GEORGE D. HERRON

Most Enthusiastically Welcomed
By a Large Audience.

with a will by the audience and the meeting was over.

Afterwards a large number of Socialists and friends of Dr. Herron crowded into the rooms of the Commonwealth office on Lafayette Place and enjoyed an informal reception through the kindness of C. P. Somers. A pleasant group of honest faithful, such as cannot be bribed, and will not associate themselves with the scribes and the Pharisees, and with those who are usurers. Now it came to pass that the laborers acted according to the advice given unto them, and they prospered thereby, and grew strong. And the Pharisees...

Of Labor

profits and build palaces for their capitalistic masters provided the ruling class would allow them to retain just enough of what labor produces to fill their stomachs and keep them moderately warm. But new ideas as a result of the new system of slavery are being born and the race is making

If it were not for the capitalists you would all be starving.

The Social Democrat says he had the best laugh that day for a long while. The hot Republican was such a strange bundle of conceit and ignorance that the Socialist did not think it worth his while to argue
