American imperialist policy, based on the "open door" doctrins for China, has been to appear as the friend and champion of the Chinese people against the other imperialist powers. The use of American marines in the recent Shanghai strike and liberation demonstrations has tended to enable the Chinese masses to see American imperialism in its ture role. The dispatch of the quinbat Palos 1,000 miles up the languae river to punish natives who were alleged earlier in the respect.

The British and Japaness, the British in particular, have been demanding joint action by the foreign representatives against the Shanghai workers and students but the dispatch quoted shows that the American insperialist agents are now aware that to act in concept with the other powers means to arouse further ennity among the same category with the British and Japaness and involve them more directly than herefolore in the anti-imperialist movement that is sweeping China.
