The Agricultural Workers in Struggle

The strike of eight thousand agricultural workers in the Imperial Valley of California, under the leadership of the Trade Union Unity League, must remind every wage worker of city factory industry that agriculture is an industry and has a proletariat whose organizer and leader must naturally be the revolutionary industrial union center and the revolutionary leader of all proletarians—the Communist Party.

The agricultural proletariat is ripe and over-ripe for organization and stuggle. The Imperial Valley strikers are composed largely of Mexican and Filipino workers. Their conditions are miserable. Their employers are not even the supposedly paternal despots of the "old time" farmer type on the "old home farm" (though even if they were, our Party would support the fight of their wage slaves just the same), but highly developed capitalist farmers on commercialized farms serving as an integral part of big finance capital, of American imperialism. Both to the Mexican revolutionary unions last January, and to the Latin American Trade Union Confederation at their Montevideo congress last May, the Trade Union Unity League pledged its best efforts to organize the large mass of immigrant Mexican workers in the

The present strike in the Imperial Valley must be a beginning of persistent efforts to organize the Latin American workers (and Filipino workers as well) who make up such a large part of agricultural labor in the Southwest. But this does not mean that other districts of the Communist Party, and other regional and local organizations of the Trade Union Unity League have not also an important task in reaching and organizing the agricultural proletariat.

The scope of the present walk-out in the Imperial Valley makes it necessary that the whole revolutionary movement of California throws every possible aid behind these workers, and more, that the national T. U. U. L. mobilize every available support to this struggle and establish a fighting union among these workers on a firm and permanent

But the situation demands still wider action. In every district of the country there are tens of thousands of agricultural wage workers. They are a part, and the most bitterly exploited part, of the American proletariat. As such, the Communist Party must voice their demands and assist them to organize for class struggle in the revolutionary union of the Trade Union Unity League. It is a serious error to imagine that such work is to be done only in the West. This is a task of every section in the country.

All aid to the fighting workers of the Imperial Valley! Establish the revolutionary industrial union of the T. U. U. L. firmly and on a mass scale in this strike! Follow the strike strategy of the Red International of Labor Unions in the struggle of these battling workers! Spread the organization of the revolutionary union to all sections of the country! Organize the dairy workers and truck garden workers, too, who are accessible to the city proletariat! Build up the revolutionary industrial union of agricultural workers!

The Anthracite Miners Show Their Readiness to Fight.

Now comes a strike in the anthracite coal fields.

These hard coal miners have for months repudiated the misleadership of Lewis and the United Mine Workers of America. They have begun to organize in the National Miners' Union. They are fighting the bosses to compel them to stop discrimination against National Miners' Union members. Miserabe conditions of work, unemployment and low wages go along with this discrimination.

This strike is of great significance, coming as it does while the Illinois miners are struggling to win demands that are matters of life and death to them, and are calling all workers to aid in their fight. In this way the anthracite strike is a sharp breach which these workers have made with the treacherous policy of the U. M. W. A. The policy of treachery followed by all the misleaders from the time of John Mitchell to John L. Lewis is one of splitting the anthracite from the bituminous miners. Lewis went farthest in this form of treason, taking care that the agreements in anthracite and bituminous coal fields should not expire in the same year. The National Miners' Union s preparing for a national strike, both bituminous and anthracite fields this Autumn, and the anthracite miners feel that this is the way to

The fact that the first battle in the anthracite takes over a question of discrimination, shows that here, as in Illinois, the operators know which is the miners' union and which is their company union; the bosses are supporting the U. M. W. A. And it shows that the miners are determined to have the right to join their own union.

The fact that the Tamaqua miners are ready to join and fight for a militant, a class union, part of the Trade Union Unity League, the revolutionary trade union center in America, affiliated with the Red International of Labor Unions, shows that they are militant themselves. They have had enough of U. M. W. class collaboration, of five-year contracts and the sell-out. They feel the effects of rationalization, of speed-up and wage-cuts, of unemployment. They are ready to fight. The Tamaqua strike is a favorable sign for mass struggle in the near future.

Much depends now on the energy and ability of the National Miners' Union leadership, on its success in crystallizing this radicalization of the miners into organization, its ability to find and develop leaders and organizers rising from the ranks in these preliminary skirmishes in Illinois and Pennsylvania, its ability to prepare for the mass struggles coming.

