Now The Middle Class Howls Because Workers Are Spending Too Little

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL

TODAY, "business," big and little, is letting out an awful howl, because it is claimed the people are taking "too literally," the advice of "Cautious Cal" Coolidge, to economize.

The retailers especially, a large mass of small business profiteers, who have put in their spring and summer stocks on a big scale, lament that the buyers have gone on a strike. They are not comforted in the least by the soothing preside patches coming out of Washington, that a misinterpretation has been placed on the utterances of the White House tion has been placed on the utterances of the White Frouse oracle.

There is the straw hat business, for instance, just opening up for the summer months. The merchants complain that, "iff President Coolinge says he is having his straw hat of 1922 pressed once more, instead of buying a new one, nobody else will buy a new one." The clothing profiteers complain that the president's refusal to buy a new Easter suit had the same effect on their business.

This phenomenon is taking on considerable proportions. Senators cand representatives, since congress adjourned, have been back home, and they have heard the kicks of their local business backing. They have not been slow to register the complaints at the White House, while the Washington Rotary Club has been in special session to consider this calamity.

The whole drive will now be to preach "sconomy" in government and not for the individual. As one irate petty bourgeois put it, if the president wants to economizs, let him get rid of his yacht, the Mayflower, kept at government expense, costing at least $100,000 per year. They say that would be real "economy." But there is no danger that Coolinge will do that. He needs his yacht for junketing expeditions down the Potomac River, when so-called "progressive" congressmen are taken along and beaten into line for the administration's policies, which means, for the interests of the big capitalists. The yacht, Mayflower, is worth much more than $100,000 annually to Wall Street, and if it can get the government at Washington to spend that amount, it will prevent a drain on its own loose change.

All of this, however, is but another indication of the bankrupt mind of little business, that tries valinly to solve its harrassing problems.

It vainly strives to find a solution for its difficulties under the capitalist system. The little business man never learns, until bankruptcy or some absorbing monopoly, usually the chain store, plunges him into the ranks of the working class. As an exploited wage siave his eyes are forced open, and he is compelled to see.

The great masses of consumers in the United States are not buying today, not because Coolidge has urged "economy" upon them, but because they haven't the money to buy. In New England the workers are economizing because Coolidge's own campaign manager, the textile multi-millionaire, Butler, has forced wage cuts upon them. They were unable to successfully fight this plundering of their already slender pay envelopes.

The terrible scourge of unemployment that has been visited upon the coal mining fields of the nation, has not only cut the buying power of hundreds of thousands of these workers but laid waste whole cities, as coal miners move en masse hunting jobs in other industries.

The almost complete closing down of the huge carshops of the Northwestern Railroad, in Chicago, followed by similar action in many other cities, is only a symptom of the jobless disease that is creeping over the nation's whole transportation system.

With the coming in of the new crops, the prices for with the coming in of the new crops, the prices for agricultural products will again fail to rock bottom as the farmer comes to market to sell. The farmer will again on-sider himself lucky if he can raise enough cash to pay interest on his debts and meet his immediate needs, which do not include the purchase of "new duds" at the city store.

Compare with the wail of the overstocked retailer, the recent propagands of the officials of the Printers' Union, that the workers were spending too much, that the installment payment plan was helping them go into debt. The labor bureaucrapy joins the bourgooise in an effort to make conditions bearable under capitalism, in spite of the fact that one yells the workers spend too much, the other too little.

But the fake cure-alls of these apologists for capitalist

But the fake cure-alls of these apologists for capitalist exploitation and robbery will in time become fully revealed to an increasingly intelligent and class conscious working class. The evils of the profit system will be chalked up against it, where they belong. Capitalism will be crushed under the weight of an intelligent working class opposition. Only the Communists educate the workers to a realization of this lone solution of their problem.

