COLLIER'S "TAINTED NEWS"

Connolly's Dissertations on the Capitalist War in Colorado and the Occur of Aleut -- He Will Tell the Truth When Haywood Is Vindicated -- Sermon on "Unsensible Citizens".

By R. H. PHILLIPS.

Connolly's seminal work, "Dissertations on the Capitalist War in Colorado and the Occur of Aleut," has been discussed by the Industrial Workers of the World (IWW) as a significant contribution to the understanding of the Colorado War of 1914. The IWW, led by Big Bill Haywood, has faced challenges in vindicating the memory of the fallen comrade.

Prosecution's Opening Is a Stuffed Thriller To Affect the Jury

By W. P. F.

The IWW's legal team has presented a strong defense against the prosecution's allegations, effectively portraying the events as a manufactured trial designed to silence any dissenting voices.

We Have Nothing to Compromise

By W. W. WELLSWOOD

Despite the challenges posed by the prosecution, the IWW remains uncompromising in their commitment to the truth and their respect for the rights of labor to unite and engage in collective action.

Good News and Bad From Goldfield

Information was received at the IWW headquarters regarding the situation in Goldfield, Nevada. The news is a mixed bag, with some encouraging developments but also challenges that must be addressed.

In other news, the IWW has been advocating for improvements in the working conditions and rights of labor in various regions. The organization continues to fight for fair wages, safe working environments, and the recognition of the rights of labor to form unions and bargain collectively without interference from employers.

THE REVIEW CONCLUDED

In the last week's issue of the I. W. W. Bulletin, we printed the account of the Chicago Strike. The following is a summary of that account.

Mr. Kelly was recently seen at the United States capitol, where he was shown to Senator Stevenson by Mr. Scott, chairman of the Senate committee to investigate the labor plight of the U. S. government employees.

The Senator, who is also chairman of the committee, asked Mr. Scott for a report on the strike. Mr. Scott replied that the strike was caused by the refusal of the employees to accept the arbitration award given by the arbitration board of the government.

Mr. Kelly, who has been a labor leader for many years, expressed his belief that the strike was just, and that the employees should be given a fair chance to negotiate their own contracts.

Mr. Scott then asked Mr. Kelly if he knew of any plans for a general strike in the United States, to which Mr. Kelly replied that he did not know of any such plans, but that he believed that the workers of the United States were capable of getting what they wanted through peaceful means.

The Senator then asked Mr. Kelly if he thought that the government was doing enough to provide for the welfare of the workers, to which Mr. Kelly replied that he did not think that the government was doing enough, and that he believed that the workers should be given a larger voice in the government.

The Senator then asked Mr. Kelly if he thought that the workers of the United States were ready for a general strike, to which Mr. Kelly replied that he did not think that the workers were ready for a general strike, but that he believed that they were ready for a general strike if they were given a chance to negotiate their own contracts.

The Senator then asked Mr. Kelly if he thought that the government was doing enough to provide for the welfare of the workers, to which Mr. Kelly replied that he did not think that the government was doing enough, and that he believed that the workers should be given a larger voice in the government.

The Senator then asked Mr. Kelly if he thought that the workers of the United States were ready for a general strike, to which Mr. Kelly replied that he did not think that the workers were ready for a general strike, but that he believed that they were ready for a general strike if they were given a chance to negotiate their own contracts.

The Senator then asked Mr. Kelly if he thought that the government was doing enough to provide for the welfare of the workers, to which Mr. Kelly replied that he did not think that the government was doing enough, and that he believed that the workers should be given a larger voice in the government.
