"DEMONSTRATE AUGUST 1!" CALL OF T.U.U.L. RED UNIONS

Rally for August First!

NINE DAYS remain until August 1st. It is the duty of all revo-lutionary workers and workers' organizations to utilize these nine days in greater efforts to prepare and carry through wellorganized mass demonstrations on August 1st against imperialist war, for the defense of the Soviet Union, against wage cuts and the speedup, and for unemployment insurance.

The capitalists, surely, are not losing a minute. Their war preparations are being feverishly pushed. Mass lay-offs are daily taking place. Wage cuts, already openly made by a number of large corporations, are being systematically undertaken in all industries. The attacks of the capitalists and their government on all fronts against the workers are becoming sharper and more ruthless. The Fish Committee is preparing the ground for the enactment of a whole series of laws directed against all militant workers by which the bosses hope to strengthen their efforts to force the workers to bear the burden of the crisis and of imperialist war. All phases of this bosses' offensive, with the help of the leaders of the A. F. of L. and socialist party, are being driven forward at a frenzied speed.

The answer of the workers can only be organization, strikes and mass demonstrations. August 1st must be the beginning. In the few days remaining before August 1st workers in the shops, factories and mines should discuss the August 1st demonstrations and prepare to participate. Anti-war committees of as many workers as possible should be set up. Contact should be established with the local leaders of the Communist Party or the Trade Union Unity League. Together with them plans should be worked out for the march of the workers directly from the shops after work on August 1st to the demonstration against imperialist war, for unemployment insurance, against the attacks of the bosses.

In the A. F. of L. local unions the issue should be raised. Efforts should be made to secure the participation of the local as a body in the August 1st demonstrations. The same proceedure should be followed in all workers' clubs and fraternal organizations. Every worker should assume the personal responsibility of approaching his fellow workers in the shop, union, club or lodge. August 1st must result in hundreds of thousands of workers rallying in the streets with the demand that the billions of dollars now being spent on war preparations be given for the maintenance of the 8,000,000 unemployed workers and their families now suffering great hardship and privation.

August 1st must mark the beginning in even sharper workers' struggles against the bosses and their henchmen. Strikes must be the workers' answer to wage cuts; the shop committees set up for August 1st must organize and lead the strike struggles of the workers. The strikes must be spread, demonstrations of solidarity must be organized; the August 1st demonstrations must initiate these broader and more determined counter-attacks of the workers.

In all cities, in the nine days remaining, the units of the Communist Party and of the Trade Union Unity League must intensify their efforts. Work at the shops and factories must be strengthened; councils of the unemployed must be established. The success of the demonstrations will be determined by the extent to which masses of workers are brought from the shops and factories into the streets following work on August 1st.

Strengthen the work! Rally all workers' forces for the demonstration on August 1st! Establish defense corps to defend the demonstrations against the attacks of the hirelings of the bosses!

White Chauvinism in Chicago

OMRADE BILL DUNNE, in his article, "Some Conclusions From the Chicago Convention," dealt sharply with the open manifestation of white chauvinism by a number of Lithuanian comrades in regard to the feeding of some Negro delegates to the unemployed convention. Following the publication of this article the Daily Worker received a letter of protest from a Chicago comrade.

"I cannot understand," she says, "how such terrible lies are being printed about the Lithuanian comrades, and how such lies are being tolerated by our Party. I cannot for the life of me understand how our leading comrades even as much as imagine such things, and yet they have a tendency to print these terrible, unbelievable, insane imaginations."

Further on she says: "I cannot see what good it will do the Party and what advantage the Party will receive from these declarations.'

As to the facts in the case as cited by Comrade Dunne the Daily Worker can speak with authority. The Lithuanian comrades, afraid of losing business in their co-operative restaurant, appealed to the arrangements committee for the transference of Negro delegates to another restaurant and offered to pay for their meals as a "donation"

(rather to say "bribe") to the committee. Furthermore, for the benefit of our critic, this is not the first evidence of white chauvinism in the Chicago Lithuanian fraction. Several months ago, when white business men and real estate sharks were trying to drive Negroes out of the South Halsted residential district and organized a so-called Home Owners' Association which terrorized Negroes, some of our comrades proposed then also that while it was the task of the Daily Worker and the Communist Party to fight against this organization, if Vilnis (the Lithuanian Communist paper) took up this fight in behalf of the Negroes they would lose advertising from these neighborhood cockroach business men.

