STRESS PEACE POLICY OF USSR

Molotov Scores the War Provocations

MOSCOW, Jan. 25 (By Radio) .ng session of the Central Committee of the Soviet Union (the first secion was published in yesterday's Daily Worker), V. Molotov, chairman of the Council of People's Commissars, referred to the attitude of the Soviet Union toward the present imperialist war in the Far East and its increasing threat of a rapid tran-sition into a world imperialist war.

Molotov reiterated the Soviet policy put forward by Litvinov at Geneva. declaring the Soviet Union is animated by a firm desire for peace and prevention of new wars. He pointed sistently proposed the abolition of all armaments, and added "the policy of struggle for peace firmly carried out by the Soviet Union finds its expression in the proposals for non-aggression pacts made to a number countries. Only last year we finally attained real gains in connection with the non-aggression pacts, although we made these proposals

APPEAL FOR AID TO SAVE 'DAILY' FROM SUSPENSION

By THEODORE DREISER.

THE DAILY WORKER is the only newspaper in the English language in America today which devotes itself whole-heartedly to the vital interests of the workers. I find in its editorial columns, as well as in its presentation of news, those things which I believe should and do develop in the American Worker of today a sense of his just dues, and the manner in which, in regard to them, he is deceived and exploited. In all other journals, there is to be found that spurious "impartial" judgment of political events, which serves only to conceal a viciously biased viewpoint in favor of capital and as against justice to labor.

ANGELO HERNDON CALL TO UNITED ACTION FOR LABOR LEGISLATION SENT TO N.Y. WORKERS

Officially Anounces Albany Conference for Feb. 25-27 on State Wide Basis

Formulated by 69 Unions and Fraternal Organizations; More Are Endorsing It

NEW YORK .- "A Call for United Action to Promote Labor Legislation" was officially issued yesterday by the Preliminary Conference of 69 unions and workers' fraternal organizations in Irving Plaza Hall Sunday. The call is "To all central labor bodies, local unions, social, fraternal and benevolent associations in the State of New York," and urges each body to elect two delegates to the State Conference in Albany, Feb. 25 to 27, to work out bills for labor legislation to present to the legisla-

The call is in full as follows:

"BROTHERS AND SISTERS, GREETINGS: Millions of men and women throughout New York State are faced with permanent unemploy-ment. Those still working have had their wages cut as high as 50 per cent. Workers striking in attempts to resist lowering of wages and living standards are restrained by injunctions. In the face of growing unemployment, affecting over two millions of workers in this state, child labor is still on the increase. The unemployed and part-time workers are having their homes broken up by court orders for eviction on account of inability to pay high rents. At the same time homes of workers built by their meager savings of a life-time, are being lost to them through foreclosures.

York City on Jan. 22, 1933, have resolved to call a state conference in Albany to take place on Feb. 25, 26 and 27, where bills in the interests of labor will be drafted for presentation to the State Legislature. These bills are to deal primarily with unemployment insurance and immediate relief, anti-injunction, child labor, shorter work day and shorter work week with no further reduction in wages, a minimum wage scale, the maintenance of union scale of wages on all city and state jobs and on unemployment relief work, discrimination against Negro, foreign-born, women and young

"We urge all labor unions and organizations to elect one or two delegates to this state conference and bring in whatever proposals or suggestions they may have in the interests of their membership.

"For the Voice of labor to be heard effectively, and to ward off the attacks of the employers and their spokesmen, it is necessary that the ranks of labor be united behind this conference. We must demonstrate through this conference that labor is united in its determination to advance its own

But the moment it has mass influence, the workers being forced with the steady decline of their conditions on the job will not be satisfied with the opposition introducing good programs and demands and expect the opposition to lead them in the every day struggles against the loss of conditions on the jeb which means against the boss, irrespective of the treacherous maneuves of the A. F. of L. burocracy. Even the smaller oppositions could in the prevailing circumstances increase their influence far more rapidly if they would master the method and tactics as to how to develop collective organiza> tion and action on the job. The outstanding problem therefore that faces the mass opposition movement in New York is the transone of parliamentary opposition into an opposition of action for improvement of conditions and for independent struggle. The task is to revolutionize these oppositions from one of being mere militant agitation groups to one of militant action. The maintenance of unionism in many trades depends essentially upon this transformation. Organization Methods different local unions have themselves taught us many new ways of opposition organization in the local unions. From rank and file groups and fraternal clubs to joint action and united front committees, etc. Several oppositions have sprung up of a nature not controlled by the Trade Union Unity League but persuing essentially the program of the T.U.U.L. In all these forms the class scious left wing should be ready to learn what we must add in the transformation of these oppositions is organization on the job. Weinstein in Court | 14 EVICTIONS AT Today: Workers to Protest Frame-Up

NEW YORK .- The trial of Sam Weinstein, the framed furniture worker is coming up this morning at 9.30 a. m. at the Bergen Building, Trement and Arthur Aves.,

Sam Weinstein was framed on charges of felonious assault and manslaughter during a strike of the workers of the Muskin Manufacturing Co. against a lay-off. The charges draw sentences of 10 and 20 years respectively.

