal population. While being supervised, receiving neither "good days" nor money in the laundry, I could see the trash factor that "was used" for the STAMP Program operating in the officers' quarters. Before I knew it for a fact that there are at least 25 Brothers in the STAMP unit, and knowing Shanks, he promises a principled behavior modification still exist in 10-D South, U.S. Medical Center, Springfield, Missouri.

At closing, I would like to say that there were quite a number of Brothers working in the laundry at Springfield who are being forced to takeazine and other drugs.

Please feel free to quote me. I have written the truth.

Your Brother in Blackness and Revolution,

Forest G часов

materialistic basis, it was a vision which came as the result of trying to put together a lot of different concepts in some comprehensive way. You were having a pretty hectic life and juggling a lot of them then.

NEWTON: That's right. I was not satisfied with a statement that I was writing to the Vietnamese because there was a contradiction in it. Let me share this with you.

I was telling the Vietnamese that the Party supported their nationalism, their revolutionary nationalism, even though we were not nationalists. We were internationalists and could not be nationalists: no Americans could afford to be nationalists because we are all guilty on one level or another of being the exploiter or accepting the bribe of the exploiter if we are not at war with them. So I said that I do not subscribe to nationalism because it is a thing of the past but that I would support their nationalism nonetheless. I proclaimed all of the Black nationalists in that statement—and, of course, that brought about a bad relationship between our Party and other Black organizations because all of them, even the bourgeois ones, are somewhat nationalists in tone and in goal.

Now if we proclaim nationalism for ourselves and yet support nationalism for those other people, then it seems as though we are belittling them, being traitors to them. So I sent the statement to them, but I was very disappointed and unhappy for about a month. I kept tossing this around in my mind and suppressing it in a way.

Then I woke up one morning with this concept of intercommunism, and it was like a vision: it didn't seem so coldly calculated as when you work out a mathematical problem, which is how I usually handle things intellectually. I just woke up that morning and I had solved the contradiction in my sleep. And I was excited to get it out. I have had the experience in the past of having a dream or vision and then forgetting the damn thing because I didn't get it down. I was anxious to get all of this down in writing so that I could refer to it. And that is the history of that concept.

Therefore, South Africa has no major need to have this favored status and quota.

(3) "Extent to which the benefits of participation in this many are shared by other large landowners with farmers and workers together with the socio-economic policies in the quota countries?"

The COFA fact sheet states: "...neither the agricultural and rural workers, nor the individual grower, the majority of whom are Black, actually participate in or benefit from the premium market which the U.S. quota offers."

Concluding, the COFA fact sheet declares: "South Africa should not have its U.S. sugar quota renewed. Its policies are discriminatory; its sugar industry based on a force of forced labor, and its need for the quota nonexistent."
