WHAT WE BELIEVE

The working class and the employing class have nothing in common. There can be no peace so long as hunger and want are found among millions of working people and the few, who make up the employing class, have all the good things of life. Workers of the world, unite! You have nothing to lose but your chains. Be not afraid. Judge the past according to the present. The employing class have no interests in common with the working class. Their policy is, and must of necessity be, war and diplomacy. The employing class have no interest in anything but the accumulation of capital. The working class can only come to power through class struggle. The working class has nothing to lose but their chains. The employing class has nothing to gain but a few percentages. The employing class can only be overthrown through the class struggle. The employing class have no interest in anything but the accumulation of capital.