At that time a sharp fight also had to be made in the Lithuanian fraction against these anti-working-class tendencies, and at least one comrade had to be removed from his position on the paper. But it, apparently, did not correct these comrades.

The printing of Comrade Dunne's article in the Daily Worker must be only the first step in completely and finally burning out this bourgeoisie ideology in the ranks of our Lithuanian fraction and in the Chicago Party organization. The "advantage the Party will receive from these declarations" is, first, that such views will become untenable in our Party, and, second, that only by making such views and practices untenable can the Party prove to the Negro masses that our Party fights firmly and uncompromisingly for social, economic and political equality and the right of self-determination for the Negroes in the United States, and win them for the revolutionary struggle, together with the white workers, against capitalism.

SHARP ECONOMIC CRISIS GRIPS JAPAN; TOKYO CITY TREASURY EMPTY

Tokio City Employees May Get No Pay; City Museum Cannot Buy Curtains

Tokio Railway Company Is Carrying Out Drastic Lay-Off Policy

TOKIO, Japan, July 22.-The Tokio Railway Co. has recently discharged over a hundred station masters and other employes. This drastic policy of lay-offs is said to be merely a part of the nation-wide campaign of rationalization which the bosses have instituted to meet the growing crisis. The burden of the crisis is, of course, thus shifted on the shoulders of the workers.

Japan is so hard hit by the crisis that the treasury of the Tokio municipal government is empty and the city employes are said to be facing a situation of not getting their wages. The city authorities are negotiating a loan of 4,000,000 yens (about $2,000,000) from the local bankers in order to meet the daily expenses of the government.

Another instance which shows how seriously the crisis has affected Tokio finances is that a million dollar museum which was built by the Tokio government not long ago has its doors closed for the lack of curtains. The Tokio municipal government, which was rich enough to spend 2,000,000 yens (about $1,000,000) for a new museum a short time ago, has been so hard hit by the crisis that it can not even afford to spend a few hundred yens for curtains for the museum.

When Boster was nominated for the office of governor by the Communist Party he stated in his acceptance speech in prison that Fish was an owner of tenement houses.

Fish stood up in the committee meeting the next day and solemnly branded this statement as false, adding: "I don't own any real estate

Real Estate.

It appears now that at 52 Wall St. is a real estate office with the name of Hamilton Fish on it. This office rents houses, among others, at 23-25 E. 4th St., 768 Bever St., 810 Fifth Ave., 326 Seventh Ave., 65 E. 77th St. and 39 Third Ave. It is not claimed that this is a complete list. All these houses are recorded under the name of Florence D. Fish, care of Hamilton Fish, Jr. That is the name of the congressman who heads the Fish committee, the man who accuses Amtorg of 'concealing facts." There is also a Fish corporation lurking somewhere in the background and it is evident that the inherited estate of old Hamilton Fish, also a congressman, is slightly hidden now behind the skirts of a woman and the thin body of a corporation—but that Fish was far from frank when he said he "owns no real estate."

Lessons of the Flint Auto Strike

As opposed to the capitalist countries, in which economic crisis and growing unemployment prevail, the inner situation of our country shows an increasing progress of national economy and a progressive diminution of unemployment. The tempo of big industrial development has been accelerated. Heavy industry has been strengthened. The socialist sector of in dustry has considerably increased. In agriculture a fresh force has grown up--the Soviet and collective farms. Two years ago we had a crisis in grain production, and were chiefly dependent on the small producers for grain sup plies, but now the centre of gravity has been moved to the Soviet and collective farms, whilst the grain crisis may be regarded as essentially solved. The main masses of the peas antry have now finally turned towards the collective farms. The resistance of the kulaks has diminished. The inner situation in the Soviet Union is more firmly established.

