The Industrial Union Bulletin

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE INDUSTRIAL WORKERS OF THE WORLD

"LABOR IS ENTITLED TO ALL IT PRODUCES"

Vol. I. No. 2

CHICAGO, MARCH 9, 1907.

50c a year.

The Mores of Illinois

One recent session of the convention of the Industrial Workers of the World, Mr. W. W. Hare, a delegate from Illinois, was called on to report the results of his work. Mr. Hare is the foreman of the Illinois State Penitentiary, a position which he has held for several years. He is a member of the Socialists party and is one of the leaders of the labor movement in Chicago. The convention paid him the highest possible compliment by electing him as its representative to the national convention last fall. Mr. Hare's report was received with great interest and approval by the delegates. He gave a clear and concise picture of the conditions in the penitentiary, and showed in what ways the workers could improve their wages and working conditions. He also advocated the abolition of the death penalty.

Computers on the Iron

The trial of Steve Adams at Wallace, Idaho, is reported to be the most important case of its kind that has ever come before the court. The defendant, who is a member of the Industrial Workers of the World, was convicted of murder and sentenced to death. The case has created a great deal of excitement in the town, and the defendant has been given a fair trial. The case is to be appealed to the state supreme court.

The Schuyler State

The I. W. W. is active in Schuyler State, Nebraska, where a group of workers has been organizing for several months. The state has a large agricultural area and a considerable number of workers. The group has been successful in organizing a large number of farmers and has been able to win a number of important victories. The state is reported to be one of the most progressive in the country, and the I. W. W. hopes to make further inroads in the future.

New York Industrial Council

The New York Industrial Council is making good progress in organizing workers in the state. It has already secured the support of a number of important unions and has been able to win a number of important victories. The council plans to continue its work of organizing workers and is confident that it will be successful in its efforts.

INDUSTRIAL UNION BULLETIN

SATURDAY, MARCH 9, 1907

The Amended Preamble.

The working class and the employing class have nothing in common. There can be no peace so long as labour wars against capital and capital wars against labour. Between these two classes a struggle must go on forever, till all the wealth of the country is converted into a few colossal industrial larders, and made available for the working class alone.

The employers are the owners of the productive property of the country, and the workers are the possessors of the labour which converts this property into wealth. On the one side are the industrialists, the capitalists, the employers of money; on the other side the industrial workers, the wage-earners, the employed workmen of the country. These two classes have interests diametrically opposed; hence the struggle is inevitable.

Plain Answers to Pertinent Questions

Q. What is the basis of the strike in Chicago?
A. The workmen in the Employers' Association of Chicago, the largest of the largest employers' associations in the country, have struck for an 8-hour day, better wages and better working conditions. The strike has been called by the Workingmen's Union, which represents the great bulk of the workers in the industry.

Q. What is the object of the Employers' Association of Chicago?
A. The Employers' Association of Chicago is a voluntary association of employers who unite for the purpose of regulating the employment of labour. It sets the wages and the conditions of employment in the industry, and enforces them by the power of the law.

Q. What is the policy of the Employers' Association?
A. The policy of the Employers' Association is to keep down the wages of the workers, and to prevent them from organizing into unions, and thereby interfering with the free play of competition.

Q. What is the position of the Employers' Association in the industry?
A. The Employers' Association is the largest and most powerful organization in the industry. It controls the employment of labour, and sets the wages and the conditions of employment.

The Employers' Association has a large influence over the workers, and is able to enforce its will upon them by the power of the law. The workers who are employed by the Employers' Association are subject to its control, and are paid below the minimum wage.

Working Class Economics

Working class economics is the study of the economic relations of the working class. It is the study of the conditions under which the workers live, and the ways in which they can improve their conditions. Working class economics is the study of the economic forces that operate in society, and the ways in which these forces affect the working class.

The working class is the class that owns the means of production. The workers are the producers, and they are the ones who make the products of society. The working class is the class that owns the factories, the mines, the farms, and all the other places where the products of society are made.

LOCAL EXECUTIVE BOARD

Industrial Union Bulletin, for March, 1907, is now in the press and will be sent to all members in good standing. All local and district officers should see that their local secretary has received a copy.

The Industrial Union Bulletin is the official organ of the Local Executive Board. It is published monthly and is sent to all members in good standing. It contains news and information about the union, reports from local and district officers, and articles on various topics of interest to the members. The bulletin is an important source of information for the union, and all members should make sure to receive and read it regularly.
On the Coast Zone

The following interesting letter recently was received at the Home Office of the American Federation of Steel Workers, 50 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Illinois, from J. W. Sch., 1712 W. 156th St., Chicago, Illinois. It reads: "I have been a member of the American Federation of Steel Workers for the past eight years and have found it to be a saving grace to me in my work. I would like to see the organization of all other workers in the same manner as we have organized our own union." The letter goes on to describe the benefits derived from membership in the union and the importance of collective bargaining.

Just a Little Disappointed

Comrade S. P. is a member of the Chicago Labor Library and reports that the library is doing a good job in furnishing reading material for the workers. However, he feels that more books on the history of the labor movement should be added to the collection. He suggests that the library could also benefit from a more extensive collection of periodicals and newspapers.

General Labor News

The United States Steel Corporation has announced it will increase wages for its workers. This is a welcome development and should help to improve the standard of living for steel workers. The company has also agreed to negotiate with the union on the issue of a new contract, which is expected to address some of the concerns raised by the workers.
