

MINERS TO GO TO WASHINGTON TO DENOUNCE SCAB MEET Jobless, Mine Strikers March on St. Clairsville, Ohio, Today

Capitalism's Defenders

MR. KNICKERBOCKER, he of the Pulitzer Prize for anti-Soviet journalists, has contributed, in the N. Y. Post of July 3, an article containing a paragraph which should be embedded in the amber of history. Under a headline which says "Berlin Rejoices As Crisis Fades," "fading" and a "rejoicing" that is in fact without basis, this prize capitalist press correspondent launches into a celebration in the following term "The Hoover Plan has shown the revolutionaries and all types of sceptics, the depressed and the doubting, that capitalists possess the intelligence and courage to unite in defense of the present regime, and that, the capitalistic system will not perish for lack of defenders or lack of faith."

Since Mr. Knickerbocker in his articles against the Soviet Union has been bemoaning the lack of unity among capitalist governments, it is natural that he write enthusiastically about the supposed unity attained by the Hoover Plan, which is at bottom an anti-Soviet war plan. And quite correct'y he calls attention to the fact that capitalism will not be without defenders.

Workers should remember that! And they should also take notice of the fact that the so-called "socialists" are among these defenders of the capitalistic system! With the same enthusiasm as Mr. Knickerbocker for the Hoover "plan," Norman Thomas, "socialist" leader, speaking at the Union Theological Seminary in New York on July 2, spoke up in defense of capitalism as follows

"I think that Hoover's debt plan is one of the very few intelligent forward things he has done. The collapse of Germany threatens the collapse of all Europe, or even all of Western civilization.'

By "Western civilization," of course, this "socialist" means capitalist "civilization," with its 35,000,000 unemployed, mass misery and enslavement of the toilers to a handful of idle parasites.

With all the other foes of the workers, with all the enemies of the Soviet Union, with all the other "defenders of capitalism" mentioned by Knickerbocker, Norman Thomas, leader of the American "socialists," unites his "Hurrah" for Hoover as a saviour of capitalism

Revolutionary workers do not believe, however, that capitalism is solving the basic problems of its decay by the Hoover Plan. No sooner had Hoover "convinced" France and reached an agreement, than Great Britain objected to the modified "agreement" reached with France! But Mr. Knickerbocker is correct in saying that capitalism is not lacking defenders. And the "socialist" party is one of its most eager defenders!

The world congress of "socialists" soon to meet at Vienna, will lay plans how best they can serve capitalism by participation in the war plots against the Soviet Union as did those "socialists" who confessed in the Moscow trials to sabotage and spying for what Norman Thomas calls "Western civilization." And against these war plotters all workers should demonstrate on August First!

McKEESPORT, Pa .- One of the most dynamic incidents that ever happened in the cities of Duquesne. Homestead and McKeesport was the Hunger March to Pittsburgh consisting of unemployed white and Negro steel workers, striking miners from the Versailles, Pa., mine, women and children and unemployed young workers.

At 7:30 Tuesday morning 200 workers formed in ranks of two, despite the fact that there were many stool pigeons nearby sent by the employment agents and the steel companies. How the Imperialists Incite the Farmers to War

By ALEX BITTELMAN.

The imperialists all over the world are working overtime to get the farmers to support the pext war, especially the military intervention against the Soviet Union.

When we speak of farmers in the United States we don't mean the rich farmers, the farmer-capitalist. This group of farmers, who are a small minority of the farming population, are exploiters themselves. They are part of the same capitalist class, whose system is responsible for the crisis and misery of the masses, and whose government is preparing for war and military intervention

The farmers we speak about are the poor farmers, the exploited farmers: the farmers who are robbed and ruined by the big landowners, the trusts and the banks. These are the overwhelming majority of the farming population in the United States. And the bulk of these consists of landless tenants, whose condition in the southern states is practical serfdom, especially that of the Negro tenant farmers. Next to the landless tenants come the large and ever increasing number of bankrupt farmers whose heavily mortgaged land is a burden rather than a help to them. It is precisely these poor and exploited farmers that the imperialists are trying to inveigle into war and military intervention.