It is absolutely imperative that all workers' organizations cooperate with this militant worker and fight for his immediate and unconditional release.

Protests should be sent by all working-class organizations and mass meetings to: Charles B. McLaughlin, District Attorney, Bergen Building, Tremont and Arthur Aves., Bronx, N. Y.

Funds are needed immediately and should be sent to the Weinstein Defense Commmittee in care of International Labor Defense, 799 Broadway, Room 338.

In this capacity, he took part in a deal on Oct. 12, 1932 that has since added greatly to the hardships of the longshoremen and their families. On that day, Ryan met with representatives of the shipping lines and made an agreement which stipulated a ten per cent reduction in wages for all mem-bers of the International Association.

Ryan is also a backer of an or-ganization which operates secretly in the terrorization of employed and unemployed workers. The principal aim of this group is to stifle the growing militant movement among the workers. On April 3, 1930, the New York City Chamber of Commerce formed a unit to fight the demands of the workers for ade-quate relief and jobs under the leadership of the Communist Party. This unit became a part of what is now known as the "American Coalition." This organization includes delegates from the American Legion and more than 55 other militaristic and patriotic bodies. This coalition against the workers urges, among other things, the registra-tion of aliens, deportation of undesirables (militant workers), and the tightening of the immigration laws. The A.F.L. leader has offered his whole-hearted support to the anti-working class program of this coal-

Prison Warden Threat: Plan Mass Congress

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—In their attempts to stifle the rising thunder of protest against the continued imprisonment of Tom Mooney, the California bosses are now threatening to hold him incommunicado in San Quentin Prison in order to com-pletely cut off Mooney from the masses of workers and intellectuals who are rallying to the mass fight for Warden James B. Holohan said yesterday he was considering such action. He declared he had received many complaints, "some from high government officials, concerning the flood of Mooney propaganda being circulated, by the mails and other means under Mooney's name." He declared he "would not have San Quentin prisoners issuing political pronunciamentos to the vorld. The only way to stop it, it seems, is for us to forbid interviews with Mooney."

The toiling masses must answer immediately this threat to hold Mooney incommunicado! Rush protests to Gov. Rolph of California and to Warden James B. Holohan at San Quentin. Elect delegates for the Free Tom Mooney Congress in Chicago April 30! Strengthen the mass fight for Mooney's freedom:

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25,-A call for a Free Tom Mooney Congress, to which representatives of workers' organizations all over the country are invited, to be held in Chicago, April 30 to May 2, was issued today. The International Labor Defense is supporting this Congress, and has called on all its districts, sections, and branches, not only to elect delegates to the Congress, but to bring the call to all other working-class organizations throughout the country, to secure the election of delegates.

Following is the test of the call,

Defense Committee:

"I hereby issue today, Jan. 21, 1933, this call for a Free Tom Mooney Congress, to be held at Chicago, April 30 to May 2, 1933, under the auspices of the Tom Mooney Molders' Defense Committee, to plan the final fight for my freedom. I appeal to every A. F. of L. union—local, district, state and national in its jurisdiction; to the railroad brotherhoods, and all other labor unions; to all working-class organizations—political, economic, defense, social, athletic, fraternal or cultural; and to all liberal organizations sympathetic to the workers, to elect two delegates from every local, lodge, or section to attend this congress Fight Wage Cuts, Hunger

"Labor in the United States is being shoved headlong into a state of peonage which even the coolies and chattel slaves never knew, while a few international bankers are becoming the uncrowned kings of the world. Because I fought such condi-tions with every fiber of my being and was framed by the enemies of the working class for doing so, be-cause I have become the symbol of labor struggling for its rights, the fight for my freedom can become the center around which the workers will rally in their desperate struggle against unemployment, wage-cuts and starvation. The Free Tom Mooney Congress will link my fight with every struggle of the workers. Now is the time when there is desperate need to inall class war prisoners, and against the ruthless intimidation and terrorcreed, color or nationality. Every struggle which won them bread. a slave, who has a drop of red blood not be beheaded." flowing in his veins, must now fight for his very life and that of his women and children. It is your duty and responsibility to take part in this

"Governor Rolph, tool of the laborhating bankers and industrialists, had decreed that I die in prison. This decision is a deliberate and insolent challenge to the entire labor movement. This challenge must be met. It can and will be met by the Free Tom Mooney Congress. The time has come when all organizations fighting for my freedom must be welded into the widest possible united front, whose might and agressiveness will serve notice on my framers and jailers that my con-

be tolerated. "Elect your delegates to the Free Tom Mooney Congress! "On to Chicago, April 30 to May 2,

This was the substance of a statement issued today by William L. Patterson, national secretary of the International Labor Defense, calling on all workers and intellectuals, Negro and white, throughout the country, to rally to the defense of this young organizer of the unemployed.

"The workers of America must not and cannot permit the blood-thirsty boss rulers of Georgia to railroad Angelo Herndon, or any other leader of the starving workers to jail and death," Patterson said. "The defense of Angelo Herndon will be raised to a national and even an international issue. The entire forces of the International Labor Defense will be thrown into rousing the protest of the working masses of Negro and white throughout the country, organizing a mass defense to support the legal action taken by the I. BERLIN WORKERS IN HUGE PROTEST

Demonstrate Against Hitler, Schleicher

BERLIN, Jan. 25, (By Radio) .-Despite the intense cold, thousands of workers answered the call of the Communist Party and joined today in one of the largest demonstrations held here recently, at the Buelow Platz in front of the Karl Liebknecht tinued imprisonment will no longer House, headquarters of the Communist Party of Germany. The workers demonstrated against Hitler, leader of the National Socialist (Fascist) Party, and Chancellor von Schleicher who permitted the Sunday's provocative demonstration of fascists in front of the Karl Liebknecht House.

Parade Through Section

The first columns arrived at 4 p. m As the square was too small to hold the masses of workers, it was de-cided that the columns should march through the square past the Lieb-knecht House and back into the orking-class sections.

Members of the Central Committee of the Communist Party, including Thaelman, secretary, Pieck, Florin, Schehr and Ulbricht, were welconied by stormy cheering as each new column passed.

The demonstrations included large detachments from the big factories, such as the A. E. G. (Berlin electric General Electric—Edit.), Borsig, Sie-General Electric—Edit.), Borsigfi Siemens, Ostram, etc.

Mass Support

Workers are still marching eight deep, column after column, past the Communist Party headquarters, cheering the members of the Central Committee, the general staff of the German proletarian revolution. Unlike Sunday ,there is no need to "protect" the demonstration today or to establish martial law, drive the population from the streets and mobilize 15,000 armed police, as happened at the fascist demonstration. On the contrary the pavements are lined with thousands of cheering men and women in elcquent support of the united front

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. -The Wall Street government, the chief instigator of the wars now raging in South America. today engaged in a fake maneuver to "avert" war between its Colombian puppets and Peru. The maneuver was lead by Secretary of State Stimson who held a conference with representa-tives of the imperialist powers signas 165.85 tory to the Kelogg-Briand pact which is supposed to have "outlawed" war styposed to have oddawed war, although imperialist wars are now raging in South America and the Far East and the U. Smash Hunger Plan of the Auto Bosses

Support the 8000 Briggs Workers who are striking against

Hail the strike victories of the Briggs, Waterloo and Motor Products workers!

(Statement of the District Committee of the Communist Party -District No. 7)

THE auto workers, after suffering numerous wage-cuts are I fighting back. Over 500 Briggs-Waterloo workers and 1600 Motor Products workers have won their fights against wage-cuts through organized strike action. Over 8000 workers from the Briggs Highland Park and Mack Avenue Plant are now on strike. The Hayes Body Plant in Grand Rapids is on strike. This wave of strikes is the only effective answer the workers can give to the attack of the bosses.

The Communist Party welcomes this militant action of the workers. It fully endorses the Auto Workers Union and its correct methods of leading strike struggles. The correct methods were expressed in the election of mass strike committees, and broad negotiations committees and the organization of mass picket lines. The Communist Party took the lead in organizing struggles of the auto workers, just as it leads in all workers' struggles. Our members were the most active among the strikers and are among the leaders of the Auto Workers Union. They stand in the forefront of every struggle for the everyday needs of their working class brothers.