This is the general outline of the inner situation of the Soviet Union at the present mo-

Let us examine the actual figures:

a) In 1926-27, that is, at the time of the Fifteenth Party Congress, we had a gross pro duction in the whole of our agriculture-including forestry, fishing, etc .- of 12,370 million pre-war roubles or 106.6% of the pre-war level. in the following year, 1927-28, we had 107.2%, in 1928-29 109.1%, and in the present year, 1929-30 we shall reach, to judge by the development of agriculture, at least 113 to 114% of the pre-war level.

We observe an uninterrupted, although comparatively slow, growth of agricultural production as a whole.

The most serious mistake made by the Auto to correctly apply the decisions of the R. I.

L. U. in the struggle for independent leadership of the strike. This mistake was made mainly through a formal approach to the struggle against social reformism. The organizers of the Auto Workers' Union from the beginning did carry on a struggle against the American Federation of Labor and the socialist labor party, but they did not fight against social reformism which in this strike manifested itself through the leaders of the strike committee, Cecil Comstock & Co. They did not realize that the struggle for independent leadership of the strike involved the open struggle against the bosses' ideology and program within the leadership of the strike committee. They did not realize that opportunism which is deeply rooted among the American workers and which finds its expression in the crassest forms among the skilled workers was here embodied in Comstock and his supporters.

Instead the leaders of the Auto Workers'

Union helped to build up the leadership of Comstock. The issues raised by Comstockissues first raised by the bosses and the police-such as reds and outsiders, called for the assertion of the energetic leadership by the Auto Workers' Union and the exposure of these elements before the workers. Instead the leaders of the Auto Workers' Union merely limited their struggle against Comstock within the narrow circles of the strike committee, allowing Comstock again and again to appear as the spokesman of the strikers and with the approval of the Auto Workers' Union.

Later when Comstock was ready for the be-Another serious mistake also showing the failure to fight for the independent leadership of the strike was the reliance on the old leaders of the strike committee elected in the early stage of the strike when only three departments were on strike. These departments consisted of the skilled and semi-skilled workers. While it is true that following the strike of the entire plant a broad strike committee of over 60 was elected, this broadening of the leadership was only formal.

In reality the Comstock group remained in this mistake not only because of the formal conception of reformism but also because they at least 180 per cent of the pre-war level. We have to record an enormously rapid growth of the production of industry as a

b) In 1926-27, at the time of the Fifteenth Party Congress, the goods traffic on the whole of our railways totalled 81.7 milliard ton kilometres, or 127 per cent of the pre-war level, n the following year-1927-28-this rose to 134.2 per cent, in 1928-29 to 162.4 per cent, and will increase in the current year-according to present data-to at least 193 per cent of the pre-war level. With respect to the new railway ines, these have been extended in the period under report-since 1927-28-from 76,000 to 000 kilometres, equivalent to 136.7 per cent of the pre-war level.

c) If the status of the trade turnover in the country in 1926-27 is taken at 100 (31 milliard roubles), we find the increased turnover to amount to 124.6 per cent in 1927-28, to 160.4 per cent in 1928-29, and may estimate-to judge by all data-that this will rise in the current year, 1929-30, to 202 per cent, or double the turnover of 1926-27.

d) If the balances of all our credit institutions on October 1, 1927 is taken at 100 (9173 million roubles), we find the increase up to October 1, 1928 to amount to 141 per cent, and up to October 1, 1929 to 201.1 per cent, or double the amount of 1927.

e) If the state budget of 1926-27 is taken at 100 (6371 million roubles), the increase by 1927-28 is 125.5 per cent, by 1928-29 146.7 per cent, and by 1929-30 204.4 per cent; this means that the budget of 1926-27 has been doubled (12,605 million roubles).

To sum up, we may place on record the following survey of the increase of the national income in the period of this report (the un-dard). The data issued by the State Planning Commission show the national income in 1926-27 to have been 23,127 million roubles; in 1927-28 25,396 million roubles, an increase of 9.8

increase of 12.6 per cent; in 1929-30 the national income, to judge by the data, will rise to no less than 34,000 million roubles, the increase during the past year being 20 per cent.