In order to deceive the farmers as to the real cause of their miseries, and for the purpose of inciting them to military intervention against the Soviet Union, Big Business and its government-Hoover & Co.-have invented the lie of Soviet wheat "dumping." Hoover and the big capitalists, the people who are responsible for all the ills and suffering of the farming masses, are trying to shift their responsibility and their criminal failure to provide relief for the farmers over to the shoulders of the Soviet Union. It is difficult to find another example of brazen imperialist hypocrisy to match this one

The Soviet Union is exporting grain in quantities much smaller than is exported by Canada or Argentina. It certainly exports much less grain than did the Czarist government of Russia. Why? Because the chief concern of the Soviet Government, which is a government of Workers and Farmers, is to provide for the needs of the masses at home who toil and produce goods. The Soviet Government is not in the wheat exporting business for the sake of profit, or to undersell competitors in order to capture their markets. This is the capitalist and imperialist way of doing business. It is Big Business, the banks and grain speculators, that are doing all the dumping, not the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union exports to exchange goods for goods. Wherever it sells it also buys. It sells grain and buys machinery. In the United States, it buys more than it sells. This supplies work for American workers, 13 million of whom are totally unemployed today due to the capitalist crisis. Large numbers of workers are thus enabled to buy more of the products of American agriculture than they would without the Soviet orders for machinery.

Is this "dumping"? Of course not. The Federal Farm Board and Hoover have invented the lie of Soviet "dumping" in order to cover up their own bankruptcy and crimes against the exploited farmers.

This Hoover lie was completely exploded at the International Wheat Conference in London which came together to devise means and ways of dealing with the "surplus" of wheat. The American official delegate. Mr. McKelvie, had only one solution for this question. namely, that the "farmers curtail production." The farmers in the United States are familiar with this song of the bankers and speculators. The exploited farmers have been hearing this thing of "reducing acreage" and "curtailing production" ever since 1921, when Big Business began the post-war drive to "deflate" the farmers as well as the workers. But the farmers could not and did not accept it, because it meant a still lower income and further ruin and enslavement to the mortgage banks and speculators. Only Big Business stands to gain from the Hoover program of "curtailing production."

McKelvie also declared at the London Wheat Conference that "the United States will not participate in any international wheat pool." Why? Because Big Business in the United States has only three aims in mind: one is to force the American farmers to reduce acreage, the second is to beat its rivals on the world market, and the third-to wage war against the Soviet Union

What did the delegate of the Soviet Union propose? The Soviet Union offered to join the other wheat exporting countries in considering the question of the distribution of the 1931 wheat harvest, but upon a certain condition. What was this condition?

"That the possible methods of solving this important question must not, however, lead to the lowering of the standard of living of the working masses," (From the interview with Lubimov, head of the Soviet delegation to the Wheat Conference.)

In making this offer, the Soviet Union categorically rejected the proposal of American Big Business that "the farmers curtail production." The Soviet delegates maintained that in a world where tens of millions of workers and farmers are slowly dving of starvation the problem is to enable the masses to buy more wheat. instead of curtailing its production. Also, that this can be done not by merely telling them to eat more wheat, as some European capitalist powers are proposing, but by raising the earning and buying power of the toiling masses. This is the meaning of the condition laid down by the Soviet delegates, which was greeted by the workers and farmers all over the world.

What happened then was this: none of the capitalist delegates, who represent the interests of Big Business and big landlords, accepted the proposals of the Soviet Union. The Conference achieved nothing. The capitalist and landlord delegates went home to continue cut-throat competition among themselves, making the toiling masses at home pay for the tariffs and competition, and to intensify their warfare against the Soviet Union.

This conference has clearly shown up American Big Business as the greatest and most malicious dumper and exploiter.

Agriculture in the United States and in the Soviet Union. One of the biggest reasons why American Big Business has become the chief instigator of the economic warfare against the Soviet Union and for military intervention is the capitalist fear of the successful socialist construction in the Soviet Union.

In November, 1917, the workers and peasants of Russia, led by the Communist Party, had made an end to the rule of the landlords and capitalists. The victorious revolution of the masses established the rule of the workers and peasants-a Soviet Government This government is now carrying through a Five Year Plan of Socialist Construction. It is building successfully a Socialist system of society, where all the wealth of the nation belongs to the toilers, and where production is carried on for their benefit.

There is no crisis in the Soviet Union, neither industrial nor agricultural. On the contrary, industry and agriculture are growing at a most tremendous rate. But it is Socialist industry and collectivized agriculture. No capitalist and landlord can rob the toilers of the fruits of their labor. The toilers enjoy it themselves. The well being of the masses is growing daily. They produce to satisfy their needs and to develop further the Socialist system. That is why they are free from the curse of "excessive" food supplies in the capitalist warehouses and at the same time hunger and starvation among the toiling masses. That is why the Soviet Union has no crisis and no unemployment.