The anthracite miners should immediately strengthen the backbone of leadership for their struggle-the Communist Party. Miners,

The rebellion has long been brewng, and the intense and rapidly growing militancy of the agricultural laborers in the Valley indicates that the strike signalizes the beginning of a mass rebellion by all of the scores of thousands of bitterly exploited Mexican, Filipino, Hindu, Japanese and Chinese agricultural laborers who slave for the big, open shop fruit growers and packers under conditions bordering Harassed Workers closely to peonage.

The strikers' demands include 25 per cent increase in the average wage; abolition of the contract labor system; abolition of piece work; better housing conditions; no victimization, and a demand for recognition of the workers' job committees.

PARTY RECRUITING DRIVE "UP WITH THE REVOLUTION!"

Results of Distribution of Recruiting Drive Pamphlet

As an integral part of the Party Recruiting Drive, goes the mass distribution of Party literature. Small, popularly written pamphlets are the easiest to sell. In connection with the Recruiting Drive, the Party issued a special pamphlet, "Why Every Worker Should Join the Communist Party" in an edition of 100,000 This means that we get away from the idea that literature is only for Party consumption and understand that we must have mass literature distribution.

The following are the results up to Dec. 28, less than three weeks after the drive started. This shows a good beginning for many districts. Since literature is only sent upon receipt of cash, there are two columns-one showing the intentions of the district and the other showing what they have actually paid for and

Keep the New Members

TO RECRUIT new members without being able to keep them in the Party means to have a wasted recruiting drive. We must therefore raise sharply the question of retaining the new members. It is not an exaggeration to say that (basing ourselves on past experiences) many new members leave the Party after having been present at one or two meet-

The main difference between the present recruiting drive and past drives is that the present is based on the political tasks of the Party in connection with the growing struggles of the workers. Therefore we must expect that the new members will join our Party as a result of our mass activities. The new members, however, in many instances, will find that the Party units that they were assigned to are not fighting organizations but in many instances isolated from the class struggle.

We get the new members into the Party because of the political campaigns of the Party, yet insofar as our Party units are concerned, in most cases they still do not appear as political organizations of the Party. We must therefore make the unit the political mobilization point for all the campaigns of the Party.

This Recruiting Drive must be based on getting the most active and militant workers, who will join the Party as a result of our leadership in various strikes and struggles. The workers who join our Party will therefore expect and look forward to being involved in active Party work. The prevalent procedure in the Party units is that we usually meet a new member with a cold shower and no attempt whatever is made to involve him in unit work. At times this is done in a perverted manner; when old members of the unit refuse to accept a certain position in the unit, the new member is overburdened. As soon as a new member joins the Party he must be immediately drawn into unit activities.

The District Executive Committee decided to call every two weeks a meeting of new members and to establish for them a monthly class, having as its purpose the discussion of experiences, impressions, and opinions of new members as to the activities of the Party units. In this monthly class we will also take up with new members the political line of the Party and its political campaigns.

Keep every new Party member!

LENIN AND THE PRESENT CONDITIONS OF WORKERS

By JACK STACHEL.

By Fred Ellis

NCREASING millions of exploited workers thruout the world will pay honor to the memory of Lenin this month. Lenin died six years ago, but the principles that he stood for, today embrace larger masses than ever before. Lenin is dead, but Leninism is more alive than ever. Bolshevism is spreading into every land, into every working-class community, into every factory, and among the village poor. Again and again, the bosses and their lackeys have "stamped" out bolshevism as a "foreign importation" but each time they find that it is flaring up with greater force until it is becoming a real danger to the further existance of rotten capitalism's system of exploitation.

What Lenin Taught the Workers.

Lenin taught the workers that the present period is the period of imperialist wars and proletarian revolution; that the present period -imperialism-is the last period of capitalism. Lenin taught us that the conditions of the workers in this period are growing worse and worse; that the exploitation and oppression of the masses is brought to untold heights.

Lenin taught us that the working-class must organize itself into trade unions and other working class organizations to fight back the growing offensive of the bosses, the bosses' government and their lackeys in the ranks of the working class: the yellow socialists and their labor fakers. Lenin taught us the necessity of united struggle of all workers, Negro and white, native born and foreign born, men and women, adult workers and young workers, as a condition for the victory of the working class, in the overthrow of capitalism and the capitalist government. Above all, Lenin taught us the role and need of the Communist Party for the victory of the working class.

The Correctness of Lenin's Teachings.