And One Way to Make Communist History

IN the shop of "the source of all Communist literature" in this country, the presence are busy. Never in its history has the DAILY WORKER machinery, both mechanical and human, been put to such a test as it has during the DAILY WORKER Week of May 4 to 10. Literally mountaine of papers are leaving the shop daily, to be distributed by busy, building Communist through the couptry.

Going from door to door of working class homes, members of the Workers (Communist) Party and sympathetic workers are bringing its them the Communist heavy and sympathetic workers are bringing to the men to Communist heavy and sympathetic workers are bringing to the men to Communist heavy and sympathetic workers are bringing to the men to Communist heavy and sympathetic workers are bringing to the men to Communist heavy and sympathetic workers are bringing to subscriptions at the end of the week.

But this is absolutely assential. What one week's acquaintance with subscriptions at the end of the week.

But this is absolutely segarital. What one week's acquaintance with the DAILY WORKER has not done, even a short term sub will do.

Here is the field for future membership of the Communist movement and here we can "make another Communist." It must be done, and this Saturday and Sunday avery home that has had a sample copy of

Morgan's Peace

e United States wants peace in Europe, says mbassader to Great Britain. "No peace, no " was his keynote at the reception given in more in London and the liberals are greatly cheered. It is a wondrous sight, say they, to see this great nation launched on a holy crusade to ag peace to a suffering world.

oving peace as we do, it is a little hard for undistillusion those of our readers who may have a taken in by the pacifist character of the re marks of the representative of the House of Mor gan, but duty calls. In the olden days the robber barons discourage

In the olden days the robber barons discouraged quartels among their vassals, but nevertheless made war among themselves. Conflicts between the underlings resulted in a disruption of productive enterprises and made taxes hard to collect. So it is with the new overlord of the capitalist world-imperialist America. Huge loans are outstanding in a core of nations and war among the debtors means added risk.

According to the Belgian ambassador, the speech of the American ambassador awed the assembled diplomate "as if God almighty had descended and was falking to them." This, we believe, in giving God a little the best of it. No deity worshipped by diplomate could have received the respectful attention accorded the mouthpiece of the Morgan billions unless he had materialized selectial wealth into hard cash. The navmaster the Morgan billions unless he had materialized calestial wealth into hard cash. The paymaster was speaking and in accord with the well-known saying that "he who pays the piper, calls the tune," the diplomatic representatives of bankrupt European states made full obelsance to the American bankrul as a symbol of omnipotence.

Peace?

A formal peace, if you will, among governments but relentless warfare on the working class, war on the worker's and peasants' government of Rusia, war on its supporters all over the world, war on the colonial peoples, but peace among the astraptes of American imperialism. Peace so that he full executive of the peace of the of the pea satrapies of American imperialism. Peace so that the full strength of the puppet governments can be thrown against the working class and the masses forced to toll without rest for the profit of the House of Morgan and its favorites. The American imperialists do not wish to waste their substance in minor conflicts. Their only powerful rival is Great Britain, with Japan a powerful rival is Great Britain, with Japan a minor obstacle, and while the American ambas-sador talks peace in London, at home preparations are made to strengthen the navy, naval bases and airfleets and the Pacific squadron departs, after huge maneuvers around Hawail, for a trip of in-timidation to all the ports of the Far East. The Romans made a desert and called it peace, but imperialism goes them one better. It enalaves whole continents and, because the cries of the torfured masses cannot yet be heard by many acros tured masses cannot yet be heard by many across a waste of waters, calls this gigantic prison a proof of its peaceful intentions.

The Fight in Minneapolis

Dan W. Stevens, militant-trade unionist, who was expelled from the central labor body in Minneapolis on instructions from headquarters of the American Federation of Labor in Washington, is running for mayor in Minneapolis on the Communist ticket as the candidate of the Workers Party.

Party.