The bulk of the American farmers have been suffering from an agricultural crisis since 1921, since Big Business has begun to "deflate" the farmers. The outbreak of the industrial crisis in 1929, following the collapse of the criminal speculative orgy in Wall Street, has intensified manifold the chronic agricultural crisis. A general world economic crisis has begun and is still going from bad to worse. What this did to the farmers, as well as to the workers, is difficult to describe. The income of the farmers is falling catastrophically. The American wheat farmers will get this year about 400,-000,000 dollars for their wheat, whereas last year they got $517,000,000 and the year before $834,000,000.

What the farmer Coney, who led the hunger march of Arkansas farmers to the town of England, said about the plight of himself and his neighbors is true of millions of farmers all over the country. He said: "Lots of people are slowly starving, even in good times, on meal and mollasses. That means pellagra. It's all too prevalent hereabout. They finally go crazy in the last stages.'

Who is responsible for this? The capitalist system and Big Business. But they don't admit their responsibility. Moreover, they are making the farmers and the workers pay for the crisis. The fall in the price of wheat is made good not from the profits of the railroads, banks and speculators but from the income of the exploited farmers, and the wages of the agricultural and industrial workers.

Relief to the starving farmers? Relief to the unemployed workers? Hoover and the capitalists are against it. Let them starve, this is the message of the capitalists to the toiling masses. The nice speeches of the so-called Progressives in Congress-Norris, LaFollette, etc.-mean exactly nothing and produce nothing.

These Progressives are also capitalists, they are not representatives of the exploited farmers. They are not starving and hungry themselves, these Progressives. Their speeches "for the farmers" have only this result: it keeps the farmers back from organizing and waging a real fight-a fight against the capitalist system, in alliance with the revolutionary workers.

Agriculture in the United States, as in all capitalist and colonial countries, is in deep crisis. In the Soviet Union it is growing. Why? Because agriculture in the Soviet Union, as well as industry, is carried on for the benefit of the workers and farmers. Especially great are the achievements of the collectivization of the individual peasant economies. On the 1st of June, 1931, over one-half, 52.7 per cent, of all the individual holdings of the poor and middle peasants had joined the collective farm movement.

This collectivization of agriculture frees the individual peasant from the worry and uncertainty of crop failures; it liberates him from the life-destroying drudgry of small peasant economy with primitive tools; it raises tremendously the productivity of the soil and of labor by utilizing modern machinery, implements, fertilizer, supplied by the government to the collectives; it gives the peasant leisure for a social and cultural life: it makes the peasant an active and conscious participant in the building of a new life, a new social system, free from oppression and exploitation, free from hunger and starvation. free from crisis and wars.

Farmers Must Fight Imperialist War and Military Intervention.

The gainers of the war of 1914-1918 were the capitalists. The "deflation" of agriculture engineered by Big Capital, and the profound agricultural crisis, that followed the war had eaten up manifold the so-called "gains" of the farmers during the war. This "last" war, and the post-war crisis, have ruined the toiling farmers, fastening still more the domination of trustified capital upon agriculture.

Instead of giving relief, Capital is deflating the farmers still further. To solve the crisis at the expense of the toiling masses, Big Business is preparing for a new war, spending billions of dollars on armaments and the Navy, for which the farmers and workers must pay. A new slaughter is being prepared especially against the workers and farmers of the Soviet Union. Stimson and Mellon are now abroad trying to unite the capitalist governments for military intervention in the Soviet. Union

The toiling farmers have nothing to gain and everything to lose by the new imperialist war. The toiling farmers of the United States, the same as the industrial and agricultural wage workers. are particularly menaced by the imminent military intervention against the Soviet Union, which is the hope of the exploited all over the world, which is laying the basis for a new world of freedom and equality, which is the greatest factor making for peace and fraternity among nations.

The toiling farmers must join hands with the revolutionary workers in the fight against imperialist war and military intervention in the Soviet Union. They must join the common fight against hunger, starvation and capitalist terror under the leadership of the Communist Party.

Against imperialist war. Against military intervention in the Soviet Union. For a Workers' and Farmers' Government in the United States

"No Irish Need Apply"

You have to be old enough to remember Grover Cleveland at least, if you are not mystified by the title of this Spark. It was used in the days when the poor Irish peasantry was immigrating by shiploads to America. Yes, before Russians became a "menace." Such a sign was seen in "help wanted" ads in the papers, and tacked on to similar notices at factory gates.

