War Is—Business

By Harry F. Ward

The profits of war business have reached such a point that the cost of the war itself is almost incidental. The profits of war business, in fact, are so great that the war itself is a mere appendage to the primary business of war. The profits of war business are not solely to be found in the war itself, but in the whole system of war, from the beginning of the war to the end. The profits of war business are not solely to be found in the war itself, but in the whole system of war, from the beginning of the war to the end.

A WALL OF IRON!

WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?

The famous workers' strike in the United States has been one of the most significant events of recent years. It has brought to the attention of the world the need for a better understanding of the problems of labor, and it has served to strengthen the spirit of solidarity among workers everywhere. The strike is the result of a long struggle for better wages, shorter hours, and improved working conditions. It is a struggle for the right to organize, and it is a struggle for the right to be heard. The workers have shown that they are not afraid to fight for their rights, and they have won the respect of the whole world. The strike is a symbol of the power of the workers, and it is a reminder of the need for a better understanding of the problems of labor. The workers' strike is a turning point in the history of labor, and it is a sign of the things to come. The workers have shown that they are not afraid to stand up for their rights, and they have won the respect of the whole world. "ALL THE NEWS THAT'S FIT TO PRINT"

WE publish in this number of FIGHT the cable-gram sent by Ambassador Page to President Wilson on March 5, 1917. This cable is printed in full. Why has this most important document, which, according to Dr. Harry F. Ward is "the clearest exposure we have ever had of underlying forces in the modern world that shape agents," been buried this long?

A few sentences of this cable were in the hands of the press about a month ago. And even those few sentences "saw the light" in very few newspapers. The NEW REPUBLIC commenting on the suppression of this cable said editorially:

Is this the freedom of the press about which the publishers have been lately so solicitous?

If the press owned, controlled and influenced by that class in society which is responsible for War will not publish the truth, it is our clear duty to organize and support a press of our own.

But a free press alone is far from enough. With it must come an organization which will work and struggle for a world without War and Fascism.

It is the business of FIGHT to tell the truth—educate, organize and agitate.

It is the business of the AMERICAN LEAGUE AGAINST WAR AND FASCISM, the publishers of FIGHT, to organize the masses for the struggle against War and Fascism.

FIGHT is our medium in organizing this struggle. FIGHT is the advance guard of the AMERICAN LEAGUE.
