FIGHT

AGAINST WAR AND FASCISM

HUNGER AND DEATH

Social insurance cannot be confined to the spheres of life such as the state and its agencies, the employers and employees, and the people themselves. The problem is much greater and the needs are more urgent.

A religious and economic bill.

Tuesday War Funds

In the case of social insurance the problem of financing is as great as the problem of providing a system of social insurance. The success of the social insurance program depends upon the ability of the states and their agencies to provide the necessary funds. This is why the bill provides for the establishment of a federal social insurance fund.

The fund is to be derived from the federal tax on wages and salaries, and from the federal tax on the income of individuals.

The federal tax on wages and salaries is to be one per cent of the annual income of every person over the age of 16 years.

The federal tax on the income of individuals is to be five per cent of the annual income of individuals over the age of 16 years.

These taxes are to be derived from the state and the federal government and are to be paid into the federal social insurance fund.

The federal social insurance fund is to be invested in bonds of the United States government and the income derived from the fund is to be used to finance the social insurance program.

The federal government is to be responsible for the administration of the social insurance program and is to be given the responsibility of seeing that the fund is used to provide the necessary benefits to the people.

An APPEAL to WOMEN
By CAROLINE CHEVET
International Secretary, International Woman's Peace and Arbitration Alliance
The question of women's peace and arbitration movements is one of the most important issues of the present time. The peace movement of women has made remarkable progress in recent years, and it is now necessary for us to consider the part which women can play in the movement for peace and arbitration.

Women And The Next War
By C. A. HATHAWAY
Women have a vital role to play in the struggle for peace and the prevention of war. The movement for peace and arbitration is not only a question of the prevention of war, but it is also a question of the creation of a better world for all mankind.

IOWA FARMERS
By BEN FIELD
The Iowa farmers have a unique position in the struggle for peace and arbitration. They are in a position to make a valuable contribution to the movement for peace and arbitration, and it is necessary for them to consider the part which they can play in this movement.

The Iron Hand of Imperialism
By J. B. LOWERY
Imperialism is one of the most dangerous and destructive forces in the world today. It is necessary for us to consider the part which imperialism plays in the struggle for peace and arbitration, and the steps which must be taken to prevent its further spread.

SWOROS OVER ASIA
By LANGSTON HUGHES
The question of war and peace in Asia is one of the most important issues of the present time. The struggle for peace and arbitration in Asia is not only a question of the prevention of war, but it is also a question of the creation of a better world for all mankind.
The Greatest Mother in The World

BY JOSEPH F. JUNEL

The American woman has a heart ten times bigger than that of the European woman. She is quick to respond to any form of distress and to any appeal for help. She has always been, and always will be, the noblest of creatures. She is the most beautiful of all the women in the world.

A Few in the Millers' Army

First of all, I must mention the job of the American man. He is a hard worker, and a good one, too. He can work all day and not get tired. He is a most valuable member of the family. He is always ready to help his wife and children.

The American woman has a heart ten times bigger than that of the European woman. She is quick to respond to any form of distress and to any appeal for help. She has always been, and always will be, the noblest of creatures. She is the most beautiful of all the women in the world.

MAY DAY in GERMANY

BY ANNA SCHULTZ

The workers of this country have always been active in labor disputes. They have always been ready to fight for their rights. They have always been quick to respond to any form of distress and to any appeal for help. They have always been the noblest of creatures.

Munitions – Racket or Capitalism?

BY C. HARLEY GRANT.

The World War has been fought by the workers of the world. They have always been active in labor disputes. They have always been ready to fight for their rights. They have always been quick to respond to any form of distress and to any appeal for help. They have always been the noblest of creatures.
IN ACCENTS of DEATH!

By JAMES T. FARRELL
Author of "The Young Manhood of Godfrey Page,"

With the approach of April, the charming city of Chicago, ill-famed for its peculiar climate, was7 painted, not in spring green, but in the color of the snow. The earth was turned into a sea of slush, and the janitors of the large business buildings were forced to make a deluge of it. The sidewalks were still uncovered, and the sound of the heavy tread of boots was heard from morning to evening. The air was cold and raw, and the dampness of the ground made it unpleasant to walk. The city was in a state of winter, and the people were eager for the arrival of spring.

As far as I could see, the city was a picture of gloom. The streets were deserted, and the windows of the buildings were dark. The few people who were out were dressed in heavy clothing, and their faces were hidden by scarves and hats. The city seemed to be asleep, waiting for the sun to come and warm it up.