Yes, by the brow of St. Peter and the shinbone of Cardinal Hayes, the Irish were then treated like an Irish cop of today treats a striker.

We were reminded of all this by picking up one of Ryan Walker's relics. Comrade Walker has a great collection of this, that and the other in cartoons, and dug up a copy of "Puck" dated March 28, 1883.

There in the double page center was a drawing by J. Keppler, showing the lobby of "Uncle Sam's Hotel," and the bottom line title: "The U. S. Hotel Daily Needs a Bouncer." That was before Doak, who fills the bill perfectly at present

A big husky, with a belt labelled "bouncer" and a cap labelled "Arthur," meaning President Arthur, we imagine, is flinging Irish out of the door with both hands, while Parnell at the doorway, hesitates before entering. Another Mick with a German companion, shrinks in fear.

You see, in those days Germans were "dangerous foreigners," because the ones who immigrated to America were "outlaw" revolutionists fleeing from Bismarck's oppressive laws and bearing the Communism of Karl Marx's historic "First International." the International Workingmen's Association.

Getting back to the cartoon: On the wall of the "U. S. Hotel" is a list of "Rules and Regulations," reading as follows:

"Guests are Required to Preserve Order." "No Bomb-Throwing."

"No Incendiary Talk."

"No Communism."

"No Fenianism."

We have not the slightest idea that it will do any good, but you soap-boxers might kid the Irish cop that "guards" your meeting by reminding your audience of these old days when Irish were looked upon as devilish undesirable citizens and Communism was said to be imported from Germany.

So, Finn Farmers Are Sore

We have heard so much about the sorrows of the Russian "kulak" that it is a relief to learn that just over the border, in capitalist Finland, that farmers are having their farms taken away from them, not by awful Bolsheviks, but quite the contrary, by capitalists.

So we were informed by the N.Y. Times of June 16, which printed a dispatch from that marvelous center of veracity, Helsingfors, which said that "excited farmers prevented the legally authorized sale of a farm"-no doubt by foreclosure.

The capitalist government of Finland, which gets dreadfully worked up at the plight of the "kulaks" in the Soviet Union, is said to have "published a proclamation to the police authorities which requested them to use all available forces to prevent citizens from interfering with legal functions."

It is added that thousands of farms (and there aren't a great lot in Finland) are threatened with "forced sale for debt."

It is up to the American farmers who are chained to the banks to take a leaf out of the Finnish farmers' book and refuse to pay, all together, and "prevent legally authorized sales"they can do it just as easily as the Finnish burning question. The strike means the drawing in of hundreds of new fighting elements into the Party, many of them young American elements. Negro and women workers. It means the setting up of many new units, and the reorganization of the old units.

The strike cannot be considered a victory for the workers, unless a mass Party is established.

Shortly before the strike, the Party in Western Pennsylvania, had at most 75 members in the mining fields, and not more than 25 members in East Ohio and West Virginia. Many of these Party members belonged to units which were not meeting regularly and not functioning properly.

Before the strike, a number of important preparatory steps were taken which undoubtedly had an effect on the rapid spread of the strike The Hunger March, which took place on April 18th, with nearly 100 delegates from the mine ployed and unemployed miners. In some sections, such as New Kensington and Avella, it resulted in the organization of Unemployed Councils of the NMU. The strikes in the Tom-ajko and Edna mines in Westmoreland County, led by the NMU also advanced the struggle of the miners. These strikes, together with the strikes in Central Pennsylvania, and in the Sauerkraut mine, proved to the miners that successful resistance could be put up against wage cuts and rotten conditions, in spite of the fact that the National Miners Union did not at that time have a mass union in the bituminous fields. All of these preparatory struggles served to get rid of some of the pessimism which hung over from the defeats suffered by the miners in 1929. Until shortly before the strike, although the NMU had the political leadership of masses of miners, it was organizationally very weak.

The pessimism which had existed, was to be

TO-DAY IS RENT DAY AND THE LANDLORD WILL BE AROUND TO COLLECT THE MONEY FROM US WHICH HE DEMANDS THAT WE FAY HIM ON THE FIRST DAY OF EVERY MONTH.

After we have paid him the rent some of us will not have a cent left to live on or to buy food with.