Stevens is running on a platform that puts forward the interests of the workers and none else. He is the only candidate in the field who cares a tinker's dam about the working class. The workers realize this and the most politically conscious of them are rallying to his support despite the opposition of the fakers, old and new, who are lined up behind the republican party hack, the present

Another Victory for the Open Shop

While the reactionary officials of the American Federation, of Labor spend their time urging the workers to co-operate with the capitalists in run-ning industry for the benefit of the capitalists, or in hounding radicals and progressives out of the trade union movement, the employers are carrying on a relentless war against the economic organ of the workers.

The latest and most vicious blow struck at trade mionism in this country, and one that cannot fail but have far-reaching effect, is the decision of the Ohio, supreme court which declares that no public utility enjoying a monopoly of its field can make a closed shop union contract with any kind of la-bor. The decision also states that closed shop union contracts are contrary to public policy on the ground that they might bar from employment in-ground that they might our room employment in-dividuals not wanting to join a union.

This is what the unions have gained out of their fawning and belly-crawling, to the employers. The fakers expected that the bosses would smile upon them once the radicals were driven out of strategic them once the randens were driven out of strategic positions in the unions. But once the radicals were eliminated from leadership the bosses knew that they could work their sweet will on organized la-bor. The rank and file will suffer from the treach-ery of their leaders.

The street car company in Cleveland has declared the open shop on its properties. The union officials, it is reported, have conferred with company nicials, it is reported, have conterred with company officials on the question of retaining their union. Why ask the company's permission? But this is another indication of the depths to which the fakers have dragged the trade union movement. The car-men's union was not built by favorable court de-men's union was not built by remission and with cisions. It was not built by permission and with the aid of the transportation capitalists. There is only one course for the street carmen of Cleveland to take. That course is to fight. If they do not struggle against the 'open shop now and battle for the right of collective bargaining. they will have cowardly surrendered their only protection against the rapacity of the employers. They will furthermore be deserting the field of battle to a relentless enemy who never quits the fight against the workers. ngan against the workers.

"Down with the open shop," should be the slogan of the street carmen of Cleveland. They deserve the support of every other Cleveland worker in their struggle, and of every worker in the United States. They must fail the states they must fail the states. They must fail the states of the states. States. They must fight.

Phist! Bolsheviks in Washington

"Baxom, blackeyed Russian girls are busy tak-ing dictation from swarthy-bearded foreigners of the literary type, who speak English ing dictation from swarthy-bearded foreigners of the literary type, who speak English with a strong accent." Washington is always in trouble. No sooner did the Teapot Dome fade out of the news-papers than something else is discovered to disturb the equanimity of the capitol. Nothing less than a den of Bolsherik publicity men has been discovered in Washington. Bearded men and blackeyed girls! What a Mephistophelian combination? Perhans they have more. If so.

ombination? Perhaps they have money. If so the country is in danger. The powers of resistance of the average American government official are not too robust. Senator Albert B. Fall proved that not too robust. Senator Albert B. Fall proved that. And there are others whose coat tails got caught in the door. But they had presence of mind enough to leave the coat behind.

"The White House and the state department are kept under close observation." More mystery. What is this object of suspicion?

The naked and unromantic truth is, that the Soviet government has a publicity agency in Washington, which publishes a paper called the Russian Review. It has been there for quite a while. It is not a secret institution like the headquarters of a not a secret institution like the headquarters of a aging of beotleggers or oil thieves. It has a highly developed appetite for publicity. Every government in the world has an informa-tion bureau in the United States. There is no obction bureau in the United States. There is no objection to those agencies, because they are peddling the virtues of their capitalist governments. But the Soviet Information bureau is keeping the public informed on the progress of things in Russia under the rule of the workers' and peasants' governments. ernment. The Soviet government is making good. The standard of living of the workers and peasants The standard of living of the workers and peasance is rising. The workers and peasants in industrially backward Russia have proven that they can manage a country comprising one-sixth of the earth's surface. This is a dangerous example to the workers of the rest of the world in the eyes of the capitalists. Hence the publication of facts about Soviet Russia is anathema to the ruling class of this country, and the Soviet information bureau must be "discovered" by moronic aleuths and prostituted journalists.