Preparing for War

NOBODY can today conceal the fact that the American imperialists are preparing for war. No matter what phrases are being used, or names given to the war plans of the bosses, no one can fail to see the feverish war preparations. The war department has already worked out a detailed plan of how 20,000 factories will be drawn into the war machinery; how the railroads will efficiently cooperate in transportation of troops and munitions, and how every available force will be militarized and put on a war level. The fiery debates in the U. S. senate on the naval "disarmament" treaty of MacDonald and Hoover clearly point to the inevitability of war.

Defend the Soviet Union! Particularly is evident the war attack upon the Soviet Union. The bourgeoisie makes no secret of the fact that the success of socialist construction in the U.S.S.R. is a challenge to the world capitalist system. The New York Evening World in an editorial of July 19 clearly states: "Unquestionably the Russian experiment, now in its thirteenth year, constitutes a challenge to our own system." As the Soviet Union grows stronger and the capitalist contradictions develop more sharply, the war danger between the imperialist powers and especially the war against the Soviet Union becomes a concrete reality."

All Around Preparations The imperialist war preparations do not only include direct military preparations; ideological and political preparation is part of their war program. Since the working class is the one who will have to bear the burden of the war, therefore it has to be prepared to perform its role very efficiently and noothly. This program therefore calls for a feverish patriotic war propaganda. The bosses will try to make the workers believe that the war is not only their patriotic duty, but is also a solution of all their ills. The aim of capitalism is to make the workers think that the war is in their interest, that it is their war.

In the war preparations against the Soviet Union, the ideological and political mobili-ation of the masses is even more important. The peace policy of the proletarian state is too well known to the toilers of the world to make one believe that the Soviet Union is preparing to

This is the first of a series of articles on | socialism, is winning the admiration of the workers of the entire world.

How They Do It

How is this ideological preparation being carried out? The aim of the Fish investigation committee is to prove that the Soviet Government is directly involved in plots against the U. S. government; that the Soviet Union is "maintaining" its secret service agents who are continuously undermining the U. S. government: that the Soviet Government is "financing" strikes and labor struggles against capitalism. Every struggle of the American workers, every sign of resistance to the attack of the bosses, every sign of discontent of the workers with the exploitation of the capitalist class, is being purposely interpreted as being "encouraged, financed and guided" by Moscow. This is running like a red thread through the entire proceedings of the Fish investigation Every testimony of the picked and coached witnesses who are giving "expert" opinion to the Fish committee, aims to prove that. The chairman, Mr. Fish, will ask the witness: "Don't you think this is directed by Moscow?" and the witness will answer: "Certainly, by Mos-On the basis of this demagogy and lies, the capitalist class and all its agencies will appeal to the patriotic feelings of the masses, will claim that a foreign country is interfering with the U. By these means the bosses aim to antagonize the American workers against the Soviet Union, and pre-

Fascist A. F. of L.

The fascist representatives of the American Federation of Labor go even to the extent to claim that the Soviet Government is cooperating with the capitalist class of America in crushing the A. F. of L. This will be presented to the American workers in such form as to make them think that the decline of the A. F. of L. is not due to the very policies of the organization, but to the "subversive" activities of Moscow. To this is also being added, the cry of "cheap Russian coal" and "convict lumber." The fascist A. F. of L. uses these means to make the miners and the lumber workers believe that all the evils come not from the strike-breaking policy of the A. F. of L., but from Moscow.

With the same purpose they raise the question of "Freedom of religious worship," which, according to the testimony of the Jesuit spy Father Walsh, it is the supreme duty of the American workers to defend. The same applies to their cries of saving Russia for "democracy" and "defeat the Communist war on humanity."

