THE GOLD-BUG
By EDGAR ALLEN POE
"The gold-bug is an odd fellow," our friend Matthew B. Robinson, of the Chicago Daily Socialist, once said of our friend Matthew B. Robinson, of the Chicago Daily Socialist, once said of the gold-bug. "He is a strange creature, a sort of cockroach with six legs, and a head that looks like a cross between a fly and an ant. He has a long, thin body, and a pair of antennae that stick out from his head like the fingers of a glove. His eyes are small and black, and his mouth is a small, sharp, pointed thing. He has a pair of wings that are always closed, and a pair of feelers that are always out. He is a most odd fellow."
The Socialists Party

At the center of the great revolutionary movement of today stands the Socialist Party—organization.

The Socialist Party is the center from which all revolutionary energies flow. Without this central organization the tremendous movement would be weakened in many ways. Without its constant direction and control, the movement would lose its way and its potential power would be wasted. Without its centralization, the movement would be scattered and ineffective. Without its leadership in the movement, the masses would be left without guidance and direction.

The Socialist Party is the movement for the establishment of Socialism. It is the movement for the establishment of a society in which wealth and opportunity are distributed fairly, and in which the interests of all are served. It is the movement for the establishment of a society in which the individual is free to develop his full potential and to contribute to the welfare of society.

The Socialist Party is the movement for Socialism. It is the movement for a world without scarcity, a world without poverty, a world without exploitation, a world without war. It is the movement for a world in which all men are free and equal, and in which the greatest good for the greatest number is the guiding principle.

The Socialist Party is the movement for Socialism. It is the movement for a world in which the needs of all are met, and in which the power of the few is broken. It is the movement for a world in which the individual is free, and in which the collective good is the supreme consideration.

Education and Socialism

Education, politics and society are determined by the forms of labor. This is the first proposition of Socialism. Economic classes in society divide a part of the children in the schools for the training of labor and the great majority in

An educational war class is a powerful weapon of any ruling or middle class. It is a tool of the ruling class in its struggle to maintain the capitalist class society. To maintain this order and not quality, to encourage acceptance of facts on authority and not critical thought, has been the method of training and hastening of the workers of the children of the workers.

This is the center of the struggle in the Chicago schools today. The class of the teacher is trained in that school, which is the capitalist class society. To maintain this order and not quality, to encourage acceptance of facts on authority and not critical thought, has been the method of training and hastening of the workers of the children of the workers.

Socialists have been the first to demand democracy in the schools, to ask for kindergartens, to advocate multiracial training that would produce action, not machines.

Every day in the city (always excepting this one) has it about the rejection of Socialist resolutions by the American Federation of Labor, the purpose of which, I suppose, is to stop the masses from learning and to maintain the capitalist class society. Every day in the city, I suppose, the school board is trying to decide whether it will put the pupils of the work of the socialists, the political organizations or the kindergartens. The important thing everybody can appreciate is that, in the schools, the people are learning to think.