What do we find today? Today more than ever before, we can clearly see the truths of the teachings of Lenin. We see the capitalists faced with an economic crisis signifying the growing collapse of capitalism. We see the capitalists trying to overcome this crisis thru the more inhuman speed-up, and the lengthening of the hours of labor.

soldiers, courts, and jails ready to crush every attempt of the working class to resist these intolerable conditions. We see the growing army of unemployed, who do not even get a chance to work under these miserable conditions but are left to starve together with their families and dependents. We see the labor fakers, the yellow socialists, the agents of the bosses in the ranks of the labor movement assisting the bosses in crushing the growing resistance of the workers.

Plan Attack Against the Soviet Union.

We see the capitalists preparing for another imperialist war in which they will call upon the toiling masses to give their lives for the protection of United States imperialism, for Wall Street profit.

We witness the feverish preparations for an open attack against the Soviet Union, the only workers government in the world, the inspiration of increasing millions of exploited

On the other hand, we witness the growth of Socialism in the Soviet Union. We see the foundation laid down by the Russion Revolution under the leadership of Lenin growing stronger and stronger. As it grows stronger, it weakens the capitalists' system thruout the world, and makes the capitalists tremble.

We see the growth of the resistance of the oppressed masses in China, India, the Philiplines, Haiti and everywhere.

Workers Fighting Back.

Here within the United tSates, we see the growth of the workers organizations. In the last year, we have witnessed the organization of the Trade Union Unity League, the revolutionary trade union center, carrying on a struggle for the organization of the mass of unorganized workers and fighting against the betrayals of the leaders of the American Federation of Labor. We see the growing struggles of textile workers, under the leadership of the National Textile Workers Union, the present struggle of the Illinois miners under the leadership of the National Miners Union. the important struggles in New Orleans, Gastonia, Marion, etc.

In Detroit and vicinity among the auto workers, that are now facing the most serious unemployment situation, the greatest of all speedup, wage cuts, we have witnessed a number of important struggles in the last year. Murray Body. Flint, and the other struggles that have taken place are but a rehearsal of what is coming in the near future. We already can clearly see the development of a new will to

After Dora Schneider, one of the proprietors of the fake "Reliable" Employment Agency, had been bailed out by Rev. John Haynes Holmes, liberal leader and supporter of the socialist party, the agency opened business again and continued to charge unemployed workers from $5 to $25 for worthiess promises of jobs.

The authorities were forced to arrest the proprietors after more than 150 workers who had been fooled by the fake promises of jobs stormed the office of the agency. Rev. John Haynes Holmes, who was one of the outstanding supporters of Rev. Norman Thomas, socialist party candidate for mayor in the recent election, hastened to bail out one of the owners of the agency so she could continue to swindle the workers.

The Secretary of Labor Davis and His "Safety Talk."

By GRACE M. BURNHAM Labor Research Association.

(Speaking at one of weekly radio addresses of the National Safety Council, an employers organization fighting against compulsory safety regulation in industry, Secretary of Labor Davis delivered a bombastic speech in which he attempted to hide the high rate of deaths and accidents which continue to increase in the United States each year. At the same time, he whitewashed the employers and put the chief blame for industrial accidents on the workers themselves. This is the second installment of Comrade Burnham's article.-Editor.)

A closer analysis of the secretary's speeck reveals certain facts which cannot be denied although these are cloaked in phrases designed to throw his audience off the track. 'It is probable," states Davis, "that 23,000 or more fatalities occurred in industry in 1928 through accidents which might have been prevented if all the industries in the United States had pursued safety work in keeping with the council's plans."

This is the crux of the whole matter. The employers are not going to spend money guarding machinery, substituting non-poisonous for poisonous substances, and using safer, slower methods where faster, unsafe methods of work get more production-unless they are compelled to do so.

In the same issue of the National Safety News, the assistant statistician of the National Safety Council discusses why accident rates go up, as well as down, even in the plants operated by members of the National Safety Council. "Although," he writes, "about 200 establishments lowered their frequency rates between 50 and 100 per cent in 1928, 125 others reported increases of more than 100 per cent. The severity rates of 350 plants dropped between 50 and 100 per cent, but over 100 establishments had severity increases of 100 per cent or more." Speaking of the increases in accidents in the construction industry which have mounted to such terrific rates that it is estimated that no less than 50 building trades workers are killed each working day, the employers blame the "inherent" hazards of construction programs and the necessity for using inexperienced men on these jobs. The "inherent" hazards of construction can be substantially reduced by safety regulations, which are notoriously lacking in this industry throughout the entire country. On the other hand, the "necessity" for using inexperienced men on the jobs is the selfimposed "necessity" of the open shop employers who constitute the majority of Safety Council members to smash the unions at all costs. How "necessary" it is to use only inexperienced men on the jobs is seen from the fact that the building trades unions recorded an estimated 20 per cent unemployment among their members during the last two years.