Since all "proof" points out that Moscow is the source of all strikes, struggles of the workers against the bosses, demands of children for free lunches, etc., therefore the Fish investigation committee comes to the conclusion beforehand, that:

"If we find that paid agents of a government which we do not recognize, are consistently carrying on efforts to demoralize the American workers in our industries and to undermine the rising generation through insidious propaganda in our educational institutions, then appropriate action will be taken The average annual increase in the three years under report is therefore 15 per cent.

When it is taken into account that the average annual increase of national income in such countries as the United States, England, Germany, etc., is not more than 3 to 8 per cent, it must be admitted that the national income of the Soviet Union is increasing at a record

2. The Successes of Industrialization

In our country the growth of national economics does not proceed on anarchist lines, but runs in a definite direction, in the direction of industrialization, with the aim of increasing the specific weight of industry in the total system of our national economy, with the aim of converting our country from an agrarian into an industrial country.

a) The dynamics of the proportions of all industry and all agriculture, seen from the standpoint of the specific weight of industry in the gross production of the whole nationa economy, are as follows for the period under report: Before the war the share taken by industry in the gross production of the national economy of our country amounted to 42.1 per cent, the share of agriculture to 57.9 per cent; in 1927-28 the share of industry was 45.2 pe cent, that of agriculture 54.8 per cent; in 1928 1929 the share of industry was 48.7 per cent that of agriculture 51.3 per cent; in 1929-1930 the share of industry — to estimate by all data — will amount to no less than 53 per cent, whilst the share falling to agriculture will be 47 per cent.

This means that the specific weight of industry is already beginning to preponderate over agriculture, and that we are on the eve of the conversion of the country from an agrarian land into an industrial one. (Applause.) b) We find an even more decided preponderance in favor of industry when we regard the matter from the standpoint of the specific weight of industry in the goods production of our national economy. In 1926-1927 the share taken by industry in the goods production of our national economy amounted to 68.8 per cent, the share of agriculture to 31.2 per cent; for 1927-1928 the corresponding figures are 71.2 per cent for industry and 28.8 per cent for agriculture; for 1928-1929, 72.4 per cent for industry and 27.6 per cent for agriculture; and for 1929-1930 - according to all data -

76 per cent for industry and 24 per cent for

This unfavorable situation in agriculture caused in part by the small peasant type of agriculture, producing few goods. It is obvious that this situation will change to a certain extent, in proportion as agriculture adapts itself to the Soviet and collective farm system and in proportion as it increases its productio

c) But the development of industry in general gives no complete idea of the tempo of idustrialization. In order to gain this com plete idea, the dynamics of the relative pro portions of heavy and light industry must be ascertained. Here the clearest sign of the growth of industrialization is the steady in crease in the share taken by the productio of the means of production (heavy industry n the total production of industry. In 1927. 1928 the share falling to the production of industry was 27.2 per cent, and the share fall ing to the production of articles of consumption 72.8 per cent; in 1928-1929 the share of the roduction of the means of production had risen to 28.7 per cent as compared with 71.3 per cent; in 1929-1930 the share taken by the production of the means of production will increase, to judge by all data, to 32.7 per cent as compared with a 67.3 per cent production

If we do not take the whole of industry, but only the planned industry controlled by the Plan of the Supreme National Economic Cour cil, embracing all the leading branches of in-dustry, we find here the proportions of the production of the means of production and of articles of consumption even more favorable In the planned industries the share falling to the production of the means of production in 1927-1928 amounted to 42.7 per cent as com pared with 57.3 per cent; in 1928-1929 to 44.6 per cent as compared with 55.4 per cent, and in 1929-1930, as may be estimated from the data, the proportion will be at least 48 per cent as compared with 52 per cent.

The development of our national economy is going forward towards industrialization, to wards the consolidation and development of our own heavy industry.

This means that we have already laid the foundation of our economic independence, our heavy industry, and shall now continue to build. (To Be Continued.)