The attack of the bosses takes place while the companies are piling up tremendous cash reserves, as the General Motors Corp., which increased its cash reserves from $127,351,530 in 1929 to $209,098.832 in 1932. The Ford Co. especially has been attacking the living standards of the workers—low wages—intense inhuman speed-up—establishment of a $1.00 a day and the relief system is part of this attack.

THE bosses in their mad attempt to stem the rising tide of struggle are using Frank X. Martel and leaders of the International Association of Machinists to smash the unity of the workers. These betrayers are trying to split the skilled workers from the unskilled. Together with the leaders of the I. W. W., and supported by the leadership of the Socialist Party they are making every effort to smash the iron unity of the strikers fighting under the leadership of their own union—the AUTO WORK-

Workers! Drive out the splitters! Maintain your solid fighting front under the leadership of the militant Auto Workers Union!

THE splendid example of solidarity expressed by the unemployed showed the growing unity of employed and unemployed. The unemployed workers supported the strike. Under the leadership of the Unemployed Councils, many unemployed workers were on the picket lines. Unemployed sent to the plants by Mayor Murphy's scabbing welfare de-partment and employment agencies refused to scab. The support of the struggles of the unemployed for relief and unemployment insurance by the employed workers is the best means of cementing the unity necessary for victory in our common struggles.

Auto Workers! The fight has begun!

Let's follow the example given by the heroic strikers, and smash the wage-cutting drive of the bosses and their government. The mass struggles of the unemployed will win relief for the auto workers from the companies which laid us off, and Federal Unemployment Insurance from the Communist Party.

THE role of the revolutionary press is grossly underestimated as an important instrument in struggle against the offensive of the bosses We do not sufficiently look toward our press in the light of Lenin's teachings, that is, as organizer, leader and collective propagandist among the masses. That is why our papers as yet are not the mass organs of the workers. If we would connect the Daily Worker with the everyday struggles of the masses, such as strikes, unemployed struggles, work inside the shops, inside of the A. F. of L., building our unions, Unemployed Councils and the Party, the Daily Worker would easily double its circulation in a short period. The Daily Worker must be made part and parcel of the struggles of the masses, and it also must reflect the struggles of the masses in its columns. This task is not the task of the editorial staff alone. It is the task of the Party and revolu-

onary workers in general. MUST REACH ALL DRGANIZATIONS

The present financial drive and the assignment of $4,000 to be raised in the Chicago District is a task behind which the masses of workers must be mobilized. We can not approach this question any longer on the basis of coming only our close organizations asking them to donate and collect must put into motion all the working class organizations on the basis of mass collections for the Daily Worker. We must get pennies, nickles, dimes and dollars from tens of thousands of workers as the surance of keeping the Daily Worker. Any other approach means that in the Chicago District we will be unable to raise the amount set.

THE Daily Worker plays an important role in the struggles of working class in the Chicago District. It was the Daily Worker that helped mobilize masses of workers in the struggles of the unemployed in Chicago. It is the Daily Worker that in the present paign against the 10 per cent wage cut in the Calumet steel remust be made an organizer and leader of that struggle. SPECIAL popular edition of Toward the Seizure of Power. by V. I. Lenin, in two volumes selling at a very low price to permit more workers to buy it, has just been issued by International Pub-

These latest Lenin volumes contain all of Lenin's writings during the four months preceding the successful proletarian revolution on Nov. 7, 1917. They include Lenin's letters to the Central Committee and other important revolutionary bodies on the eve of the uprising, as well as his classic, State and Revolution. In the appendices there are the minutes of the Central Committee during the two weeks preceding the revolution, as well as extensive biographical and explanatory notes which help a great deal in the understanding of the revolution and Lenin's role in it. The two volumes of Toward the Seizure of Power sell regularly at $2.50 each. The new special edition, bound in durable red cloth and printed on sturdy stock, sells at $1.50 a book and brings the price down by $2 for the two books.

The complete special popular set of the Collected Works, including the latest two books (8 books altogether), may be obtained at $11.75, half the price of the regular edi-

The books may be obtained from the workers' book shops or direct from International Publishers, 381 Fourth Ave., New York. When or-dering the two new books by mail add 20 cents for postage. The complete set is sent postage prepaid.

'EveryFactory Our Fortress'

Establish Intimate, Permanent Contacts With the Workers.

The successful accomplishment of this task (winning the majority of the working class) requires that every Communist Party shall establish, extend and strengthen permanent and intimate contacts with the majority of the workers, wherever workers may be found."—From the 12th Plenum Resolution, E. C. C. I.