FELLOW TENANTS I The tenants of #334 E. Sth. St., have united together and told Mrs. Bloch, the owner of the house that they will pay no rent until she has made repairs and granted them all a reduction in rent. NOT ONE TENANT IN 334 E. Sth. St. will pay rent to-day I

Mrs. Bloch is "thinking over" the reduction in rent. When she sees that we mean business, she will do more than "think it over" - she will reduce the rent and make repairs

The fight will be stronger and our victory certain if we join together. We will show the landlords of all these houses that we are fighting a common fight 1 Ke can also force the landlords to do more than "think it ever". We can force them to reduce our rent and make repairs in the apartments.

4. That we are too weak to lead strikes at the present time in East Ohio.

Another form of the failure to properly estimate the situation is seen in the argument put forward that what the Party needs now is day to day detailed organization work, and not "showy demonstrations."

This argument was used by a leading comrade who argued against holding a Hunger March on these grounds, but who, however, quickly saw and corrected his mistake.

This artificial separation of "mass work" from "detailed organiaztional work" (visiting of house to house contacts etc.), was manifested on a number of different occasions in the District. A leading members of the YCL displayed a tendency towards this separation, and towards the separation of the work of building the YCL,' too much, from the TUUL youth work. The Daily Worker Agent of the District stated that his work was not mass work, and went further. and argued against being placed on the agitprop department, on the ground that he would rather do "mass work," and also stated that the visiting of units by District Representatives. is not mass work. These comrades did not fully realize that detail organization work cannot be mechanically separated from "mass work" and is an important part of mass work.

It is quite obvious now, at least in District Five, that in the present period, if the Party wants to lead masses, and build a mass Party, it must do so on the basis of leading struggles. and strikes of the workers against wage cuts and starvation and for the needs and demands. The basic cause of these wrong tendencies, was the underestimation of the tremendous militant fighting resistance against starvation, which was developing in the workers.

The District Bureau knew that conditions of literal starvation to an unheard of extent existed in the mining field, but underestimated the speed of the development of the struggle against these starvation conditions. This is shown by the fact that the two months plan of work of the Party, did not emphasize the immediate development of strike struggles. The Party leadership realized that strikes were increasing and foresaw that the NMU must be built into a mass union in the heat of such strike struggle. But the Party Fraction of the miners' union for example, which met on April 26th, was not yet mobilized for immediate strike struggle. The mistake was in foreseeing a period of small individual strikes and in not realizing that a broad mass strike movement had ripened.

On May 7th, two leading Party members from Avella came to the Party office and insisted that plans for developing strike struggles in the Avella Section must be speeded up. The minutes of the Secretariat of May 7th states: the Secretariat to the necessity of decisive action and a demand on the part of the miners

I ist League faces tremendous problems. The world crisis, which has meant misery and starvation for millions of workers, including a large percentage of young workers, and the growing danger of war on the Soviet Union, make this convention one of the most important that the YCL has held.

By I. AMTER

THE Sixth Convention of the Young Commun-

The masses of young workers are not yet within the sphere of influence of the YCL. Capitalism is continually on guard against the encroachment of the YCL on its "preserves"--the young workers and the children of the working class. Hamilton Fish and his despicable committee, operating in the interests of the capitalist class, know that the young workers and the working class children are potent factors for the revolutionary movement. They know that, in view of the war plans of the U.S. imperialist government, which are being put into effect very rapidly, the young workers will be the first needed to put them through-as cannon fodder. The activities of the imperialists among the young workers, through the YMCA, YMHA, the CMTCs, the boy and girl scouts and similar organizations, reveal the feverish haste with which the imperialists are working.

These young workers, who are starving in the streets, owing to unemployment; who are having their wages cut, however low they may have been, are fighters. They must be lined up with the revolutionary movement. They must be reached by the Young Communist League. As voted a long meeting to this strike preparation. The minutes of May 7th in view of later developments are an interesting record. "The comrades from Avella proposed that we have the perspective of calling a strike within eight to ten days. It was decided that the strike be immediately prepared in Avella, that the District office shall send comrades to Avella units to guide them in the work. New forces must be brought in and local leadership built up. Special attention must be paid to linking up the fight against wage-cuts, with the struggle against unemployment. The Unemployed Council of Avella Sec.ion must be drawn into the strike preparations and the demands shall also coordinate the struggle of the employed and unemployed"......The Secretariat then assigned added forces to work in this Section. It was emphasized that the strike shall not be called from Pittsburgh, and that the largest number of miners shall be drawn into the work of drawing up the demands, and into the preparations for the strike.

