THE RECORDING ANGEL

By EDWIN ARNOLD HEINHOLTZ

Chapter I - The First Contact

The recording angel, who in classical lore is said to record the thoughts and actions of all mortal beings, had now taken a new form. He appeared to a group of scientists as a ghostly figure with a vast collection of electronic equipment. The angel had arrived from a distant galaxy, seeking to understand the mind and consciousness of the human race. The scientists were both fascinated and frightened by the angel's presence. They knew that the angel's appearance could have global implications. They agreed to work together to study and communicate with the angel, ensuring that the information was shared responsibly with the rest of the world. The angel had imparted a message, one of enlightenment and the potential for greater understanding and cooperation among beings across the universe.
What Will You Do?
The Chicago Daily Socialist has made itself feared by the most powerful capitalist interest in Chicago. Those same interests have given it their support at any time. They can do this as long as we have no press of our own.
Up to the present time we have been unable to secure any regular contract for press work. Moreover the firm that is now doing the work has recently started in on it that does not desire the job and wishes to quit.

Under these conditions the newspaper may be stopped at any day.

The fight between working class and business interests is getting fiercer in Chicago every day. To carry on the laborer's side of the daily paper is absolutely necessary.

We must have a daily paper if we are to carry on the fight for the Chicago Daily Socialist. The permanence of that paper depends upon obtaining a printing plant at once.

A plant which is capable of turning out 30,000 eight-page papers daily can be secured for a cash payment of $1000.

There is no doubt about the success of this paper with such a price. It is a remarkably small sum to make the expense system of private contract.

The Daily Socialist will be printed with a surplus with ownership of a plant.

We realize that this $1000 cannot be expected as a donation.

We do believe, however, that there are one hundred Socialists who will loan $100 each, to be guaranteed by the plant, subject to the remainder of the purchase money. The cost of the entire plant will not exceed $250. The willingness of the Socialists is worth more for the sake of the Socialists will be the first to help.

It is proposed that these notes draw six per cent interest, and it is the opinion of the board of directors that they all can be paid within eighteen months.

So thoroughly did the directors believe this to be true that they agreed to lend the following sums under this condition:

Stimson Stedman $250
Charles L. Brecken 100
Orto McBryde 100

One reason why it is felt that these loans can be quickly repaid is that this entire operation is not one that it is a job worth enough to utilize the resources of the plant at the utmost.

Party organization and labor unions have already promised enough.

Business to make this a certainty.

This money must be on hand within thirty days, and we must know before that how much can be expected.

Such an opportunity as this has never been offered to the Socialistic side.

Will they grasp it?

WHAT WILL YOU DO?

Harriman, Hill and Rockefeller

In the struggle of financial monarchs for the control of the kingdom of gold, Harriman and Hill are famous names. Harriman, General Harriman, has exercised a financial influence over General Jim Hill and the Standard Oil Company.

More and more becomes evident in the struggle that Harriman is now playing exactly the same part that Morgan was playing a few years ago. He is not the financial giant, the king of industry, that he is commonly supposed to be. He is a financier, not an industrial giant.

The present situation is that Harriman is in control of the Standard Oil Company. Morgan was in control of the Northern Pacific. Harriman's influence is now on the Pacific Coast, Morgan's on the East. Harriman is in control of the Northern Pacific Company, Morgan is in control of the Southern Pacific.

The Standard Oil Company is in control of the Northern Pacific.

It was the Standard Oil Company that merged with the Northern Pacific Company in 1901, and the sale of the Northern Pacific stock is now under review. Harriman, however, is the man who is really paying the salaries of these men.

President Wheeler and the Gamblers

"Don't jump to the conclusion that President Wheeler of the Chicago Telephone Company is getting horses when you hear that he is paying the police to stop the police in stopping race horse gambling by means of the telephone.

For years, law officers have been trying to stop the bookmakers who use the telephone. Wheeler never said a word about it.

With a glance at the grand stand he called on Uhler of Police, Collins and offered to help suppress gambling. He gave a big talk, and the bookmakers took the money and disappeared.

It was the Standard Oil Company that merged with the Northern Pacific Company in 1901, and the sale of the Northern Pacific stock is now under review. Harriman, however, is the man who is really paying the salaries of these men.

General Harriman may be the real beneficiary in such a transaction that the country is in for a great deal of trouble if he is not willing to pay the salaries of these men.

The story of the Chicago School Fight

The story of the school fight gives the Tribune, Daily News and other papers a very bad name. It is a splendid example of a sanctified trash pulp. And judges. Today they believe.

The school fight is a great injustice to the children. It is a great injustice to the teachers. It is a great injustice to the people of Chicago.

The Daily News and the Tribune have been forced to show their capacity to manipulate school property by consulting the school board. The First National Bank has refused to handle the notes of the Chicago Board of Education.
