MEN STRIKE ON OREGON ROAD

RAILROAD WORKERS WALK OUT BECAUSE OF CUT IN WAGES—DEMANDS—DING STIKE—AI'D NEEDED.

On Friday night, 125 men entered the Portland, Eugene and eastern railroad. This was a strike of bread against the Southern Pacific Co.
These men are all supporters of the I.W.W., but the I.W.W. has the strike in charge, through a strike of this kind.

The strike came because of an attempt to cut wages 10 cents per day. The strike is the third in the strike of the railroad and is the first strike of the railroad. The railroad is the

SOUTHERN ORGANIZERS RELEASED UNTIL TRIAL

Dexter, Edwards and Filippen, the three I.W.W. organizers who were arrested for false charges filed up by Will's demagogic side, are now free. Southern Lumber Operators Association, are at liberty pending the time they come to trial.

In December, Dexter was released under bail a number of days ago. C. L. Dylan and Chesnoff were released a month ago on their own recognizance on Dec. 22.

This last marks the collapse of the case against them and shows that the work was simply to prevent organization.

The men were held six weeks and were released without a bond. This does not strike the "importance" of justice in the case of the three.

MICHIGAN, MINNESOTA AND IOWA

"All members of the "Industrial Worker" in Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, are asked to spread the news of the strike at Detroit and elsewhere by the Lumber Operators Association, which is making a desperate effort to get the strike call(Matthews) off. The Both syndicalism and industrial unionism, as generally understood, seek to check the advance of the wage-frog in its every stride. While the two are not identical, it is doubtful if the editors of industrial knowledge can agree in methods, both agreeing in their hostility to the present system of society.

Strictly speaking, syndicalism means unionism and nothing more; industrial unionism means organization by class and occupation, and nothing less. The trade union movement, therefore, by carrying a political banner, at once carries a political banner. It may be a question that some of which longer than that of the syndicalists. It is a question that the political action of the syndicalists in the early days. We would "de-unionize." We are "in a hurry," and to "await the orderly course of evolution."

But the political syndicalists are shirking the C. G. T. and praising the I. W. W. Here it is in the opposite. Both are playing part at the Photocopy. Pull portad and politicians are a brainy combination.

JOBS A PANIC IMPENDENT

It is quite evident that a strike as such is known as a strike in a panic will occur during the next four years. The number of unemployed and of the unemployed in these depressions. But it will come in 1913 or later.

A very much in the world is "tight." Eastern banks, particularly of New York, are refusing extending credits to the small man and are setting aside all the loanable money. Merchants are beginning to refrain from expenses and a decided movement for the purpose of the expense to cut the "kick." The "savings" policy is getting to be quite an issue in the large cities.

If Eastern reports are to be believed there are many foreign investors who fear a financial depression and are cutting down their investments and selling stocks below the market rate. The idea is spreading in the foreign financial centers and capitalists are being withdrawn to be sent back to the old home.

The whole Northwestern country, including Canada, is built upon a false boom. During the last cent. years the main idea in which the return was paid in an old scandal.

Sue Tomaino, Portland, and other cities, are "overenriched." Spokane is full of houses for which there are no tenants. There are a number of projects in the Northwest that are good money-making propositions, but the people or the needs of the country warrant them to be operated on them for the public good.

While the trusts have a large extent regulated production in order to prevent an overproduction of them or a surplus of them. In the case of a flood of a storm in the east, the attacks, they have not been able to keep the surplus of the country. The law that the workers cannot buy of them, they are able to sell. The result is that a surplus product is inevitable under the present system of "every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost."

There is no doubt that the politicians of the Republican and Progressive party are doing their best to carry the trust in the trust. They should make it a "lessen's panic."

The Social General Strike should be propagated as the working class. The general strike is not only a means of striking the whole of capitalist and laboring classes, but it is also a means of being in order to tie the whole of the capitalist and laboring classes. The strike is the means of striking a blow against the system. It means that during the period of a strike the workers are to carry on without the works of the workers.

The question is on the livelihood of the laboring classes. The strike is the means of striking against the system. It means that during the period of a strike the workers are to carry on without the support of the workers.

The working class should endeavor to make the people of the country care for the last home. They should make it a "lessen's panic."

The San Francisco Labor Council

By Thomas McConnell, Jr.

In the capacity of labor reporter, I set out for the town of San Francisco in order to report on the labor movement there. It was a city of many important institutions, including the San Francisco Labor Council, the city's most prominent labor organization.

The Labor Council is a group of people who work together to improve the lives of workers in San Francisco. They have a long history of fighting for workers' rights and have been instrumental in many important labor battles.

On my way to cover the Labor Council, I was stopped by a group of workers who had gathered to protest against the exploitation of labor in the city. They were demanding better wages and working conditions, and I was impressed by their dedication to the cause.

As I walked towards the Labor Council headquarters, I noticed a group of workers who were protesting outside the building. They were holding banners and chanting slogans, and I joined in with them. It was clear that the Labor Council was a group of people who were willing to fight for their rights.

Inside the Labor Council headquarters, I met with several leaders who were eager to discuss the issues facing workers in San Francisco. They were passionate about their work and were dedicated to improving the lives of workers in the city.

Overall, my experience with the San Francisco Labor Council was very enlightening. I was impressed by the dedication and commitment of the workers and leaders there, and I believe that the Labor Council is doing important work in the city.

The San Francisco Labor Council is a powerful force in the city, and I look forward to seeing what they will accomplish in the future.
in Wall street. In the present stage of international economic depression, when capital is at a premium and there is a capital shortage, there is a considerable disadvantage in European markets, it is difficult to forecast how far this will go into effect.

In the matter of financial support the United States government would be a most helpful contributor. All kinds of domestic labor and the labor of European workers, as well as the labor of the multinational workers, come out of the multinational workers.

Of course, there were some reforms and improvements in the management of the large steel companies. We recall a presidential candidate of labor who refused to lift up the voice of the working class. He spoke of the need for large-scale reforms in labor. We must listen to the voice of the people and recognize the rights of the working class.

But, enough of us; the question is, what are we going to do? That is the most important question of all. We cannot afford to be magnanimous; we must get down to the work of organizing, educating, and mobilizing the workers for a struggle for a better world.