More frank is the statement of W. R. Richards, Director of Accident Prevention of the Associated General Contractors of America, the organization that for ten years successfully blocked the completion of a standard safety code for the construction industry. He says: "Our association takes the stand that it is impossible to formulate rules and regulations for the construction industry. . . . When we consider that 80 to 90 per cent of accidents are caused by the human element, while only 10 to 15 per cent are traceable to mechanical sources, one major solution seems feasible. That is education-education for the employee, for the contractor and for the public. . . . Accident prevention in construction, we maintain, is a matter for cooperative, voluntary, educational effort, consisting largely of teaching men to think, and prevailing upon them to acquire the safety instinct, something which cannot be governed by legis-

It is significant that when a safety code for the construction industry was prepared by a committee of trade unionists, and architects. and when the secretary of labor was asked by the Building Trades Department of the A. F. of L. to call a conference of trade unionists, employers, and government officials to consider accident prevention in the construction industry, he would do nothing until this Associated General Contractors Association had given him the word. The secretary knows his master's voice. Needless to say no conference has been called.

Struggle Against Opportunism in the Greek Fraction

truggle Against Opportunism in the Greek Fraction

By H. PHILLIPS. (Secretary Greek Buro of the CC.)

Since the arrival of the Comintern Address there has been a great deal of discussion in our Party on the right danger. The Address was accepted by the entire Greek membership of the Party, with the exception of three.

The Greek membership is composed of 100 per cent unskilled workers, therefore 100 per cent proletarian elements, and this is the reason for the unanimous acceptance of the Comintern Address. The composition of our fraction is entirely different from that of other language fractions of the Party, since there are no petty-bourgeois intellectuals in our ranks, such as lawyers, doctors, teachers, etc., which are mostly found in the ranks of other language fractions. But although the Address of the Comintern and the immediate events which followed it brought about a big change in the language fractions, nevertheless there still exists an isolation of the language fractions from the general activity of the Party. This is especially true for the Greek comrades, for which it is often still very difficult to cut off the chains of the past and to orientate themselves to the new situation. A great number of them attend the unit meetings in the same way "religious" people go to church. They cross themselves, pray and return home, feeling that they have done their duty to the movement. Even where some Greek comrades participate in the large-scale, struggles of the workers, they do it from a narrow national point of view, instead of following the general line of the movement. We still rotate too much in the margin of national issues instead of taking up the issues and daily demands of the native American workers and we are still dangerously isolated from the general life of the Partyin a few words: in spite of the remarkable improvement of the situation, we are not as yet an organic part of the Party and we are not involved in the general rotation of forces of the Party. This constitutes a danger for the Greek fraction, because being aloof from the life of the Party, gives rise to many dangerous mistakes, and deviations, and strengthcyndicalist tendencies which stil dominate the Greek comrades to a great extent?

Undoubtedly we have made many mistakes in the course of our activities, and the reason for them is to be found in this isolation from the life of the Party. A proposal for an alliance with the Greek Bishop in this country is not an accident. The former leaders of the fraction, the renegades Christie and Kalfides, trueopportunist followers of Lovestone, did their utmost to destroy the fraction and to have the Greek paper of the Party "Empross" ismued monthly instead of weekly. But thanks to the Address of the Comintern these so-called revolutionists found themselves outside of the Party in the camp of the enemy, where they

Our fraction is again concentrating its forces, moving close to the Party, becoming an organic part of its and participating in all its developments. Mut we still have before us the task of completing this development and completely overcoming our isolation, With the assistance of the Central Committee we will succeed in this and march forward. But we need for this better attention and directions from the Party.

German doctors tried to hide the nature of the disease from which the children died. It is now admitted by them that there is an epidemic of measels and pneumonia raging among the Mennonite sect which is quartered in prison-like barracks. Hundreds of children and adults are sick.

Thousands of the Mennonites are stranded in Germany, having been lured there by a campaign in the capitalist press which was directed against the Soviet Union. In the Soviet Union the Mennonites were comfortably housed and well fed on their farms. In Germany they are suffering the greatest privations and are threatened with utter annihilation by disease and death.