DEVELOPING, FOLLOWING UP CONTACTS IN SHOP

HOWEVER, it goes back to the same old point—the lack of personal contact inside of the mill, the inability of our comrades to weld contact with other workers, made the shop paper something that was just gotten out, the grievances raised in the bulletin were not de-veloped, no action could be developed since our comrades did not form an integral part inside the mill to take up these grievances.

However, comrades, there have seen some highlights and these highlights can be regained through the correct methods. At one time we had 150 workers to a meeting. We have had 90 initiated members in the union. The high spots in the union membership generally developed when our union reacted to the attacks against the wage cuts, etc., or for instance, just recently, when we immediately popularized the Warren strike.

Another weakness which expressed itself in not our organizations and is in retaining a constant form of organization. We have gone from very general meetings of all the members of the union over to department meetings and then shifting back, with the result that the workers themselves felt there and no stability in the union even so far as the organization form was concerned, and left the union. They felt that their grievances were not adequately taken up with these shifting forms of organiza-tional structure. But this has already been overcome.

 0^{UR} fraction of the Party and the Y. C. L. isu't a shock brigade fraction in the union. Naturally with the Party nucleus in this condition, we also didn't have American workers. The union did not develop any new forces and most oustanding of all our trade union center is so weak, that it was not able to give the proper leadership. There was not sufficient discussion on what is happening in Warren, what is occurring in Gery and other mills-no exchange of experiences on important questions.

We must have a different approach to concentration. Unless the Party leading committees and tionaries give more constant and serious attention to shop work. unless there is organized a most intensive study of our experiences in shop work, we will not be able to take the proper steps. If there is going to be concentration, let there be concentration and not just talk about concentration.

How are we beginning to move out of this rut? Our system down there now in the mills is the old reliable grape vine system-that is ted or best man as a means of propaganda and developing organizational contact all along the line. We have some real good examples in this connection.

We are establishing a rigid check-up on the work inside the mill. At every unit meeting and union meeting, comrades get up and report on their week's activi-ties, report on their assignments, they have done during the week, whom they have handled. what contacts they have secured, etc. Already, although this has taken place now within the last month and a half, we are beginning to see tremendous results possibilities that will come out of this method of check-up.

TAKE, for instance, Comrade H., who has four friends. He is a Negro worker who came to our dance and was quite impressed in seeing so many Negro and white workers together. It was an I.L.D. dance. Our section organizer set the example to the unit and went over and started talking to different workers who were in the hall and he picked out this Comrade H., who proved to be very interested. He stated that he worked in the mill and the section organizer went to his house and talked with him and made friends with his wife and children. Then Comrade H. took the section organizer to four other workers. From 8 o'clock to 12 o'clock they went to visit these workers. In this way, a group is being formed around Comrade H. This is just what we want.

TAKE, for example, Comrade B., I who came in through a Russian organization. We have been checking up on this comrade constantly. For weeks he failed to make any report. Finally, by putting pressure on Comrade B., we got him to make an appointment with three American workers whom he knows. I went with Comrade B. up to these three American workers' homes. There we began to talk about farming, etc., and pretty soon it developed in a roundabout way into a discussion on organization.

knows that one of these American workers likes playing checkers. Now, comrades, do you know what happened? Probably this does not apply to every situation. But it did work here. Comrade B. knew a comrade in Baltimore who was champion checker player. He said, I am going to bring this comrade here. This interested many workers. Eight of them came down. In other words, eleven contacts were realized as a result of

A Falsifier of Marxism Who Has Blessings of Our Enemies

Calverton Ably Exposed in Article in Jan. 'New Masses'

By SAM DON

WE are not living in a vacuum.

The capitalist class is continually pressing its poisonous ideology upon the minds of the workers. An indispensable phase of the mobilization for imperialist war is the mobilization of "public opinion."
The cultivation of chauvinist ideology is at the same time increas-

The seventeen million unemploy ed in the country are a crying, living indictment of the system which creates unemployment and breeds wars. The material base for the ideological influence of the bourgeoisie amongst the workers has shrunk considerably. In spreading chauvinist propaganda in the preparations for war, we see the increase of fascist ideology, in its various forms, for the open dictatorship of the bourgeoisie. In diverting to safer channels the growing questioning of the system of capitalism, the ruling class increases in a more subtle and covered form its agitation and propaganda in the ranks of the working class. The bourgeois propaganda in the press, in the movies, and in the magazines, has its basis and roots in the various "impartial" philosophical, theoretical writings of the open and hidden apologists of capitalism. Our struggle, therefore, on the theoretical, philosophical front is not just hair-splitting, but is a struggle against bourgeois ideology in the ranks of the working class. It is part of the struggle for winning the majority of the working class.

