Workers! False or True Industrial Unionism—Which?

How the Rich Textile Barons Railroaded Bocconi at Little Falls

(2 J. B. Huner)

There is no escape from the millhands of Little Falls. The mills have succeeded in manufacturing the weaker and more malleable of the laborers into sovereigns of the workers. Despite the fact that the mill owners have built up a system of management which is said to be model, all the employees are subjected to the same routine of laborious and wearisome toil. The rich textile barons have succeeded in railroading Bocconi at Little Falls.

THE INDUSTRIAL WORKER

THE LAW THE WIND BLOWS

Last month the Metropolis Magnus Dingoes released a 110-page report on the state of the world to God. They have been scheduled thereon, an error in stating that the increased number of divorces has been 10.3 per cent. It was found that the actual number of divorces has been about 13 per cent. The number of divorces was doubled during that period.

The report states that there is a slight difference in the numbers, but the difference is not nearly as great as it was before. In 1890 the marriage rate was higher than it is now. In 1900 it was doubled. In 1910 it was trebled. The marriage rate has increased by 10 per cent. The number of divorces has increased by 20 per cent.

The workers of the United States are in a better position today than they were in the past. The wages of the workers have been increased by 10 per cent. The workers have been able to save more money. The workers have been able to get better housing. The workers have been able to get better medical care.

THE SIRADORES

When a strike breaks out, employers are quick to win some provisional goals in the fight to keep under control the workers. This is not a bad thing for it has been shown that the workers are not so weak as has been supposed. The workers are not so weak as has been supposed. The workers are not so weak as has been supposed. The workers are not so weak as has been supposed.

SOME THINGS TO CONSIDER

To the members of the National Bureau of Investigation, we would like to add some words to our previous letter. We have heard that a committee of employers is being formed to study the conditions in the industries. We would like to add some words to our previous letter. Mr. Black
He Was In the Way When the Black Fell

Mr. Black was in the way when the Black fell. He was walking across the tracks when a train emerged from the tunnel. He failed to notice the train approaching and was hit by the oncoming train. The train conductor tried to stop the train, but it was too late. Mr. Black was pronounced dead at the scene.