The people of Chicago were tired of the winter, and they were looking forward to the spring. They were waiting for the flowers to bloom and the birds to sing. They were waiting for the sun to come and make the city cheerful again.

As I walked through the streets, I saw many people who were in a state of despair. They were looking for a way out of the city, and they were thinking of the future. They were hoping for a change, and they were waiting for the spring to come.

I turned to the right, and I saw a group of people standing in front of a small building. They were talking and laughing. They seemed to be enjoying the life of the city, and they were not afraid of the cold. They were waiting for the spring to come, and they were looking forward to the future.

The sun was rising, and I saw the city become alive. The streets were filled with people, and the windows of the buildings were bright. The city was a picture of joy, and the people were happy. They were waiting for the spring to come, and they were looking forward to the future.
THE VETERANS OF '76

By W. E. Richards

In the month of August in 1876, when the Union Centennial anniversary was observed by the country, the nations of the world paid the word's homage. Among the most prominent of the communities that engaged in the celebration was Lebanon.\(^1\)

On the eighth of the month, under the auspices of the local committee, a mammoth parade was inaugurated. This was considered a great success. At the head of the procession was the old time service vehicle, a fine example of the era, drawn by a team of four horses. Following this were other floats, each representing a different aspect of the nation's history. The parade was a fitting tribute to the country and its achievements.

JAPAN'S COMPETITIVE EXPORTS

By Wonfred L. Chapnell

The trade of the American manufacturer was undergoing a transformation. In one of eight cases, the manufacturer was finding that the demand for his product was decreasing. This was a cause for concern, as it threatened the economic stability of the country. However, the manufacturer was not alone in this struggle. Many other manufacturers were facing similar challenges.

One solution that was gaining traction was the adoption of new technologies. By implementing innovative methods of production, manufacturers were able to improve the quality of their products and reduce costs. This not only helped them maintain their competitiveness but also opened up new markets.

WHY THE 'Y's?'

By James Lerner

Recent changes in the labor market have been catching the attention of many. One of the most striking trends has been the growth in the number of people identifying themselves as 'Y.' This group, which includes young professionals, has been pushing for changes in the workplace and society. They are demanding more flexibility, better work-life balance, and greater opportunities for advancement.

The reasons behind this shift are multifaceted. The rise of 'Y's' can be attributed to several factors, including economic changes, technological advancements, and cultural shifts. As the world becomes more interconnected, individuals are seeking ways to balance their personal and professional lives.

In the end, it is crucial for manufacturers to adapt to the changing needs of the market. By understanding the desires of 'Y's,' they can create products and services that resonate with this generation. This will be the key to staying competitive in the years ahead.
TO OUR NEW READERS

This special number of FIGHT is reaching thousands of new readers. You who have never before seen or read this popular magazine which is new in its eighth number, must realize the importance of militant struggle against militarism and Fascism. If you are a woman reading this magazine—and this number is especially addressed to women—you must realize what the cost of War and Fascism is to you.

The burden of militarism is heavy upon women. (It will be even more so in the next slaughter.) The War makes demands upon the emotional and physical energy of your sons, sweethearts, husbands, brothers. They paint pretty pictures. They romanticize their boyfriends or their dear ones. They and their governments attempt to make you part of their machine. They plant you in their War factories and hospitals, exploit you with a little higher wages and work harder prices—and all for the profit under the guise of patriotism.

When the economic crises deepen—and when the working class and farmers can no longer bring the struggle against militarism and Fascism—when these forces are no more in alliance with the middle class and professionals—administrators, financiers, and economists—right, the capitalistic move to the road of Fascism. Pay in reduced...beats are increased...trade unions are destroyed...freedom of working class speech, press and assembly is abolished...Negroes, Jews, foreign born, as well as all non-conformists are branded. Legal workers, farmers and honest liberals are imprisoned, tortured and killed...women are put back in their places.

FIGHT is the official publication of the American League Against War and Fascism, fights against these evils. FIGHT publishes material not published anywhere else. FIGHT points articles, short stories, exposes, international news stories, factual material, photographs, cartoons. FIGHT publishes material from mass meeting, from the armed forces of the imperialist governments, from the workers'运动, from schools and colleges, from churches, from the farm, and from the centers of human culture.

FIGHT invites you—if you wish to be informed of this world-wide movement—to become a regular subscriber. We ask you to mail us 30 cents for a one-year subscription.