THE January issue of the New Masses contains a very valuable article in unmasking and exposing a "Marxist" who has the official approval and blessing of the capitalist press, the Lovestoneites and Trotskvites. We refer to the article On the Marxism of V. F. Calverton," by David Ramsey and Alan Calmer. We know that the American ruling class is very desirous of building up the American Socialist Party as its main social support amongst the working class. It, therefore, also builds up such "Marxists" who will cover up the open bourgeois philosophy and ideas with thin and thick layers of "left" or Marxist phrases. Calverton plays this role in this special service for the ruling class.

The article begins with a presentation of Calverton's background. which is well summed up in the statement, "It must be manifest by now that Calverton is a type that reflects that attitude and ethics of a decadent, racketeering capitalist civilization." The "literary habits" of Calverton and his intellectual development is one of unscrupulous plagiarism and endless somersaults. The article does not merely make the charge that he is a plagiarist. does not content itself with one or two generalizations on his background, but substantiates these charges with numerous facts which are irrefutable.

But one may ask-how is it to be explained that such a shady individual like Calverton whose main activity at one time was to lecture on "sex as the greatest force in civilization," a man with such "literary habits" has become a "recognized Marxist" not only by the bourgeoisie and renegades, but even by some honest intellectuals who are drifting toward the left and who may even be anxious to absorb the teachings of Marxism-Leninism? Many of the intellectuals on the road toward the left find it very difficult to break with their past, to break with bourgeois ideology. Calverton's "Marxism," and his philosophies, therefore, give to some of these intellectuals the feeling that they have broken with the past and at the same time retain the comfort of the past and adopted a revolutionary philosophy. Therefore, all those who reconcile bourgeois philosophy with Marxism-Leninism play the role of intercepting and diverting the growing trend of the intellectuals to the left, and of keeping them chained to their bourgeois past.

The real value of the New Masses article is that it examines the various philosophical ideas of Calverton and traces them to their nasource-bourgeois philosophical theories and ideas.

CALVERTON'S VALUE

The reason for the recognition of Calverton as a Marxist by the bourgeois world, and the renegades, is aptly stated by the article: "By now it must be manifest that the reason the bourgeoisie regard Calverton as an authority on 'Marxism' is because he is ideologically 'safe' and because his theories give a distorted and misleading account of Marxism-Leninism as a body of knowledge."

HE class source of all attempts I to reconcile Marxian philosophy with bourgeois philosophy, of revising Marxism on the American scene must inevitably be traced to John Dewey. Calverton said: "The materialism of Marx was as pragmatic as modern instrumentalism. In 1929 Calverton, his associate, Schmaulhausen, and Harry Elmer Barnes, in an editorial note to their section of a symposium called "Sex and Civilization," spoke of "... the psychosocialogical methods of analysis and synthesis which illustrates the newer, more fertile approach to human nature, in which Dewey and Veblen are great pioneers." Dewey and Veblen, the original father of technocracy, the great pioneers of Marxism!

OUR PRAGMATIC GOVERNMENT"

The article in the New Masses exposes the bourgeois character of pragmatism and instrumentalism Incidentally, the New York Times of Jan. 22 carries a leading editorial on "Pragmatic Government," which comments on an article by a certain Mr. Walter Millis, who makes pragmatism the historical philosophy of the American government. The "Times" claims to take issue with this, but actually it gives us quite a good explanation of the meaning of pragmatism in its dynamic political sense. It says: "This might appear as an endorsement of the theory that the secret of success in community life is for everybody to feel that we are on the way, though we do not know where we are going." Indeed a very useful and safe philosophy for the ruling class to propagate amongst the workers at the present time! Those who are dissatisfied with capitalism, those who are beginning to question the capitalist system, let them at best adopt a philosophy which says, yes, we are on the way to a new society, but we do not know how to get there, we do not know exactly what path or road to choose. Be skeptical, look for new ways, but do not allow your skepticism to turn into struggle for revolutionary changes, for the only way out-through the dictatorship of the proletariat to a classless socialist society.