However, the fact that the speed of develpment of the struggle was underestimated, was shown by the following sentence in the minutes "Special attention must be given to calling out all mines of the section, and spreading the strike, so that it will not consist of merely a strike in the P. & W. and the Duquesne Mines." Our underestimation of the power and scope of the mass movement which was developing against starvation conditions should serve as

The convention will turn the membership of the Young Communist League to the basic tasks of the YCL: the organization of the millions of unemployed young workers; the organization of the young workers in the shops and mines for struggle against the wage slashes, lengthening of hours and speed-up, which are taking place now, and will face the young workers and the entire working class in the coming months. It will deal with the vital problem of lining up the young Negro with the young white workers, to form solid ranks for the fight against jimcrowism, lynching, etc.

The young miners of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia demonstrate that the young workers will fight-and fight like hell. What they need is organization-organization into the revolutionary unions of the Trade Union Unity League, organization into the Young Communist League.

Face to the factories-each individual member of the League an organizer of the Young Communist League in the shop in which he or she works-mass sale and distribution of the Young Worker-building up of the Labor Sports Union-preparation, organization and mobilization for struggle against the coming attack on the Soviet Union. These are the vital tasks-and the Sixth Convention will set the League on the path of performing and realizing them.

particularly in the steel industry and railroad industry.

The strike in Western Pennsylvania undoubtedly has had a tremendous effect upon the working class in all basic industries. The fact that one of the immediate results of the strike was the building of an Unemployed Council in Pittsburgh and renewed activity of the unemployed which held successful demonstrations, preventing the shipping of scabs from Pittsburgh to the mine field, shows the effect of the strike on the unemployed workers of Pittsburgh. These unemployed workers, recognizing that the workers themselves in their own organization, the TUUL, are fighting a bitter struggle against starvation, expressed their solidarity with the miners in no uncertain terms. The effect of the strike on the steel workers and railroad workers must not be underestimated. We must realize that the conditions of the steel workers are nearly as bad as those of the miners, that unemployment, wage cuts, part time work, and speed up, has been stirring up in the steel workers a mood for struggle.

The slogan of the solidarity of the steel workers and coal miners must now be put forward seriously. The strike of the miners spread to East Ohio because the miners realize that a general mine strike is the best method of struggle against starvation. The effect of the Western Pennsylvania strike is clearly seen in East Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Southern Illinois. The strike of the miners has unfor strike." What's All the "Left" About?

Picked up the paper last Thursday (the World-Telegram of N. Y.) and bless me if there wasn't a headline reading: "Labor group starts riot in Commons," and the first paragraph of the story read:

"LONDON, July 2.-The House of Commons was the scene of unparalleled disorder today when the left wing Laborites resisted the suspension of one of their number."

"Well," thought Red Sparks to himself, "have we been all wrong in saying that the 'left' laborites (or "socialists") are only a sort of come-on guys to get workers into control of the 'right' by pretending to be 'left'? Here is a story that seems to indicate that they were making a real scrap against that old counter-revolutiony Ramsay MacDonald. What's it all about?"

So we read down through the story, a story telling of how the "left" laborites had "clawed. kicked and tackled attendants" who tried to remove J. McGovern of Glasgow from the sacred House of Commons after he had been suspended on the motion of MacDonald.

But what was the cause? Had McGovern demanded immediate freedom for India and a release of the Meerut prisoners? Had he protested at the wage cuts being put over on the British textile, railway and mine workers! Maybe he had demanded that the "Labor Government stop plotting war on the Soviets?

Alas! Nothing of the kind! This "left" aborite was interested in none of these basic things. All his "revolutionary" fervor was spent on a demand to know why-as the United Press dispatch put it-"why Scottish preachers had been imprisoned for preaching on the green (park)."

the steel workers especially, we have been too slow in mobilizing for struggle.

The strikes of the steel workers in Mansfield, etc., should sound warning. The MWIL must react more quickly to struggle against wage cuts.

The building of the Party must go forward much faster in this period of strike struggle. Within the next few weeks, large numbers of miners, steel workers and unemployed, must be drawn into the Party. Fraction conferences in the mining field to take up mass recrtuiting of miners into the Party has already begun. The plan of recruitment into the Party is now under way. The new members taken in, will be organized into new units, or placed into existing units, and explained the role of the Party and its tasks taken up in these units.

The recruitment into the Party among the steel workers and unemployed in Pittsburgh, must accompany the recruiting drive in the mine field.

Now is the time in the period of struggle, to go forward to the building of a mass Party in the Pittsburgh district.