Lingle Case and Unemployment

THE lid is being clamped down on the cele- ! brated "Jake" Lingle case. The series of revelations on the interconnections between newspapers, boodle politics and racketeering which for a time followed thick and fast after the assassination of the Tribune reporter-racketeer, has come to an end. With a half-million jobless walking the streets, a senatorial election approaching and the very acute danger that in the mud-slinging fest too much would be told, there is now a clumsy scramble to cover up. The zeal to do injury to a competitor which actuated what newspaper dirt was dragged into the light of day is outweighed by discrete forethought as to the damaging effect of letting the "public" know too much.

Lingle.

The investigation of the murder of Lingle, a reporter for the "World's Greatest Newspaper" with an income of $65,000 a year, has become a game of hide and seek. The assistant prosecutor, Rathbun, who is in charge of the case was "loaned" to the prosecuting attorney's office by the dead racketeer's employer, the Tribune. In the ordinary day's work, Rathbun is head of the Tribune legal staff. He is on the job to hide what he can. He is succeeding. But the other papers, envious of the Tribune's million circulation, are making it hard for Mr. Rathbun. They know all the inside dope and are publishing just enough to make the Tribune mad. They are, however, careful not to print too much. They have skeletons in their own closets. The Tribune has warned them that these skeletons will be hauled out.

off a few. The Tribune got a St. Louis reporter to come to town and interview Col. Robert Mc-Cormick, its publisher. This reporter said he could submit evidence to show that a number of reporters on certain other papers in Chicago were engaged in racketeering. One of them had a race horse racket. Another collected five cents on every sack of cement sold in Chicago. Another went South with gambling profits. He also reminded the Daily News

And to show them it meant business dusted to stamp out such propaganda and drive out or deport all Soviet representatives.' This, therefore, is not an investigation, but a perfection of war plans. However, the bourgeoisie knows very well that their war plans will not be met without resistance from the working class. The working class has still fresh in its memory the results of the last world war. Therefore, in order to mobilize the American workers, they must inject such issues to cover up their real imperialist war plans. The second factor that stands in the way of imperialist war preparations is the existence of the Communist International, fighting imperialist war on the basis of a revolutionary program. This is precisely what distinguishes the present pre-war period from the past pre-war period. It must be recognized that the working class is not a passive onlooker of the imperialist war: on the contrary, its revolutionary action will determine the outcome of the war. The political preparations of the working class and the fighting capacity of the Communist Party is a decisive factor in giving the proletarian answer to imperialist

In order that the bourgeoisie shall be able to go through with its war preparations, and more so, in order to assure its victory, it must maintain an unaffected rear of the battlefront. The bourgeoisie must have the assurance that the working class will not only remain neutral but will actively cooperate with it in executing its war plans. Because of this the working class must be defeated and kept in check. however, to defeat the working class, it is first of all necessary to decapitate its revolutionary leadership - the Communist Party. This is precisely the aim of the Fish investigation committee, planning and executing a very integral part of the imperialist war preparations. that one of its so-called crime reporters also was murdered and had a very shady past. The other papers thereupon did a lot of bluffing to the tune of "bring on your evidence," but they have been more careful what they say about the Tribune since.

Harmless Talk. The headlines and news about the case are now very earnestly concentrating on the theme "find the murderer of Lingle." All of which is very harmless. The writer was told by an old newspaper man that certainly the murderer is known and that in all likelihood has been done in himself.

Lingle was a big shot as a politician and racketeer. He was the Tribune's city hall "fixer." It was he who manipulated the installation of the late police administration headed by Commissioner Russell, ousted when his intimate friendship with Lingle could not be hushed. Chief of Detectives Stege, avid red hunter who has personally beat up countless members of the Communist Party and sympathizers of the movements it leads, was retired for the same reason.

Just a mere corner of the canvas that covers the stinking mess known as Chicago politics was lifted when Lingle was killed.

They dare not tell the story. The newspapers now realize that they bit off more than they could chew when they flew at each other's throats for a few days following the killing. There was the gravest danger that not only they, but the interests whose mouthpieces they are would be dragged in. There was the fear that the connection between the bankers and city hall might be uncovered. There was also the danger that the connection between the bankers and the racketeers, whose millions the former keep lucratively on deposit, would leak through.