BROTHERS-IN-ARMS

Calverton does not stand alone in his acceptance of pragmatism and instrumentalism as Marxism A more "dignified scholar" who is not guilty of the "literary habits" of Calverton, but is also guilty of revising Marxism in a more "scholmanner, is one with Calverton on this fundamental point. Let us compare what Calverton above regarding pragmatism, take its cues from the scientific pragmatism of Dewey." Hook complains bitterly that Comrade Jerome in his article in the January Communist has misinterpreted misquoted and misunderstood his In a recent statement where Hook takes issue with Comrade Jerome, by no means inciden-tally, in a scholarly manner, he not only reiterates his revisionism, but enlarges on it. Just to take one fundamental statement. Hook tells us in that statement that, "I have just sketched a theory of perception which was indicated by Marx in his critical gloss on Feurbach (first glossary on Feurbach). John Dewey on independent psychological grounds developed this theory into a complete doctrine" (my emphasis-S.D.). Once again we are told by Hook that Dewey, independently of Marx, arrived at Marxism and, even in a more complete form. So we have it from Hook himself that Dewey was a more mature and complete Marxist than Marx himself! On reading the article on Calverton in the New Masses the defenders of Hook's "Marxism" must not be "shocked" to see such points of contact between the two. Calverton takes issue with the theory of knowledge as developed by Lenin in his Empirio-Criticism. So does Hook. The article in the New Mas ses quotes from Hook's review of Empirio-Criticism and shows how Calverton plagiarized Hook Of course, it is not merely a case of plagiarism; it is rather a case where Calverton is being inspired by T is not accidental that those who revise Marx deny the objectivity and the scientific nature of Marxism-Leninism. To deny the scientific nature of Marxism-Leninism s to open wide the doors for bourgeois interpretations of Marxism-Leninism. Here, too, we have a complete point of contact between Calverton's statement that objectivity is impossible in the social sciences and Hook's that "the new philosophy will triumph, not be cause it presents objective truth but because it fills the needs of human beings and the social conditions which generate these

Comrades Ramsey and Calmer, in refuting this revisionism, correctly point out the objective scientific nature of Marxism-Leninism. They correctly state: "It is to the interest of the proletariat, the only revolutionary class of capitalist society to have objective knowledge. And in the following statement we have a refutation of pragmatism and its denial of the objective nature of Marxism-Leninism: Marxism-Leninism the Proletariat has forged in action a science of revolution and society which enabled it to predict the last imperialist war, to carry through a successful revolution in the Soviet Union, to engage in building of a socialist society there, and to prepare for the new epoch of imperialist wars and proletarian revolutions. If Marxism-Leninism were but a frame of mind, or a subjective interpretation of events, what way would it differ from religion, which also claims to give a picture of reality?" In treating various philosophers and revisionists of Marxism, we must show their common The root of all revisionism is the same, however different its branches and leaves may appear. We must state, however, that a weakness of the otherwis good article on Calverton is the fact that it does not relate Calverton sufficiently to his brothers-

-By Burck

It is argued that it is not expedient to confess membership of the Party, of a specific organization, that it is better to limit oneself to the statement: "I am a Social-Democrat by conviction." It seems to me that organizational relationships should not be mentioned in the speech, i. e., to say: "for obvious reasons, I shall not speak about my organizational relationships, but I am a Social-Democrat and I shall speak about our Party." Such an atti-tude would have two advantages: it will be precisely and definitely stated that it is forbidden to speak about organizational relationships (i.e., whether I am a member of an organization, what organization, etc.), and at the same time reference will be made to OUR Party. This is necessary in order that the Social-Democratic speeches in court shall be Party speeches and dec-larations, so that the propaganda shall serve the purpose of the Party. In other words: formally I will not discuss my organizational relationships, I shall remain silent about them; formally, I shall not speak in the name of any organ-ization whatsover, but as a Social-Democrat, I shall speak to you about Our Party and ask you to accept my declaration as an at-tempt to expound precisely the Social-Democratic opinions that have been expressed in the whole of our Scoial-Democratic litera-ture, in such and such pamphlets, leaflets and newspapers.

CONCERNING the lawyer, you must keep a tight hold on him. Put him in a "state of siege," be-cause these intellectual rascals often play dirty tricks. They should be warned in advance: "If, you son of a bitch, you play any dirty trick or commit any political OPPORTUNISM, if you about the immaturity, or about the incorrectness of Socialism, about being carried away with enthu about Social-Democrats repudiating violence, about the peaceful character of their teachings and of their movement, or anything like that, then, I, the accused, will immediately interrupt you publicly, call you a scamp, and announce that I reject such a defense, etc."; and carry out this threat.

