"LABOR IS ENTITLED TO ALL IT PRODUCES"

The I. W. W. is the ECONOMIC ORGANIZATION OF THE WORKING CLASS; it has No Political Affiliation and is Controlled by no Political Party

NEWS FROM SEATTLE

In Seattle there is a large crowd of people...and they are very much interested that they have been worked over by that most respectable operator, the lumbering industry. I am told that there is a large crowd of people...and they are very much interested that they have been worked over by that most respectable operator, the logging industry. AS TO POLITICAL PARTIES

"The I. W. W. is the Economic Organization of the Working Class; it is composed of the members and organized by the Industrial Workers of the World. We are not a political party, we are not a club, we are not a union. We are a movement of the working classes to secure the socialization of industry."

For nearly six years the laws above quoted have been carried at the head of this point. They agree with an anxious, that none can accommodate the true attitude of the I. W. W. towards all existing political parties, without exception. And that it is what they were intended to do. The movement is a striving in defiance; it means what it says and it says what it means, and it is unspeakable and unanswerable to the fact that since it was formed, last December, not a single member of the I. W. W. was ever found to have committed the offenses of violating the Smith Act, or the so-called "anti-Communist" Act, or any other political offense.

The I. W. W. is a movement of the working classes to secure the socialization of industry. We are not a political party, we are not a club, we are not a union. We are a movement of the working classes to secure the socialization of industry."

French Weaver's Strike

The strike at Danbury, Conn., among the French workers, has now been settled. The union workers have returned to work. The employers have promised to recognize the union as the sole bargaining agent for the employees.

French Paper Strike

In conjunction with the union members of Danbury, Conn., who have struck to demand a recognition of the union as the sole bargaining agent for the employees, the Danbury independent newspaper strike is called off. The union workers have agreed to return to work.

THE LAST WORD

When we met in last week's Bulletin the holder of the much talked about conference in "innovation," or "vexation," or "rehabilitation," was still a nameless and unknown personage. But we did not have the honor of being introduced to the Finger Lakes region, for the disater of the "innovation," as it was officially styled, a "rehabilitation" of the Finger Lakes region, was so variously and so widely disguised as to entirely escape the notice of the editorial staff. As the rehahilitation was a failure, and as we know nothing of the Finger Lakes region, we can only assume that the Finger Lakes region is not a failure."

A talk on the "last word" of the Finger Lakes region is a failure, and as we know nothing of the Finger Lakes region, we can only assume that the Finger Lakes region is not a failure.

Notes from Abroad

(Excerpt from an article by G. C. Safafrich.)

The Journal des Correspondances is the most important periodical for the study of the French trade union movement. It is published weekly and contains news, articles, and reports on the activities of the unions. The journal is a valuable resource for understanding the evolution of French unionism and its impact on the labor movement. The current issue contains articles on the recent strikes in the textile industry and the growing influence of women in the trade union movement.

A Plan for More Effective Propaganda

An editorial in the Industrial Workers Bulletin makes this point:

"The role of the Propaganda Department is to build public opinion in favor of the I.W.W. Our objective is to educate the public on the issues that affect their lives. We must present our message in a way that is easily understood and remember that the effectiveness of our message will be determined by how well we communicate it."

Propaganda across the seas

A recent editorial in the Industrial Workers Bulletin notes the importance of propagating our message across international borders:

"We must spread our message beyond our borders. We need to reach out to our comrades in other countries and let them know that we are fighting for a better world. We must also reach out to the workers of the world and let them know that they are not alone in their struggle."

Principles of the I.W.W.

In a recent editorial, the I.W.W. outlined the principles that guide their work:

"The I.W.W. is committed to the principles of solidarity, direct action, and the fight for workers' rights. We believe that workers should be free to organize and bargain collectively without interference from employers or the state. We believe in the right to罢工 and the right tostrike. We believe in the right to freedom of speech and the press."

Preamble of the I.W.W.

The I.W.W. is a worldwide organization dedicated to the fight for workers' rights. In this preamble, the I.W.W. outlines their goals and aspirations:

"The I.W.W. is dedicated to the fight for workers' rights. We believe in the right to work, the right to organize, and the right to bargain collectively without interference from employers or the state. We believe in the right to strike and the right to freedom of speech and the press. We believe in the right to due process of law."

Prize List of Supplies

The I.W.W. has a prize list of supplies that members can purchase. In this editorial, the I.W.W. provides details on how to obtain these supplies:

"The I.W.W. has a prize list of supplies that members can purchase. These supplies include books, pamphlets, and other materials that can help members to educate themselves and others on the issues that affect their lives. To obtain these supplies, members can contact their local I.W.W. bureau or send a request to the I.W.W. headquarters."

Industrial Union Handbook

The Industrial Union Handbook is a publication that provides information on the I.W.W. and other labor unions. In this editorial, the I.W.W. provides details on how to obtain this handbook:

"The Industrial Union Handbook is a publication that provides information on the I.W.W. and other labor unions. It includes information on the history of the I.W.W., the current state of the labor movement, and the role of labor unions in society. To obtain this handbook, members can contact their local I.W.W. bureau or send a request to the I.W.W. headquarters."

Let the Light In

In this section, the I.W.W. provides information on their work for the International Labor Defense Committee and the Workman's Compensation Defense Fund. They outline the role of the I.W.W. in these organizations and provide information on how to support their work:

"The I.W.W. is committed to the defense of our brothers and sisters who are facing oppression. We believe in the right to a fair trial and the protection of our civil liberties. We are dedicated to the defense of our comrades who are facing the injustices of the system. We are seeking to build a world where workers can live free from oppression and exploitation."

I.W.W. Publications

The I.W.W. has a range of publications that are available to members and the general public. In this section, the I.W.W. provides details on how to obtain these publications:
