MORRIS SHAFRITZ

The Philadelphia Jewish Life Committee has suffered an irreplaceable loss in the sudden, tragic death of Brother Morris Shafritz in the prime of life and activity. He died of a cerebral hemorrhage on September 10 at the age of 43.

Brother Shafritz was an effective, cheerful, tireless worker for a number of cultural and community organizations. He sparked our work for JEWISH LIFE and translated his awareness of the magazine's importance into activity which gave others the same conviction. It was his cordial but insistent work which gradually brought others to the realization that JEWISH LIFE was a weapon in the fight for progress.

To his grieving family we can only say: Morrie will always be remembered with honor. In his name we will carry forward the worth which gave purpose to his dreams and meaning to his life.