Only a competent lawyer should be engaged; others are no use. They must be told in advance to confine themselves exclusively to criticizing and tripping up the witnesses and the prosecutor on questions regarding the facts and the wording of the indictment, exclusively to concern themselves with discrediting the weak points of the court. Even the clever liberal law-yer is very much inclined to say or to hint at the peaceful nature of the Social-Democratic movement, at the recognition of its cultural role even by men like Attorney Wagner, etc. All such inclina-tions should be scotched at their roots. As, Bebel I believe, said, lawyers are the most reactionary people. Every man in his place. Be only a lawyer, ridicule the witnesses for the prosecution and the prosecutor. The most you may do is to compare the trial with a trial by jury in a free country, but don't touch on the convictions of the accused, don't dare say a word about what you think about these convictions; because you liberals, so far fail to understand those convictions, that even when you praise them, you cannot refrain from uttering banalities. Of course, this can be explained to the lawyers politely, mildly, compliantly, flexibly and cautiously. But the best thing is to fear the lawyers and not to trust them, especially when they say that they are Social-Demo-crats and members of the party (according to our Paragraph 1.)*

THE question of taking part in a Court investigation is determined it seems to me, by the questions of the lawyer. Having a lawyer means to take part in the court investiga-tion. Why not take part for the purpose of tripping up the witness and for agitation against the court? Of course, one must be very carethat need hardly be said. It would be best of all to announce at once, before the court investigation starts, in reply to the first question put by the President: "I am a Social-Democrat and in my speech I shall tell you what this

*At the time Lenin wrote, this paragraph I of the Party Rules permitted membership to the Party to all those who declared their agreement with the Party program and paid Party dues. The rule did not insist on the member performing active Party work. The Bolsheviks, led by Lenin, fought against this rile on the ground that it opened the door of the Party to all sorts of opportunist elements. A few months after this letter was written the Bolsheviks secured a majority and altered paragraph I in such a way as to restrict membership of the Party only to those who took an active part in its work.

"Smash Sectarianism -- Penetrate the Factories," Browder Aritcle Saturday

THE closing speech by Comrade Earl Browder at the Chicago Shop Conference held on Jan. 1, 1933, will be published in full under the title, "Smash Sectarianism-Penetrate the Factories" in this Saturday's issue of the Daily Worker.

In examining our shop work, Comrade Browder writes: ". . When we examine the improvement of the work in connection with the shop, one thing stands out clearly in almost every report: that the increased activities of the workers in the shops is to a great extent spontaneous, not the result of our organized stimulation and leader-

The article discusses the present state of our shop work and the methods of improving our work in the shops and the development of these struggles.

this role to the petty-bourgeoisie. Nor can we comment here on certain inexact and incorrect formulations in the article, as, for instance, "They (petty bourgeoisie) are both revolutionary and reactionary.

WE said at the outset that particularly those who revise Marx lay the basis for social-fascist theories. It is certainly not accidental that the Lovestone renegades of the Workers' Age spoke of Calverton's recent pamphlet Revolution" as "A Marxian defense that roots itself in the American language and traditions." counter - revolutionary Trotskyite 'Militant" carries a letter from Trotsky to Calverton inviting him to join the Trotskyites in the ted States and giving him some friendly advice on his Marxism. Neither is it accidental that Muste, in speaking of Hook's writings, exclaims, "and if his (Hook's) inter-pretation of Marx is not the correct one, then it should be. We do not need a cut and dried bible.

PARTY HEGEMONY ON THEORETICAL FIELD

The Party is fighting those sectarian tendencies which underestimate the drift of the intellectuals to the left. The Party favors and initiates the broadest united front with intellectuals on various issues. Those of the intellectuals who refuse to break decidedly with their past become the carriers of petty bourgeois ideology in the ranks of the working class. Those of the intellectuals who come closer to the the revolution and his assigning | Party, but who prefer to remain a little superior caste, living in their own little world, finding it diffi-cult to free themselves from the influences of "rugged individualism," are a serious obstacle in helping the broader stream of the leftward intellectuals in assimilating proletarian ideology and recognizing the hegemony of the Party on the theoretical field. The struggle against the "Marxism" of Calverton and others, is a struggle against petty bourgeois ideology, is a struggle for the hegemony of the Party on the theoretical field.

In order to win the majority of the working class we must defeat and destroy the influence of social fascism in the ranks of the working class. It is not accidental that the 12th Plenum, in emphasizing that the main tactical link in winning the masses is the struggle for their elementary needs, tells the Parties that a "relentless struggle must be waged against all distortions of Marxism-Leninism for the purity of Party theory in the spirit outlined in Comrade Stalin's