But hanging like a shadow over everything is Chicago's unemployed army. The bosses and therefore their underlings, the newspapers and politicians, are getting panicky. The redbaiting campaign that has its counterpart in every other city in the country where there is an attempt to organize the jobless, is in full cry. The politicians do their bit by ordering the coppers to smash heads. The newspapers' job is to play up the prosperity hokum and ridicule or ignore altogether the organized activities of the unemployed.

This is no time for muck-raking. You can't afford to tell what you know when what you know will make still more angry an already desperate and enraged working class. The Lingle case will finally be hushed. But a half-million unemployed workers and hundreds of thousands of employed workers subject to frequent lay-offs and wage cuts cannot be

Though hundreds of workers had been enrolled into the union before, they were not formed into locals. Similarly on the basis of these mistakes there was a failure to build a reliable group in the strike committee- a lack of differentiation within the strike committee. It must be noted here that all mistakes made were right opportunist mistakes clearly showing that the right danger is the main danger.

valuable lessons in this strike. They have gone back to work but they do not feel de-There is not the feeling of "demoralization" that characterized strikes led by the A. F. of L. in the past. The workers feel bitter. They are retreating but not giving up the struggle. Just as the events moved rapidly so the workers learned very fast. They went back to work after they realized that they had been betrayed by the company union leadership and that the militant leaders of the Auto Workers' Union have been jailed. They had no faith in the Comstocks. The Auto Workers' Union is now recognized by the workers as the only union of the auto workers, despite the mistakes and shortcomings in the conduct of the strike. The union is not discredited among the workers. The workers have faith in the union. They say openly that so long as the strike was lead by the Auto Workers' Union, the police with all their terror could not stop mass picketing. They realize the surrender on the part of the Comstocks. The workers refused to join the A. F. of L. and even Comstock at least publicly had to abandon the move.

The women workers and young workers who constitute a considerable section of the workers in the Fisher Body were in the forefront of the struggle. Young girls embittered by working 10 hours a day for $1.80 a day were among the most militant in leading the mass demonstrations. Though there are no Negro workers involved in the strike, the workers readily put forward the demand for the equality of the Negro workers both with regards to employment and wages.

Party Mobilizes The District Committee of the Party has realized the tasks ahead of it as revealed in the Flint strike. We realized that unless we get into action events will sweep over us. A esolution on the lessons of the strike is to be taken up at all the Party units. The basic lessons in the resolution are the building of shop nuclei and shop committees. Already the District Committee had a thorough discussion on the lessons of the strike. A membership meeting of the Party was held and the lesson of the strike discussed. The Auto Workers' Union already held a membership meeting, followed by a mass meeting the largest in the history of the union where the lessons and tasks of the union were taken up. The Party is working out a program of action to meet the situation. This will call for the concentration of the forces of the Party and the Auto Workers' Union on the places where there is the greater likelihood for the development of the struggles. The district will assist the Auto Workers' Union and the T.U.U.L. to raise immediately $5,000 to carry on the work in preparation and organization of the coming strike. We are going to pay greater attention to the building up of the Daily Worker and Labor Unity as weapons not only in preparing the struggles but for the effective leadership of these struggles. In the Flint strike it was most obvious how important it is for us to penetrate the workers with the Daily Worker. Apply Convention Decisions.

The Flint strike must not be viewed as a defeat. It is a phase of the developing strikes. The lessons learned in this strike will furnish valuable experience in the coming struggles. The leadership of the Auto Workers' Union most of whom have never participated in such a large struggle, will now be better equipped to lead the mass struggles. These leaders though all their mistakes were opportunist mistakes can not be said to be lacking in militancy. They made their mistakes because they did not yet master the strategy laid down by the R.I.L.U. because of inexperience. They have seen their mistakes and readily accepted criticism. The Party membership has been around to its remondibility to a large extent.

The Party and the Auto Workers' Union will make clear to the workers the lessons of this strike and utilize it as an accelerator both in the mobilization of the forces of the Party and the union, and the actual development of the struggles of the workers. The Flint strike bears out in every manner, the
